PARTY LEADERS CONSIDERING TARIFF CHANGES

85,000 Word Document Being Carefully Studied By Minority Experts.

DISSATISFACTION VOICED.

Possible Political and Economic Effect of New Bill Being Gauged.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 8 (Canadian Press).—The possible political and economic effects of the new tariff bill placed before the House by the Ways and Means Committee were being gauged to-day by leaders of both parties on Capitol Hill.

Such tariff experts of the minority as Representatives Garner of Texas and Hull of Tennessee and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, were carefully studying the 85,000-word document preparatory to general and specific onslaughts.

Some members of the majority party also voiced dissatisfaction with various proposals in the measure, including the duties on building material, cedar lumber, shingles, brick and cement and birch and maple lumber, all of which now are on the free list.

Those issuing statements on these duties included Representatives Pamseyer of Iowa, a Republican of the Ways and Means Committee, and Haugen of Iowa, chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Representative Frear of Wisconsin, a Republican Independent, assailed the increased duties on sugar as indefensible.

Measure Is Praised.

Praise of the measure was voiced by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority floor leader; Chairman Snell of the Rules Committee, which will report a rule to govern consideration of the measure in the House, and Chairman Hawley and other Republicans who took part in framing the measure.

As study and discussion went forward at the Capitol, there was conjecture as to how President Hoover would view the bill in the light of his expressed desire for a "limited" revision of Customs duties with the lesser rates left for the Tariff Commission to consider.

While Chairman Hawley estimated that the actual changes in protective rates would not exceed 20 per cent. of the total dutiable items, only one schedule, that dealing with tobacco, was untouched, while an entirely new schedule was created embracing manufactures of artificial silk, officially termed "rayon" in the bill.

Entirely New Measure.

One surprising development was the action of the committee in reporting

To Appeal Jarvis Fine

Attorney General Price Enters Action in Osgoode Hall Against Judgment.

CLAIMED BY TORONTO.

Jarvis and Peter Smith Were Found Guilty of Defrauding Province of Ontario.

To appeal . . . . . .

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press). — The Attorney-General of Ontario filed an appeal at Osgoode Hall today from the finding of Mr Justice Rose, which held that the $60,000 fine imposed on Amelius Jarvis was payable to the city and not to the Province. The Attorney-General claims the trial judge should have held that Section 1036 of the criminal code is, so far as it purports to deal with the application of fine for criminal offences, ultra vires the Parliament of Canada.

Not Criminal Law.

It is also claimed the trial judge should have held that legislation dealing with the application of fines was not legislation in relation to criminal law or procedure in criminal matters under the Clause 27 of Section 91 of the British North America Act, but that it related solely to the administration of justice in the province, and was therefore within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislature.

Jarvis and Peter Smith, at that time Provincial Treasurer, were found guilty of defrauding the province in connection with the purchase of provincial duty-free bonds.

WOMAN MURDERED

DETROIT, Mich., May 8.—(Canadian Press). — Dashing partially clad through a crowded hotel lobby, and shouting "There's trouble on the fourth floor" a man believed to be Malcolm Clarke of Detroit escaped last night after fatally shooting his wife.

The woman was found lying near the elevator shaft. Her coat smouldering where it had been ignited by the powder.

Police today were guarding the home of Miss Lenore Goetz, 17, daughter of Mrs. Clarke. A note left in the hotel room engaged by Clarke threatened her

BOARD OF EDUCATION DEBATES DENTAL SERVICE QUESTION

Dr. Green Reports He Is Unable to Give Lectures and Do Operative Work.

PARENT NEGLECT DEFECTS.

Matter Is Left With Inspector, Dentist and Nurses to Bring in Report.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education held in the board room of the Collegiate Institute last evening proved to be the most lengthy one of the current year. The work of dental and medical inspection was reported upon and the problem of securing the assistance of the parents in maintaining the health standard of their children was discussed. Dr. A. S. McPherson, school medical health officer, gave a verbal and extensive report of the work in his department.

A. Mowat, public schools inspector, requested that Central School be opened on July 3 so that the planned re-union of old boys and girls might be held there and he asked that the Collegiate building might be opened that afternoon to allow the Old Boys and Girls to inspect it. This permission was gladly granted and it was further moved that the Collegiate Auditorium be held open for the convenience of the Old Home Week committee for any meetings they might desire to hold there during the week.

The Collegiate Literary Society is making a gift to the school of a projection lantern to replace the one at present in use, which was borrowed temporarily from the Science Department. This was signified in a letter read from Howard Mac. Donald, secretary of the Literary Society. In accepting the gift and commenting on the fine spirit displayed by it, it was moved that a new and larger screen be secured.

Cadet Inspection May 31

Captain Isbister, cadet inspecting officer for this district wrote informing the Board that Cadet Inspection has been set for May 31. It was moved on recommendation by this officer that the Ranger's Band be secured to supply music for the inspection and in this connection the Board will request that both Collegiate and Public School corps be inspected in the afternoon of the same day.

Dr. Green, the dental officer, reported that his operative work on the pupils' teeth took up so much of his time that he could not give the time to lecturing in the classrooms on this subject that the Board and he thought should be given. It was stated in the discussion that the school dentist had to spend too much time on operative work on the pupils' teeth because their parents neglerted to have the defects remedied after, despite the information of such defects being sent to them. Dr. Yelland stated that it was not fair to the community, the dental profession nor the school dentist that he should be compelled to do all the work on the school children's teeth free of charge. "The onus for such work should rest on the individual after its need has been pointed out to them" said Dr. Yelland.

In the further discussion of this problem it was stated by Mrs. Morris and Mr. Mowat that these con-

Serum To Combat Infantile Paralysis Being Made Out Of Human Blood

TORONTO, Ont., May .—(Canadian Press).—A unique experiment with human blood to evolve a serum to combat infantile paralysis will be attempted by medical experts of the Connaught Laboratories here, Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Provincial Minister of Health, announced yesterday.

Arrangements have been completed whereby blood may be drawn, if necessary, from 280 persons who have within recent years suffered an acute attack of infantile paralysis. Blood may not be drawn from all those who have offered. The number will depend upon the suitability of the blood donation of each for the experiment. Not more than six or seven ounces of blood will be taken from each donor and payment will be made by the Department of Health.

Medical men explain that the blood of persons who have suffered from infantile paralysis is filled with anti-bodies which nature created to fight the disease. These remain in the blood but lose some of their potency after five years. In the experiment doctors will seek to transfer these anti-bodies to the proposed serum, which may be injected in the blood stream of other individuals, creating immunity from the disease.

The experiment will require about three months to complete.

CANADIAN BANKERS STUDYING PROPSED U. S' TARIFF CHANGES

Bill May Be Considerably Changed During Passage Through Congress.

DISAPPOINTMENT TO CANADA

U.F.A. Leader Says Eastern Farmer Will be the Man Hardest Hit By Proposals.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press). — Party leaders in the Canadian Parliament were guarded last night in their comments on the Tariff Bill which was introduced yesterday into the United States House of Representatives by the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. They are reticent both because they have not had an opportunity to study it to any great length and also because there is a feeling that the Bill may be considerably changed during its passage through Congress.

British Columbia, Ontario, and Quebec would feel the tariff increases most. The Pacific Coast province would no doubt find the levies on shingles and cedar lumber the most difficult of all tariff advances proposed. The eastern provinces would be most affected by the big boost planned in the duties on cream and milk. Ontario and other eastern provinces would also find the higher rates on hardwood lumbers an obstacle.

Increase on Pork Products.

The increased duties proposed on pork and pork products would have the most widespread effect of any of the changes suggested, experts here think. The higher rates on raw wool would injure a rapidly-growing trade between this country and the United States.

Prairie Province members are inclined to disregard the increase in flax seed and other grains. These, they point out, are sold on a world market basis and the prices they would receive would not be affected by a U.S. tariff any more than when the United States put the tariff on wheat.

"It will be the eastern farmer rather than the farmer on the prairies that will be hardest hit if this new Bill becomes law," said Robert Gardiner, M.P., leader of the United Farmers of Alberta group. "The increase in raw wool would hurt the farmers of Alberta somewhat."

Disappointment to Canada.

of Agriculture, said the new Bill was of Agriculture, said the ne Bill was a disappointment to Canada in some respects, while in others it was not so bad as had been expected. "It will certainly hurt the farmers in Ontario and Quebec who ship their cream and milk to the United States. On the other hand, I am very glad to note the Prince Edward Island potatoes and live cattle have gotten off scott-free. We all hope they will stay that way.

"However, we will survive any resultant shock," said the Minister optimistically. "There is no time Canada could bear it better than right now when she is on the crest of a great wave of prosperity and buoyance. Of course, we are not out of the woods yet, because the Bill may be changed."

The twenty-five per cent. ad valorem duty on lumber of cedar and the like will seriously affect the cedar industry, General A. D. McRae, chief Conservative whip and member for Vancouver North, stated.

Jailbreaker Being Closely Watched In Essex County Jail

Jack Parks, Who Was Captured Recently in Moose Jaw, Has Entered Seventh Day of Hunger Strike in the Sandwich Jail.

PRISONER OFFERS NO EXPLANATION FOR STRIKE AND RETAINS A VERY SULLEN DEMEANOR

Man Will Appear For Sentence On Charge of Stealing An Automobile From Windsor Lawyer To-morrow—Suicide is Feared.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Parks). — Jack Parks, 28, jailbreaker, who was captured in Moose Jaw, has entered the seventh day of a hunger strike in the Essex County Jail at Sandwich, it has been learned.

Parks was escorted back to the border from the west a week ago. Yesterday morning, arraigned in Windsor Police Court, he admitted the theft of an automobile owned by Oscar E. Fleming, K.C., of that city, and was remanded until to-morrow for sentence. He has not eaten a morsel of food since his removal to the County Jail after his arraignment, turnkeys of that institution admitted this morning.

The prisoner has offered no explanation for his strike. In fact, he has scarcely spoken there since his incarceration, retaining a sullen demeanor, exchanging no words with either guards or fellow-prisoners. A close guard, incidentally, has been kept over him in view of his assurance to Detective James Campbell, of Windsor, that "They'll not get me to the big house alive. I'll commit suicide first." Parks was driving Fleming's car when arrested in the West. He was in company of Pearl Bowerman of Aylmer.

TRIO ARRESTED IN BANK HOLD-UP

Provincial Police Believe They Have Beamsville Bank Robbery Solved.

TWO MISSING.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 8. — (Canadian Press).—Henry Hiscock, 19; Joseph Di Silvio, 29; Tony Consolo, and Louis Bernie, all of this city, were named to-day by Chris Airey, Inspector of Ontario Provincial Police, as the bandits who held up and robbed the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Beamsville, Ont., recently. All except Consolo are also implicated in local hold-ups, police claim.

Hiscock was arraigned in Police Court to-day on a charge of first degree robbery in connection with the hold-up of a store here. He waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Waive Extradition.

Bernie is under arrest at Medford, Mass. It is understood he will waive extradition and be returned here to face a charge in connection with a local hold-up.

Di Silvo and Consolo are held at Brockton, Mass. Proceedings will be instituted to extradite them to Toronto to face charges in connection with the Beamsville bank robbery.

Inspector Airey claims Hiscock made a complete confession, implicating all four in the Canadian robbery.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—(C.P.)—Anticipating that the three men arrested in Brockton, Mass., last night on charges of being implicated in the Beamsville bank hold-up on April 16, will fight deportation to Canada, Provincial Police to-day set extradition machinery into motion through the Attorney-General's Department for their return. Meanwhile the hunt for the other two men wanted in connection for the robbery will continue.

Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of the Provincial Police, declared there is no doubt that the trio arrested in Brockton are three of the five men wanted. The trio under arrest are Anthony Consola, 22, Joseph Di Salvio, 25, and Joseph Musari, 22, all of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Not Wanted By Police.

The four men arrested in Niagara Falls, N.Y., yesterday, Harold Truswell, 26, Louis Morino, 21, Raymond Insalaco, 25, and a youth, whose name was withheld, all of Niagara Falls, N.Y., are not wanted for the Beamsville robbery or for any other crime in Canada, Mr. Cuddy said.

Five men participated in the hold-up at Beamsville, Provincial Police state, and the belief is expressed that they will be captured before long.

TARIFF CHANGES ARE ENDORSED

Bill Enacting Proposal Into Law Given First Reading in House.

TWO AMENDMENTS.

OTTAWA, May 8 (Canadian Press).—Tariff changes provided for in the budget passed the committee stage in the House of Commons last night. A bill enacting them into law was introduced by Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, and received its first reading. There was comparatively little discussion on the majority of items during the committee stage, and progress was rapid.

Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, had a couple of amendments for the consideration of the committee. The most important of these changed the classification of the combination reaper and thresher so that it will pay a duty of three per cent. under the British preference, six per cent. under the intermediate, and six per cent. under the general tariffs. Formerly the duty on this harvesting machine was fixed at ten per cent., but Mr. Robb pointed out that it was being used extensively in the West and that he had received requests for a change in the tariff.

Copper Rods Changed.

The provision under which copper rods may be made subject to a tariff of one-quarter of a cent intermediate, and one-half cent general, was passed by the committee after but brief discussion. Under the terms of this resolution, the tariff may be imposed by the Governor-in-Council when he is satisfied that copper bars are being sold in the country of export for consumption there at a lower price than for export to Canada.

The item which fixes the duties on certain automobiles valued at not more than $1,200, at 12½ per cent. under the British preference, 17½ per cent. intermediate, and 20 per cent. general, precipitated a brief discussion as to whether or not Canadian manufacturers were using the tariff to enhance prices.

Man Commits Suicide Rather Than Be Evicted

NEWMARKET, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—"If you take these things you will take them over my dead body," A. A. Jory, a resident of this town told Sheriff's officers who came to evict him yesterday on a distress warrant.

The officers disregarded his warning. Jory went upstairs, wrote a letter to a friend and shot himself. He was dead when the startled officers burst into the room.

GIRL'S DEATH IS ACCIDENTAL

Coroner Gives Verdict At Brief Inquest Into Death of Miss Pitcher.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

MONTREAL, Que., May 8.—(C.P.)—Barbara Pitcher's death was 'probably accidental,' according to the verdict given by Coroner Lorenzo Prince at a brief inquest this morning. The report shows that the girl must have met her death by drowning which was probably accidental. Very few witnesses were heard. Frank H. Pitcher, the father, repeating his former identification made last night, J. B. Conley, the Pitcher chauffeur, corroborating the identification, and M. Gorman, foreman for the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co., telling of the finding of the body.

The body of the girl, a McGill University student, who had been missing from her home here since March 21 last, and for whose recovery an intensive continent-wide search had been carried on, was recovered yesterday from the Riviere Des Prairies, on the north shore of Montreal Island.

Freak Chicken Hatched At Brantford Hatchery

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—A freak chicken with three legs is reported by the Bell City Hatchery here. The chicken has been kept alive for six days. The third leg is situated at the back and has five toes.

FARM HAND IS WOUNDED

Boy Surprises Man Carrying Sack of Feed Corn From Barn of Employer.

POLICE INVESTIGATE.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press).—Robert Little, 17-year-old farm hand, who recently arrived in Canada with a group of British settlers, was wounded last night by an unknown assailant while attending to chores at the farm near North Gower.

Little was shot through the left leg when he surprised a man carrying a sack of feed corn from the barn of his employer. There was no one else at the farm and little dragged himself to the telephone and summoned aid.

Police are searching for the assailant.

LONDON NEWSPAPER CLAIMS BRITAIN IS PRINCIPAL LOSER

Concensus is That British Empire Cannot Accept New Reparation Plan.

AFFECTS DOMINIONS.

New Proposal Would Involve Alterations in the Spa Agreement Percentages.

LONDON, May 8. (C.P.) — London newspapers were aroused to-day by statements that the new reparations proposals of Owen D. Young involved alterations in the Spa reparations percentages by which Great Britain would be the principal loser in the proposed settlement. The concensus was that Great Britain could not, and would not, accept the plan.

The Times said editorially that if the plan were adopted it would involve sacrifice by Great Britain not only of whole arrears of payments to the United States, but all sums claimed by the Dominions with respect to the war losses.

"Difficult as the situation is," the Times said, "there can be no doubt whatever that public opinion of all shades in Great Britain will be prepared to support the British delegates in a refusal to accept the conditions."

"No British government of whatever political complexion would favor any revision of this character."

The Telegraph said: "The proposition cannot be entertained, and nothing can be gained by urging it."

Other comment was equally emphatic against Mr. Young's scheme which was described as a "bolt from the blue, a "bombshell," and a "staggering blow to British hopes of settlement."

STEAMER ASKS FOR HELP.

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 8.—Three Chilean navy vessels were en route to the assistance of the French steamship St. Andrew which sent out a call for aid last night after having trouble with its propeller. The French ship was reported about three miles off the coast.

INJURED IN CRASH.

WINDSOR, May 8. (C.P.) — Carl Branan, 18, of 1508 Dougall avenue, Windsor, suffered injuries to his head and shoulders last night when his automobile turned over on the Lake Shore road, near Arner. Two companions escaped unhurt. He is recovering at his home.

THREE MEN DROWNED.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 8. (C.P.) Three men drowned in the Ohio River at Sewickley last night when a small boat capsized after striking a barge, county authorities were informed to-day. Eight other occupants of the craft escaped.

CREW SIGHTS BODY.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 8. (C.P.) — Members of the crew of the Canada Steamship Lines Steamer Ignifer, which docked here last night, reported sighting a body floating between Coalbath Shoal and the foot of Wolfe Island, about ten miles from Kingston, last Thursday. Owing to a terrific gale which was blowing at the time, the crew was unable to recover the body. No one is reported missing from this district.

WILL ATTEMPT SWEDISH FLIGHT

Bert Hassell Announces Second Attempt To Fly to Sweden.

NINE REFUELING POINTS.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 8.— (Canadian Press.) — Another flight to Sweden from the Middlewest is being planned by Bert Hassell, Rockford, Ills., aviator, he announced to-day.

Hassell, who piloted the "Greater Rockford" on its projected Rockford-to-Sweden flight last summer and was forced down in the snow fields of Greenland, declared his next flight would be over a route with nine refueling points. Paying freight or express will replace oversize gasoline tanks which would be required on a non-stop flight, he said.

Hassell predicted that within five years airplanes with "pay loads" will fly regularly between Copenhagen and Chicago. The route from the Middlewest north-eastward through Canada to Iceland and Greenland, thence to the European mainland, is the safest possible to Europe, he said, with its longest stretch over water being only 600 miles.

Thousands Of Inhabitants Flee From Canton As Factional Warfare Starts In South China

CANTON, China, May 8.—(C.P.)—Factional warfare between the Provinces of Kwangsi and Kwangtung in South China was in full progress to-day with the important city of Canton threatened with capture by the Kwangsi group.

The overnight change from peace to war has resulted in the flight of thousands from Canton to Hong Kong while the Nanking government Central Bank notes already 25 per cent under par, were still falling here.

Behind the present warfare lies the struggle between the Nanking or Nationalist Central Government and the Kwangsi military clique as well as a more centralized rivalry between the provinces of Kwangsi and Kwangtung.

The Cantonese are feverishly mobilizing troops and pouring them westward to oppose the advancing Kwangsi force, and a clash was expected about 50 miles from Canton.

The Canton military generalissimo has proceeded to the front while the admiral of the Cantonese fleet has ordered thirty gunboats to steam up the West river to Shinking to assist in the defense of Kwangtung.

ELECTION ACT IS AMENDED

Farmers' and Labor Organizations May Contribute To Election Expenses.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8.—(Canadian Press).—Amendments to the dominion elections act were given tentative approval today by the special committee of the House of Commons that is reviewing election legislation.

A new section, "3A" was added providing that election notices or documents may be fastened to posts or wooden structures despite any municipal by-law.

Section 4 was amended so that although handbills or otherwise must still bear the name of the printer, the candidate cannot be unseated if they do not. It was explained that the section is to prevent anonymous material being circulated.

Farmers' and Labor organizations may hereafter contribute to election expenses as a result of remov-

ICE MOVES OUT TUESDAY.

DAWSON, Yt., May 8.—The ice in the Yukon river in front of Dawson moved out at 2.33 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, heralding the advent of spring and summer. First prize in the guessing contest on the movement of the ice was divided between Thomas Leach, of Dawson, and Kennedy and Grace Stewart, of Anchorage, Alaska. The approximate amount of the prize was $7,200.

ONE KILLED IN RIOTS.

LONDON, May 8. — A despatch from Bombay to the Daily Mail said to-day Hindus and Mohammedan Moplahs had engaged in serious fighting at Mangalore on the Malabar coast. Six thousand persons with knives and missiles fought over an area of two square miles, the police finally dispersing the rioters with with bayonet and sword charges. One was killed and several were injured.

The trouble was said to have started when the Hindus played music near a mosque.

CHICAGO'S GANG MASSACRE IS ANSWERED BY GANG LAND

Three Men Are Found By Police Brutally Beaten and Then Shot.

ALL ITALIANS.

Identity of Three Has Not Been Determined By Hammond Police.

HAMMOND, Ind., May 8. (C.P.)—Three men were found brutally beaten and then shot to death on a lonely road near Wolfe Lake early to-day; and in the triple murder was seen gangland's first answer to the Chicago gang massacre of last St. Valentine's day.

Dozens of bullets had been poured into the three bodies. Whether pistols or machine guns were used the preliminary investigation failed to show.

Two bodies were found in the back seat of a large coupe which was discovered, nosed into a ditch, by Hammond police. Forty feet away, face down, beside the road, was the third body.

All were Italians, and their identity had not been determined several hours after the bodies had been found. In the pocket of one, however, was the business card of Joe Perardi, assistant treasurer of a West Madison street Chicago Cigar Company. There also was a receipt issued by a Cicero, Ill., garage, to "Joe." Initials on a belt worn by this man were "J.B."

Chicago police said they knew a Joe Perardi as the brother of Louis Perardi, a convicted express robber.

Eastern Canadian Farmer Hit Hard by U.S. Tariff

CANADA'S WHEAT ACREAGE INCREASED BY MILLION ACRES

RECORD IN 1928.

Present Prices, Though Low, Give Promise of Responding To Increasing Demand.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—In commenting on the general wheat situation throughout the world, the Royal Bank of Canada, in a prepared statement points out that so many uncertain factors enter into the case that any accurate forecast as to the trend of wheat prices is practically impossible.

The shipment of South American grain, movement of stocks in North America and weather conditions surrounding Spring seeding, it is felt, will all have an important influence on the course of prices.

"But in general," the Royal Bank statement points out, "it may be said that the world wheat situation is relatively satisfactory."

1,000,000 Acres More Prepared

In spite of the fact that the estimated prepared wheat acreage in Canada for 1929 is nearly 1,000,000 acres larger than in 1928, it is predicted that the prospective world area for 1929 crops will be somewhat below that of 1928. According to the United States Department of Agriculture the 1929 wheat area in 13 countries has been reported at 117,039,000 acres, representing a decrease of four per cent. from the 121,632,000 acres of 1928.

The severe winter in Europe was detrimental to Winter wheat. The Danube Basin suffered, while Rumania is reported to have lost half its acreage. North Africa and India are only slightly less favorable than a year ago. In Russia in suite of the government's plan to increase acreage, several important wheat producing sections have reported the area sown to be from 12 to 18 per cent below last year.

Record in 1928

In 1928 both Canadian and world crop figures presented new high records of production. The United States, Argentine, and Australian crops were among the best ever harvested while the Danube district had the largest crop since the war. As a result the world export surpluses at the end of 1928 were unprecedently high.

In touching upon the future, the Royal Bank statement suggests the present prices, though low, give promise of responding to an increasing demand. Much will depend upon the prospects for the 1929 crop and so far as that is concerned, there are difficulties in the way of making estimates. The chief difficulties would seem to lie in the inadequate statistical data at present available.

"To remedy this deficiency," the report suggests, "crop yield statistics, weather records and our knowledge of the laws of plant growth much be improved."

1,600 ACRES ARE FLOODED

Property Damage at Erieau Is Estimated at Nearly $1,000,000.

FAMILIES DESTITUTE.

BLENHEIM, Ont., May 8. (C.P.)—With some 100 acres of the most fertile land in Ontario, in the Burke Drainage Project at Erieau inundated by Lake Erie to a depth of three or four feet, when the last dyke broke yesterday afternoon, damage is estimated at nearly $1,000,000 and probably will exceed the estimate, it was stated.

The flooding of this fertile area affects a farm population of some 300. Many families are destitute. If reclaimed it will be with immense difficulty and necessarily a slow process.

It was believed yesterday that much of the land, some of it worth $400 an acre, will never be reclaimed. In addition it is feared that the fertile muck, once a swamp, will be covered with several inches of sand from the lake, thus ruining the land for the purpose to which it is being put by the thrifty Belgian farmers.

Heavy Duties Are Placed on Numerous Free List Articles

Tariff Bill Introduced in United States House Strikes Hard at Canada—Measure As Presented Is Prohibitive On Practically All Farm Products.

MILK DUTY DOUBLED—CREAM INCREASED FROM 20 TO 48 POTATOES AND LIVE CATTLE REMAIN UNTOUCHED

Fresh Pork Jumps 3-4 Cent To2 1-2 Cents a Pound, While the Lumber Industry Is One of the Greatest Sufferers—Duty On Eggs Increased Two Cents.

WASHINGTON, May 8 (Canadian Press). — The Ways and Means Committee o f the House of Representatives presented to the House yesterday a new tariff schedule.

In the grains the Bill would make two principal changes: Increase the corn tariff from 15 cents to 25 cents a bushel, and rice from 2 to 2½ cents a pound. No alteration in the 42 cents a bushel duty on wheat, fixed by present duty, was proposed.

A general step-up in the duties on products of the dairy industry would be made. The rate on fresh milk would be doubled at five cents a gallon, while the rate on cream was proposed at 48 cents a gallon as against 20 cents at present.

Sweetened milk, condensed or evaporated, would carry a rate of 2½ cents a pound against 1½ cents, while unsweetened, condensed, or evaporated milk would be boosted from one cents to 1 4-10 cents a pound.

The existing rate of 12 cents a pound on butter, fixed by the president, would be unchanged, along with the presidential rate of seven cents a pound on cheese and substitutes.

Substantial changes affecting the cattle and hog industry were proposed. The duty on swine would be increased from one-half a cent a pound to two cents; while that of fresh pork would be advanced from three-quarters of a cent to 2½ cents.

Duties on cattle would not be changed, but the rate on fresh beef and veal would be raised 100 per cent to 6 cents a pound. Sheep, lambs, and goats would carry a duty of $3.00 a head against the present $2.00, with the rate on fresh lamb 7 cents a pound instead of 4 cents.

Building Materials

In building materials of five principal commodities, iron and steel remained practically unchanged, with the exception of duties on hardening materials. Logs and lumber of pine, fir, spruce and hemlock remained on the free list, but cedar shingles and lumber were transferred from the free list and given a duty of 25 per cent., ad valorem. Maple and birch lumber also were taken from the free list and made dutiable at 15 per cent. ad valorem.

Common building brick, another free list commodity, was made dutiable at $1.25 a thousand. Hydraulic cement, also now on the free list, was given a rate of 8 cents a hundred pounds to protect seaboard manufacturers from foreign competitions.

Hides remain on the free list, together with shoe leather and leather boots and shoes. The majority of the committee also ignored requests to take from the free trade category raw jute, bananas and many other commodities not produced in the United States.

In Chemical Schedule

Rates in the chemical schedule were changed in the case of 30 commodities, of which 33 were increases and six decreases. Some of the increases represent compensatory duties only.

Among the oils, an increased duty from 3.3 cents to 4.16 cents a pound on flaxseed or linseed oil was proposed. The rate on Soy bean oil would be stepped up from 2½ cents to five cents a pound as compensatory for the increased duty on the raw product.

The fish paragraphs in the present law were re-written to accord with modern commercial practices with commparatively few changes in duty.

The duty on poultry was adjusted to six cents a pound for live birds, in place of the present three cents; eight cents a pound for dressed fowls, in place of six cents, except turkeys which are given ten cents a pound as against eight cents now.

The proposed duty on eggs is ten cents a dozen in place of eight cents, while frozen eggs are advanced two cents to eight cents a pound.

TORONTO, May 8. — (C.P.). — Through the thoughtfulness and generosity of Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., law students in Ontario will have opportunity of extending their legal knowledge.

Mr. Nesbitt, who is Treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada, has made a gift to the society of securities amounting to $10,000 upon trust. The income is to be utilized for the improvement of legal education in the province and the encouragement of legal research. In consenting to undertake the administration of the gift the convocation of the society expressed its great appreciation.

BOY IS KILLED EIGHT INJURED

Toll of Traffic Accidents Was Heavy in Toronto Yesterday.

DIES IN HOSPITAL.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press).—A small boy killed, five children injured and three older persons hurt, was the toll of traffic accidents in Toronto yesterday. Eight of the accidents were persons struck by motor vehicles and the ninth occurred when a woman, in trying to avoid an automobile, was struck by a street car.

Killed.

David Duncan, 5, died in hospital.

Injured.

Nelson Shier, 8, serious head injuries.

Margaret Newton, 6, fracture of the skull and fracture of the right arm.

Javard Wengle, 4, slight head injuries.

Ethel Mitchell, 19, head injuries.

Dora Suckolsky, 11, cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Rose Suckolsky, mother of Dora, slight injuries.

Hilda Gleason, 19, injuries to head and legs.

Grant Yeoman, 12, injured limbs.

David Duncan died in hospital last night from injuries received in the afternoon when he was struck by a motor truck as he ran across the street. The lad, when picked up, was not thought to be seriously hurt. He was taken to the hospital, where his condition became worse last night, and shortly after 8 o'clock he died. Coroner H. Burgess will hold an inquest. The driver of the truck was not held by the police.

The other victims of yesterday's accidents were not seriously hurt, suffering minor injuries.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM PROPERTY

Percy Lancaster Suffers Heavy Loss When Barn is Razed.

CAUSE UNKNOWN.

CROOKSTON, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A fire of unknown origin completely destroyed a large barn with stone foundation owned by Percy Lancaster, about 5.30 a.m. on Monday morning. The fire was discovered by J. Wickens who immediately gave the alarm and within a short time a large crowd of men had gathered, but it was too late to save either buildings or contents.

Mr. Lancaster is at a loss to account for the fire as there was neither feed nor stock in the barn the contents consisting only of vehicles and implements. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

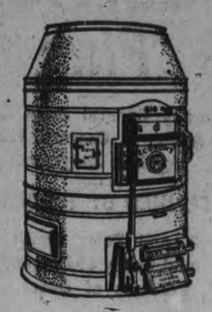
FURNACE

A furnace must be efficient if it is to keep the house comfortably warm at all times and yet be very economical in its use of fuel. That the "Economy" does this is evidenced by the following letter from a thoroughly satisfied user:

"The Pease Economy furnace is very satisfactory and so far, after two winters use, we are pleased with it. The house has not been as warm in 17 years and as far as coal consumption I find it is very economical."



There are reasons for this high degree of efficiency. They include the patented blast which burns air and the double, heat-insulating casing. Other reasons are equally interesting. Ask us about them.

HUNDREDS IN THIS CITY BEGIN HUSKY TREATMENT

They Are Taking the Medicine Which Relieves Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatic Pains, Chronic Headaches, Catarrhal Troubles and Kidney Ailments and Gives New Strength to Weak Bodies and Run Down Nerves.

Many Visit Bond's Drug Store to Interview "Husky" Expert —He Invites Everyone in Peterborough and Vicinity to Call on Him and Learn How Best and Quickest Results Are Obtained From This Medicine.

Many Peterborough residents, who have been suffering from indigestion, rheumatism, catarrhal troubles, chronic headaches and similar ills, are now using "Husky," the wonderful new medicine, which is being recommended and distributed by Bond's Drug Store.

The expert from the famous Husky Laboratories, at Toronto who is now at Bond's Drug Store for the purpose of explaining this medicine to local people, predicts that Husky will soon be doing as much for the sick of Peterborough as it has done and is doing for thousands in Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Vancouver and other cities throughout the Dominion.

"I talked with a good many people at Bond's Drug Store yesterday," said the "Husky" expert this morning, "and I have every reason to believe that practically all of those who have begun the Husky treatment are going to be benefitted. Indigestion, constipation, rheumatism, catarrhal troubles, nervousness, underweight, weak, and tired, run down feelings were the troubles which predominated among those calling yesterday. Husky has relieved so many thousands of cases of these troubles that I believe the people of Peterborough will soon be enjoying relief and new health.

"The other day while in Toronto," said the Husky expert, "I picked up several letters from persons who are taking Husky and which tell best just what this medicine is doing for sufferers. One of these letters was from Mrs. James Logan, of 23 Widmer Street, Toronto, and I have gotten her permission to publish her letter and picture in the Examiner in order that the people of Peterborough might get an unbiased report on Husky."

Mrs. Logan's letter follows:

"I have found Husky to be as good as everyone else said it was and I want to express my appreciation for what it has done for me.

"Before I started the Husky treatment I was so nervous and constipated I could hardly stand it and my back just hurt me something terrible. My rest at night was not at all good and I just could not get off to sleep before 12 o'clock, and then by 2 o'clock I was all wide awake again and couldn't get back to sleep. I never did feel like I had had a night's rest. I was tired and wanted to get rested but didn't know how to go about it until one of our very best friends told me about Husky.

"Husky has in such a short time caused me to rest and sleep all night with good, refreshing sleep. It has relieved my terrible nervous condition and the constipation. Those pains in my back have been relieved, too, and I get up every morning feeling refreshed and can do my work all right."

When you take Husky, you free your system of its over-supply of acidity. These acids accumulate and irritate your stomach, sour your food, fill you with gas, constipate you and rob your blood of the red corpuscles you must always have plent of to keep from getting thin, weak and achy. Go to Bond's Drug Store, get a bottle of "Husky" and begin its treatment. Note how soon food tastes better, your sleep is more restful and sound and you have strength and energy to run you through the day. It is nothing short of marvelous what Husky will do for you in a short time.

Call on the "Husky" expert at Bond's Drug Store to-morrow and let him explain to you how best and quickest results are obtained from the Husky treatment. He wants to explain this medicine to everyone in Peterborough and you incur no obligation by calling on him.

The Weather

Northern Ontario—Fair to-day and Thursday with stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Lake Superior— Moderate northwest winds; fair and cool to-day and Thursday.

Pierre

Beauty Authority of America's Beautiful Women

agrees with Cavalieri of Paris on this 2-minute complexion treatment

"I urge as one of the first tenets of my creed that unless a skin be clean no treatments can be of any value. Soap, I find—if it be the right soap—is incomparable. For use on a skin which is apt to be oily and for an occasional thorough cleansing, Palmolive, I consider is the best for this purpose."

PIERRE

"In addition to my own beauty aids, I always recommend the soap blended of palm and olive oils. By cleansing the pores thoroughly, it leaves the skin in a smooth, healthy condition."

Unmistakably Parisian, this entrance to Cavalieri's Salon de Beauté, at 61, Avenue Victor Emmanuel III. Here, on an afternoon, one mingles with an interesting and attractive group of women from America and the continent.

LINA CAVALIERI has stepped off the operatic stage to share her beauty knowledge with the world's smartest women.

Ensconced in her sumptuous salon, on the Avenue Victor Emmanuel III, Lina Cavalieri tells her patrons of a simple home beauty treatment with a soap blended of palm and olive oils.

"I am visited by some of the most famous beauties of two continents," she says. "In addition to my own beauty products, I always recommend them to use Palmolive Soap."

When dirt, dust, oil, powder and rouge get into the pores they are choked up. To these poisonous secretions Cavalieri attributes blackheads, pimples, enlarged pores, blemishes.

Mme. Cavalieri feels that the unique lather of Palmolive frees those hardening masses of dirt and make-up and leaves the complexion soft and glowing.

Discovered long ago by American specialists

This opinion has long been held by beauty specialists of prominence throughout the United States and Canada. They, too, recommend this famous twice-a-day treatment which Cavalieri suggests to her discriminating clientele:

With both hands make a bland lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. For two minutes, massage this well into the skin. Then rinse, gradually cooling the water to icy temperature. For dry skin, a touch of cold cream. Oily skin is refreshed by an astringent lotion and day cream before make-up is applied.

Not only in America but in Vienna, Berlin, London, Rome—all over the world specialists agree on this 2-minute beauty treatment. France has made Palmolive one of its two largest selling soaps . . . think of it—France, the beauty dictator of two hemispheres. And in forty-eight other countries, of all soaps it is the choice, just as it is in Canada and the United States.

In New York the leading women of society go to Pierre because they have learned his beauty treatments simply mean employing nature's own methods to attain natural beauty.

The reputation of Pierre has become national in its extent. Situated in the fashionable Plaza district it is the rendezvous of those discriminating ones to whom beauty is in itself one of life's great objects.

In addition to the complimentary things Pierre says of Palmolive Soap—in which he finds support from the world's leading beauticians—he adds, "To retain the radiant skin texture which my treatments give, I provide my clients with my own special creams and powders, which I ask them to use with a very good soap (Palmolive) for an oily skin."

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, May 8. — The cattle supply was some four hundred head lighter than last Tuesday and all classes of killers are in good demand at steady prices. All the cattle offered were fresh arrivals and some that came in late are being held for a fill. This made movements to the scales somewhat slow at the opening. But fair activity developed by 11 a.m. with prospects of a good clean-up at the close.

Choice steers in small lots sold up to 11¾ cents a pound, and one straight car load of fair quality light steers sold early at 11¼ cents a pound.

Cows were firm and good. The choice butcher kind brought 8 to 8½ cents a pound. Canners and cutters were worth 4½ to 6 cents a pound.

The range of prices on dairy cattle ran from 10 to 13½ cents, according to quality, with very few stockers and feeders offered, and these were held at firm prices with none moving in the early market.

The calf supply showed a falling off of some 600 head from last Tuesday. Trade was slow with prices a shade easier than on Monday at 15 cents a pound for tops, and 14 to 15 cents for most choice calves. Medium to heavy veals were worth 9 to 13½ cents a pound, grassers were easier, from 7 to 8 cents. There were not enough yearling lambs to make representative sales.

The spring lambs were steady at Monday's decline for the best kind. While common lambs were easier, the sale for yesterday showed a range from $7.00 to $14.00 each. Sheep prices were unchanged at 8½ to 9½ cents for good light ewes, and from 5 to 6½ cents a pound for culls.

The hog market was unsettled with bids a quarter lower. The salesmen are holding for a steady 12¾ cents a pound f.o.b. or 13 off cars. And it looks as if this price would hold in the final settlement.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 8.—Heavy shipments were received on the wholesale produce market yesterday, and prices to country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered and cases returned were steady at the following scale: Fresh extras, 28c per dozen, firsts 26c and seconds 23c per dozen.

Dealers reported that several car lot consignments arrived on the market from country packers, and in some cases these supplies represented eggs that were bought for storage purposes at country points, which indicates that there is an easier feeling in the market. Local packing houses stated that they are not reaching out for eggs at the present prices. Production throughout the country continues to be strong.

Butter Trading Quiet

Trading was quiet in the butter market and the price of No. 1 finest creamery was shaded to the range of from 36—c to 36¾c per pound. No. 2 grade was also reduced fractionally to the range of from 35¼c to 35¾c per pound. The last of the imported stock is in the dealers' hands and supplies at present are more than sufficient to meet the demands.

Quotations to the retail trade were reduced, No. 1 creamery selling for 40c per pound and No. 2 grade at 39c.

The cheese market was quiet and prices held steady at from 17½c to 17¾c per pound for No. 1 large colored paraffined and Government graded supplies.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 8.—Millions of bushels of Canadian and Argentine wheat pressing for sale at 4c to 6c a bushel below United States wheat led to a record-breaking fresh collapse yesterday of grain prices here. Corn and rye, as well as wheat, shared at times in the general smash. Efforts to have United States Government ships take domestic wheat to foreign markets at cut rates were of no apparent effect in stopping the downward plunge of wheat prices, which when 28c below the season's top figures.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 2½c to 3¼c to 3⅝c under Monday's finish. Corn closed irregular at ¼c decline to ⅝c advance; oats, ⅛ to ¼c off to ¼c gain, and provisions, unchanged to a rise of 20c.

Freight Rates Responsible

Initial severe downturns yesterday of wheat values here were largely owing to the fact that before trading had opened in Chicago the Liverpool wheat market showed a decidedly sharper setback than was looked for. This was ascribed to withdrawal of buyers there pending new developments in regard to slashing of railroad freight rates in the United States and Canada as a means of finding an outlet for surplus stocks before the beginning of harvest operations that are almost at hand in Texas.

Increased tension in the Chicago wheat market speedily ensued, owing to the fact that Winnipeg prices made a specially striking exhibit of weakness, the slashing of values there being compared with 48 hours previous because of a holiday on the Winnipeg Exchange Monday. Thus, Winnipeg quotations yesterday were off in some cases as much as 9c a bushel, and not everybody remembered that this was a period of two days.

Canadian Wheat Stuation

Furthermore, the action of the Winnipeg market served to emphasize reports that 76 lake ships loaded with wheat were practically embargoed at Montreal; that Montreal elevators were crowded with the largest amount of wheat ever accumulated there, and that railroad tracks there were also embarrassed with unloaded wheat cars. Estimates were current that, taken as a whole, Canada already has 12,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat waiting at Canadian seaports, 15,000,000 bushels at United States lake ports and 11,000,000 bushels at United States Atlantic ports, a total of 38,000,000 bushels immediately ready for any seaboard demand before the United States begins to move the domestic surplus down to the same point of availability.

Good News Is Ignored

Under such circumstances, relatively little notice was taken of word that move were in progress to utilize United States Shipping Board vessels to carry wheat abroad from Gulf of Mexico ports at actual cost. Meanwhile previous speculative sellers were enabled by the sharp price breaks here to collect profits on an enormous scale. This action led at times to rallies, but for the most part the upturns were short-lived.

Corn and other grain showed considerable weakness because of sympathy with wheat, but recovered from the effects. Cash demand for corn was active, receipts being the smallest witnessed in some time.

Provisions advanced in line with the hog market.

L.O.B.A. LODGE FORMED AT WARSAW

Grand Organizer Mrs. N.. W. Beaver, of Ottawa, Presided at Ceremony.

WARSAW, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—A new L.O.B.A. Lodge was inaugurated under most auspicious circumstances at a meeting held in the Orange Hall last week. It was one of the most successful meetings ever held in the village, the hall being filled to capacity. Representatives were present from Havelock, Hastings, Campbellford, Birdsall, Westwood, Peterborough and Lakefield.

The Grand Organizer, Mrs. N. W. Beaver, of Ottawa, was present and presided. After the opening exercises the Havelock degree team conducted the initiations in a most capable manner. The Hastings degree team then took charge and staged the Second Degree in a very thorough and pleasing manner.

At the completion of this important part of the meeting the Warsaw ladies served lunch and the social part was enjoyed.

THREE SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED

Men Are Wanted For Armed Robbery in Toronto Recently.

REVOLVERS FOUND.

BROCETON, Mass., May 8 (Canadian Press). — An hour after the receipt of a telegram from the Toronto police, Patrolman William Wilson arrested three men who were said to be wanted for armed robbery in Toronto and for a bank robbery at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The men gave the names the Toronto police had broadcast. They were Anthony Consola, 22, Joseph Di Salvio, 25, and Joseph Mussari, 22, all of Niagara Falls, N.Y. They were charged with carrying arms without a permit, and after appearance in court to-day will be held for the Toronto and Niagara Falls police.

The telegram from Toronto was read at the six o'clock police call, and shortly after seven o'clock Wilson overheard three men asking for directions to New York. He took them to the station for questioning. The police said that two loaded revolvers were found in their automobile and Di Salvio had a package of bullets in his pocket.

Three Deaths Result Of Fatal Disease

LONDON, Ont., May 8.—In the recent outbreak of disease in Ekfrid township, Ont., three of the four deaths were caused by meningitis and suffocation and one from streptococous poisoning, according to a report issued yesterday by District Health Officer Dr. McNally.

"Only one of the deceased was a victim of the streptococcus germ, as far as we can discover," stated Dr. McNally, "and the other deaths were purely coincidental."

The death of Miss Barbara Sinclair was supposedly due to streptococcus haemolyticus, presumably with the infection originating from a knife cut in her thumb. But in none of the other deaths was any trace found of this disease. In addition, Dr. McNally explained that this illness was not a communicable one.

TRENT RIVER, May 8—(Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christie motored from Toronto and spent over Sunday at their cottage.

Mr. Will Wright, Toronto, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. James Wright, at "Windermere." Both left for the city on Tuesday. Mrs. Wright expects to return here for the summer in ten day and will then have her cottage wired for the Hydro.

The Misses Laura and Agnes Wight, of Peterborough, were home for the week-end.

Miss Myrtle McLaughlin, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her mother, leaving for the city on Sunday accompanied by her mother, who will remain for a few weeks with her daughters.

WAR DECLARED ON CAPITALISM

President of Mexico Calls On Workers o Show United Front.

WARNS LAND OWNERS.

MEXICO CITY, May 7.—(Canadian Press).—The government has delivered to the press copies of a speech made Sunday at Puebla by President Emilio Portes Gil contaiing what are regarded as highly significant utterances with relation to application of the agrarian laws.

He called on the workers and the farmers to put up a united front against capitalism and said the humble classes owed their poverty in the past to the fact they had not been able to get along among themselves and co-operate for their own betterment.

Then he warned the large landowners, declaring that if they did not accede voluntarily to government requests and contribute their part to fulfillment of the constitutional stipulation that all villages have their communal land the government would be obliged to see that they did so.

He addressed the "privileged classes" warning them "they must make as great concessions as becomes necessary for the benefit of the majority."

Marvelous Flavor

IT'S as crisp and sparkling as dew on a lettuce leaf . . . with piquancy equal to caviar . . . refreshing as tea after a long walk in the country . . . cooling as the breeze which blew over the hills . . . and mellow as the conversation around the fireplace. This is "Canada Dry." This is the champagne of ginger ales.

Its remarkable flavor is like some rare old wine. Its zest and sparkle set it off forever from any other ginger ale. It has an inimitable quality which has won the approving nod of connoisseurs the wide world over.

Its basic excellence gives it distinction

And did you ever stop to think why "Canada Dry" is such a popular ginger ale? One simple statement tells the story—marvelous flavor. First, absolutely pure ingredients and high-quality Jamaica ginger give "Canada Dry" basic excellence. Expert blending and balancing contribute to the inimitable result. A secret process of carbonation produces a delicate balance of flavor which is neither too sharp nor too flat. Daily tests under laboratory methods assure purity.

There's a thrill to the flavor of drinking this better, finer, purer ginger ale. Order it today in the Hostess Package.

THE WOLF MENACE.

The appeal made by a Northern Ontario deputation to Hon. Chas. McCrea, Provincial Minister of Mines and Fisheries, for an increase in the Government wolf bounty, will be endorsed by hunters in this district as well as by the settlers in the northern part of the county.

Yesterday's deputation told the Minister that there was grave danger of deer becoming extinct in Ontario as a result of the increasing ravages of wolf packs.

Similar testimony could be supplied from the Apsley district where the activities of wolves in the last couple of years have had an appreciable effect upon the supply of deer and have resulted in losses among farmers' flocks as well.

It is claimed that an increase in the wolf bounty from $15 to $50, with the Government to retain the wolf skins, would do much to mitigate the wolf menace and give the deer a chance.

Certainly some aggressive policy must be adopted if the ravages already noted are not to become worse.

MAKING TRAVEL A DELIGHT.

When it comes to equipment de luxe, complete service and the adoption of new ideas for the comfort and convenience of their passengers, Canadian railways set a pace that the world finds it hard to match.

Thus the innovations added to the C.P.R.'s crack trans-Canada train are probably the last word in luxurious equipment.

The spacious new solarium—observation—lounge car placed in service by the Canadian Pacific adds a new pleasure to trans-continental travel.

The solarium is a miniature sun-room on wheels, through the glass of which passengers can bask in the health-giving rays of the sunshine.

It is not the only feature, however, of this wonderful car, which contains a general observation lounge luxuriously furnished, a buffet, bath and shower-rooms for both ladies and gentlemen, a private smoking-room for men and a separate lounge for women passengers.

Railway travel in Canada often calls for long journeys, and evidently the management of the Canadian Pacific is determined that nothing that will add to the comfort of passengers on these lengthy trips is to be overlooked in the supplying of train equipment.

EXPENSIVE RURAL EDUCATION.

If any evidence were required to show the need of reform in the present system of rural school education, ample proof could be found in the latest figures of the Department of Education covering the year 1927 that there is something rotten in the State of Denmark.

These figures show between 850 and 900 schools in the Province with an average attendance of from one to ten pupils.

In the year under review there were in the organized counties of the older portion of the Province 113 schools where the average attendance did not exceed five—in fact, the total attendance was only 450 for the whole lot.

To educate this scanty number 113 school buildings were used, 113 teachers had to be paid, and $110,000 was spent, of which the people of these particular school districts had to pay $68,000.

Schools of from six to ten pupils number 702 and cost $612,000 to operate—pretty expensive education.

The figures in regard to low attendance schools indicate in fact that it required an expenditure of nearly a million dollars to educate 6,448 pupils in these small schools, an average annual cost per pupil of $148, as compared with $77 per pupil for all the rural schools throughout Ontario.

Township school boards may not be solution of the problem, but in the fact of these figures it deserves a trial, especially when no other method is advanced as likely to remedy the situation.

LAST POST FOR GREAT SOLDIER.

The death of General Sir William Otter means the loss to Canada of a distinguished soldier who was a veritable institution in Canadian military service.

No Canadian had been so prominently connected over so long a period with the military organizations of this country as had General Otter, who enlisted first as a private in the militia and rose to become head of the general staff at Ottawa, the first Canadian-born soldier to advance to such a position of prominence.

Sir William had his first experience of active service at Ridgeway during the Fenian raids in 1866, led the Queen's Own Rifles during the Northwest Rebellion in 1885, and commanded the Canadian troops in the South African War.

Altogether General Otter had over half a century of military service to his credit, and his reputation as a thorough soldier is recognized not only in his native land but throughout the British Empire.

Although past the three score and ten year mark when the Great War broke out, the veteran soldier was among the first to offer his services, but the powers-that-be decreed that he was too old for overseas work, and offered him the post of director of internment operations in Canada, a position of considerable responsibility and involving many problems that called for all General Otter's experience as a leader and administrator.

A great soldier and a great Canadian has gone in his passing, and the Canadian militia has lost a stout-hearted and enthusiastic friend and supporter.

MOTOR LAW INFRACTIONS.

Citizens generally will be glad to note a tightening up, locally, in the enforcement of motor traffic laws. It is time that something be done to impress emphatically upon the minds of car owners that these laws must be obeyed, not by their neighbors only but also by themselves. Very few accidents would occur if all traffic laws were obeyed by all. Offenders, no matter what their position is in the community, must be taught to account for any infraction of these laws, which were designed for the purpose of promoting safety on the highways.

Especially should this be the case in drunken, or reckless driving. These two constitute the greatest menace to travel by motor. With all drivers careful and sober, there would be fewer roadway tragedies to record. We are glad to note, therefore, that war has been declared especially on these two classes of drivers. The announcement made by Magistrate Maxwell in police court Thursday morning that severe penalties will be inflicted on drivers who are detected under the influence of liquor should have a salutary effect, and it will be heartily endorsed by public opinion.

The man who "tanks up" and then takes the wheel of a car on a joy ride, deserves no clemency. He is too great a danger to the community to be allowed off with a warning or a light fine, or a few days in prison. Mr. Maxwell has served definite notice on those who attempt to drive cars while drinking. If they do not heed it, they can blame no one if they find themselves behind iron bars for a considerable time.

The reckless driver deserves no more consideration than the drunken one. Each can do an equal amount of damage. While one is drunk on liquor, the other is intoxicated with recklessness. Measured by results, we can see little difference in these forms of intoxication. The reckless driver should, therefore, be given the limit when he is convicted in court.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

"HE WAS A SKIPPER BOLD."

One of the questions which will incidentally be determined in the arbitration agreed upon by the United States and Canada in connection with the I'm Alone affair is whether the skipper of the schooner, whose fate has brought about an international controversy, was simply a rum-running adventurer caught in the act of law-breaking and entitled to neither respect nor redress, or a maritime hero worthy of a niche in history for his bold defiance of what, in the language of diplomacy, is described as a punitive act involving a breach of treaty agreements and a violation of the freedom of the seas.

So far the personality of Captain T. Randell has remained pretty much in the background of the dispute. In the correspondence exchanged between the two Governments he is referred to as the captain of "a notorious smuggling vessel," and in the American notes his conduct during the pursuit of the I'm Alone and at the time she was sunk is discussed in a manner suggestive of the character of a temperamental buccaneer.

But otherwise there is no allusion to his character and antecedents, and repeated attempts to interview him, both in Canada and across the line, have failed to elicit from the now widely-known skipper either much comment upon his adventure, or information concerning his history. Indeed, with no desire to prejudge the issue left to arbitration, it may be claimed for Captain Randell that his reticence betokens a modesty and sense of dignity not usually associated with modern adventurers on whom beats the light of a fierce publicity. And the fact that he has accepted with good grace the decision to arbitrate upon his case would also seem to indicate that he is not quite the piratical notoriety seeker pictured by the American coast-guard.

Whatever may be thought of the rum-running business from a legal and moral point of view, and public opinion is justified in regarding it as a by no means admirable form of activity, there is no doubt that it has attract ed men of a type in some of whom the spirit of adventure is as acute as the sordid desire for gain. They may lack the picturesqueness of the eighteenth century smugglers, who wore pigtails, brightly colored neckcloths and ponderous ear-rings and could scuttle a ship, or cut a throat with almost the same abandon as they could pour forth a string of oaths. According to a recently published "Diary of a Rum Runner," the smuggler brought into being by the Volstead Act is a commonplace, dull, unattractive fellow, who wears a ready-made suit of clothes, chews gum and ordinarily experiences no greater excitement than that of "broaching the admiral," beating off a "hi-jack," or dodging a coast patrol.

But the I'm Alone incident is in itself a proof that stirring adventure is not entirely lacking in the operations of those who seek to defy the liquor law of the United States, and enough is known of the central figure in the present imbroglio to indicate that even in the squalid occupation of running cargoes of assorted liquors, consisting less of rum than of Scotch whiskey, there may be an element of romance Facts are now beginning to emerge which show that in the captain of the I'm Alone the American coast-guard caught no ordinary Rum Row rover.

That Captain Randell had a distinguished war record as an officer in the British navy is no longer a secret. The Admiralty records reveal that as a Canadian master mariner he obtained a commission as temporary lieutenant in the R.N.S. and was given the command of an armed trawler in the North Sea. His services as a submarine chaser were such as to earn him promotion and several decorations. Appointed acting lieutenant commander, he was mentioned in despatches, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the French Croix de Guerre, and commended as an officer of marked skill, tact and courage.

There may be those who claim that his war record, however honorable, has nothing to do with his smuggling activities or with the question to which they have given rise. But it is both relevant and important, for, apart from his knowledge and experience of navigation, his service in the North Sea was precisely of a nature to equip him with a thorough understanding of the law of visit and search on the high seas, and of the niceties of jurisdiction over territorial waters. In these circumstances, it is evident that the arbitration tribunal, which deals with the I'm Alone case, will have to reckon, not with an irresponsible smuggler seeking reparation and notoriety, but with a highly skilled naval expert familiar with the technicalities of the issue in dispute, and something of an authority on the maritime law and practice applicable to it.—Ottawa Journal.

Why We Do What We Do.

WHY WE THINK A DIAMOND IS BEAUTIFUL

..By Mehran, K Thomson, Ph. D... Author of The Springs of Human Action

Why do we think a big diamond is more beautiful than a piece of glass that we can't distinguish from it

The diamond is really not a bit more beautiful than the glass. But it costs a great deal more. There are fewer available diamonds in the world than pieces of glass. Glass is common and relatively cheap. Diamonds are rare and exceptionally expensive.

Moreover, the value of a diamond has become traditional through long periods of time and our tastes have been determined by this tradition.

Tradition plays no small part in our ideas of beauty, also in what is proper and just as enviable. For example, many of us would think it improper for a rich man's wife to work for a living, but the rich man himself may work his head off.

Conspicuous expenditure of money is one distinguishing mark of belonging to the leisured class, and therefore of demonstrating a kind of superiority. If a man gives his wife lots of money to spend and she spends it for him, it represents conspicuous expenditure. But if a man's wife takes in washing, it indicates that he does not have lots of money to spend, does not belong to the leisured class, and demonstrates that kind of inferiority.

We think old-master paintings beautiful for the same reasons that we think a diamond beautiful. In addition, the old-master paintings have acquired a peculiar sanctity because of the irreligious character. But the principle reason for considering them beautiful is that they cost so much to buy. Some cannot be bought at any price, others have been sold at fabulous sums.

The money standard is applied not only to beauty but also to virtue and moral considerations to the end that what would not be tolerated in the poor is regarded as perfectly proper in the rich. The leisure class is envied by those who do not belong to it and when you look up to and envy a person or a class you take over their standards of what is right and true and beautiful.

We think a diamond beautiful for the same reason that we think the fish that got away was a huge one. Whatever is rare or hard to get looks better and appears to be more valuable because it challenges our resources.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Life Steps In

By RUBY M. AYRES

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Anthony's wife! so pretty and so smart! No wonder he had not written again, or come to see her as he had promised. Of course, Mollie had completely won him back; of course, everything was as it used to be between them.

When she heard Martha carry the fresh tea to the sitting room she went downstairs.

Mollie was sitting by the fire, her coat thrown aside in order to show her frock.

"Martha tells me you are selling everything, house and all," she said as Ana entered.

"Yes. It's no use to me. Besides, I couldn't afford to live on here even if I wanted to."

"What will you do then?"

"I don't know."

There was a blank note of desolation in Ana's voice which even Mollie was quick to hear. "I'm so sorry," she said impulsively.

Ana smiled faintly.

"It's no use pretending I'm broken-hearted," she said.

"I know, but to be so lonely——" Mollie rose with outstretched hand. "Let's be friends again, Ana. I know I behaved like a pig to you, and I'm sorry. Do be friends with me again."

Ana looked at Mollie's hand—so white and useless looking, then reluctantly she took it.

"It's all right," she said bluntly. "I've forgotten all about it." But she had not, and never would, and in her heart now she was wondering what Mollie wanted of her, because assuredly she must want something to come all this way out to Wimbledon.

"How is the General?" Ana asked. "I wanted to write, but I thought you might not care to hear from me."

"I thought you would write. Anthony thought so, too. By the way, how did you hear about him?" Mollie asked with a sudden flash of suspicion. For a moment Ana could find no answer. She had forgotten that Mollie knew nothing of all that had happened during the past weeks.

"I forget," she said at last. "Someone told me—but I really forget who it was."

It was a lie, of course, but she did not care; she did not care about anything.

"Well, anyway, he's much better," Mollie said. "It's going to be a long job, of course, but we've had the best specialists and they've done everything possible. He is still on his back, of course, and will have to be for months, they tell me, poor darling. I left Ellen with him to-day, and Anthony—they both adore him, of course. He'll be shockingly spoiled."

"You are still at Lyme Regis?"

"Yes, in that awful, poky cottage. One thing, it's impossible for us to go back to Rhodesia now."

"Of course. I suppose you are glad."

"Thankful! No sugar, Ana, I'm getting too fat."

"Fat!" Ana laughed and glanced at Mollie's slim figure. "I don't think there is much danger."

"So Anthony is going back alone," Mollie went on. "He says he can't leave the farm any longer. He sails next week, and I shall stay on with the General, of course."

"Yes." Ana seemed engrossed with the teapot, but she felt as if her body had grown suddenly frozen, without power to feel anything.

"I daresay he'll come back again in the spring," Mollie went on. "And that's why I came to see you."

Ana looked up. "To see me?"

"Yes, I wanted to ask you before I heard about Miss Sawyer's death, but directly I heard she had gone there seemed no possible reason why you could refuse."

"What do you mean?"

"That I want you to come and live with us—with me and the General. He's fond of you, and I should like to have you. You're the only woman I could live with for more than a day without having a row. It's better than being alone, Ana—do come."

"To live with you—down at the cottage? Oh, I couldn't!"

"It wouldn't be so bad," Mollie urged. "You would be quite free to do as you liked. It's just so that I shan't be alone. Anthony suggested it," she added untruthfully.

"Did he?" Ana laughed mirthlessly. "That was very kind of him, but I'm afraid I couldn't."

Mollie put down her cup, the old resentful look creeping into her eyes. She had made up her mind that Ana would accept; she had made so many plans—all to her own advantage—and now it seemed as if she was to be frustrated.

"Look here, if you're still angry about what I said, I'll apologize in any way you like," she said quickly. "I was in a temper or I should never have said it. I've got a vile temper—Anthony always tells me that I have—I didn't mean a word of it. I know you're not a bit in love with Anthony; why on earth should you be? Goodness knows he's not very exciting." She shrugged her shoulders petulantly. "He went for me like a—like a—well, like a pickpocket, when we had it all out about Ralph," she continued, laughing lightly. "I was really quite scared of him for once. Of course, I had to tell him all the truth—or at least most of it."

"Did you tell him?"

"Yes, and after all it was a great fuss about nothing. I soon made Anthony see that."

"Did you?"

"Yes, and I told him as long as he had a wife like me he must expect other men to pay me attention if he didn't pay me enough himself," Mollie said with unconscious conceit.

"And what did he say to that?" Ana asked. It seemed impossible that Mollie was talking about Anthony—she felt as if they were discussing a stranger.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NELLIE'S NEST.

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis)

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the tree where the Chip Chip family of sparrows had built their nest house, Mr. Longears heard the mother bird saying to her children Nellie and Dickie:

"Now, my dears, you have nothing to do for awhile before you go to school, so I think you should practise nest building."

"Yes, mother, I will!" sang Nellie.

"Pooh! I'm a boy sparrow and I don't need to learn how to build a nest," chippered Dickie.

"Yes, you must practise just the same as Nellie," said his mother. "While it is true that boy sparrows don't have to do quite so much about making nests as girl and lady sparrows do, still, when you grow up and have a little wife of your own, Dickie, you'll want to know how to help her make a home nest, won't you?"

"No!" chirped Dickie as he picked up some seeds, "I'm never going to get married so I won't have to learn how to make a nest"

"Don't be silly!" sang Nellie, who was a happy little sparrow child. "Of course you'll get married some day. Come on now and I'll show you how to build a nest."

"Pooh! You don't know yourself!" laughed Dickie.

"Well, I'm going to learn," answered Nellie.

"Oh, all right! I'll stop and look at the nest you build after I have a game of feather tag with Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck," said Dickie as he flew off by himself.

But Nellie hopped around until she saw a low tree which she thought would be a good place for a nest and began to hunt for things with which to build it.

"Let me see, now," said Nellie to herself, while Uncle Wiggily, hiding behind a bush, watched to see what the little sparrow girl would do. "Mother said I must gather some sticks and leaves and pieces of soft grass, and stray hairs from the tails of horses and pieces of string and old feathers to line the nest to make it soft for the eggs. That's one thing I can do that Dickie can't. I can lay eggs in my nest after I get it made."

So Nellie picked up small sticks in her beak and, flying to the tree she had picked out for her practice nest, began to lay them in among the branches where they made a place shaped like the letter Y.

Uncle Wiggily watched while Nellie twined the rough sticks in and out. But she wasn't old enough to do it well and some of the sticks fell to the ground and at last Nellie said: "Oh, I wish I could find some pieces of string! Mother said string was fine to bind the outside sticks of the nest together. But I don't see any string around here."

Now, as it happened, Uncle Wiggily had been to the store for Nurse Jane and was bringing home a bag of sugar tied with a string.

"If I hold the bag right side up, carefully, I won't need the string," said the old rabbit gentleman hiding behind a bush. "I'll toss the string out where Nellie can see it."

No sooner said than done. The wind blew the string to a clump of grass, and there the little sparrow girl saw it.

"Oh, goodie!" she chirped and then it was easier for her to make the nest. In a few days it was almost done on the outside and then Nellie began to line the inside with horse tail hairs and stray feathers. As he hopped to and fro, looking for adventures, Uncle Wiggily slyly watched Nellie build her practise nest, and she did it very well.

One day the next was finished and Uncle Wiggily heard Nellie say:

"I wish I had some eggs for my nest, but it is too soon for that." Then, when Nellie had flown away, Uncle Wiggily found some white and brownish stones, like sparrow eggs and he tossed them up in Nellie's nest. So that when the little sparrow girl came back she saw them.

"Oh, how wonderful!" she chirped. "Some other bird has laid eggs in my nest. Maybe if I warm them for a couple of weeks I can hatch out little birds. Oh, how wonderful."

But Uncle Wiggily did not want to tease or fool Nellie so he called up to her, from the ground below, that the things she thought were eggs were only stones. And at first Nellie was quite disappointed.

But just then, all of a sudden, the Bob Cat, who was always trying to catch Uncle Wiggily, jumped out of the bushes to get him. But Nellie, up on her nest, scattered out the hard stones and they fell down and bumped the Bad Chap on his nose so that he howled with pain and ran away as fast as he could.

WORSE AND WORSE

NITT: The service in this hotel is terrible. I'd like to phone to the clerk and tell him what I think of it.

WITT: Why don't you?

NITT: I tried to, but nobody answered the phone.—Judge.

CANADIAN LEGION B.E.S.L.

Peterborough Branch

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night to make arrangements for the Legion Carnival, to be held on May 15, 16 and 17. Practically all committees reported plans nearly matured, and many valuable suggestions were received.

It was decided to hold the dance in the lower hall, starting about 10 o'clock each evening, with a good orchestra. The upper floor will be given over to hourly concerts, and the main auditorium will be used for booths and games.

* * *

At a meeting of the Legion Auxiliary on Monday night, assurance of enthusiastic support was given the President. The ladies will operate a tea room and a fortune telling booth.

The concert committee, under Comrade Chapman, has arranged to present a rip-roaring comedy, with a trench setting. The characters are: Officer in Charge, J. Abraham; Sergeant, A. E. Everitt; Corporal on Guard, J. Ridyard; Mac on Guard, T. E. Chapman; Charlie the Cook, Eddie Leonard; Herb, George Clarke; Alf, Larry O'Connor; Nipper, F. Stanley; Harold, F. Farr; Silver Flannigan, Al Spenceley; Slim Flannigan, T. Griffin; Rick, R. Brioux. The Musical Director will be Jack McLaren, and the Stage Manager, J. Primeau. The scene is laid on November 11, 1918.

Comrade C. E. Jamieson reported arrangements well in hand for the raffles. Comrade Dr. N. H. Sutton has secured the necessary prizes.

The Dugout, under chairmanship of Comrade F. Gant, will be better even than last week's plans contemplated. A regular entertainment is projected, with features that will delight every visitor.

Comrade G. H. Cutmore has arranged for guides to explain the war trophies, and tell the histories that cling to them. Splendid exhibits have already been arranged, and others are coming in every day.

Comrade C. Armstrong has completed his plans for the wheel, and has secured a very efficient committee. He is also taking over supervision of the bran tub.

The soft drinks booth, under Comrade J. Dunslow, is under way, the first order having been given last night.

Splendid suggestions were offered by Comrade W. E. Massey Cooke, who will be in charge of the Legion exhibit, showing what the Legion is doing to help veterans of the Great War. Three local war-time nurses are being approached to give their services in this booth.

All arrangements have been completed for the bingo game, under the efficient management of Comrade M. J. Clancy.

Several other committees which are functioning well had not reports ready for last night's meeting, but it is known that their affairs are in good order.

Members who have not yet done so are urged by the president to turn in the proceeds of their first allotment of tickets, and take out more. He will be at the Legion Hall to-night from 7 to 8, and on Thursday all evening.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

LIKE HIS DAD

He smiles a little at his dad,
For Father has a way of walking,
A way of stalking
When he's mad,
And even funny way of talking.
A youngster is so much advised
That parents seem a lot of bother—
And yet he'd rather
Be surprised
To know how much he's like his father.

I see him coming down the street,
Intent upon some boyish matter,
I hear the clatter
Of his feet,
I catch a bit of boyish chatter.
I hear him tell some other boy
About the wealth he means to win him,
I see him spin him
Dreams of joy—
How much he has of Father in him!

Some day he'll have his father's cares,
The father that he finds amusing,
The hours of losing,
Dark affairs
That come in spite of all our choosing
And then he'll have the strength of Dad,
When little storms of trouble strike him—
Life's road will hike him,
And be glad,
Recalling Dad, he's so much like him

HIGHER RATE CONTINUES TO AFFECT MARKET

Control of Price Movement Shifts Between "Bull" and "Bear" Forces.

MONEY SUPPLY LOW.

New York Bankers Pessimistic Regarding Drop in Money Rates.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8.—High money rates continued to have a restricted effect on speculative operations in to-day's stock market. Control of the price movement shifted frequently between the "bull" and the "bear" forces, with the former apparently unable to attract a large outside following and the latter unsuccessful in forcing an extensive liquidation.

Call money renewed at 14 per cent. with the supply relatively small. Little money from out of town was in evidence, and New York banks apparently were disinclined to help the situation by increasing their rediscounts at the Federal Reserve Bank. Some brokers held out hope of lower money rates before the day was over, but bankers were not so optimistic.

TRADING LAX TORONTO CURB

Slow Downward Movement Evidenced Throughout the General List.

FEW GAINS REGISTERED.

TORONTO, May 8. (C.P.) — A slow, downward movement engulfed all the active stocks in a listless session on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The total sales, which were very small, were largely confined to such stocks as Nickel, Ford, Walkers, Brazilian and Lake Superior. There were, however, a few exceptions to the dominating trend but these were not nearly so substantial as the declines. Nickel held up well, losing only 1-4 to 52, while Alberta Pacific grain dropped 1 1-2 to 47 1-4, and Canners Second sold off 1 1-8 to 24 3-8. Ford broke sharply at 57 1-2 and later recovered to 58 3-8, to show a net loss of 3 1-8 points. Gypsum and Alabastine sold off 2 to 108, Ontario Equitable 2 to 60, Canada Paving 2 to 32, while Walkers, Page Hersey, Steel of Canada, Lake Superior, Hayes Wheels and Pressed Metals were all lower. Massey Harris lost 1 1-2 to 71 1-2.

A few shares of Canada Bread came out three points stronger at 170, while Consumers' Gas gained 2 to 188, Standard Steel 1 1-8 to 57, and Goodyear Tire 3 to 375. Ajax Oil had a turnover of only 1300 shares, and slumped 35c to 1.03.

STANDARD LIST PRICES UNEVEN

Newbec, Noranda and Oil Stocks Hold Interest of Speculators.

FLUCTUATION NARROW.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press).—With Noranda, Newbec and the oil stocks continuing to attract most of the attention, prices remained uneven on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Fluctuations in the mining list was very narrow, leaving a large number of the inactive stocks unchanged. Noranda was the outstanding feature when, after opening at 55.25, the price shot forward to 58.75, the noon price of 58.65 indicating a net advance of 3.90. Noranda had the heaviest turnover of more than 25,000 shares. McIntyre was off 40 cents at 16.55, while Lake Shore held unchanged. Sherritt Gordon and Sudbury Basin were both a little easier at 8.25 and 8.50 respectively. Ventures was off 25 at 9.00.

Ajax Oil was freely offered and in a turnover of more than 245,000 shares, dipped to a low of 1.01, with the noon price of 1.04, showing a net loss of 27 cents. Wainwell lost 3½ to 47½, Baltac 10 to 3.10, and Home 25 to 23.75. South-West Petroleum showed an appreciation of 40 cents at 7.25.

Slight Gains Made On Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, Man., May 8 (C.P.).—After opening 1¾ cents lower, wheat prices came back in the first half of trading on to-day's grain market to record fractional gains in quiet trading. At ten o'clock, values were one-half cent over yesterday's close but slipped back slightly to hold steady around yesterday's closing levels. No appreciable export business was reported.

Expectations for another wild day of trading following yesterday's drastic decline of eight cents, were not upheld early to-day and the trading became a tame affair.

The Bull Moose Party received its name from the remark made by Theodore Roosevelt—"I feel as fit as a Bull Moose"

OIL GOSSIP

Through Solloway, Mills and Company.

The official report of the Imperial Oil Limited, giving results during the week of all wells being put down by the company shows the Royalite No. 6 to be at 4531 feet; No. 12, 4210 feet; No. 17, 4034 feet, No. 19, 4462 feet; No. 21, 3862 feet and No. 23, 2353 feet. Dalhousie No. 7 is at 64 feet while the Foothils No. 2 is at 4357 feet; No. 3 2697 feet and No. 4 at 30 feet. Home No. 2 is at 5353 feet, No. 3 at 2697 feet and Home 4 at at 3260 feet. The Northwest Associated is down to 4691 feet, Advance No. 5, 3213 feet, Highwood No. 1 4225 feet, Bow River No. 2, 2510 feet and Devenish No. 3 is at 3076 feet.

The local street is taking considerable interest in the new Cypress Oil Company, indicating the excellent market the east offers for the Alberta Oils. Toronto is developing into a great center for the oils, and all the larger operators have headquarters here.

Drilling is being resumed at the East Crest after delay awaiting some casing to shut off the gas. This well is high on the structure, much the same as that of the Southwest Petroleum.

The Home No. 3 started drilling through the cement plug into the lime last Friday, according to Miller, Court and Company's Calgary office, while at the Home No. 2 preparations have been completed and diamond drilling into the lime should start today. At the Home 2, No. 3, which reached the lime at a depth of 5,330 feet, cable tools are being used and it is intended to drill some distance into the lime with this equipment until the diamond drill, which is to be used at the No. 2, has been released.

Royalite No. 6, which formerly produced 200 barrels a day, is to be cleaned out and a start has been made to dig a runway to the cellar.

Devenish No. 3 is being drilled to the bottom of the producing sand, but no estimate of the quantity of oil in the hole was available, although some new footage has been made.

A gradual increase in gas was reported last Friday from the Wabash well on the Morley reserve which has been drilled to a depth of 614 feet in the lime. The flow has not been measured or tested, but it is believed by officials of the company that it is wet.

Syndicates are now beginning to get active in the oil fields. One of the latest of these is the Deloraine Oil Syndicate Limited, an all Canadian concern which holds ground in the Kelvin-Sunhurst field, Montana, and is immediately surrounded by producing wells. The lease was first secured by a group of Deloraine citizens several years ago and since then they have drilled three wells, all of which are profitable producers of high grade oil. This is the lease that has been transferred to the syndicate. The syndicate is now making an offering of 400,000 shares of their remaining stock.

Grain Congestion Remains Unchanged

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., May 8.—(C.P.)— Grain congestion here remains unchanged to-day and with no vessels en route from the Upper Lakes the situation may become slightly alleviated within a few days, although it is not expected that the jam will be entirely cleaned up as far as Port Colborne is concerned, for well over a month.

The Frank H. Goodyear is expected to be able to get away to-day, after having been tied up here for more than a week. Use of certain quantities of grain by the Maple Leaf Milling Company and the arrival of a canaller or two daily is responsible for the Goodyear's being able to unload.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

Newbec

Press reports are to effect Newbec should be in position on 250 ft. level to cut downward extension of ore from 125 ft. level. Newbec shares are under steady accumulation, large amount of stock being taken up at 42 and 43 as offered during past week and prediction made of much higher prices when 250 level ore is revealed.

Howey

Large amounts of Howey Gold stock are being taken up daily. Evidently good news from deep levels is anticipated shortly. During last two weeks shares moved up point by point from 1.20 to 1.28 with 150,000 shares being taken up in the interval.

Ventures

Reported that Ventures has taken up 600 acres copper property at Boston Creek and that another group has secured Ogilvie 58 claims. Negotiations also opened to secure control of big groups around Round Lake.

Cobalt Contact

Officials Cobalt Contact back from mine say another bonanza ore shoot opened on 300 foot level which assures mine of big and steady production of high grade silver. New vein 8 inches wide solid metal with wall rock shot with leaf silver. Previous discovery on 300 in another section of property, also high grade, stoped up 100 ft. and continues strong, showing width up to 2 ft. in places. Engineers who examined mine last week say strike is most sensational silver discovery in many years.

Dome

Dome production four months 1929, $1,389,000, or 12 per cent above year ago. April figures 353,354 exceeded April 1928 by $80,000.

Noranda

Outlook is Noranda being groomed for bigger things. Year ago president said no news would be given out at other than annual meetings. Recently, however, there has been much good news released, outlining important underground developments. It is rumored that of late deep diamond drill results have been distinctly favorable and that a statement may be forthcoming on this. In addition new shaft may be completed by end of present month or early in June, and this will presage near approach of time when production will be doubled.

SUDBURY LODE

Shareholders Sudbury Lode told work to date on company's 2,360 acres west of Sudbury Basin encouraging and electric survey made of part will be completed on whole acreage. Has 2,300,000 shares in treasury.

BARRY-HOLLINGER

Barry-Hollinger cut main vein at the 1,375-ft. level, says northern engineering service. Two rounds have not yet reached full width. Three and a half feet of vein shows high grade ore. Also found some new ore 700 level.

AMITY

Amity have now 25 feet ore full width of drift on 600-ft. level. Vein shows greater width than before. Are sorting again for shipments to Noranda, says northern engineering service.

CONSOLIDATED MINING AND SMELTING

Smelters during last few weeks has been quietly acquiring options on likely looking nickel-copper lands in Sudbury district, particularly on southwestern rim of basin. Company has erected an assay office in Sudbury for ore-testing and a permanent staff has been installed for this week.

SUNLIGHT

Some misunderstanding as to royalty paid by Sunlight Company. Royalty is one-eighth only. Company has no connection whatever with ... Oil City which company has no royalty coming from Sunlight.

STEADY PRICES IN COPPER LINE

Known Ore Supply Sufficient For the Next Twenty Years.

STRONG DEMAND.

TORONTO, May 8.—Careful study of the factors underlying the copper situation shows that a strong demand and good prices may be expected for some time to come, although the present strained condition of the market may not continue beyond July, according to S. H. Logan, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. No alarm need be felt for at least many years with regard to the quantity of copper available, for while under normal conditions consumption is increasing at the rate of between 4 and 5 per cent. per annum, there are known to be at least 2,500,000,000 tons of accessible ore, sufficient to last for twenty years or more without the need of investigating new sources, although, of course, further exploration is warranted in countries such as this, where geological and mining conditions are favorable.

Just at present demand exceeds blister and refined supply owing to a noticeable improvement in world industry, specially in Canada, the United States and Europe, and to lower output from Chile as a result of a recent earthquake. But apart from the room for expansion in mineral output, the operations of the smelting industry, although at a high level, are understood to be not more than 95 per cent. of capacity.

Two other factors must be taken into account as offsetting in the long run any temporary shortage of new supplies—the large production of secondary copper recovered from remelting old copper and brass scrap, an increasingly important item in commerce; and secondly the fact that high prices tend to stimulate production from all sources, and cause consumers to turn to substitutes such as lead, aluminum or rustless iron. Accordingly a shortage of refined copper would not last long unless the leading producers combine to restrict their output, which they are not likely to do in view of the good profit they can make with copper selling at the present price, or at 15 to 16 cents a pound.

World consumption to-day of copper from all sources, including that recovered from scrap, is over 2,000,000 tons per annum, as compared with 1,000,000 tons less than twenty years ago and 500,000 tons in the closing years of the last century. Much of the increased use has, undoubtedly been due to the development of the electrical industry, which in all its branches uses about 40 per cent. of the available copper, while the automobile industry used about 12 per cent. and the building industry 5 per cent. The world production of electricity has more than doubled since 1913 and the limit of expansion has not by any means been reached. As far as can be judged, not more than 15 per cent of the world's potential waterpower has been utilized and Europe has scarcely begun to meet its needs in this direction.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Action Follows Failure of Jeannette Style Stores, Limited.

TORONTO, May 8.—Charles Okun, 29, and his wife, Jeannette, 24, of 625 College street, yesterday pleaded not guilty to charges of conspiracy to defraud, theft, receiving and breach of the Bankruptcy Act, in connection with the failure of the Jeannette Style Stores Limited. They appeared before Judge Denton in county judge's criminal court.

The business had its head office in Peterborough, and ran two women's wear stores, one on George street, in that city, and the other on Yonge street, Toronto. On November 8, 1928, a receiving order for the winding up of the firm was made. The firm's authorized capital was $40,000.

DAY IN PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press). — The House of Commons to-day will consider the Budget resolutions and Railway Bills. Should time permit, the House will also try to make more progress with public works estimates.

Yesterday in Parliament — The Senate discussed the need for greater protection at railway grade crossings.

The House of Commons made considerable progress with the Budget resolutions, and also considered, during the private members' hour, the Bill providing for the acquisition of a domicile for women for the purposes of divorce.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL

Construction crews are arriving to start work on excavations for new copper refinery at Copper Cliff. Change has been made in location of plant, and it will now be constructed south of C.P.R. depot at Cliff, instead of on slag pile, as originally intended. Refinery, offices and yards will require 45 acres. Fraser and Brace, who are building new smelter and concentrator, are contractors also for refinery.

Recently, officials of American Metals Company paid a visit to Copper Cliff, and inspected arrangements for refinery.

The loftiest capital in the world is La Paz of Bolivia, which stands on a mountain-top 12,470 feet above the sea.

QUEEN'S STUDENTS GRADUATE TO-DAY

Winners of Scholarships in Theological College Are Announced.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press). — Graduating students in arts and science were presented with their degrees at the convocation closing the 88th session of Queen's University, to-day. Sir Robert L. Borden, Chancellor, presided.

Winners of scholarships in Queen's Theological College were announced as follows:

Rankine No. 1, P. R. Zufelt, Picton, Ont.; Rankine No. 2. C. L. Brown, Brockville, Ont.; A. W. Gray Scholarship, W. J. Byers, Owen Sound, Ont.; Chancellor's Scholarship, J. W. Patterson, Ayr, Ont.; Spence Scholarship, A. G. Macpherson, Orangeville, Ont.; Anderson No. 2, W. W. R. Delve, Lyn, Ont.; Taude Scholarship, G. W. Fish, R'dgetown, Ont.; William Morris Scholarship, W. D. Craig, Ottawa, Ont.; Buchanan No. 4, D. B. Gordon, Agincourt, Ont.; Anderson No. 1, J. Huggins, Ottawa, Ont.

News in Brief

(By Canadian Press)

KING LEAVES WEDNESDAY.

LONDON, May 8. — Announcement was made to-day that the King and Queen will leave Craigwell House, Bognor, for Windsor next Wednesday.

The King was removed to Bognor on February 9 of this year in order that he might benefit from the sea air in his convalescence from his recent serious illness. For some weeks past the improvement in His Majesty's health was such that it was hoped he could return to Windsor shortly. He had expressed a desire to assume his duties in connection with the forthcoming general elections.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH.

ROCHESTER, Ind., May 8.—Lloyd Flitcraft, 36, a farmer, and his three daughters, Mabel, 6, Mildred, 5, and Mary, 4, were burned to death in their home near Akron, Ind., early to-day.

The three girls were sleeping in an upstairs room. It was believed that a lantern they had taken upstairs with them exploded, setting fire to the house.

PROTEST APPOINTMENT.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 8. (C.P.) — Petitions protesting against the appointment of an Ottawa teacher to the principalship of the new Hugh Beaton public school, were circulated to-day in Walkerville. The appointee is Colin W. Lees. "favoritism" by the school trustees is charged.

REMAINS OF BRONZE AGE FOUND.

JERUSALEM, May 8. (C.P.)—Extensive remains of the early bronze age, dating from 3000 to 3500 B.C., have been discovered by Professor William F. Bade, dean of the Pacific School of Religion, at Berkeley, Cal., in excavating a site at Tel Nasben, to the north of Jerusalem.

PHILANTHROPIST DEAD.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8. (C.P.) — Martin Maloney, one of the foremost laymen of the Catholic church, in America, capitalist and philanthropist, died here to-day. He was 81.

BOY WILL RECOVER.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., May 8. (C.P.) —Still unaware of the fact that his three companions on the ill-fated motor trip from a dance at Kemptville, last riday night are dead, John Kelly, of Domville, sole survivor of the party is improving daily in the St. Vincent de Paul hospital here and his complete recovery at an early date is anticipated.

GIVEN THIRD READING

OTTAWA, May 8. (C.P.)—Third reading was given in the Senate yesterday of the bill amending the railway act, which provides for an expenditure of $200,000 a year to eliminate grade crossings. Several Senators spoke, all approving the object of the legislation.

SEEK AGREEMENT ON WOLF BOUNTY

Deputation Asks Minister To Increase Amount Paid For Killing Wolves to $50.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8.—(C.P.)—Hon. Charles McCrea, Provincial Minister of Game and Fisheries, told a deputation from Northern Ontario which waited upon him yesterday that if an agreement could be reached with Quebec and Minnesota, the wolf bounty would be raised at the next session of the Legislature.

The deputation asked that the bounty be raised to $50 a pelt, the government to retain the pelt. At present, the bounty is $15 with the trapper getting the pelt.

Mr. McCrea told the deputation that the Department would pay experienced hunters to launch operations against the wolves at any points where the situation was considered bad.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 8 (C.P.).—Foreign exchanges steady; demand rates (in cents): Great Britain 484¾; Canadian dollars at 45-64 of one per cent. discount.

LAKE GENEVA MINE

Encouraging results are being obtained from underground development of Lake Geneva Mine, controlled by Towagmac Exploration. Drifting east and west on vein has been proceeding for last three months, and sampling has shown slightly higher grade than disclosed by diamond drilling. Company is hopeful of developing a lead-zinc producer, and present plans include construction of a small concentrator at Lake Geneva.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

Conduits Company Ltd. has been enjoying splendid business of late and the management advise that indications point to high record results in 1929. Shipments are being made daily to many points in Canada.

In August, 1927, a public offering of $250,000, 7 per cent preferred stock was made by Fry, Mills, Spence and company. Since then over 26 per cent of this issue has been bought in and cancelled. While this was done out of earnings, the net working capital of the company has not been impaired.

The company's fiscal year ends September 30. Last year profits were $102,145, which after preferred dividends were paid left $85,485 applicable to the common stock, of which 60,000 shares of no par value are outstanding.

At the time the preferred stock was offered, common shares were given as a bonus, one-half share for each preferred share purchased at $100. There was 12,000 shares of no par value outstanding. Since then the shares were split 5 for 1.

Earnings per share on the common last year amounted to $1.43. On December 15, 1928 the first dividend of 50 cents per share was paid April 1 last of 25 cents per share. No regular rate has been decided on yet, but the favorable results being obtained appears to assure generous distributions from now on.

$200,000 Plant for Regina

Regina—Tenders for the construction of the $200,00 plant of the Inter-City Bakeries, subsidiary of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, will probably be requested by the middle of May, according to H. B. Addems, manager of the Crown Bakery.

The latter company, as well as Mutrie's Bakery, were absorbed last fall into the chain of baking establishments which the Lake of the Woods Company will operate throughout Western Canada.

The plans were drawn up in Eastern Canada, where the organization has its headquarters, and were recently inspected and approved by Mr. Addems. They have been returned to the architects, and specifications are now being figured on.

British Columbia Packers Amass Good Net Profit

The first annual report of the British Columbia Packers, Limited, shows profit and income available for maintenance, renewals, depreciation, etc., of $1,285,990. The report now going forward to shareholders is the first to be published since the business of British Columbia Fishing and Packing Company, Limited, Gosse Packing and Millard Packing were brought together through the formation of the parent company.

From profit and income have been deducted appropriation for maintenance, renewals and depreciation, totalling $329,953, interest of $33,901 on funded debt and $110,000 as provision for taxes. After these deductions, totalling $478,854, there remained a net profit of $807,144 from operations from the 1928 fishing season. Owing to the fact that the fiscal year of the subsidiary companies ended December 31, whereas the first statement of the parent company is for the period ended February 28, 1929, provision is made for the additional overhead incurred because of the two non-productive months of January and February. There was, therefore, deducted $116,912 for this purpose before transferring $690,181 to surplus account.

The consolidated balance sheet of the parent company and its subsidiaries also reveals a very satisfactory position, comparing favorably with statements of subsidiaries in previous years. Current and working assets totalled $3,005,511, while bank loans and accounts payable and other accrued liabilities totalled $1,798,408. After also provising $319,148 as reserve for income tax and pack taxes, which were treated as reserves in previous annual reports, the total current liabilities amounted to $2,117,557, leaving net working capital of $887,954.

The new balance sheet reflects certain changes in methods of preparation and is conservative in structure, substantial amounts treated previously treated as current assets having been transferred to fixed asset account.

Rate of Dividend Maintained on Loblaw New Shares

Loblaw Groceterias Company, Ltd. has declared the first dividends on the new "A" and "B" common shares, at the rate of 12 per cent per share on each stock for the quarter ending May 1st, payable June 1 to shareholders of record May 15. This is equal to 50 cents per share per annum.

The dividend paid on the old stock was at the rate of 2.00 per share per annum. As the split was on the basis of 2 shares of "A" and 2 shares of "B" for each old shares held, the rate of distributions remains unchanged.

MAN INJURED IN RAZING STORE

Frank Shanahan Suffers Scalp Injuries and Concussion of Brain.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

The first accident to occur to a workman engageg in the the razing of the old Kingan store at the corner of Simcoe and George streets befell Frank Shanahan of 614 Downie street at two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, as a result of which he is now confined to St. Joseph's hospital suffering from scalp injuries and concussion of the brain. Reports from the attending physician, Dr. E. H. Wood this morning were to the effect that the injured man had regained consciousness and was conceded a fair chance of recovery.

Mr. Shanahn had been walking along a joist when his foot slipped. He fell a distance of about nine feet, and striking at the head of a stair case, was precipitated down the steps. He did not lose consciousness until some minutes after his fall.

15 BOATS AT PORT COLBORNE

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., May 8—The arrival of two more upper lake vessels last night added to the grain congestion here. There are now 15 vessels here with over 8,000,000 bushels of grain. The jam is one of the worst in the history of the port and there is no relief in sight for many weeks.

Some idea of the gravity of the situation may be obtained from the fact that taking 70,000 bushels as the average cargo of canal boats, it would require about 115 to carry away the grain in Port Colborne, and at the present time "cannallers" arrive here at the rate of one or two daily.

CELEBRATE DELIVERANCE

ORLEANS, France, May 8—This ancient French town to-day celebrated the fifth centenary anniversary of its delivery from the hands of the English by Jeanne d'Arc—Joan of Arc—Maid of Orleans.

Tens of thousands were witnesses to impressive ceremonies divided equally between the religious and the civil.

TRAPS 13 WOLVES

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 8.—Eight timber wolves and five brush wolves were the catch of Robert Beck, of Searchmont, Ont. Mr Beck trapped them in Gaudette township, 12 miles back of Searchmont between March 15 and April 20. He brought them into the police station yesterday to secure the necessary papers for the bounty.

NEVER STRIKE A COP

PORTLAND, Ore., May 8.—J. D. Clark and Police Officer H. P. Tolson were slowly cruising up and down the city streets. The former was looking for his stolen automobile—and the latter was helping him. They came upon the car, commandeered by two youths. The copper got out to arrest them, and one of them hit him over the head with a dinner bucket. They fled, but the cop, anger lending wings to his feet, caught them and clamped them in the jug.

History of Peterborough

Written by Thomas W. Poole M.D., and Published in Peterborough 1867

The Town of Peterborough.

The few immigrants, who, with their families, remained on "The Plains," during the winters of 1825-6, constructed such humble dwellings as they could, and several of them plied such trades or other avocations as their previous habits enabled them to do. One John Boates started a rude tavern on the south side of the market square, and adjoining it on the east side a log house was erected, in which lived Captain Armstrong, who was engaged by Mr. Robinson, along with Wesley Ritchie, in dispensing rations to the immigrants. A John Sullivan, long dead, got a log house put up on the south-west corner of George and Charlotte streets (south corner from Waddel's saddlery), and kept tavern there. William Oakley, an immigrant, started a bakery. After the houses mentioned the next was a house on the south side of King street, where Mr. Timothy O'Connor lived. James Hurley built another east of O'Connor's, in the winter of 1826.

A small store was opened by a Mr. Stewart in 1825, in a little log house immediately opposite the south side of the market square, and a little way from the corner of Charlotte and Water streets. Mr. Stewart's ideas of a small credit business were not such as usually prevail in mercantile life. Many of his customers were unknown to him by name, and instead of making the usual enquiry in such a case, he not unfrequently trusted to the accidents of the future to acquire that necessary information. Such entries as 'a bar of soap to the woman with the red cloak,' and others equally indefinite, were consequently not unusual in his day book. A business conducted on such principles could not long be successful; and his little stock was ere long merged in a large one brought in by George Grey Bethune, Esq., of Cobourg, and sold for him under the management at first of Mr. Green McDonnell, and afterwards of Mr. Thomas Valentine Tupper, who afterwards conducted a store for himself on Simcoe street, just east of the creek.' The third store was opened by Mr. John Brown of Port Hope, on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, subsequently occupied by Messrs. Nicholls and Hall, and now by Mr. Robert Patterson, as a boot and shoe store. The old frame has, however, been raised, a new foundation added, and its condition and appearance otherwise improved. Mr. Brown's store was opened in 1827, and contained a stock of goods which for the locality, was very creditable. Our informants differ as to the value of the stock, which, for a few years, probably did not exceed $900 to $1000. This business was managed for Mr. Brown by John R. Benson, Esq., still a well known citizen.

Meanwhile other buildings were in process of erection. Cotter Lane, a shoemaker and an immigrant, built a frame house on Charlotte street. James Bailey, a north-of-Ireland man, and not an immigrant, built a house on the south-west corner of George and Hunter streets, afterwards the site of Fisher's Hotel, and now of Mitchell's saloon. Bailey kept tavern here in 1826. At this early period in the history of the town, property was of course cheap, and real estate comparatively cheap. During the first year or two, Mr. Robinson had the disposal of town lots for the Government, the upset price being $30 for a lot of half an acre. In some instances, these were given away, in lieu of services rendered and these as well as some of those of which the fee-simple was purchased, exchanged hands for the most trifling sums The now very valuable south-east corner lot of George and Hunter streets (at present occupied by the store of Messrs. McKellar and Cameron) and which has been before spoken of as low and wet, was offered to Robert Reid, Esq., of Douro, as a gift, but declined, from its being regarded as worthless. In 1826 it was purchased for a fanning mill, by Mr. Thomas Harper, who subsequently lived on it, and manufactured those useful implements in the rear of the premises.

Alexander Henry, a cooper, built a frame house on Simcoe street, near George street, in 1827, on the site where the 'Farmers' Inn' was afterwards erected, and still stands. In the same year, James T. Henthorn, Esq., Justice of the Peace, bought from one Falvey, an immigrant, the north-east corner of George and Hunter streets, where he built a small house, afterwards converted into an hotel. Henthorn's fine block is now too well known to need any further reference. Like many other improved portions of the town, it passed through successive stages, and the earlier wooden buildings were more than once swept away by destructive fires, ere the present buildings adorned the spot. In 1827, too, Mr. George Buck built a frame house on the south side of Charlotte street, where the English poplars till recently flourished, and nearly opposite the 'Globe' tavern on that street.

The first school-house, a log building, with shingled roof, was erected in 1826-7, on the ground in the rear of the present Union School building. The Rev. Samuel Armour, the first Episcopal clergyman in Peterborough, conducted this school, in which the higher as well as the lower branches of education were successfully taught. This was the foundation of our excellent grammar school, which ere long received an annual grant of $400 from the government towards its support.

At a period a little later, and about the year 1828, Mr. John Crawford, of Port Hope, put up a little frame house north of Louis McGregor's 'American Hotel,' on George street, which soon after its completion, was drawn by the settlers' oxen and located on the north-east corner off George and Simcoe streets, now occupied by Mr. Robert Walton's stove and saddler's shop. This valuable corner lot was already purchased from Richard Birdsall, Esq., by John Graves, an American, and a wheel-wright, for $30, to be paid in waggon and cart-wheels. Graves failed to fulfill his share of the contract; Crawford insisted on holding possession, and hence arose the first law-suit of the infant settlement.

We might mention, in connection with this part of our subject, that several of our now leading and wealthy citizens, commenced business of one kind or another, about this time, in very humble occupations, or as assistants to others in business of very limited extent. That from a small beginning, they have risen to wealth and position is creditable, not only to themselves, but to the country, which furnishes examples of such substantial rewards for the industrious and deserving.

Coming Home

A letter received from Fred Lynch, who is with the Harbor Commission, Vancouver, says that he is very much interested in the Old Home Week, and adds:

"Things look favorable for my coming home. I was greatly interested in The Examiner you mailed to me, and especially noted the enthusiastic manner in which that paper is supporting the committee. One item of interest to every old resident of Peterborough who intends returning home would be to know who would be there, as they will be anxious to see all the old boys and girls they knew in the years that have gone. Send me The Examiner for the next two months at least, so that I will keep in touch with what is going on."

He also refers to some system of registration for all coming home and for visitors, as well, but this has already been taken care of, locally.

"I hear some mention of an old boys' lacrosse game. If this is put on the quarters of the game should be made as of five minutes and the rest periods to fifteen."

HALF HOLIDAY QUESTION NOW BEFORE PUBLIC

Everyone Concerned With Peterborough Giving the Matter "Once Over" This Week.

NO COMPROMISE IN SIGHT.

Farmer Opposes Closing Up Tight On Wednesday Afternoon Along With Some Merchants.

The Wednesday half holiday is now occupying all the attention this week that daylight saving did last week, and it is not being confined to the merchants alone, who appear to have some division in their ranks, but shoppers in and out of the city; the farmer, the family in the district within a radius of forty miles, in fact everyone who is concerned as either a buyer or a seller in Peterborough is giving the matter "the once over" as the saying is. And there does not appear to be that spirit of compromise in sight that prevailed in the settlement of daylight saving.

The merchants favoring closing, led by Alderman Jack McNabb, say that it is beneficial to the employees as well as the employer and that business will not suffer. Those merchants who are opposed, say that they cannot afford to lose 8½ days of business and besides the city and organizations in the city are spending too much money in the endeavor to make Peterborough a shopping and tourist centre to allow the whole business section of the city to be closed tight during a period of one-third of a year half a day a week; and that no provision is being made to take care of those in and out of the city whom we have invited to trade with us.

The farmer does not hesitate to say that George street appears indifferent to him and that George street will pay for it. He does not like daylight saying, but he recognizes that both sides capitulated to quite an extent and knows he was given some consideration in the settlement. He does not like too many half holidays added to daylight saving. He says it is true that some Wednesdays we may buy but very little, but we like to feel that Peterborough merchants are willing to take care of our wants within reasonable business hours. He appears though to show a spirit of compromise again in this matter when he suggests the retail merchants get together—and both sides give in a bit.

There are no tourists affected so far this year, but the testimony of a number who have reached this city on a half holiday in other years would lead one to feel that we were spending a lot of money in an attempt to make them believe that an invitation to Peterborough meant that they could get shaved, eat, then go out on our main street and make what purchases they desired; when it really meant they could come in Charlotte street (this is before the left turn was put into effect), slide up Water street, and make what purchases they desired elsewhere. They felt we in Peterborough did not take seriously ourselves, the advertising and gestures we are making to have the world believe this is a tourist centre and the Gateway to the Kawarthas.

In short, the feeling in many quarters is that Peterborough merchants should give a year round service (not including legal holidays) by arranging some plan including a certain store or stores in each line of business or a business block, would be open to do business whether of large or small volume, so that no one would be disappointed, and there are those who feel four months is too long a period to be made compulsory, but that a shorter period be made effective and those merchants who desire to close for a longer term do so voluntarily, as is the case with one or more at the present time.

Another merchant suggests the splitting of staffs—one half off this week, the other half off next week—but plan to take care of our own people, visitors and tourists in some manner.

This seems to be the situation as gleaned by an Examiner reporter after a number of personal interviews and it is hoped by those interviewed that out of the discussion the retail merchants will get together and if necessary to have a unanimous decision on the matter, will not hesitate to look at it from all angles.

out an entirely new bill as a substitute for the existing Fordney-McCumber Act. Unless the Senate's Finance Committee completely rewrites the House measure, as it usually does, every commodity embraced in both the dutiable and free lists would be open to debate and amendment on the Senate floor.

To avoid such a contingency, President Hoover suggested, informally at least, that no general tariff revision law be placed before Congress, but that a bill in the nature of an amendment to the existing Act be reported.

SECOND-HANDED

CHICAGO, May 8.—Although a schoolgirl here was never bitten by a dog she has nevertheless been treated for hydrophobia. She was wounded by a bullet which a policeman had fired through a dog suspected of being mad. The treatment was ordered to preclude possibility of infection from the bullet.

TORIES PLAN CONVENTION

Leaders Will Address Western Ontario Conservative Association On Friday.

TO BE HELD IN LONDON.

LONDON, Ont., May 8.—(Canadian Press).—The seenth annual convention of the Western Ontario Conservative Association will open here on Friday, May 10. Chief among the speakers expected are Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the opposition at Ottawa and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario and many Ontario Cabinet Ministers and front benchers from Ottawa. General A. D. McCrae, Chief party organizer, will be present.

There will be a business session Friday morning and afternoon and a luncheon at noon at which the majority of the speeches will be given. At night a reception and dance is planned for the Masonic Temple. There will be a brief recess called during the dance and both Mr. Bennett and Premier Ferguson will speak.

The committee of the London Women's Conservative Association which had been helping to complete arrangements for the convention is headed by Mrs. A. T. Edwards. There will be a special women's session in connection.

RAPID STRIDES MADE IN FORD

Present City Was a Mere Village 17 Years Ago.

NOW EAST WINDSOR

WINDSOR, May 8 (C.P.).—Originating as a village 17 years ago, Ford City has developed since into one of the most aggressive municipalities along the Essex frontier. After attaining a population of 15,000 the community moved for separation from Essex county jurisdiction and on June 1, it will become the city of East Windsor, becoming a city in fact as well as in name.

The phenomenal strides of this enterprising community were due, of course, to the establishment there of the Ford Motor Company of Canada's big plant but other enterprises of importance have been located in Ford City and the town has become well known in other sections of Canada and in Great Britain as a prosperous industrial center and a healthful community.

So Windsor has surrendered its position as the only city in the Western peninsula of Ontario and has extended congratulations to the new city of East Windsor which, under its new name, will become better known, it is expected.

Appropriate ceremonies will mark the passing of Ford City and the advent of East Windsor, on June 1. A special election will be held June 8 for the election of a mayor and nine aldermen.

BOARD DEBATES DENTAL SERVICE

ditions had been met in other centres and that in Windsor and Toronto School Boards found the only alternative was to appoint sufficient dental doctors to do all the work. It was declared that there was no authority to compel the parents to have their children's teeth repaired, even if the teeth were so decayed as to have weakening effect on the health of the children.

Opposed to Giving Free Service

Dr. Moir also stated himself to be strongly opposed to giving the people dental services free of charge, since such gratuitous service was never appreciated. It was suggested that the relief officer should be notified of the parents who failed to see that the dental work was done and that he should report if they had sufficient means to pay for the work and if it was found that they did not have sufficient money to pay for the work, it would be done by the school dentist and if they did have the money to pay then the responsibility for such dental work should be left to them.

It was moved that the matter be left to the school inspector, school dentist and nurses to inquire into further and report at the next meeting of the board.

Dr. McPherson in his report showed that great work has been done in the schools to combat contagious diseases and in looking after the general health of the pupils. He stated that in the past seven years over 8,000 inoculations against diphtheria had been made. He said that the spread of disease among the school children was controlled greatly by asking each pupil who had been absent more than three days to bring a medical certificate. He stated that 24 per cent. of the pupils have enlarged tonsils, and that 3 per cent have defective vision which increases in the higher forms.

It was moved by the chairman of the property committee, E. B. Fowler, that the property committee be authorized to advertise for tenders for the fuel required for the ensuing year with power to award the contract.

It was moved by Mrs. Morris, chairman of the supervision committee, that the supervision committee be authorized to advertise for tenders for text books and supplies for Collegiate Institute for the ensuing year with power to award the contract.

The following recommendation of the vocational committee was adopted: "That owing to the illness of Miss B. I. Eakins, a teacher in the Commercial department, Mrs. S. J. Graham (who taught at one time in the Commerciad epartment) be appointed to substitute for her, salary to be at the rate of $2,300 per annum.

No Contagious Diseases

The report of James Abraham, attendance officer, showed that there are no contagious diseases in the schools now, and although 29 were absent from school last month through sickness, the majority were because of colds. Five pupils were absent because of lack of clothing, but these had been supplied by the Home and School Associations and were now back at school. Eleven were irregular in attendance, but there was only one truant.

The pupils of the Peterborough schools now have $11,208.80 deposited in the Penny Bank, it was reported. King George school leads in this regard, 70 per cent of its pupils having savings in the Penny Bank. In the other schools about 50 per cent of the pupils are saving in this manner.

LAKEFIELD, May 8. (Examiner Correspondence).—Owing to the very bad weather on Thursday night the card party held under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. was not as largely attended as usual, six tables only being played. Prizes were won by Miss Grace Abrams and Reg Murduff and the consolation prizes by Mrs. Stener and Mendell Smith. A special prize donated by Mrs. E. Cameron for lone hands was won by Laurence Charlton.

Deanery To Meet Here.

The Rural Deanery of Peterboro meets at St. John's Church, Lakefield, on Friday of this week beginning with a celebration of Holy Communion at 10 o'clock in the morning and closing with a service open to the public, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock at which the special preacher is the Lord Bishop of Ontario, formerly Provost Seager, of Trinity College.

Roads In Bad Condition.

The heavy and frequent rainfall has had a disastrous effect on the roads and the Peterboorugh road is in a terrible condition at present for about a mile, the river road, although very rough is in better condition. The side lines are also in poor condition.

W.I. To Meet.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 8 at 2.30 in the Town Hall. The election of officers will take place and important business will be transacted.

An airplane visited the village on Wednesday and making its headquarters on the fair grounds, was very popular. Many citizens took advantage of the opportunity to make a short flight. The plane is owned by Mr. Miller, who purchased it from Col. C. H. Ackerman.

To Observe Communion.

Thursday, May 9, being Ascension Day there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 10 o'clock in the morning in St. John's Church.

Delegates Return.

Mrs. H. B. Neal and Mrs. S. L. Terrill have returned home after attending the three-day session of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch of the Women's Missionary Society, held in Kingston from April 30 to May 3. Sydenham Street United Church was a comfortable day home for the two hundred delegates in session. The hosts and hostesses of the city opened their homes so graciously, using their motor cars to the comfort of their guests, which was much appreciated of the delegates. The excellent program was carried out very successfully, with all the speakers present. The music by the choir and vocal solos and the pageant by fifteen girls from the United Churches of Kingston, were most wonderful and fully enjoyed and appreciated.

Present Fine Program.

At the Stone School House on the eve of Arbor Day the children, under their teacher, Miss Grace Mutton, put on an excellent program, under the auspices of the Gospel Senders' Mission Band. Rev. Harold B. Neal acted as chairman of the evening for the following excellent program: Chorus "O Canada"; chairman's remarks; solo, "Perfect Love," Laura Vosburgh; motion chorus, "John Brown's Baby," Mission Band; reading, "Caleb's Courtship," Mrs. H. B. Neal; solo, "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown," Miss Julia Spencer; reading, "The Wreck of the Julie Plante," Miss Grace Mutton; chorus by Mission Band, little Marion Parker; reading, "The Swan's Song," Miss Nellie Mutton; solo, "When the Snowbirds Cross the Valley," Miss Grace Mutton; reading, "The Cattle Thief," Mrs. Francis Stacey. Stanley Montgomery auctioned the beautiful decorated boxes, and everyone enjoyed a real jolly evening.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Terrill and sons motored to Peterborough and Lindsay on Saturday to spend Sunday and Monday with relatives, and returned by way of Oshawa, calling on relatives there.

Mrs. Herrington, who has been ill for several weeks, has recovered and has gone to another daughter, Mrs. Warrington Scott, home.

Mrs. Alice Gunter, of York Road, is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Rowe, and family.

Mr. S. L. Terrill called on Mr. and Mrs. Clement, of Sterling, on Thursday.

Rev. H. B. Neal accompanied Rev. Mr. Street to Millbrook, to attend the meeting of the Presbytery.

CHAPEL WINDOW IS DEDICATED

Impressive Service Held at Lakefield in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Young.

GROVE SCHOOL.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, May 8. — A simple and very impressive service was held in the chapel at The Grove on Wednesday evening last when a beautiful memorial window was dedicated to the glory of God and in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Young of Hamilton, who lost their lives in the Lusitania, April, 1915.

The window was presented to the chapel by Vernon and Alan Young (old boys of the school) and their sister, Mrs. Lindsay of Hamilton, in memory of their parents, who were frequent visitors at the school when their sons were pupils. At present the grandsons are pupils, sons of the Messrs. Young and of Mrs. Lindsay, and their long connection with The Grove, make the memorial seem especially in keeping with the atmosphere of the chapel. "For these are those that have no grave where any heart may mourn."

During the past year a chancel was added to the chapel, improving its appearance and giving additional and much needed room, and making it indeed a suitable place for the worship of God. At this service the new church was also dedicated to the glory and worship of God.

Rev. (Canon) Walter Loucks, of Toronto, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie (headmaster of the school), and Rev. W. J. Creighton, Rector of Lakefield.

The Grove chapel, which has become year by year a more important part of the life of the little community, which has grown up around "the old school on the hill," was dedicated in January, 1924, by the late Rev. R. J. Moore of Toronto, and is the gift of the Old Boys' Association in memory of those other old boys who gave their lives in defence of King and Country in the Great War. A beautiful memorial and one suitable in every respect, and by its very atmosphere, which breathes of reverence and worship, influencing the young lives of those who kneel daily there, and in that quiet retreat find the peace of God which passes understanding.

RICE KRISPIES

Stricken With Terrible Backache

"High-rigger" in very bad way until Gin Pills gave relief

To have kidney trouble, when in the heart of the woods during the wet season, is very serious, as Mr. J. F. Miller found out.

But let him tell the story himself. "In the woods, last fall," he writes, "I was soaked to the skin for days. Cold got me in the back. I was so bad the woods boss wanted to send me to the city for medical treatment. One of the boys advised Gin Pills. In four days I was back on the job. Nearly all the boys," Mr. Miller adds, "carry Gin Pills in their pack."

The truth is kidneys are such hard-working organs they can't stand neglect. Backache is only one sign of trouble. Dizziness, brick dust in urine, swollen joints, headaches, a burning sensation attendant on scanty or too frequent urination are others. At the first indication of trouble, take Gin Pills. Avoid Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago and even more serious ills. 50c. at all druggists. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, Toronto, Canada.

VILLAGE OF MILLBROOK IS VISITED BY THIRD FLOOD

Property Damage Small Owing To Efficiency of New Storm Drain.

FEW CELLARS FLOODED.

Recent Repairs Done On Two Small Bridges Demolished By Flood Waters.

MILLBROOK, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—The third flood of the season was experienced in the down town section of King Street owing to the torrential rains of last Thursday night, and as has happened on the other two occasions, the new storm drain, which had to be included in the paving program of last year, proved its efficiency. Though some water got into the store cellars, which was not surprising considering the extremely heavy and continued downpour, it stayed but a short time and caused practically no damage. With the old drain, which had been in use from the time the village was incorporated in 1880, there would have been wet cellars all this season, with loss of goods, and in some cases, furnaces put out with the rising water.

The flood subsided in a few hours, but washed away practically all the work which had been done in repairing the two small bridges on Bank Street, the dam giving way and all the material being carried down stream. On Main Street the creek overflowed its banks, as did all the others in the community, and it required a man and team all day Saturday drawing broken brick and stone to fill in the section of the bank washed out near George Sanderson's residence.

In normal seasons this is an expensive community in which to keep up roads and bridges, and this year unusual difficulties have been encountered. The new pavement, however, which was completed comparatively late last fall, has developed only one weak spot, and that of small dimensions, on King Street, about opposite the Manse. There was a five-year guarantee given when the contract was let, and the Amesite Company has had men here looking over the damage, and necessary repairs will be made.

Personals.

Rev. R. J. and Mrs. Stillwell, of Douglas, South Georgia, arrived here last Friday and are visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Byam, Bank Street. Rev. Mr. Stillwell is contemplating retiring from the active ministry, having resigned the rectorship of the Anglican Church on the Douglas charge this spring.

Miss May O'Brian, who has spent the winter with her cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Lugsdin, and Miss M. O'Brian, at Rochester, and California, has returned to the village and will reopen her home here for the summer months.

Miss Ella Grandy was in Lindsay on Friday attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Thomas Graham.

Mr. Ernest L. Burnham left for Peterborough on Monday to take a position with the De Laval Company for the summer months.

A special Mother's Day service will be held in the United Church on Sunday, May 12, a joint worship service of the congregation and the Sunday School to take place at 10.30 a.m. A reception service for new members will also be held, when a number who have already given in their names will be received into full connection with the church. The members of the Men's Bible Class, Mrs. (Dr.) Rae, teacher, will go to Carmel in the afternoon and assist with the Mother's Day service at that appointment.

Miss M. E. Needham has arrived home from a business trip to Western Ontario. The many friends of Mrs. I. E. Needham will regret to learn that she is not in very good health at the present time.

SAILING SHIP FEARED LOST

Kobenhaon Is Nearly 100 Days Overdue at Melbourne, Australia.

100 ON BOARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8 (Canadian Press).—Fears for the fate of the five-masted square rigged sailing ship, Kobenhavn, nearly 100 days overdue at Melbourne, Australia, were expressed here by Christian Jensen, president of the East Asiatic Company.

The vessel sailed from Buenos Aires for Melbourne last December 14 in ballast. She carried a crew of fifty men and fifty cadets from among well-known families in Denmark.

The Kobenhavn is 3,901 tons gross, and is equipped with radio apparatus and auxiliary engines. The fact that, despite her radio, no message has been picked up, was seen by Jensen as an indication of another sea tragedy.

DUNSFORD COUPLE RECEIVE HONOR

Presentation Made Rev. and Mrs. Creighton McCallum By Friends.

DUNSFORD, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence).—One evening recently the immediate relatives of Rev. Creighton McCallum gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robertson, on the Scotch Line, and presented Mr. McCallum and his bride, formerly Imogene Nicholson, niece of G. B. Nicholson, ex-M.P. for Algoma, with a purse of money as an expression of goodwill on the part of the old friends in Verulam township who have known Mr. McCallum from his boyhood and who wish he and his bride every good thing as they go to Mayo, Yukon Territory as missionaries for the Anglican church.

Rev. Mr. McCallum is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCallum and was born in Verulam township. Norman Kennedy, of Lindsay acted as chairman for the eve by John W. Elliott, Reeve, of Verulam township. Several of the gentlemen present made short addresses. Mr. and Mrs. McCallum are to leave for their new home in a short time.

Addresses Young People.

Rev. Manson Doyle, B.A., of Toronto, assistant secretary of Religious Education was the special speaker at the Young People's services held in Dunsford and North Emily United churches on Sunday. Choirs composed of young people furnished special music for each of the services which were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. J. F. Everson. In the morning Rev. Mr. Doyle spoke on "The influence of the home on childlife" and dramatically protrayed family relationships to show that early teaching and impressions moulded for weal or woe the life and determined the destiny of men. In the afternoon the speaker went on to show that a young person was only safe when she or he polarized his or her life around the life of Jesus. An early choice of Christ as Saviour would save the individual from delusion and from misplacing the true values of life. At the evening service Rev. Mr. Doyle pointed out the influence of the church and christian fellowship upon human life and stated that any person who positively separated himself from Christ and religious influences would ultimately become debauched and Godless.

To Speak Over WOR.

Dr. Mabel S. Douglas, Dean of the New Jersey College for Women, will give an address on "Modern Tendencies in Higher Education for Women," on the Rutgers University program over Station WOR, to-night. Dean Douglas, who has been head of the college since it sestablishment in 1918, is a graduate of Barnard and received her Doctor of Letters degree from Rutgers. It has been due mainly to her efforts that the N. J. College for Women has increased its enrollment from 45 in 1918 to 1,042 in 1928.

The second speaker on the program on Wednesday night will be Miss Clara E. Howard, Professor of Library Service at N. J. C. Miss Howard, who is a graduate of the University of Illinois and Columbia, will speak upon "Library Service as a Career." Entertainment will be furnished by the undergraduates of the college.

CHILD BURNED.

Master James Watson Receives Injuries About Arms and Body.

MADOC, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Master James Watson, little son of James Watson, editor of Madoc Review, was badly burned about the arms and body on Sunday afternoon, May 5, when his clothing caught fire from some unknown source. His mother was also severely burned in trying to extinguish the fire. Both are suffering severely, but doing as well as can be expected.

W.I. Meets.

The Women's Institute of Cooper and Remington held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Rollins, Jr., on Wednesday.

Several matters of business were discussed and disposed of and then followed a most interesting discussion led by Mrs. M. King on "How Does the W.I. Benefit the Community."

After the roll call a splendid paper was given by Mrs. George Ferguson on "Teaching the Boys and Girls to Earn, Spend and Save Money Systematically." By special request from the district officers it is expected that this address will be given at the district annual convention in Marmora in June There was a good exchange of bulbs and slips and potted plants.

This institute was organized last fall and reports a splendid increase of membership for the beginning of a new year of activity. Several specially good papers have been given, and the new branch has showed splendid initiative in community work and community play.

Personals.

Mrs. A. H. Watson arrived home on Sunday after an extended visit to Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ross and daughter, Lois Jean, of Brighton, accompanied her for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. James Watson, of Madoc.

MARION'S MAIL

Address correspondence to Marion at The Examiner Office.

Dear Marion:

I have been enjoying your page very much indeed and have been quite interested in the discussion of Women's Work on the Farm.

Now, I lived in the city before going on the farm, and wasn't given long to stay by many of my friends, but here I am and likely to be.

Why shouldn't a farmer's wife help outside if she wants to? I for one enjoy it. Often going out to get out the horses, for the good man, to help save some time. I can take my place at almost any outside job (as well as some hired men, anyway) and very often save a few dollars that an extra man would be needed for. And I don't think my house and family look neglected, all being and looking the picture of health. A woman can get caught up on rainy days and slack times, but when the rush is on the crops must be looked after. Some say it would suit me better to stay in and let the men do the work or let it go. But then that's our affair. If I don't see my way clear to help, I'm not expected to. But it does help to see things going ahead. The trouble with a good many nowadays is too much leisure time on their hands—that's when they gossip, eh, Marion?

Don't you think a lot of discontent among families is because there isn't enough give and take or understanding.

We keep books too. My husband has his, and I mine. What is more embarassing than to have someone come to settle for some transaction and not know when it was or the amount. Everything is kept track of and we know pretty well where we are at.

Is it our friend Euretta who objects to overalls? She might often see me in them or coveralls which I like better. I would like to see her at some jobs in skirts.

I'm afraid I never milked as many cows as some of you, but have looked after ten, a good many times. I rather prefer driving horses.

No doubt you will think this too prolonged, Marion, but just put it in the W. P. B. and no harm done. I felt the urge, as it were to defend the farmers wives just a little.

There are certainly a number of interesting letters in our page and I would like to write more often, but maybe it's just as well I don't, if I stay too long.

Sincerly,
"GWEN."

Yours is a very interesting letter, "Gwen," revealing a splendid spirit of interest and help.

If gossiping is a question of time, I never gossip, because I'm always busy! It's a good protection, isn't it, "Gwen?"

I enjoyed your letter, and hope you come soon, again.

"Dear Marion:

"Here I are" as Sonny Boy says, but I surely won't say a whole lot this time. Your whatnots are always just dandy, Marion. You're a good soldier. You, never seem to fall down one little bit on your big job. So with tonight, April will be gone for another year, eh Marion! It has been a sad month for so many, we hope May will bring more happiness to everyone. It should with the flowers and the nice warm weather, make everyone feel better, anyway, if we just sit down and review our lives. I think we would find a whole lot to be thankful for, but I was just thinking the other day and remarked to "Joe", that with all the unexpected tragedies that have occured lately, it just goes to show how little control we have over our lives, and I think God is trying to make us understand that more and more, all the time, don't you Marion?

You wrote a dandy what-not one night on children. We sure do ask kids some queer questions allright. Sonny Boy asked me one the other day. He said, "Mother, will you not get old"? I said, "Why everyone has to get old sometime son, why?" He said, "Well, will you not get old until I am a big man like daddy, so I said "I'd try not to get too old, anyway." He looked as pleased as punch and said "Allright, mother, because I want to take you to the shows and dances, when I'm big like Dad.". I was tickled pink, Marion, to know he was planning that for me, but I'm afraid when he is a yong man, going to dances, he'll want to take some mother's daughter instead of me but of course I won't blame him.

Maybe sometime he can take me to a picture show like "Over the Hill" and I can sit and cry and think over these days, eh Marion?

I am enclosing 25c Marion to pay for the pattern for boy's suit and I desire a fashion book as well, if you please. I bought Sonny Boy a long pant suit and I tried to get a little mannish shirt to go with it, but could not fit him properly. Your pattern will come in handy.

As I had to give you my name and address to receive the pattern, you may as well book my pen name if you like.

Yours as ever,
HIGHLYER."

I often FEEL like "falling down" on the job, "Highflyer", but with so many splendid examples from you neighbors, I just CAN'T!

I'm glad you've come back — so many neighbors have been asking about you.

I don't like to discuss anything bordering on religion, 'Highflyer,' because my ideas would be considered somewhat "peculiar" by most people. But don't you think many of the so-called tragedies are of our own making?

That's a lovely thought of Sonny Boy's. Mothers SHOULD try to keep young in appearance and up-to-date in ideas so that all Sonny Boys will wish to take them to shows. And I'm not so sure that your sonny boy will prefer some mother's daughter, "Highflyer".

Your name has been booked, and I hope you use it often.

"Dear Marion:

I have been very much interested in your "Whatnots" on gardening and I wonder if you or any of the neighbors could tell me of a good book on the care of flowers and vegetables too. I would like to know something about asparagus. Does it require much care?

I hope all the neighbors are getting their plans made to beautify dear old Peterborough for Old Home Week.

I have been busy getting all the spring sewing done and now I am planning my house cleaning. I always wash all the winter things and put them away, then clean out the dresser drawers and clothes closets. I also clean out the buffet, polish the silver and wash the dishes. I think this is such a time saver and can be done these cool days. Then I start room at a time and finish it right up.

I find my curtains hang nicer if I hang each one as I iron it and pull into shape.

Will stop now before this gets too long.

HOMEMAKER".

Thank you for your interesting hints, "Homemaker". You seem to have a real plan for house cleaning time, and I'm sure your ideas will be useful to other homemakers.

The best books I know form a real gardening library—and cost $9, I think. I will be pleased to send you the name, etc. if you desire. These books tell all about planning the garden, making lawns, growing flowers indoors and out, cultivating roses, and so on. There are six books in the set.

"Dear Marion:

Am enclosing 15c for a pattern, and would also like the new bib collar and ribbon collar. Am also sending rhubarb jam recipe for Leatherhead.

While I am writing I would like to say how much I enjoy your page, especially the Whatnots. I have tried a lot of recipes and had good luck with two of them. Also clipped a lot of 'old songs.' Some time ago some one asked for the song of "Red Wing". As I was sick and missed reading the paper for a while, I do not know if it was sent in or not. If not, I could send it.

Sincerly,
WANETA."

Thank you for your letter, "Waneta". I'm glad to learn that you like our pages.

The "Red Wing" song is in and awaiting room for publication; thanks all the same. I'm sorry to learn that you have been ill, and hope you have fully recovered.

Mr. George A. Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Reid Street, has passed his fourth-year examinations in Mechanical Engineering at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Fred Allen is in Kingston today for Spring Convocation at Queen's University, where he will obtain his degree as Bachelor of Commerce. His father, Mr. John I. Allen, accompanied him.

* * *

Mrs. Albert Barton was the recipient of a shower of delightful gifts from the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society group of Trinity Church, who paid a surprise visit to her home on Maitland Avenue on Tuesday afternoon, to wish Mrs. Barton "bon voyage" on the eve of her departure for a visit to the British Isles.

The Rev. Professor John Dow, D.D., of Emmanuel College, Toronto, was the morning preacher at Knox Church last Sunday, and was a guest at Knox Church Manse during his stay in the city. The Rev. Mr. Dow gave an inspirational and educational sermon that was greatly appreciated. He advocated an interest in the project of making provision for suitable quarters for the Infant Institution of the United Church bearing the unfamiliar name of Emmanuel, but really representing the combination of two well-known former colleges, Victoria and Knox.

Mr. J. W. Eyres of Oxford College, England, and his brother, Mr. C. H. Eyres, of Buffalo, recently motored to Calgary to visit friends, and on their return came to Peterborough to visit friends here, spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Moore at 422 Rubidge Street. Mr. J. W. Eyres will sail for England on Friday of this week.

The Rev. William McDonald, pastor of Knox United Church, and Mrs. McDonald, motored to Kingston today to attend the Spring Convocation of Queen's University. Their daughter, Miss Marjorie McDonald, receives the degree of Master of Arts at this function. She has the distinction of being the first lady student to obtain this degree in the Research Branch of the Department of Physics. She will return home with her parents, and remain in the city until July, when she will take a post on the staff of the Summer University School at Kingston. She has received this appointment as a result of her session's work.

Mr. Ross Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lord, Dalhousie street, has received his degree of Bachelor of Applied Science from the University of Toronto. Mr. Lord passed his final examination, as was the case in every examination hitherto passed by him during his college course, with honors. He also received the medal given to fourth year students by the British Association of Applied Science and awarded to the pupil obtaining the highest mark in practical work and written examinations.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

"Always have a definite vision before you of the finished dish," is the advice of a notably good cook. If possible try to get a distinct mental image of the flavor that that dish should possess. Trying to cook a dish from a recipe without a definite idea of what the dish should taste and look like is like knitting a sweater merely from the knitting directions without having an idea of what sort of sweater you are going to produce.

Recipe books would add to their helpfulness if they would more often give a few descriptive words as to the consistency, flavor and general aspects of the finished dish. This sauce when finished should be of the consistency of strained honey, velvety, smooth and of a deep cream color; that muffin should be crisp and golden brown on the outside, of light, open texture and thoroughly done throughout. Such comment really would help the amateur cook to get desired results.

Measurements in modern recipes are given so precisely and directions are so explicit that there is far less chance of going wrong than in the old days when recipes abounded in such remarks as "Use enough flour to make batter of the desired consistency," or "Add seasoning to taste," or "Add water enough to make a medium thick dough." But even with explicit directions we have to make allowances for the fact that eggs are not always of the same size, that some butter has more water in its make-up than others, that all flours are not of the same consistency and that even when we use a thermometer ovens do not always act precisely alike every day of the year.

The Mirror of the Mode

By Mary Marshall

Appropriate for country and spectator sportswear, this natural color straw hat is simply finished with a narrow grosgrain ribbon tied in a small flat bow.

By Mary Marshall

The fate of the wide-brimmed hat this summer in France, I have been assured, depends to a great extent on the weather. If there are bright sunshiny days in May and the early part of June then interest in the hat that shades the face will be greatly stimulated. But if cold, dull days greatly predominate, as they have predominated in the past three or four seasons, then the wide-brimmed hat will have a much more difficult time of it in its race for popularity with the brimless or narrow-brimmed hat.

In the meantime, regardless of weather or weather prophecies, the important French milliners have been showing charming hats of the wide-brimmed sort. They have stamped them with their approval at least and the general feeling prevails that wide-brimmed hats have a far greater chance of success this season than last, on account of the increased flare and greater length of the new skirts.

Fortunately in most parts of this country we have sunshine aplenty. New York is the longtitudinal mate of Madrid, not of Paris, and Spain is the cradle of the sombrero. For active sportswear, for motoring, for wear in and about town you will doubtless cling to the hat that is brimless or narrow brimmed, but for country and seashore and suburban wear you will surely find plenty of opportunity to make use of the hat that is really wide brimmed.

There are summer hats of the garden-party sort showing trimming that from the present point of view seems rather elaborate, but the wide-brimmed hat that has so far met with greatest approval is of rather coarse straw finished with a band and bow of rather narrow ribbon.

A Column for Little Bits of Everything of Interest to Women Readers

Conducted by Marion (Copyright)

THE Old Songs that have been running for a couple of months have created so much interest that they have made even me enthusiastic, and to-day I'm going to give you another—one that was written ABOUT old songs in 1834.

* * * * * *

Dozens of neighbors have contributed scores of old songs, and they are appreciated not only by those of us who remember them from the days of our youth, but by young people who never heard them.

I was told, the other day, that girls and boys at school are "trading" these old songs just as they used to do with cigarette cards or foreign stamps.

* * * * * *

The idea came from neighbors in the first place, and certainly proved its worth—even now I have about a dozen old songs ahead, waiting for an opportunity to print them in the limited space we have.

The poem to which I referred is founded on the lines in "Twelfth Night":

* * * * * *

That piece of song,
That old antique song we heard, last night!

* * * * * *

It haunts me—oh! it haunts me yet,
That song of yester-eve!
It had a murmur like regret,
Yet did not make me grieve;—
It seemed to lead my heart, again,
O'er all its pleasant years.
A path without remorse or pain,
And yet, beneath that simple strain,
Mine eyes were dim with tears!

Methought the wild notes seemed to rise,
Loosed from the golden strings,
Like singing-birds that seek the skies,
On new-enfranchised wings;—
And, still, I seem to hear them play,
Beyond the reach of sight,
And pour their sweet and softened lay,
In dream-like music far away,
Amid their homes of light.

Unheard before,—and yet it took
An old familiar tune;
As stranger-eyes wear, oft, a look
Of eyes that we have known
In some forgotten time and place,
And light, with sudden spell,
Some darkened thought, some shadowy trace,
Whose silent and mysterious grace
The heart remembers well.

An antique, yet a novel, tone!
The past and future years,
New voices, mixed with voices gone,
Were murmuring in mine ears;
Fresh streams of feeling seemed to rush,
With ancient ones, along,
And hidden springs of thought to gush,
Within my spirit's Horeb-hush,
Beneath the touch of song!

A son, methinks, is like a sigh!—
Both seem to soar from earth,
And each is wakened but to die,
Exhaling in its birth:
Yet both to mortal hearts belong
By nameless sympathies;
And each is o'er the other strong,
For they who sigh are soothed by song,
And songs are paid in sighs!

* * * * * *

I still like to sit down at the piano with some of the old songs to play—I have many dog-eared sheets saved since my youth, and they are still dear to me It's a pity we cannot reproduce the music in the paper. Remind me, someone, next fall, and we might arrange to give the music of one old song every Saturday—letting you neighbors choose the song.

* * * * * *

Here's one that was popular before my time, but whose memory remains because it pictures a home that we of to-day might well strive for. It was written by Felix McGlennon, the most prolific song writer of his time. 1880-1895.

* * * * * *

Various men have various natures,
Some prefer to cross the wave;
O'er the world they like to travel,
For fresh scenes they seem to crave.
To their birthplace some cling fondly,
And their hearts are in one spot,
See the man whose home is Eden,
Happy in his humble cot.

He never cares to wander from his own fireside,
He never cares to ramble or to roam,—
With his children on his knee, He's as happy as can be,
For there's no place like home, sweet, home.

There's a wife to fondly greet him,
With lovelight in her eyes,
There're the children 'round their Daddy,
Home to him is Paradise
Baby's arms are 'round him clinging,
Baby's lips to his are pressed,
All is peace and love and comfort,
In his home he finds sweet rest.

* * * * * *

That hardly seems to fit our present scheme of things, but it is a pretty picture, just the same.

* * * * * *

Let's have more of these old songs. Look in your scrap books, and at the clippings tucked into Bibles and other cooks. Lots of neighbors are interested and you'll bring them pleasure by sending in the old songs you find.

* * * * * *

As most homes are of the cozy and comfortable type, not imposing, but which, nevertheless, may be equally correct architecturally, let us consider some of the gateways that can be used to advantage for such premises.

* * * * * *

For suburban houses and those in country village, the pergola gateway is excellent, as are also the arbor style and the latticed type. The simplest sort is the last named kind. It may consist of latticed sides, tall and narrow, with a cross piece of the same sort exactly joining the ends of the top, or extending out beyond the sides for a foot or 18 inches.

* * * * * *

Between these supports a straight or concave gate of narrow pickets can be swung. When such a gateway is painted white (or cream) and has rose vines clambering over it, the effect is indeed charming.

* * * * * *

This same sort of a gateway may have the top curved in a semi-circle. If the lattice work is wide an arbor gateway is formed.

* * * * * *

The pergola gateway is generally constructed with one or two substantial square side posts which are joined across the top with one or more beams of less heavy wood. On the top of this beam, or these beams, narrower strips of wood, but of good proportions, are laid crosswise. The beams extend for 18 inches or two feet beyond the supports on each side and the uppermost crosspieces extend some distance beyond the beams. Beneath such a pergola structure a gate of uncompromising straight lines and rather wide slats, either upright or crossed in X shape, can be swung.

* * * * * *

Gateways to grounds about farm houses may be of the types described or they may be even simple. Many times high square stone pillars mark an entrance. The tops of the pillars may be shaped on each side to meet in a point, or irregular edges may be formed about the edge by standing stones upright in the mortar, reminding one of the tops of old church towers or ancient castles. Gates may or may not be swung between these pillared entrance gateways.

* * * * * *

Rustic fences and gateways are excellent for country places. The bark of the wood is ornamental, and the type is substantial and simple.

* * * * * *

Many of the gateways are so simple that they can be fashioned by the man of the house, thus at the minimum expense affording entrances that lend charm to places.

RETRIBUTION.

MEDFORD, Pa., May 8.—Patrolman George Cavanaugh got a bite in the right hand for trying to render first aid to a dog which had been hit by an auto. This convinced the officer that the pup was beyond repair. So he shot it before going to a doctor to have his own wounds treated.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"Are You Coming Sweet Elain?"
(Contributed by J. H. R.)

By the gate a youth stood pleading with his sweetheart.
She was going to the city fair away;
In the autumn time we'll wed, he heard her murmur,
I'll be think of you dear heart day
by day.
Golden fall in all its splender brought no message,
Though he longs to see her smiling face again.
In the fields the golden harvest
songs they're singing,
So he wrote this loving letter to Elain.

CHORUS

Are you coming, sweet Elain?
Are you coming back again?
The leaves have turned, they're bringing in the grain;
For our wedding day is near and you promised you'd be here,
In the golden autumn time, my sweet
Elain.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

THE BODY A FURNACE

I wonder if you would have a greater interest in that body of yours if you were to think of it as a furnace—a living furnace—burning away day and night, year after year; that if this furnace goes out then life itself passes away.

And yet that is just what is happening. Your body, your tissues, burn up food materials just exactly as coal or gas is burned in an engine or boiler. And the results are exactly the same; energy and heat is produced.

The energy of the body does not come directly from the heat that is manufactured as it is in a steam boiler, but by a chemical action whereby the substances, (the food) burned provide power for all the muscular movements of the body, the circulation of the blood, the digestive and other fluids, and all the processes that go on inside the body.

Now the fuel burned in the body, as you know, is the three main classes of foodstuffs, together with salts and water! proteins which are meats, eggs, cheese, and wheat; carbohydrates which are the starches and sugars; fats as in lard, meat, butter, cream, olive oil.

And then what is called the auxiliary or "helping" food factors, the vitamins, which as Dr. Fred M. Allen says, are a group of substances of unknown chemical origin, small quantities of which are somehow absolutely necessary for health or even for life."

Now each one of these foods, proteins, carbonhydrates, and fats, has its particular work to do, and it is very unwise for humans to get the "one food" idea.

The starches are the heat and energy producers and so vegetables and bread are ideal fuel for this purpose

The fats are broken up into glycerine and fatty acids, the glycerine of which is completely convertible into sugar, and sugar is the substance that when burned, produces the heat and energy. Fats seem to need the starches to start them burning properly. What isn't used is stored in various places in the body.

The proteins, meats, eggs, and so forth, are absolutely necessary for building up tissue or repairing worn out tissue. Dr. Allen reminds us that substitutes are possible for other foods but not for proteins.

So take care of that body of yours as you would a furnace. You try to get the best coal, see that it gets a fresh air supply, and do the same for your body.

November, 1928, was the warmest eleventh month recorded in London for 15 years, although in some parts of southern England it nearly won another record for wetness.

NEWARK SOUTHPAW HOLDS MAPLE LEAFS TO SIX HITS

BEARS TAKE SECOND GAME OF SERIES 4-2

Newark Tallies Two Runs in First Innings On Cote's Error.

ROYALS WIN 4-2.

Rochester Takes Third Straight Game From Black Cats 11-6.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press).—Carl Fischer, southpaw flipper, had something besides a red undershirt yesterday, and that something, whatever it was, proved plenty good enough to silence the Leafs' battle cry and the Bears won the second game of the series, 4 to 2.

The O'Neills were held to six hits, two of them questionable, and three of the six were clicked off in the ninth. None were registered between the third and eighth.

Phil Page again ran into his first-inning jinx, lack of control, and Pete Cote's bobble in the opening chucker giving the Bears two runs and a flying start.

TAKE SECOND STRAIGHT.

MONTREAL, Que., May 8 (Canadian Press).—Montreal Royals captured their second straight victory of the series from Reading here yesterday afternoon, winning 4-2.

Though outhit 8-5, the Royals made the most of their opportunities and combined two hits with two bobbles in the first frame for three runs.

ROCHESTER DROPS CATS.

ROCHESTER, May 8 (Canadian Press).—Rochester won its third straight game of the series over Jersey City here yesterday, the Black Cats falling before the Red Wings 11 to 6.

Lefty Irvin was wild, walking 11 men, but he gave the visitors only three earned runs and three additional tallies in the ninth.

REFUSES PAPERS

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 8.—It is understood that the government has refused clearance to the steamer Boulderpool, which is loading ore at Belle Island for Boston, until the royalty tax of ten cents per ton which has been in abeyance for some years, is paid.

LEO DIEGEL LEADS FIELD

American Pro Champion Has Score of 144 For 36 Holes.

BRITISH OPEN PLAY.

GULLANE, Scotland, May 8.—A.P.—With a score of 144 for the 36 holes of the qualifying round, Leo Diegel, pro champion of the United States and Canadian Open Champion has a good chance of leading the field of 240 in the first stage of the British Open Golf Championship Competition.

Six strokes behind Diegel with a score of 150 comes Cyril Tolley, British amateur. Then appears a considerable list of British and United States stars with scores ranging from 153 to 160.

Back of Tolley trailed another Britton, Arthur Havers, professional, whose fine round of 72 yesterday gave him a qualifying total of 153.

Then came three Americans, Walter Hagen, defending champion, had all sorts of difficulties but finally turned up with a 79 for a 36-hole total of 154. A stroke behind him was "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn of New York, who added a 76 to his 79 of yesterday. Joe Turnesa, who scored a 79 at Gullane yesterday needed 80 at Muirfield today and had to be satisfied with an aggregate of 159.

Tied at 160 were "Long Jim" Barnes of New York and Fred Robson, of the British Ryder cup team. Barnes needed 81 at Gullane while 79 was sufficient at Muirfield Monday. Robson reversed that procedure, taking 79 yesterday, two strokes less than he needed Monday.

Agreement Reached Race Track Dispute

WINDSOR, Ont., May 8 (Canadian Press). — A two-year fight for the possession of the Devonshire Race Track operated by the Western Racing Association ended yesterday when the directors of the association decided not to appeal against the judgment given in favor of William R. Woollatt, former manager of the track, for more than $120,000 salary money and interest. Officers of the association said a cash settlement would be made.

VICTORIOUS CANUCKS

Another athletic victory has been won for Canada, Raymond Lewis, F. McBeth, G Peterson and J. Fraser of Hamilton Collegiate Institute, at the recent track meets at Pennsylvania, won the title of High school champions of North America.

These young Canadians showed their heels to the best of the American school athletes.

They defeated the Kearney team of New York in the mile event, covering the distance in 3.29 2-5.

It is not the first time this team of youngsters has sprung into prominence. At the Canadian Indoor Championships last winter in Toronto they showed that they were by far the best in Canada. Raymond Lewis made a wonderful impression, his smooth easy style of running winning much admiration. A great future is prophesied for him.

SKIPPER OF CINCINNATI EXPECTS CARDS TO BE IN PENNANT HUNT

By JACK HENDRICKS
(Manager of the Cincinnati Reds)

NEW YORK, May 7.—The St. Louis Cardinals have the best team we've played this season and I expect them to be serious contenders again this season for the National League pennant.

If Alexander, Hains, and Sherdel stand up, the Cardinals are going to be mighty hard to beat. They appear to be better than last year. They are certainly stronger at shortstop, where young Gelbert is a finished fielder.

I think the Reds compare favorably with any team I've seen in action this season. Gooch has strengthened our catching staff. I have five reliable pitchers in Lucas, Luque, Donohue, Rixey and Ash.

The infield is good, with Critz and Ford continuing their great work of last season. They have made 19 double plays already this year. George Kelly is far from through and Dressen is doing well at third.

Left field is uncertain but Walker and Allen are playing good ball in the other two fields.

Our club is in fine shape. No sore arms or injuries. If we do have any hard luck we have plenty of strong reserves.

I think the Cubs are over-rated. We should have beat them four straight instead of winning two, losing one, and tying one. I'll admit they have power in Cuyler, Wilson, Hornsby, and Stephenson, but their pitching is only fair. Root is a great pitcher, but Bush and Blake are doubtful.

The Pirates' pitching looks bad now with Grimes, their best man, injured. Their infield is worse than it was last season The Waner boys and Grantham, however, give them a great outfield.

I would rather not comment on the eastern teams until I see them in action in a few games, but I am happily surprised by the fact the Braves look like they may be in the race.

Toronto Team Wins First Basket Final

WOODSTOCK, N.B., May 8 (Canadian Press). — Displaying practically perfect form, despite adverse conditions, the Elizabeth Playground team of Toronto overwhelmed the local 89th Battery 46 to 19 in the first game of the Canadian Junior basketball final which was played at the Armouries here last night before a tremendous throng.

NEW DIAMOND FOR LEAGUE

Campbellford Softball Players To Play On High School Grounds.

FOUR TEAMS IN LOOP.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 8.— (Examiner Correspondence.)—This year, the local softball schedule will be played on the High school grounds and not on the Fair grounds as has been the custom other years. This will make it more convenient for many of the fans to see the games without having to go so far for their entertainment. Both the School Board and the Town Council have assisted the association to a certain extent and with this backing, the executive is going ahead with certain improvements to the grounds that will make them more suitable for the game.

Last night the executive met in the council chamber to discuss several matters and to report progress toward the playing season. The secretary reported that twelve loads of loam had been contaacted for and the town had granted the use of the steam roller in repairing the diamond. When the earth is delivered, the executive proposed to hold a bee and have the grounds levelled and rolled and the diamond laid out.

This year there will be four teams in the league instead of the six that comprised it last year. The teams entered are the Legionaires, Mill, Clerks and St. Andrews. Last year two other teams, the Outlaws and the Electrics, were added to this list. The adopted plan is for three games each week, Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays, and a triple schedule. The Clerks and St. Andrews have been limited to twelve players each on their lists with the privilege of signing other players in case a gap should appear in their ranks. The other two teams, which have hitherto been the weaker ones, have the privilege of signing up to twenty-five players, but with certain restrictions as to changing signed players. The desire of the executive is to place four teams as equally matched as possible in order to assure an interesting schedule. New bases are to be bought, also a home plate and pitcher's plate. The secretary is busy drawing up a schedule which he will present for approval on May 21, when the next meeting is called and final arrangements made for the season to begin. The meeting is called for eight o'clock at the council chamber.

WATER TUBES NAMED.

First Under-Water Tunnel Will Be Called After City of Detroit.

WINDSOR, May 8 (C.P.).—The ten under-water tubes of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel will be named after the border cities and Detroit and its suburbs; a further effort to make the enterprise a stronger international link and, at the same time, associate it more closely with the communities which it will serve.

Each of the ten sections will be christened with the name of one of the border communities. The first tube, which is to be towed up the river for sinking at the foot of Randolph Street, Detroit, will be named Detroit. This is all ready at Objibway, down river on the Canadian side. Two more segments have been launched and are being concreted.

Four Singles Enables Boston To Score Winning Runs in Eighth.

CUBS WINNERS 9-4.

BOSTON, May 8 (Canadian Press). An eighth inning rally, resulting in four runs, yesterday enabled the Braves to fight off the aspiring St. Louis Cardinals and win the first game of the series here, 8 to 5.

Singles by Clark, James, Sisler, and Harper and an error by Frisch, enabled the Braves to romp home with the winning runs in the eighth.

CUBS DRUB ROBINS.

BROOKLYN, May 8 (Canadian Press). — The Cubs drubbed four Brooklyn pitchers soundly here yesterday to win the first game of the series by 9 to 4.

Charlie Grimm led the Chicago attack with two home runs, and Ruggs Stephenson hit one drive over the outer barrier.

PIRATES BEAT GIANTS.

NEW YORK, May 8 (Canadian Press). — Late rallies by the Pirates at the Polo Grounds yesterday enabled the invading Buccaneers to defeat the Giants by 3 to 2 in the ten innings in the first game of the series.

FIFTH HOMER FOR O'COUL.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8 (Canadian Press). — Lefty O'Coul's home run, his fifth of the season, gave the Philadelphia Nationals a 6 to 4 victory over Cincinnati in the series opener here yesterday.

Good Competition In Softball League

LAKEFIELD, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence)—The Public School softball league has, like everything else, been greatly delayed by the frequent rains but on Tuesday last Jewell defeated Blewett by a score of 7-3 and Kemp and Tanner played a tie game with a score of 10-16. The latter game will be played over again at a later date.

Patrick Seeks Franchise in N. H. L.; Would Have Second Team For Windy City

CHICAGO, Ills., May 8. — (C.P.)—Paddy Harmon, president of the Chicago Stadium Corporation, has announced that Frank Patrick, father of hockey in the United States, will apply to the National Hockey League for a second franchise for Chicago, to be operated by the Stadium Corporation.

Major Frederick McLaughlin, owner of the Chicago Blackhawks, has opposed the granting of another franchise for Chicago.

"I have left it up to Patrick to bring hockey to Chicago Stadium," Harmon said, "and I cannot imagine the National Hockey League turning down Patrick's request for a franchise.

"Should the application be denied," Harmon added, "I don't know just what steps will be taken. We are going to have hockey anyway, and will cross that bridge when we come to it."

Patrick will arrive here on Friday from Vancouver, B. C., where he has made his headquarters as head of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Star Rugby Player Killed In Accident

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 8.—(C.P.)—Edwin Hill, star half-back of New York University's great football team of last fall, was shot and killed last night in a playful struggle for a policeman's revolver.

The shooting occurred outside a police booth near the college campus, a favorite congregating place for the students. The patrolamn, Joseph Green, was absolved of criminal blame by District Attorney John E. McGeehan of Bronx county, but was suspended from duty.

Life looks rosy for him

Health worth more than fortune

THE baby to be envied is the one who is born with an inheritance of perfect health, to begin with. And who's lucky enough to have a mother who knows how to build up this fortune.

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned," she'll say to the doctor who pronounces her child physically 100% at a baby show, "but this health certificate means more to me than all the stock certificates in the world. If my baby grows up strong and well, I'm willing to leave it to him to make a career and fortune for himself.

"Already I'm teaching him the value of regular habits. Regular sleep, regular meals, regular functions. He's never once been off schedule, not even when he was cutting teeth or traveling to the country. I make sure of that by giving him Nujol regularly."

Nujol works so easily and naturally that it won't upset a baby under any conditions. It keeps everything functioning properly. It not only prevents any excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming but aids in their removal. It is safe and sure. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York.

Heir to millions

Just try Nujol for your baby. Give it to him regularly for the next three months. See if it doesn't make things much easier for both of you. Certainly it could do no harm — for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. Your druggist carries it. Be sure you get the genuine. Sold only in sealed packages.

ART OF SHOOTING IN SOCCER; FORCE AND STING REQUIRED

How To Kick the Ball—Strive For Low Shots.

SATURDAY GAMES.

Schedule Drawn For Month—Spalding Cup Tie On May 24.

Shooting is the chief weakness in soccer as played today says Andy Ducat; most teams feel the need of better shots in the front line. Untrained players kick from the hips. This error is responsible for many shots. The force of the shot should come from the knee and the ankle.

Thrust your foot back from the knee only. Take the ball with your instep—the top of your foot, that is, and kick it by jerking the knee straight. There must be a distinct "flick" with the ankle at the moment of impact. This flick is done with the wrists in cricket, lawn tennis, and golf. In football it is a flick of the ankle.

Force and Sting

Force and extra speed are given by jumping off the ground as you kick. You kick while the ball is under you, not in front of you. As you kick with the right foot you jump off the ground with your left and vice versa. This gets your weight behind the ball.

To be a good shot you must shoot equally well with both feet. Any man who intends to play football can, if he wishes, learn to kick with both feet. It is a matter of becoming accustomed to the use of your wrong foot. You cannot afford to waste time by changing the ball from one foot to the other, especially when you are being pursued as you dash for the goal. In changing feet, too, you lose your balance for an instant. This is a frequent cause of erratic shots.

Strive For Low Shots

Get on top of the ball before shooting, and kick with your toes tucked down. Low shots are always the most difficult for a goal-keeper to stop. To send in a low shot with plenty of sting in it you must be well over the ball, and your toes must be pointing to the ground. Propel the ball forward with the top of the foot.

Your knee must be kept over the top of the ball—in front of it, in fact. Controlled shots are impossible unless your bent knee is above the ball.

Brilliant forwards when taking a pass will frequently shoot straight away, kicking the ball on the volley. That is, they will kick it while it is still in the air. This volley kick is extremely difficult. It calls for judgement, because some balls can be shot on the volley and others cannot. When the ball is taken on the volley it is not always possible to get your knee over the top of it as you kick it; you may have to kick it as it passes in front of you. Generally, however, the essential thing is to get your knee—and consequently your body—balanced above the ball.

In the old days of the Thistle, Dawson and Richmond used to practice this volley shot night after night at King Edward Park, and it was from the said players' methods that the Thistle captured the league and the cups that season. They never "placed" the ball.

Don't "Place" The Ball

Most goal-keepers can capture high shots but very few can deal efficiently with the ball that keeps low. Never take a long shot when you can take a short one. The ideal way to score goals is to get so near that you are able to dribble the ball round the goal-keeper. This way is not often possible, but you see the point. The nearer you are when you shoot, the less chance the custodian has of blocking the space into which you aim.

You ought not to have to place the ball before you take the kick. This is a waste of time. If you do anything of the kind, you may expect to be knocked off the ball before you get your shot in. Players who place the ball are usually those who swing back from the hips. If you keep over the ball and thrust your leg back from the knee there is never any need to place the ball.

Penalty Kick Specialist

A few years ago Alex. Anderson, of the Thistle team, and Richmond of the same eleven used to practice the penalty shot in their practice game which finally terminated in Alex. between the posts and would never move away from the spot as the ball was kicked. He would occasionally get a shot right at him while at times, in fact, nine times out of ten, the ball would go wide of the mark as he stood and looked on. Alex. was always the winner. Try it present day players and you will find you fail.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

BUSTER KEATON COMES TO THE CAPITOL ON THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY, IN WHAT IS SAID TO BE THE SEASON'S LAUGHING FEAST "SPITE MARRIAGE." THERE WILL ALSO BE HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE, AND A BEAUTIFUL TECHNICOLOR SUBJECT "MADAME DUBARRY"

For the last of this week commencing to-morrow, the Capitol offers another of their big value for the money programs. There will be an act of high class vaudeville The Eldries, an Australian novelty; a beautiful historical subpect in technicolor "Madame Dubarry" the usual short reel subjects, and last but not least, Buster Keaton, in a comedy feature, which is said to be the laughing hit of the season "Spite Marriage", a love story loaded with laughs.

"Spite Marriage" is a comedy and a romance combined. The plot itself is just a romantic love story, with a few thrills and a few sighs, even, and a reat deal of human interest. But the way Buster plays every scene makes it one of the healthiest howls of the season.

Buster is a tailor in the story, and borrows his customers' suits to pose as a millionaire and win the hand of a stage star. Then, after she marries him, his troubles begin. They range from wrecking the set on the stage when he tries to act, to a storm at sea, fire aboard ship, battles with rum runners and other hilarious and thrilling adventures.

Thrills, played Buster's way with his serious face, become most hilarious things, and the frozen-faced comedian took quite a few chances to get laughs.

Dorothy Sebastian as Trilby Drew, the actress heroine, is easy to look upon and furnishes Buster every reason for falling in love. She plays the ship scenes with considerable skill, and makes the romantic details things to be long remembered. Leila Hyams is effective and very beautiful as the blonde vamp and Edward Earle convincing and altogether "the type" as the stage leading man in the theatrical scenes of the picture.

William Bechtel plays the theatrical impresario, a clever bit of character comedy John Byron makes a formidable rum runner in the ocean scenes.

Edward Sedgwick, who directed Keaton in "The Camerman," directed the new production with the same deft artistry, and Lew Lipton and Ernest S. Pagano are responsible for the clever story, which was elaborately staged and produced.

O.H.A. INTERMEDIATE TITLE HOLDERS RECEIVE HONORS

Kitchener Players Rewarded At Annual Hockey Club Banquet.

PRESENTATIONS MADE.

Hewitt Says Senior Series To Be Enlarged—Lengthen Playing Season.

KITCHENER, May 8.— The John Ross Robertson, O.H.A. intermediate cup was presented to the Twin City Green Shirts by Secretary Hewitt of the O.H.A. at the annual banquet of the club held at Wagner's Hotel, Bridgeport, last night, along with the medal emblematic of the championship. The club had as guests, in addition to Mr. Hewitt, P. J. Mulqueen of the Canadian Olympic team, and Mayor Clement. The Mayor, on behalf of the city, presented the players with diamond rings.

Mr. Mulqueen gave a very interesting and informative address on the Canadian Olympic team and its achievements at Amsterdam last year. His subject was ably and concisely dealt with, the value of sport as an advertising medium being emphasized.

Mr. Hewitt, in presenting the cup and medals, paid a particular compliment to George Karges and Allan Shirk, who have been campaigning in the O.H.A. for 18 and 16 years, respectively. He also made reference to the distinction won by Walter Molson in having now captured medals in the junior, senior and intermediate sections of the O.H.A. In referring to the work of Karges, Mr. Hewitt paid him the very high compliment of saying that the Kitchener veteran was the best stick-handler he had ever seen. He also paid the Twin City a great hockey compliment when he stated that the Twin City had produced more hockey players in the last 25 years than any other Ontario city, at the same time pointing out that 80 per cent. of the hockey players of Canada come from Ontario.

Referring to the future of Ontario hockey, he stated that executive officers were now trying to work out a scheme to lengthen the playing season, which is now too short for most places. He stated this will likely be accomplished by enlarging the senior series to include many of the larger places now playing in intermediate hockey. In this way the season will be longer for these clubs and the intermediate series play-offs will be shorter and therefore the regular season longer. He asked the co-operation of those teams of the O.H.A. which may be asked to enter the higher series..

VIEWS ON SPORT

With warmer weather promised the City League teams should be able to get in some of the practises that they have so long awaited.

BOXING TOURNEY AT BELLEVILLE.

It was stated in this column last week that boxing was springing to life in towns and cities throughout the province, and that Belleville had caught the fistic fever. It appears they have caught it hook, line and sinker, and are looking abroad for new fields to conquer.

J. Shepherd writes from the Quinte town to state that he is sponsoring a boxing tourney in the armouries there on May 24. "We have cups for the following classes: 125 pound, 135, 145 and heavyweight, so if you have any good mitt slingers tell them to send along their entries," he writes.

The boxing classes have been holding sessions in Belleville for about two months and they should be in the same stage of the game as those in the local class, providing they have an instructor as capable as Wilfred Jones, which is doubtful. Anyway if the "Y" class is prepared to accept this invitation they should furnish some smart bouts in Belleville.

Meanwhile the locals are working hard to show great advancement when they appear in their next tourney at the "Y" gym. It is altogether likely that Lindsay will return the favor of the several trips that the "Y" gymnasium team of acrobats has paid to the Scugog town, and send down several boxers to engage in this tournament of flying gloves. Also winners will likely be declared in the bouts for the first time.

BASEBALL TEAMS HOLD WORKOUTS.

Two baseball teams have had practises this week and the players turned out in large numbers for both, in spite of the chilly and damp atmosphere. The Cognawagas, East Peterborough Club, had a raft of twenty ball tossers scampering around in their first practise on Monday evening. It is reported that there was real material in the collection, too, and any who catch the team will have to win their position against keen competition.

Grafton's bantams had a practise under Manager Frost, and here, too, there was no dearth of eager aspirants, which goes to prove the claim that the number of boys in the city who are anxious to play and learn baseball, are legion, and that none of the minor teams will have difficulty in lining up players.

The one difficulty—lack of coaches and managers—that was facing the minor teams in the City League, is being solved satisfactorily. Several former players have come forward to take on the duties. Jack Deannard is back on the job strong, and will likely turn out a strong contender in the Juvenile series. Lou Lebarr, Jr., is planning to send in a team, either in the Junior or Juvenile group, and Bert Austin, manager of the St. John's hockey team, has accepted the position of coach with the All Saints' Royals.

A new entry in the field, and one that is shaping up with real strength, is the Loyal Order of Moose in the Junior series. This lodge is leading the way in many activities for young Peterborough, and although this is their first year in baseball, they are planning to take the work right in hand.

EDMONTON GRADS TRULY WORLD CHAMPIONS.

The Edmonton Grads are still supreme in the woman's basketball world, settling all argument to the contrary in their own masterly way. They were in Toronto last week and made a clean sweep of all that the Queen City could send out against them, swamping the All-Star team in the second game. From their showing in Toronto, Coach Page has succeeded in rounding out as fine a team as has represented the Grads in all their many years of victories across this continent, and in Europe. The Grads have won better than 99 per cent. of their games against the best in about 500 games on both continents.

TORONTO BATSMEN IN SLUMP.

Toronto Leafs are getting good average pitching, but their hitters are falling down. It is interesting to note that the rookies who were let out recently are pounding the ball in the leagues that they were farmed out to. And it must make Steve O'Neill sore to read of the way "Lena" Styles, once of the Leafs, now with Reading, has been hitting. It is stated that Eddie Onslow will pull that oft-tried and written of trick of catching a ball dropped from the top of a tall building. Eddie is planning to have a mate drop the pill from the top of the Star building, and he will attempt to catch it as it drifts down. This is no mean feat, and rarely is successful. Eddie says "It can be done," but Fritz Maisel, Baltimore manager, says: "Anyone who tries it is crazy." Onslow has never shown any symptoms of this malady previously anyway.

NEWARK PLAYERS FALLING BELOW PAR.

The row that Tris Speaker's Newark Bears are hoeing for themselves is sending the Grey Eagle to tears. Critics called the Bears to set history on edge with their handpicked squad of seasoned players, but they haven't set anything on fire as yet. In this regard history is repeating itself, because Walter Johnson, who formerly lead the team, suffered in the same manner. It appears that Speaker, like his predecessor, underestimated the calibre of ball played in this league, and is now finding out that the hustling young ball players in this organization are paying little attention to the past records of the veterans.

SOCCER NOTES.

Plane Damaged In Bad Landing

WINDSOR, Ont., May 8. (C.P.)—Crashing in a bad landing late yesterday, one of the two moth instruction airplanes at Walker airport, was seriously damaged, it was reported to-day. The crash occurred while Mrs. H. H. Hewitt, one of the two women students at the airport, was making her first solo flight.

It is believed that Mrs. Hewitt, in bringing the plane to the ground, struck a slight rise in the ground, causing the machine to bounce several feet. The plane lost flying speed, and stalled, pancaking to the ground. Mrs. Hewitt escaped uninjured.

INSECT BITES CAUSE OF THE FATAL DISEASE

James Harvey Mills Tells of Experiences on African Tour.

FOUR DEATHS RESULT.

Forced To Remain in Swamp For Eighteen Hours Without Food Or Drink.

TORONTO, May 8 (C.P.). — One of the passengers on the world-cruising Duchess of Atholl who suffered from the mysterious disease which broke out on the ship arrived in Toronto yesterday. He was James Harvey Mills, of Soloway, Mills and company. Mr. Mills and his wife were members of a party of 175 tourists who took a side trip about five weeks ago to Victoria Falls and Kruger National Park in Africa. As a result of infection from insect bites sustained on the trip four deaths occured and four other persons, including Mr. Mills, suffered severe illness.

One of the contributing causes of the disease, Mr. Mills said, was a mishap which befell the party while proceeding by motor bus to Kruger Park. The bus broke down in the middle of the stream and a torrential rainstorm developed. The passengers waded or swam ashore and were stranded for 18 hours without food or drink. During the night some of them climbed trees for safety while wild animals howled in the darkness. Most of them spent the night in deserted huts, where some were bitten by the infected insect known as a tick.

On the visit to Victoria Falls the tourists were shown about the huts of the natives which Mr. Mills described very dirty and breeding ground for the fatal tick. Mr. Mills was taken ill first at Dar-Es-Salaam. He had two insect bites on his ankle. On reaching Port Sudan he was treated by a specialist in tropical diseases and despite the fact that he had been given up to die began to recover.

SUES DAUGHTER

NEW YORK, May 8.—William F. Burroughs, an attorney, recently brought suit against his 22-year-old daughter, Ruth, for $11,037. A board bill of $3,240 was included in the total. Ruth, with her sister Loretta, 19, in a rebutal, charged that she was due $5,280 for keeping house for her father and that he attempted to stop her from assisting the district attorney in prosecuting two indictments charging him with false guardianship.

ALLISS SETS GOLF RECORD

Young English Pro Scores a 69 To Take Lead From Diegel.

IN FIRST ROUND.

GULLANE, Scotland, May 8 (Canadian Press).—While most of the galleries following the first round of championship play for the British open golf title trailed with the well-known stars, Percy Alliss, young English pro. from the Wannsee Club, Berlin, playing with only his partner and their caddies as spectators, scored a 69 to take the lead for the first round away from Leo Diegel, who a few minutes before had returned a score of 71.

Alliss slipped into the title quest from the qualifying round with the ties at 162, and although a member of the British Ryder Cup team, did not play against the Americans, so his appeal to the golf enthusiasts was not enough to draw them to his banner when he started this morning.

His score of 69 broke the Muirfield course record which was smashed by Diegel with 70 yesterday in the second qualifying round.

Several thousand followed Diegel and Jolly, who rewarded them with scores of 71 and 72 respectively, but Alliss, on their heels, played an even better game. His card showed seven birdies. He took three putts on the fifth, sixth and 17th greens. His brassie to the 17th hit the flag and then he took three putts for 18 feet. He found a bunker at the home hole, but got his four in spite of it.

THE PATH ACRROSS THE HILL

LAKEFIELD, May 8 (Examiner Correspondence).—Despite bad weather and bad roads the Town Hall was filled on Friday evening for the presentation of a three-act comedy-drama, "The Path Across the Hill," under the auspices of the C.G.I.T. group of Regent Street United Church. Before the opening of the play and between the acts the Regent Street Sunday School orchestra furnished an excellent program which added to the success of the entertainment and was very pleasing to the ear. The orchestra, which numbered ten pieces, is an organization which reflects credit on the directors, Mrs. H. E. Moore and Walter Madill and also on all the members.

Rev. S. A. Kemp, the pastor of Regent Street Church, made a few introductory remarks with a brief synopsis of the play, also thanking the audience for their attendance; the orchestra for its co-operation; Mrs. Leonard for her advertising on the screen of the Queen Street theatre; Webster Brothers for the loan of furniture for the stage, and all who had helped toward the success of the evening.

The play, which was in three acts, all scenes being laid in the home of Ruth Conrad, a sweet young orphan girl, who is devoted to her grandfather and her young brother, and who puts off her marriage to Dr. Jimmie Lee because she cannot bear to leave her dear ones. Her city cousin, Flo, who comes on a visit and who is an ultra-modern young person, sets her cap for Jimmie and they marry in haste and repent at leisure. Ruth is not terribly affected by the defection of her lover, as unconsciously her heart has gone into the keeping of Robert Post, who is also a visitor to the village. Robert's life has been embittered by the failure of his father's bank by the embezzlement of a clerk and which broke his father's heart and killed him, leaving his mother a hopeless invalid. Robert finds in Grandpa Crawford, the man he has long been in search of, the men who ruined his father, and determines to give him up to justice. Grandpa pleads for mercy for Ruth's sake, and while his plea is unavailing, it at least gives him a short reprieve. All ends well, grandpa's innocence is proven and he marries Grandma Davis after a whirlwind middle-aged courtship.

Walter, too, has his ups and downs and finally comes home to Ruth and his girlish sweetheart Lutie, who remained faithful all through.

Zuzu, the colored cook, and her bridegroom, Salamander, are faithful servants, and stand loyally at Ruth's back, even offering their savings to help out a crisis.

The play was well put on, well acted, and showed the result of faithful practice and efficient management. The memory work was exceptionally good and the services of the prompter rarely needed. Each year the C.G.I.T. dramatic effort is more finished and this year's performance made as great an advance as last year's play did over the previous performance. Elva Hendren, who had the heavy part of Ruth Conrad, has a remarkably retentive memory and gave a very pleasing impersonation; Mildred Purdy, played the part of Grandma Davis in a manner which won her the approval of the audience as well as Grandpa Crawford. Dorothy Sutton's performance as Lutie, the school girl in love with Walter, was exceptionally good; Eileen Brown ran the gamut of emotion in her presentation of the city cousin and showed a genuine talent for the stage; Janet Charlton, as the faithful Zuzu, played well a part made difficult by unfamiliar dialect and makeup. Hers was a comedy part, well played and ably supported by her lover and husband, Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones (Donald Dever). Grandpa's part was taken by Harry Wannamaker, who gave a splendid impersonation of the old man, the difficult emotional part being well done. Harold Schwark's performance as Walter, the school boy, was outstanding, his conception of the part was perfect; Ronald Kemp gave an excellent characterization of Dr. Lee's part—ambitious, a bit selfish and later repentent, all these emotions were well portrayed. Stanley Darling as Robert Post played a serious part with no touch of comedy, and did it admirably, his bitterness being softened to forgiveness through the magic power of love.

All the parts were well taken and all gave opportunity for individual talent, and it would be unfair to draw comparisons between players for every one did well and reflected credit n the C.G.I.T. group and on Mrs. S. A. Kemp, who had worked so faithfully to make the entertainment a success. As directress, she supervised the rehearsals, helped in every way, giving advice and assistance from the very first practice till the last thing was done.

This is the third annual dramatic success of the C.G.I.T. group and each one has surpassed previous records of excellent performance and financial returns.

The cast of characters:

Samuel Crawford, Ruth's grandfather, Harry Wannamaker; Robert Post, a visitor to the village, Stanley Darling; Walter Conrad, Ruth's brother, Harold Schwark; Dr. Jimmie Lee, an ambitious young man, Ronald Kemp; Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, a colored chauffeur, Donald Dever; Mr. Davis, an up-to-date grandmother, Miss Mildred Purdy; Ruth Conrad, the heroine, Miss Elva Hendren; Flo Gray, Ruth's city cousin, Miss Eileen Brown; Lutie, a lively neighbor, Miss Dorothy Sutton; Zuzu, the colored cook, Miss Janet Charlton.

FYLE APPEAL AGAINST WILL

John Douglas Pettigrew Appeals against Judgment of Mr. Justice Wright.

SUM GIVEN TO MISSIONS

TORONTO, May 8. — John Douglas Pettigrew has filed an appeal at Osgoode Hall from the judgment of Justice Wright in so far as that judgment finds that under the will of the late John Pettigrew, retired farmer, Norwood, Peterborough, there is a valid contingent remainder of executory devise in favor of the India, Africa and China Missions of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in case John Douglas Pettigrew should die without leaving issue.

Appellant contends that clause seven of the will is repugnant to the gift in fee simple made to John Douglas Pettigrew, being a devise only of the estate, real and personal, remaining at appellant's death.

The clause of the will reads as follows: "In the event of both of my said grandchildren dying without issue I direct that the whole of my estate, real and personal, then remaining, shall go to the India, Africa and China missions of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, share and share alike."

Owners of DODGE TRUCKS call it PAY LOAD

Your pay load is the load of actual merchandise you deliver—the load of the actual commodity you haul—whatever the size of the truck, whatever the nature of the load.

There is no profit in hauling the truck itself, or the body. That's expense.

Dodge Truck owners know the dollars-and-cents meaning of Pay Loads. That's why there are so many Dodge owners.

Excess weight was engineered out of Dodge Trucks long ago.

CAPTAIN WALSH IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Takes Place From Late Residence To Sacred Heart Church.

BURIED AT YOUNG'S POINT.

The funeral of Captain Joseph J. Walsh was held this morning from his residence at Westcott and Aylmer street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart, and then proceeded to Young's Point and the journey's end there in the Catholic cemetery. Many relatives and friends, including Knights of Columbus, attended the Requiem Mass, and quite a number accompanied the funeral to the little hamlet which was the former home of Captain Walsh. Rev. Father Carroll sang the High Mass, and Rev. Father C. J. Maloney addressed the congregation, eulogizing the exemplary life that had been so suddenly cut off.

The text Father Maloney chose was from St. Paul to the Romans, 11th chapter and 33rd verse: "Oh the depth of the riches, of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how incomprehensible are His judgments and how unsearchable His ways." The justice of God often permits the good to suffer, in this life and the wicked to prosper, Father Maloney said, and that fact was one reason why a life hereafter was necessary, in order that God would appear just to all men by the general judgment we have been promised. Because many of those who do not try to please God are seen to prosper in this world, others complain and find fault with the justice of God. If this world were the end of all things, then God should reward the good and punish the wicked. But this life of 50 or 75 years is only an instant of man's existence. God did not make man to live here a few years and then pass into nothingness. He did not promise happiness in this life. He did say that His followers must suffer: "He who would come after Me, let him take up his cross daily and follow Me."

Father Maloney referred to the lives of the apostles. All of them except St. John died violent deaths. "Would you say our Saviour did not love His apostles? Yet He allowed them to suffer the deaths of martyrs. The trials and troubles we are called upon to endure in this life are simply opportunities for laying up treasure in the next.

Joseph Walsh understood perfectly the reason for his presence in this world. He know that God had placed him here to work out the salvation of his soul. He knew the two great commandments of the law, to love God and to love our neighbor. I knew Captain Walsh four years and I never heard him say an uncharitable word. And I can testify that he loved his God. Every morning during the winter when his occupation did not require his work he was here at holy Mass, for he understood well the promise 'He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood, him I shall raise up on the last day' and also 'Blessed is the one I find watching.' Even if God had taken him the day he was fatally injured, Captain Walsh would have been ready, because he was always ready. His injury and trial did not shake his confidence in God. He told me at the hospital that the accident might just as well have happened to any other man. I have no hesitation in saying that we feel confident Joseph Walsh has saved his soul, and that this good man has already received his God."

Father Maloney concluded by saying that no matter how much confidence there might be, the Church would pray for him, his friends would pray for him. "Which of us can conceive of the purity of the soul that dwells in the presence of God?"

The pall bearers were Frank Young, D. Gleason, George Hickey, Frank Fairen, R. Brotherstone and Captain Scollard.

COMPANIES ENTER PROTEST.

TORONTO, Ont., May 8. — More than 30 Ontario motor car insurance companies have joined in a letter to the Provincial Superintendent of Insurance, asking that they be relieved of the necessity of compiling and producing costs and experience data from the first of the year 1925 to date, as ordered by the Royal Commission inquiring into the reasonableness in insurance rate increase.

AN EXPLANATION

In last evening's Examiner there appeared a large half holiday advertisement to which was attached the names of a number of our merchants and a number of prominent ones who are observing the half holiday were not included. This was due to the fact that the advertisement was hurriedly completed to get insertion and some merchants being out on the first call to them it was impossible to make a second one in time for insertion yesterday.

Around the City

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Freeman of 486 Cambridge street, at St. Joseph's Hospital, last night. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman are parents of a family of nine children.

In Police Court

The court smiled when two local men told Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning that this was the first time they had been caught — they had been charged with being intoxicated in a public place, pleaded guilty and were fined the customary "ten and costs."

When Theodore Simpson of Hall's Bridge backed his car into a second machine parked on the market square one day last week, and then drove off without ascertaining the owner or the damage done, he didn't figure on a couple of passers-by who noted his number. This morning Simpson pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident, and was fined $25 and $7.45 costs.

Wednesday morning is known as traffic morning, and there was some justification for the appellation today. Garfield Bryant, residing on Water street, pleaded guilty to speeding on Charlotte street, and was fined $5 and costs while William H. Austin, Cambridge street, charged with speeding on Charlotte street, was fined $15 and $5.25 costs.

BIG INCREASE IN CIRCULATION OF MILLBROOK PUBLIC LIBRARY

More Than One Thousand Volumes Listed in the Juvenile Section.

THREE THOUSAND IN ALL.

Two Hundred Dollars Expended Each Year in Purchasing New Books.

MILLBROOK, May 8.—(Examiner Correspondence). — A circulation more than six thousand volumes annually, constitutes a creditable record for a community of this size, and is the report in connection with the Public Library in recent years to the pupils.

Shelving has to be increased at intervals to accommodate the upwards of three thousand volumes which at present constitute the Library is now very well equipped for supplying approved reading material to thepupils.

Approximately two hundred dollars is the amount expended each year in buying new books for the Public Library, revenue being derived from grants given by the municipal council, and the government. The periodicals subscribed for include: Good Housekeeping, Cosmopolitan, Literary Digest, World Wide, London Illustrated News, McLean's, Canadian Magazine, the National Geographic, Ladies' Home Journal, and Punch. In addition the leading daily papers of the province are also on file.

The reading room is open every day, and the library for the exchange of books on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from four to six, and on Saturday evenings from until 9 o'clock. There is a good patronage, approximately one hundred books for adults and twenty-five for juniors, being taken out every Saturday, with probably not quite that number on the other two days of the week.

The fact that the community now has a free Public Library, up-to-date in its methods, and established upon a sound financial basis, is entirely due to the undaunted courage and painstaking persistence of David Hampton, for more than forty years principal of the Public School here, and one of the best known, and most highly respected citizens. In face of very little encouragement Mr. Hampton, in 1894, made a thorough canvass of the village enlisting support, sometimes reluctantly given for those approached had, apparently, not very optimistic views of ultimate success in the venture. However, through personal subscriptions, a sufficient sum was received to begin a Mechanic's Institute, with a paid membership of 175.

The next year this was changed to a free Public Library, and has continued ever since as a well-patronized institute, subscribing to the leading newspapers and magazines, and constantly increasing the number of volumes on its shelves.

The first to hold the position of librarian was Rev. Stanley Pickup, now pastor of Saint Giles' church, Toronto, being then in his early student days. The late Beaver Van Homreigh followed Mr. Pickup, and afterward the late Miss Agnes Hampton filled the office, with marked efficiency for a number of years. Miss Myrtle Russell, now of Port Hope, was in charge when Miss Hampton was obliged to relinquish the dutie owing to failing health, and at present Miss Margaret Armstrong fills satisfactorily the librarian's office.

Nineteen years ago, in 1910, the 'Dewey Decima' system of keeping record of the books given out was adopted, and has proved so satisfactory that it has continued to be used ever since.

Previous to the war there was an agitation started to procure a Carnegie Library for Millbrook, but so much opposition developed that the matter was ultimately dropped, so it happens that the original rooms over P. I. Bentley's hardware store are still in use.

Residents of both village and township take advantage of the reading room, and particularly the library section to a very considerable degree. In the fall and winter months, when most reading is done, at least two hundred books each week are taken out. Subscribers outside the corporation pay $1.00 yearly for the privilege, and local patrons buy tickets at five cents each, a new one requiring to be purchased when the space is filled. This constitutes a source of revenue for the Library, as do also the fines paid for keeping a book over time (two weeks), though the main dependence is naturally on the grants previously mentioned.

New books are purchased four or five times annually, Mr. Hampton, who is secretary-treasurer, having a general oversight of this matter, as well as of all others connected with the Library which is such a community convenience. Rev. Canon Allen is president of the Library Board.

C.G.I.T. Group Meets

"Birds and Butterflies" was the nature study topic taken up at the weekly meeting of the Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. Group, the meeting being at the leader's home.

Miss Jean L. Burnham, President of the Golden Links Missions Circle, was in the chair in the absence of the president, Miss Wilma Fallis, and the vice-president, Miss Annie McMahon, neither of whom was able to be present. The president was writing on her teacher training examination, "The Pupil' being the subject; others writing including Mrs. George Fallis, Mrs. William Jessup, and Miss Marjorie Skitch. Miss Estelle Hetherington is the teacher.

A sketch of "The Adventurous, Home-Loving Mrs. Hoover" provided through the courtesy of Rev. Joseph Wilks, was read, and proved both interesting and instructive. Reports of activities now in progress were received and showed necessary attention being given.

The devotional period was opened with the usual ritual, and the leader's talk was on "Jesus' Teaching about Service" concluding with the poem, "The Little, Wild, White Rose."

The customary social hour was enjoyed at the close. At a special meeting called after the school session on Sunday afternoon the group decided to accede to the request of the Trail Rangers and give the required help for the social gathering to be held under C.S.E.T. auspices in the near future. A work meeting will be held this week on Thursday evening instead of the usual business and devotional gathering.

RIGHT TO VOTE IS CHALLENGED

Proposed Manitoba Wheat Pool Measure Is Referred to Law Committee.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 8 (C.P.). —Right of legislators who are members of the Wheat Pool to vote on a bill to amend an act to incorporate the Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited—the Wheat Pool—was challenged in the Manitoba Legislature yesterday by J. T. Haig and W. Sanford Evans, Conservative members for Winnipeg.

After considerable discussion, the proposed measure was referred to the law amendments committee for further consideration.

Mr. Evans declared he could see no justification for the "extraordinary powers" asked by the Wheat Pool, and he took particular exception to a clause which would prevent directors of the Pool from being sued by members.

A bill to amend the Public Health Act, which would make vaccination compulsory, if necessary, in construction and lumber camps, was opposed by W. Ivens, Labor, Winnipeg. He quoted many authorities who are opposed to vaccination and inoculation.

"More people were killed by vaccination than were killed by smallpox in given years," said Mr. Ivens, adding that Manitoba got along very well without compulsory vaccination and inoculation.

The debate was adjourned.

CANADIAN PEOPLE TO BE PROTECTED

Canada Will Not Suffer Under New U. S. Grain Rates Says Sir Harry Thornton.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 8 (C.P.).—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian Nationals Railways who addressed the Border Chamber of Commerce at noon to-day said on arrival it was 'highly improbable" that the Pennsylvania Railway would seek running rights through the Detroit-Windsor tunnel now under construction.

Sir Henry, discussing the downward revision of grain freight rates in United States said: "We will see certainly that the Canadian people are protected. This is a matter which is being discussed now between the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railways. The Canadians will not suffer and we will have a definite announcement soon."

ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Good Program Provided At Gathering Held in Queen Alexandra School.

The May meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten Room on Monday evening, with the President, Mrs. K. Simpson presiding. Mrs. L. C. Deyell gave an excellent report of the last meeting, when the oratorical contest was held. After a short business session at which routine business was discussed a short program was presented.

Miss Trucie Pearson rendered two beautiful vocal solos. She was accompanied by Miss Webber. Miss Evelyn Miller next gave two selections in elocution. Mrs. Karl Simpson, who was a delegate to the Federation of Home and School Associations in Toronto recently gave a splendid and encouraging report of the sessions telling of the rapid growth of this organization which reaches from coast to coast and the different activities of the various outstanding societies.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Simpson, who in replying expressed her pleasure in being a delegate.

CLAIMANT FOUND LIABLE.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 8.— Suing for $10,000 damages as the result of injuries sustained in a motor crash, Albert Willis Mouldey, township of Kingston, was found by Mr. Justice Kelly not only to have no ground for the claim but was himself liable. The judge then awarded $200 damages to Oliver Chown, the defendant.

McCORMICK-DEERING NEWS
"Good equipment makes a good farmer better"
Published by
W. BURNS
THE FARM EQUIPMENT MAN
Vol. 1, No. 7 Peterboro Wednesday, May 8, 1929

Watch for the "News" each week. Suggestions and news items invited.
W. Burns, Editor.

My granddad, when he was a boy, would have thought it rather silly for one to ask how many silk stockings can be made out of one cord of wood.

Long life and efficient spreading are assured when a McCormick - Deering Manure Spreader is used. Spreading costs are reduced because the durability of the machine minimizes upkeep and extends the investment over years of satisfactory service.

It's a funny thing, but the rising generation gets up when it pleases.

Boarding House Boarder: "I say, my dear fellow, I wouldn't eat any rice pudding if I were you. They had a wedding here yesterday."

Bring the boy along when you come in to look over the new McCormick - Deering Tractor we have on display here at the store. Boys like to feel they are in on things. Probably just like the rest of us on that score.

It is said a shark won't bite any swimmer who keeps his legs moving, but you can't depend on us to test the theory.

The purchase of modern, labor-saving farm equipment is a wise and profitable investment.

Some folks think that a binder is a binder, but let us tell you that a real grain binder is a McCormick-Deering.

Some men may be able to read their wives like a book, but can they shut them up so easily?

When you drive home with a new McCormick - Deering Mower — any size or style—you are cashing in on nearly a century of successful manufacturing experience. It means something to you.

If the thermometer is supposed to regulate the weather, it certainly is doing a poor job of it.

So Long, See You Next Week.

LOCAL INDUSTRY NOT AFFECTED

NEWS IN BRIEF
(By Canadian Press)

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—Headed by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, members of the Provincial Cabinet will proceed to London to-morrow for the Western Ontario Conservative Convention. Four Cabinet ministers, including Hon. Charles McCrae, Minister of Mines; Hon. J. D. Monteith, Minister of Finance; Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, will accompany the Prime Minister.

NO WORD RECEIVED

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—No definite word as to whether the three men held in Brockton, Mass., charged with robbery of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Beamsville, have been admitted to bail has been received by either the Attorney-General or the Provincial Police, Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, stated to-day.

COMPLETE HIGHWAY THIS YEAR

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—Construction of the highway from Windsor to Buffalo which skirts the shore of Lake Erie will be completed this years, and although four contracts involving this highway have been let, it will all be open to traffic this year, declared Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 9.—Five Buffalo men were injured last night after the automobile in which they were riding near Port Erie, Ont., struck a parked car. The gas tank exploded and their car burst into flames before they could extricate themselves.

SENT TO PRISON COLONY

MEXICO CITY, May 9 (—El Universal Grafico to-day claimed the nun, Mother Concepcion Acevedo De Le Llata, under a 20-year-sentence as "Intellectual Au Hor" of the assassination of General Alvaro Obregon last July, was on her way to Las Tres Marias prison colony, off the west coast of Mexico.

RETURN BY CUBA

COLON, Panama, May 9.—Captain Ignacio Jimenez and Francis Iglesias, southern trans-Atlantic flyers, have been ordered to return to Spain by way of Guatemala and Cuba, and to omit the visit which they had planned to Mexico. No explanation was given of the order.

They had planned also previously to bring their plane, the "Jesus Del Gran Poder," to New York.

CREW FEARED LOST.

TOKYO, May 9. — The Navy Department to-day revealed grounding and total loss of the chartered collier, Tamon Maru No. 6, Tuesday afternoon, with fate of the crew of 50 men unknown.

BONFIRE IGNITES GASOLINE

DETROIT, Mich., May 9. (C.P.) — A seven-year-old boy was hurled 100 feet against a pile of lumber and killed, and his five year old playmate suffered serious burns when flames from a bonfire with which they were playing, ignited a 50 gallon drum of gasoline at Evanston and Lake Point avenues at 7 o'clock last night.

NAVAL PLANE MISSING.

TOKYO, May 9.—The navy office announced that four destroyers were searching for a naval plane missing since yesterday which was attempting a 600-mile flight from Nafa, Loochoo Islands, to Nagasaki. Two accompanying planes were caught in a storm and forced down.

ANCIENT BEARD ERASER

PARIS, May 8.—What is claimed to be the oldest razor extant was recently discovered by M. Dharvent, a French archaeologist, in a sand quarry at Montieres-les-Amiens. It has a handle and blade similar to the modern razor and was found with other "tools" which have been traced back to about 8000 B.C.

Trading Is With Old Land

Changes in U. S. Tariff Will Have Little Effect on Local Industry.

DEPEND ON BRITISH MARKET

Creameries Have Not Been Able To Supply Local Market.

Discussing the effect of the proposed United States tariff revisions upon the local Canadian Packing Company's plant The Examiner learned in an interview with G. S. Matthews, the plant manager, that the Peterborough packing industry would not be greatly affected.

"Nearly all the export shipping from our plant goes to Great Britain," said Mr. Matthews, "While any American trade is handled from Toronto. The packing industry as a whole will be affected, however during certain seasons when it is customary to ship tenderloins and smoked meats to the United States."

Depend on British Market

"The packing industry will have to depend more on the British market than on the American, and we have foreseen this for the past two years," he continued.

"It won't think it will mean lower prices to the farmers of Ontario on livestock either, because the duty is not increased on the live cattle. There were no hogs going into the United States lately, since the Canadian market has been paying higher prices than the American. There will be likely more live cattle shipped to the States and less beef since the duty is increased on the manufactured article""

"The duty on fresh pork is raised from three-fourths of a cent per pound to two and one half cents. Seventy-five per cent of the tenderloins in our plant go to the United States during the summer months and these will still be shipped, but at the higher tariff. These tenderloins go to New York and Chicago.'

"The duty on fresh beef and veal has been doubled—raised from three cents a pound to six. However the duty on cattle has not been changed. It appears that there will be more live cattle shipped and less beef. There wasn't much in this business before the change anyway."

In closing, Mr. Matthews said

"Tay Pay" O'Connor "Father" Of House Being Opposed By Communist Candidate

LONDON, May 9.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The first among the retiring members of the House of Commons to shake hands with the speaker when parliament dissolves to-morrow, will be "Tay Pay" O'Connor, now in his 81st year, "Father" of the house. Nowadays "Tay Pay" is unable to walk and he will be wheeled in by Jack Jayes, former policeman and now Labor whip, representing a constituency adjoining "Tay Pay's" own riding of Scotland section in Liverpool.

The venerable "Tay Pay" last spoke in the house in June, 1928, on the retirement of Speaker J. H. Whitley, but he intends addressing his constituents at least once during the present contest, even from a bathchair. He is being opposed by a Communist, whose chances of election, like those of any candidate of whatever party who has opposed "Tay Pay" in previous years, are about hopeless.

LEO DIEGEL LEADS GOLF FIELD AT END OF 36 HOLES OF PLAY

Walter Hagen Scores Record-Shattering 67 to Give Total of 142.

MANY ARE ELIMINATED.

Sixty Players Must Be Left in Competition For Last 36 Holes.

GULLANE, Scotland, May 9. (C.P.) —Leo Diegel led the field after 36 holes of the British open golf competition for the crown Walter Hagen wears with a score of 140, adding 69 to-day to 71 yesterday. The professional champion, however, had to share honors with Hagen, who scored a record shattering 67 to-day to give him a 36 hole total of 142, only two strokes behind the Scottish champion.

Abe Mitchell and Percy Alliss are the hopes of Great Britain. Mitchell had a total of 144 and Alliss 145.

The rules provide for elimination of all players 14 strokes and over behind the leader after 36 holes of play but with a provision that the minimum starters for the final test must be 60, so all scoring 157 remain in the competition. This will enable George Von Elm, with a score of 157, to remain among the 63 survivors.

Four United States pros., Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, John Golden and Bobby Cruickshank had scores of 147 and Bill Mehlhorn and Tommy Armour are tied at 148, Macdonald Smith and Jim Barnes were in a group at 151 and Al. Watrous, Ed. Dudley, Al. Espinosa, Toe Turnesa, and Horton Smith were placed together at 152. Jimmie Thompson had a count of 156, a stroke ahead of Von Elm.

There are 90,000 members of the American Medical Association.

GOLD RESERVE BASE OF QUERY

J. S. Woodsworth Asks For Statement From the Minister of Finance.

EXPECTED FRIDAY.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—A statement with regard to Canada's gold reserve will probably be made in the House of Commons to-morrow by Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance.

On Monday last, J. S. Woodsworth, (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre), said that an article in a financial paper contained the statement "that $50,000,000 would be required to bring Canada's exchange back to parity with that of United States and that there is not that amount of gold in Canada's reserves.' May I ask if that is the real reason why gold is not being shipped at present to the United States."

Able to Pay Obligations

On that occasion, Mr. Robb, after replying that he had not read the article referred to, added: "Let me say to my Honorable Friend that the Dominion of Canada is in a position to meet all obligations at any time, anywhere."

Some financial writers have claimed that by placing certain Dominion notes against authorized securities other than gold, it has been possible to make the ratio of gold to Dominion notes appear higher than it would otherwise be. However, officials in touch with the Treasury Board claim that there is no change in the situation; that the gold is sufficient to meet all demands for specific payments as required by statute.

Several members were planning to interrogate the government with regard to the situation but are waiting in view of the intimation that the Finance Minister will discuss it to-morrow.

FISH WAREHOUSE BURNED.

ST. THOMAS, May 9. — (C.P.)—A large warehouse and its contents, belonging to George A. Van-Order, a commercial fisherman, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin at Port Burwell, late last night. The loss will be about $10,000.

FOUNDRESS OF NATION-WIDE ORDER HONORED

I. O. D. E. Presents Portrait of Late Mrs. Clarke Murray to Canadan Government.

UNVEILED AT OTTAWA.

Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, Performs Important Ceremony To-day.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (Canadian Press). — Faith in Empire was the creed of the late Mrs. Clark Murray, foundress of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, declared Mrs. John A. Stewart, National President of the Order, at the unveiling in the Archives Building of a portrait of Mrs. Murray by Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General, this afternoon. The portrait, which was presented by the Canadian National Chapter of the Order, is the first of a Canadian woman to hang in the Archives Building. A portrait of Lady Aberdeen was unveiled here some years ago.

Tribute of Love and Affection.

"Through you, Your Excellency, as representing the person and dignity of the Crown, we, who are her spiritual daughters, render our humble and loyal homage, and our prayful thanks that he, whose honored servant you are, has been so far restored to health and strength again" said Mrs. Stewart. "And into your keeping . . . we give this memorial of our love and affection, to one, who was so largely responsible for preserving rich and undiminished, for us, much of that British heritage, in which the Canadian people are so truly blessed.

Mrs. Stewart said Mrs. Murray and her husband, Prof. J. Clark Murray, of Kingston, loved deeply the country that had become her's, and her husband's, and her children's, and held passionately that a British subject she was born and a British subject she would die.

Proud of Being British Subject.

Of Scottish birth, Mrs. Murray saw no indignity to Canada in a proud and passionate allegiance to the British Crown and the British Empire, Mrs. Stewart said, and likewise she perceived no disloyalty to British ideals in a sturdy and warm attachment to the young Dominion that she equally loved.

"It is only 29 years since Margaret Polson Murray's beliefs were put to a practical test," Mrs. Stewart continued, "and the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, founded in the City of Montreal, in that dark hour of sorrow, when the South African War seemed to decry, as fallacy, the faith in Empire that was this woman's creed. But abundantly did the years justify her dreams and abundantly has witness been borne to them, since her death." Mrs. Murray died in January, 1927.

FISH INDUSTRY TO BE AFFECTED

New U. S. Tariff Proposals Are Referred To As Most Drastic By Fish Dealer.

EXPECTS OPPOSITION.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 9 (C.P.).—That the fish tariff changes provided for in the bill presented to the United States House of Representatives by Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means committee would, if enacted, have a most serious effect on the export of fish from Nova Scotia, was the opinion given to-day by A. Handfield Whiman, managing director of Robin, Jones and Whitman, fish dealers. Speaking particularly of cod and haddock, Mr. Whitman termed the proposed increase in tariff from 1¼ to 2½ cents a pound, "a most drastic increase on a low priced article of food." The imposition of a duty of two dollars a barrel on herring under the Fordney Bill, he pointed out, had killed the export of that fish to the United States.

Mr. Whitman predicted strong protest against the passage of the Lawley bill, by consumers affected. Porto Rico would be particularly concerned, he said, since practically all the fish sold there, where fish is a favorite food, are exported from Canada and Newfoundland. About one-third the total catch of the Lunenburg fleet, he said, is sold in Porto Rico.

Local Jailbreaker Commences Eighth Day Hunger Strike

Jack Parks Is Sentenced To Five Years in Kingston Penitentiary On Charge of Stealing An Automobile, When He Appears in Police Court To-day.

FEAR IS EXPRESSED IN WINDSOR POLICE CIRCLES THAT PRISONER WILL COMMIT SUICIDE

Jail Physician Claims Man Is All Right and That He Will Start To Eat Sooner Or Later — Prisoner Says Food Is Terrible.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 9 (Special to The Examiner). — John Parks, 28, Peterborough jail breaker and so-called "bad man of Ontario," to-day was sentenced to five years in the Portsmouth Penitentiary at Kingston, by Magistrate David M. Brodie. He had pleaded guilty a week ago to the theft of an automobile from Oscar E. Fleming, K.C.

Parks, who to-day started the eighth day of his self-imposed fast at the Essex County Jail in Sandwich, has served two 'hitches" in Kingston, and "he's not going back again," he assured police officers to-day. Before his appearance in City Police Court he already had threatened to end his life rather than "go back to the big house," and the authorities suspect he may try the "starvation route" if jail officials should allow it.

But Parks furnished an explanation to-day, privately, for his hunger strike, which was started after he had been served his first meal in the county jail over a week ago.

Poor Menu in Jail.

Parks had checked in and out of many public institutions since he left Otterville twenty years ago, he said, but the Sandwich lock-up has them all beat—for a light and inferior menu. "Why, it's terrible, it's rotten," he explained with sharp disgust. "That mush they hand in a can in the morning is awful. I haven't eaten any of it, and I'm not going to."

This would explain, probably, why Parks started his hunger strike after his admittance to the county bastille eight days ago, but police suggest that the fast may be a preliminary attempt to keep out of the Kingston Penitentiary.

Parks has given repeated assurance that he will commit suicide, rather than return as a long term prisoner to Kingston. And it may be, police say, that the starvation idea has gathered in his mind as a good way to avoid the trip.

Eat Sooner Or Later.

Dr. H. R. Casgrain, jail physician, said to-day, however, "Parks is all right, he'll eat sooner or later. Don't worry. He can't fool me, and in any event he'll soon be off our hands.

"Anyhow, he could go without food for a while yet."

PRINCIPAL QUITS AFTER 12 YEARS

Head of Queen's University Tenders Resignation To Board of Trustees.

APPOINTED IN 1917.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—R. Bruce Taylor, for more than twelve years Principal of Queen's University, to-day submitted his resignation to the Board of Trustees of the University. It was regretfully accepted.

In his resignation, Principal Taylor states he had hoped to resign when he reached his 60th year, but circumstances had prevented this. He now desires to devote his time to literary work, he said

Mr. Taylor said he was quite prepared to carry on his work until his successor had been selected, "but I should like to be free from the strain of a large and exacting task and to give myself leisure that a busy, public life has denied me, for a little literary work."

Regisnation Accepted

In accepting the resignation, the board of trustees expressed its deep appreciation of his services to the University during his term of office and requested that he retain his post for such time as may be necessary to secure a suitable successor. The choice of a new principal was left to a committee, composed of trustees.

Born at Cardoss, Dumbartonshire Scotland, October 22, 1869, Robert Bruce Taylor received his early education at Sherbourne School, England, and the University of Glasgow.

BRITAIN WILL BE UNABLE TO ACCEPT TERMS

Reparation Proposals Foreshadowed in London Press Cannot Be Accepted, Says Churchill.

NOTHING OFFICIAL RECEIVED

Government Will Take No Action Until Committee Has Tendered Its Report.

LONDON, May 9 (Canadian Press). — Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons this afternoon that the kind of proposals foreshadowed on German reparations in the London press yesterday would be inacceptable to the Baldwin Cabinet. Under no circumstances would the Government entertain such proposals, Mr. Churchill declared.

Questioned by Labor.

Mr. Churchill had been asked by Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, Labor member, "whether the terms of reference of the Reparations Committee covered alterations in the Spa percentages, and further, whether Mr. Churchill has informed our representatives on the committee of the views of His Majesty's Government on these alterations."

Mr. Churchill replied: "The committee of experts now sitting in Paris is composed of independent representatives of the various countries concerned. We have, of course, kept in touch with British members throughout these protracted proceedings and have been impressed by their admirable grasp and comprehension of the whole position."

Reach Own Conclusions.

"The Experts Committee must be left to reach their own conclusions.

"These conclusions, whatever they may be, whether agreed to or not, in no way commit His Majesty's Government, which remains entirely free to review the whole position and take their own decision upon the work and the recommendations of the experts committee," declared Mr. Churchill.

"It is clear, therefore, that no urgency exists, and that it would be premature as well as inexpedient for His Majesty's Government to pronounce upon particular aspects, however important they may be, at the present juncture. In order to prevent misconception abroad and alarm at home, though, it is perhaps desirable that I should say that the kind of proposals which were foreshadowed in the newspapers yesterday would, in our opinion, be inacceptable and that His Majesty's Government would under no circumstances entertain them."

This announcement was greeted with cheers.

Wants Government Undertaking

In his answer, the Chancellor of the Exchequer was also replying to a question by Colonel Gretton, Conservative, as to whether the Government would undertake not to agree to any arrangement which would entail further or increased charges upon the British public.

Colonel Wedgwood pressed Mr. Churchill to answer whether the question of alternation in the Spa percentages were covered in the committee's terms of reference.

Mr. Churchall replied, that his answer had been most careful and gravely considered and that he did not desire to add to it in any way.

Arouses Feeling

News in the London press that changes in the percentages of German reparations allotted to the various Allied nations at Spa, Belgium, just after the war, were contemplated in the proposal of Owen D. Young for a final settlement of reparations at the Paris conference of experts, aroused great feeling yesterday.

Cabinet action of an official nature, such as Mr. Churchill's statement this afternoon, had been expected.

Official circles had hitherto maintained silence on the reparations negotiations. Labor members of the House of Commons yesterday demanded an explanation from the Government.

MEN WANTED IN OWEN SOUND ARRESTED BY QUEBEC POLICE

Brief Private Service Held For Great Soldier

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.). —Following a brief, private service in the modest little St. John's Garrison Church, the body of Sir William Dillon Otter was removed to the Armouries, where it will lie in state until ten o'clock to-night.

The service was for the family and personal friends of the gallant soldier, and was attended by members of the military headquarters staff. Rev. J. Russell Maclean, rector and garrison chaplain, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. Canon W. L. Baynes Reed, Rural eDan of Toronto.

Thug Who Beat Up Taxi Driver and Stole Car Caught Near Montreal.

TWO GIRLS ALONG..

Chauffeur Was Left Lying Helpless in Lonely Log Stable.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—Word reached Provincial Police headquarters at Queen's Park yesterday that Alfred Morton and Edward Earl both colored, wanted for hold-up and robbery of Clifford Potter, Owen Sound chauffeur, have been arrested by the Quebec provincial authorities, one hundred miles west of Montreal. In their possession at the time is reported to have been the car they took from Potter after they had gagged and trussed him and left him lying helpless in a lonely log stable northeast of Holland Centre.

Major-General Victor Williams Commissioner of the Ontario Force, has instructed District Inspector Rae of Kitchener to make arrangements to send officers and a matron to bring the pair back to Owen Sound, also the two young girls, one colored and the other white, who are alleged to have been in the men's company from the time they lured Potter to go for a ride, until they were tripped up, in flight, by the Quebec officers.

From the fact that the hold up of Potter was perpetrated about 8 o'clock the night of May 1, and that the chauffeur's car in the hands of his assailants crossed the Quebec boundary at St. Anne de Bellevue some time the following day, it is evi-

FREE SPEECH AND FREE PRESS DEBATED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Recent Action Against Finnish Newspaper Editor Objected to By Federal Members.

TRIBUTE TO FINNISH RACE.

Toronto Police Commission Also Comes in For Its Share of Criticism.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—The recent action against the editor of a Finnish newspaper in Sudbury, Ont., and the attitude of the Toronto Police Commission with respect to Communist meetings in that city brought on a debate in the House of Commons which took up most of yesterday afternoon's sitting. The right of free speech, free press, and free assembly was the principle at stake a number of members contended. While they were not in favor of Communism, they strenuously objected to any action that would suppress meetings in that cause.

The Finnish paper in Sudbury whose editor had been convicted of seditious libel, did not represent the opinion of the Finnish population of Northern Ontaria, E. A. Lapierre (Liberal, Nipissing) stated. He paid a tribute to the Finnish people of that part of the province and was supported in this by Mack Lang (Liberal, Temiskaming South).

Except in a few districts perhaps, Canada had freedom of speech and assembly, Miss Agnes Macphail (Progressive, Southeast Grey) said, but questioned whether it had a free press. There was, however, greater freedom of speech in Great Britain than there was in Canada, and it would be well for Canadians to follow the British Empire rather than the example furnished by the United States.

No Comment Coming From Hon. T. A. Crerar

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (C.P.). —Hon. T. A. Crerar, President of the United Grain Growers, Limited, declined to-day to comment on the recent slump in prices on the grain market.

"I have nothing to say," Mr. Crerar declared, when approached in the matter. Mr. Crerar would not make any statement either on the congestion of grain in the elevators at Port Colborne and Montreal. "I am in the capital in connection with the return of natural resources to Manitoba," he added. Mr. Crerar is a member of the commission appointed some months ago by the Dominion Government to deal with the question of handing back the natural resources to the Western provinces.

Flag Trampling Episode At Timmins Is Denied By Officers Investigating

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—(Canadian Press).—Following an investigation by District Inspector Moore and Constable Hartleib, of the Provincial Police, the Attorney-General's department has reached the conclusion there was no foundation in fact for the recent report from Timmins, Ont., that Communists, had seized a Union Jack from the school, torn it up and stamped upon it in the streets

Inspector Moore reported that on the contrary the situation has not been better for a long time with regard to "Red" activities in Timmins. He said he had never seen a quieter May Day in Timmins than last May 1.

In his report, Inspector Moore quotes the Timmins Chief of Police as stating he belived the story was merely circulated by some agitator who wished to create ill-feeling in the town's foreign section as a prelude to May Day demonstrations.

Flight Over North Polar Region Being Proposed For Graf Zeppelin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9. — (C.P.) — In addition to being groomed for a round-the-world trip this summer, the Graf Zeppelin is destined to show its silver sides to the white wastelands of the Arctic before another year has passed.

The International Society for the Exploration of the Arctic Regions by means of aircraft, has entered into a contract for the use of the big ship for an expedition from Leningrad to either Nome or Fairbanks by way of the North Polar regions The trip will take place in April or May of 1930.

John A. Fleming, vice-president of the American section of the Society, and an eminent scientist, has written to the War Department outlining the project and requesting assistance of the American Government in providing adequate landing equipment in Alaska.

Liberals Are Charged With Sabotage

MANY SEATS BEING GIVEN TO SOCIALISTS

Churchill Accuses Liberals of Helping to Create a Deadlock.

HOPING FOR CONTROL.

Chancellor Declares Moscow Is Working Day and Night To Destroy Empire.

LONDON, May 9 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, last night charged the Liberals with sabotaging scores of parliamentary seats and delivering them to the Socialists. He spoke in Glasgow and his speech was relayed to a number of other centres.

He spoke of the dangerous conspiracy against the well-being of this country," and said the Liberal Party having done its best to exaggerate the question of unemployment, was now running 500 candidates, of whom only 60 or 70 would be returned.

"All the others are simply put forward in order to confuse and baffle the voters in 430 or 440 constituencies," he declared, "and in the great b[illegible] of the cases their men will lose their deposits. They are doing it with the deliberate object of producing a Parliament in which no party can have a majority. They are doing it with the object of being able to put undue pressure first on the Conservatives and then, if that fails, on the Socialists.

"Is that the kind of government we wish to aim at or which we require for the well-being of the nation? I cannot conceive a greater misfortune than that the country should be, as it were, held up to auction in that way. The Liberals justify themselves when they are criticized in this respect by saying the electoral law is unfair to them.

"I have not denied their grievance, but I say their grievance, no matter how high you put it, does not justify them in sabotaging scores of seats and delivering them to the Socialists."

Mr. Churchill compared the Liberals with a ruffian who throws a brick through a plate-glass window in order to draw attention to the fact he is unemployed.

An Unjustifiable Action.

"It is an unjustifiable action," he added, "a breach of moral faith, although it may not be amenable under legal process. No plan to injure the Empire could be better than that for which the Opposition parties and especially the Liberals are working

ESCAPE FROM INDUSTRIAL FARM

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 9. (C.P.) —Roland Cecutti and Romeo Duprath, alias Deprato, inmates of the Burwash Industrial Farm, yesterday made a break for liberty by slipping into the bush while their comrades were being assigned to the work for the day.

Cecutti's freedom, however was short lived as he was captured within a few hours. Duprath, however, was still at large last night.

WESTERN WHEAT POOLS REFUSE TO ACCEPT BLAME FOR BLOCKADE

Officials Deny Allegation Made By Montreal Grain Men.

MALCOLM SPEAKS.

Pool Officers Are Not Prepared To Sacrifice Interests of Growers.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9 (Canadian Press). — If Western wheat pools are blamed for the grain blockade at Port Colborne and Montreal they are not concerned at the situation in which they are found. But they refuse to be made the goats, according to pool officials' statements yesterday in answer to the Montreal allegations.

"We could mitigate the situation if we wanted to sell our grain at a sacrifice," commented a senior official, "but we refuse to make our farmers pay for a situation that is not our fault. Don't misunderstand. We are selling a certain amount—we are not refusing sales."

"The world surplus is not our making. There is an enormous amount of grain in the world, and the buying is not exactly brisk. If we wanted to take sacrifice prices we could move the stuff, but we don't intend to penalize our farmers by doing it.

"Why should we relieve the congestion for everybody's benefit but our own? Montreal officials can blame whom they like—we refuse to be the goats."

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9 (Canadian Press). — The congestion of grain in the elevator at Port Colborne was partly due to the fact the large grain carriers were filling the elevator and there was a scarcity at the moment of small-size boats to carry grain through the 14-foot canal, Hon. Jame Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated in the House of Commons yesterday. In addition it was said, Mr. Malcolm proceeded, a large quantity of Argentine grain was entering the European market and thereby curtailing the demand for the Canadian product, which caused congestion at the seaport.

STONE CUTTERS BACK AT WORK

Agreement Is Reached Between Union and the Employers.

BOTH YIELD GROUND.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—A settlement of the stone-cutters strike, involving some 110 members of the striking Stone Cutters' Union, was reached yesterday afternoon at a meeting between delegates of the organization and the committee appointed by the union to negotiate for an agreement.

Terms of the new agreement show that both the employers and the men have yielded ground, insofar as the men insisted on the 40-hour week and a raise, but now were satisfied with a raise and the 44-hour week. In the two-year agreement now consummated the hourly wage is raised from $1.12½ to $1.20 for the first year while the second year will bring the men another five cents increase per hour.

The Weather

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (Canadian Press).—The weather is fair in all provinces, with a slight tendency towards higher temperature in Ontario and Manitoba, while elsewhere temperature is about normal. Pressure is high over the central portion of the continent, while a shallow depression is centred off the South Atlantic Coast. Pressure is also low from Alberta southward.

Forecasts.

Lower Lake Regions — Moderate winds; fair to-day and Friday, becoming a little warmer.

Georgian Bay and Northern Ontario—Moderate winds; fair with stationary or slightly higher temperature to-day and Friday.

Superior—Light to moderate winds; fair with stationary or slightly higher temperature. Friday — Easterly winds; partly cloudy and mild.

Manitoba — Southerly winds; fair and a little warmer. Friday—Partly cloudy with probably a few light showers in southern districts.

COKE COMPANIES FORM MERGER

Toronto and Hamilton Financiers Acquire Control of Ontario Coke and Gas Supplies.

EXPECT DEVELOPMENTS.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—(C.P.)—Acquisition of control of the coke and gas supplies of the Hamilton, Chatham, Border Cities and Sarnia districts by a group of Toronto and Hamilton financiers, was indicated by the announcement made yesterday that Arthur F. White, vice-president of the Dominion Securities Corporation, Limited, Toronto, has been appointed directorate of the Union Natural Gas Company of Canada, Limited, of Chatham, Ont.

This appointment, it is learned, signalizes the marshalling of a total capitalization of $42,000,000 under the virtual control of the Dominion Securities Corporation and the United Fuel Investment Company, Limited, of Hamilton, Ont.

Control of the entire coke and gas field of Western Ontario is the goal to which these interests are working it was learned last night from an authoritative source Further development are expected in the near future.

CREW SIGHTS BODY.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 8. (C.P.) — Members of the crew of the Canada Steamship Lines Steamer Ignifer, which docked here last night, reported sighting a body floating between Coalbath Shoal and the foot of Wolfe Island, about ten miles from Kingston, last Thursday. Owing to a terrific gale which was blowing at the time, the crew was unable to recover the body. No one is reported missing from this district.

WILL ATTEMPT SWEDISH FLIGHT

Bert Hassell Announces Second Attempt To Fly to Sweden.

NINE REFUELING POINTS.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 8.— (Canadian Press.) — Another flight to Sweden from the Middlewest is being planned by Bert Hassell, Rockford, Ills., aviator, he announced to-day.

Hassell, who piloted the "Greater Rockford" on its projected Rockford-to-Sweden flight last summer and was forced down in the snow fields of Greenland, declared his next flight would be over a route with nine refueling points. Paying freight or express will replace oversize gasoline tanks which would be required on a non-stop flight he said.

Hassell predicted that within five years airplanes with "pay loads' will fly regularly between Copenhagen and Chicago. The route from the Middlewest north-eastward through Canada to Iceland and Greenland, thence to the European mainland, is the safest possible to Europe, he said, with its longest stretch over water being only 600 miles.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Two Cars Meet at Intersection of Hamilton and Toronto Highway.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 9 (Canadian Press).—Five persons were injured, one seriously, when two cars collided last night at the intersection of the Toronto and Hamilton Highway and the Watertown Road, at Aldershot, Ont.

Those hurt and removed to hospital were: Mary Michalux, Hamilton, suffering from concussion and internal injuries; Seena Michalux, Hamilton; Florence Ballardo, Hamilton; Joseph Panck, Hamilton, and George Kenarziuk, Partonville, Ont., who was driving one of the cars.

The other car was driven by Edward Wassell, Toronto. According to the police, the persons injured were all driving in Kenarziuk's car.

The accident occurred, it is stated, when Wassell, in attempting to pass another car, crashed into the one driven by Kenarziuk.

DAIRYMEN ARE HIT SEVERELY

Hon. John S. Martin Says Producers Will Be Shut Out of U. S. By Tariff.

EXPORT TO ENGLAND.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.),—The dairying industry in Ontario will be hit severely by the new United States tariff revision if ratified by the United States Senate. Canadian cream and milk producers will be shut out of the United States market, Ontario and Quebec especially suffering. This is the opinion of Hon. John S. Martin, Ontario Minister of Agriculture.

United States dairymen, anticipating the rise in the tariff on cream, and realizing that the American dairy farms could not meet the demand for cream, have been buying up Canadian dairy cattle during the past year, according to Mr. Martin.

The only recourse of the Ontario dairymen, Mr. Martin said, will be to make cheese and butter of the cream which is now being exported to the United States. It will be necessary, he continued, for them to concentrate on the British market with cheese and butter. The British market would be the only one open to them, he said.

PROTEST BAIL TO BANK THUGS

Three Men Wanted For Beamsville Bank Robbery Are Released On Bail.

LODGED WITH CONSUL.

TORONTO, May 9. (CP.)—Protest against the admission to bail at Brockton, Mass., of three men held there on a charge of being implicated in the Beamsville, Ont., bank robbery last month, was lodged last night by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, with the British Consul at Boston.

Deputy Commissioner Cuddy of the Criminal Investigation Department here, who on Tuesday sent the telegram asking for the arrest of the three men, received a message yesterday that the three had been taken into custody, and then released on bail of $15,000 each. Mr. Cuddy conferred with the Attorney-General who took the matter of a protest up with the British Consul at Boston.

REBEL LEADER SURRENDERS.

MEXICO CITY, May 9.—Government official reports to-day said the rebel General Corochea, with 56 men, surrendered to Federals at Santiago De Los Caballeros, Sinaloa.

Present Wheat Situation Has No Bearing On Relations Between Banks And Farmers

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.)— The present wheat situation has little, if any, bearing on the relations of the farmers and the banks of Canada and will bring about no change in the financing of the wheat crop, A. E. Phipps, chairman of the Canadian Bankers' Association and President of the Imperial Bank, said here last night. Other factors, besides financing are causing the present difficulty in marketing the wheat surplus and the congestion at the elevators, he said. The financing of the surplus, which is causing the difficulty, has been completed.

Mr. Phipps' statement follows:

"Since 1910 the Bank Act has provided that banks can obtain as securities thrashed grain, stored in granaries and on farms, and the banks do not hesitate to make such loans to responsible farmers. With reference to the present congestion, the difficulty seems to be lack of purchases abroad and a shortage of ships to carry away our grain. The difficulty obviously was not occasioned by the farmers not having facilities for holding their grain.

All the gain marketed last fall had gone forward and has been disposed of. The grain causing congestion is winter marketed grain, which goes forward to the opening of navigation, but which has not found purchasers nor ships to carry it away. This is no fault of the banks, and therefore it would not seem necessary to consider alterations in the relations between the banks and farmers."

1,000 LAYMEN TO VISIT CANADA

TORONTO, May 9. (C.P.)—Canada will be visited by more than 1000 members of the British Free church pilgrimage, drawn from the ranks of laymen fr. Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational circles of the Old Country, next month.

The party will arrive at Quebec on June 8, and will visit Montreal, Toronto, the Niagara Peninsula, Hamilton and Kingston. They will also take a trip through the Thousand Islands, and finally embark on June 16 for England.

The trip is being sponsored by the United Church in Canada.

STOLE FIVE AUTOMOBILES.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 9. (C P.)—A 13-year-old boy has been arrested and confessed to having stolen five automobiles in this district within the past few days. Three companions, seven, nine and eleven, were allowed to go with a warning.

Magistrate Fraser heard the case yesterday, but has not yet decided what to do with the chief offender. The boy stated that he learned to drive a car only two weeks ago.

TO IMPROVE HIGHWAY.

ENGLEHART, Ont., May 9. (C.P.)—Work on the Ferguson Highway this season not only will result in a number of improvements along the route but will bring about an extension far to the west of Cochrane, Ont. It is expected that before the end of the summer it will be possible for motorists to drive from Southern Ontario to Hearst, Ont., nearly 650 miles from Toronto.

Constipation saps vitality

ONCE body poisons start their deadly work, we begin to show its ravages. Most of us suffer from the effects of faulty elimination. Are you beginning to lose your beauty—your charm?

Your doctor will tell you that the habit of eating insufficient roughage in the diet is a frequent cause of constipation. Don't be a victim.

Eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly. Here is a delicious roughage food. Eaten every day, it will act as a great aid to regularity. You'll revel in the wonderful goodness of brown, crisp-toasted flakes, tempting and appetizing.

Cases of recurrent constipation associated with too little bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference

Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer.

Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal, with milk or cream. You will find it as delicious as it is effective.

Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel, and that you have been "regular" all the time.

But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity.

Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers, in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat.

Wholesale dealers are quoting for potatoes on track, Toronto, the following prices: Ontario, bag, 66c; do., bulk, 52c; New Brunswick Grade A, bag, 90c; do., bulk, 85c; Prince Edward Island, bag, $1.00.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 9.—Receipts of fresh eggs were heavy on the wholesale produce market yesterday, and quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, held steady at the following range: Fresh extras, 28c per dozen; firsts, 26c and seconds 23c per dozen. The demands of the retail trade were not very active, and most of the supply received was placed in storage. Production throughout the country is steadily increasing, and the indications are that large shipments are billed for the local market this week. Large dealers reported that they are only accepting eggs that they have been previously committed to, and the feeling exists that prices will have to move to lower levels before storing becomes active again.

Butter Prices Lower.

Trading was slightly more active in wholesale butter circles, and dealers are taking every advantage to deplete their supplies of New Zealand stock. Domestic production is increasing daily and supplies from this source are sufficient to take care of the consumptive demand.

Quotations were reduced fractionally, and No. 1 finest creamery was sold at 36c per lb., with No. 2 grade 1 cent lower. Quotations to the retail trade were unchanged.

The cheese market was quiet, and prices were steady at the previous day's level.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Huge export buying of North American wheat did much yesterday to turn the wheat market here sharply upgrade. Advances of nearly 3c a bushel were scored although not until most deliveries had gone under any low price record touched heretofore this season. After the Chicago market closed it was estimated that the North American wheat export business yesterday totalled as high as 5,000,000 bushels.

Closing prices here for wheat were firm at 7-8c to 3-4c gain, with corn 1-2c to 1 1-8c up, oats 1-4c to 3-8c to 1-2c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 45c.

Some uncertainty characterized the course of the Chicago wheat market yesterday just at the start, a severe fresh setback in Liverpool quotations having a temporary disconcerting influence. Momentary new declines here carried prices to almost 10c below figures which were current last week, but at this stage brisk buying of future deliveries sprang up, and the Chicago market took a strongly independent course, advancing throughout the remainder of tne day, despite the radical new bearish action of traders at Liverpool

Market Strengthens.

Most Chicago traders appeared to be proceeding on the basis that for at least the time being every depressing influence has been more than allowed for and that rallies were overdue. Besides advices were at hand that foreigners had asked for export offers, and were anticipating renewal of purchases for millers abroad. There was also talk that new domestic rail rates would tend to diminish the wheat price difference between southwestern markets and Chicago, and would thus exert a strengthening influence.

Although persistent reports of the presence of Hessian fly in southern Illinois, Indiana and Missouri also were given attention, the outstanding feature as the day drew to an end was increasing evidence of better export call for wheat from North America, including some domestic hard winter wheat. The fact that the United States government crop report due this afternoon was counted also in some quarters as a help toward higher prices.

Corn and Oats Stronger.

Corn and oats were responsive to wheat strength, together with buying which was linked to assertions that the proposed tariff changes would benefit the corn market. Cash demand for corn was excellent, today's arrivals of corn at all points being light.

Provisions averaged higher, reflecting upturns in the value of hogs.

DELEGATION ASKS COUNCIL TO CLOSE PAVILION AT TRENT RIVER

Action Will Take Form of Investigation—Will Not Grant License.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

Seymour Council Decides To Renew Indemnity Policy For Another Term.

CAMPBELLFORD, My 9 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Trent Bridge dancing pavilion, indemnity insurance, and several other smaller matters, together ith a long list of accounts totalling more than twelve hundred dollars, were the features of the May meeting of the Seymour Council held in their rooms, Ferris Block, on Monday afternoon of this week.

All the members of the Council were present and when the minutes of the preceding meeting had been dealt with, the Reeve asked for anyone who wished to interview the council. Matthew Sedgwick and six others formed a delegation from the township asking the council to close the dancing pavilion at Trent Bridge this coming season. For the present at least, the action of the council will be in the form of investigation. This was done of motion of councillors Rutherford and Milne. During this period, no license will be granted.

After hearing the address of Mr. Bain, the council decided to renew its idemnity policy for another term. Reeve Houten of Cavan addressd the council in the interests of electric power for the rural districts. Mr. Turnbull demonstrated the Adams Leaning Wheel Grader. George Anderson presented the school report which was placed on file. Henry Rogers request was granted. The list of lands liable to be sold for taxes was presented and the clerk instructed to forward it to the counties clerk. This concluded the business of the meeting with the exception of the list of accounts which was ordered paid.

RESULTS ARE FOUND FROM ADVERTISING

3,600 Entries Were Recently Sent in Answer to Competition Promoted.

At the Thirty-second Annual General Meeting of Bovril Ltd., held recently at River Plate House, Finsbury-circus, London, this is what the chairman, Sir George Lawson Johnston said in his speech about the value of advertising.

"It is not exactly how much you spend on advertising that counts — any one can waste money on it—but how effective you are. Bad advertising is a waste of money to the advertiser, and the papers must appreciate people who can advertise well enough to get results; if profits are not earned, the advertising cannot last. Probably the most certain way to waste money is to attempt to advertise a bad article. If your produce does not advertise itself to the consumer and his friends once he has used it, your advertising expenditure is not likely to be very lucrative.

"In a competition recently promoted by one of our papers to encourage amateur advertisers no fewer than 3,600 entries for Bovril advertisements were sent in. Some of the suggestions we have used in our publicity work; some we have not, although they have given us a good deal of private amusement. One suggestion, accompanied by an appropriate sketch, showed a Bovril bottle knocking the letter "L" out of the word "influenza." Another design depicted Samson reclining in his tent asleep, with Deliah standing beside him holding a large bottle of Bovril in her hand, listening to the voice of a Philistine outside urging her to "leave his hair, Delilah, but take his Bovril."

"Twenty thousand pounds has again been allocated to staff pension fund purposes — a somewhat smaller amount going to the older contributors' fund, and a somewhat larger amount to the general fund, than was the case last year."

THE TORONTO CONTINGENT.

There is evidently no need of worrying about Toronto's representation in Peterborough's Old Home Week.

With such live-wires as Frank O'Connor, Will O'Brien and Charlie Sisson supplying active leadership, the former Peterborough citizens now residing in the Queen City can be counted upon to play an important part in the activities of the gala week.

The Toronto contingent are planning to do the thing right.

They will bring a crack band with them and will lose no opportunity of testifying to the fact that they are glad to do honor to the old home town.

Peterborough has made a material contribution to the development of Toronto.

Former residents of this city are prominent in many fields of activity in Ontario's capital, in business, in the world of finance, in the professions, and generally.

Sir Joseph Flavelle, E. R. Wood, H. C. Cox and Frank O'Connor are outstanding figures in Toronto's financial and business world, and scores of other ex-Peterboroughians are holding important positions.

Most of them will be back for Old Home Week, and the old town will be glad to welcome them.

EMPIRE SHOPPING WEEK.

Added interest in the Empire Shopping Week in Canada campaign will be furnished by the publication of the new United States tariff proposals.

It looks as if this year Canada will spend $2 in the United States for $1 spent by our neighbors for Canadian goods.

With such an adverse trade balance and with Uncle Sam raising his tariff against a number of Canadian products, the people of this country are in a frame of mind to welcome suggestions that our trade should be extended in other directions, and our purchasing activities transferred to other markets.

A drive to encourage the purchase of Canadian-made articles and, when this is not possible, the buying of products of other portions of the British Empire, will have a peculiar appeal this year, and there is every reason to feel confident that trade within the Empire will be greatly stimulated by the nation-wide campaign during the week of May 25-June 1.

It is expected that Peterborough organizations, manufacturers and merchants will cheerfully co-operate in making the Empire Shopping Week a real education in the desirability of greater purchasing of Canadian goods and Empire products generally.

RADIO ADVERTISING.

Most Canadians will agree with Sir John Aird, chairman of the Canadian Royal Radio Commission, that a good deal of the advertising from United States stations which listeners-in on this side of the line have to hear should be eliminated if at all possible.

Undoubtedly this widespread boosting of American-made products through the medium of radio works to the disadvantage of the Canadian manufacturer, and the reference of the commission's chairman to the question will be regarded as significant.

It is to be hoped that as a result of the efforts of his colleagues and himself some progress will be made in the desired direction, and that this country in the future will not be so badly flooded with this form of American advertising.

At the same time it must be remembered that it is the merit of United States programs and the ability of United States stations to penetrate to all points of Canada that cause Canadians to listen night after night to these programs.

Until Canadian programs equal the United States article in worth and Canadian stations are powerful enough to ensure good reception everywhere in the Dominion, it is useless to talk about eliminating American advertising.

And that condition cannot be brought about by giving full time on the air to obsolete and low-powered Canadian broadcasting units and compelling more powerful stations to accept part time.

THE U. S. TARIFF PROPOSALS.

While the new American tariff schedule brought down by the Ways and Means Committee does not hit Canadian producers as a whole as hard as was anticipated in some quarters, it nevertheless must be regarded as a heavy blow.

The dairy farmers of the East will be greater sufferers than their stock-raising brethren of the West, inasmuch as the new tariff proposals are a general step-up in the duties on dairy products, while the expected raise in the duties on stocker cattle have not materialized.

The schedule must have been read with a sigh of relief in the Western Provinces, for Canada shipped some 400,000 head of light cattle over the border last year, and a high tariff on such cattle would have been severely felt in the Canadian West.

The increase in the duty on dairy products is substantial, particularly on cream and milk, the tariff on the former climbing to 48c a gallon, as compared with 20c, and on the latter being doubled at 5c a gallon.

These duties will probably prove almost prohibitive, while exports of certain meats will also be materially effected if the new schedule becomes law.

A Canadian industry that will be materially hurt by the proposed changes will be that of shingle-making, the 25 per cent. and valorem duty advocated on shingles being regarded as a serious blow in view of the fact that 75 per cent. of the shingles manufactured in British Columbia have hitherto been shipped to the United States.

At first glance, at least, the remark made by Tom King in a special despatch to the Globe, that "the best that can be said for the tariff bill is that it might be worse," seems to be an accurate size-up of the tariff situation.

CALLING UP THE TWENTIETH CENTURY.

It was inevitable that train telephone service would soon be perfected, once the wireless telephone was. The Canadian National Railroad has made a satisfactory demonstration of the ability of a passenger on one of its fliers to talk to some one in an office in Toronto. The next perfection will be a telephone chat from one moving train to another, and spoken communication between boat and shore, and between boat and boat, will come shortly thereafter.

Seekers for relaxation through travel will shudder at this new annihilation of distance and isolation. Soon, being on a fast train or boat will not mean to be out of reach even for a brief period. These protestants against the remorseless march of science in putting every one in the world within hearing distance of every one else may as well give up hope. The only way they can escape being located by telephone will be to give false names on passenger lists.

The American business man, by virtue of such inventions, comes more and more to glory. Forced to break off an important telephone conversation in his office because of the necessity of rushing for a train or a liner, he can say—and love to say it—"Ring me up in fifteen minutes, Bill, Cabin 672, aboard the Ile de France. Or to-morrow will do just as well. Don't call me before 9 a.m. your time." If the practice spreads, and the costs are at all reasonable, the Twentieth Century Limited will probably have to devote one car entirely to telephone booths.—New York Times.

MR. HOOVER AND CRIME.

Some days ago, Mr. Hoover courageously faced the unpleasant duty of telling his own people that the United States has a worse record for crime than any other civilized nation. In doing this, he pointed out that many times as many murders are committed in the Republic as in Great Britain or any other European country. He attempted to trace the causes of a condition which grows acute with the years and he lamented that such a small proportion of the culprits had ever been brought to punishment. He called for such a reformation and tightening up of the country's legal and penal machinery as might at least place a check upon such evil tendencies. Inferentially he may be represented as wishing to lift the Republic toward the level of Canada and the British Isles.

Some years ago the editor of a law journal published in Rochester, N. Y., wrote that the record of crime in the United States had gone on increasing in volume, until it had made Americans conspicuously alone among the so-called civilized nations of the world. Then he added—"Only a penal colony to which all the rest of the world transported its worst criminals should show such an appalling list of crimes as are committed in this enlightened nation. . . . This nation stands far below the worst of all other nations in its horrible record of crime."

About the same time, the Alabama Bar Association gave statistics to show the number of homicides committed in various parts of the United States annually, as compared with the record of the city of London. These statistics revealed that in proportion to the population, murders were twelve times as numerous in New York as in London, seventy-five times as numerous in California as in London, and in Nevada two hundred and forty-five times as numerous as in London. Even then, Chicago had a high record for crime, which has grown steadily worse with the development of wholesale gangster warfare, and the interjection of machine guns in street battles. Detroit assesses a similarly unsavory record. Not long ago a New York City judge declared the United States to be "the most lawless country on earth." An official statement by the Prudential Trust Company recently alleged that the American death rate has doubled in twenty-four years, and that the United States has 10,000 homicides in a year, compared with less than 200 in England and Wales. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company put out a report of a similar character.

Why is Great Britain so much more highly civilized than the United States, and why is Canada, living alongside of the Republic, comparatively free from crimes of violence? According to an American writer,

> "The great deterrent to the taking of human life in England and Canada is the swiftness and sureness of justice and of the gallows, as a natural penalty for murder. Inevitability of punishment makes the criminal fear the law and the courts. The protection of society given by the death penalty, plus the certainty that the evil-doer will be punished, as exemplified in Canada and Great Britain, is something that the sentimentalists and others in the United States have never been able to explain away."

There is, of course, more than this behind Canada's immunity from excesses of crimes. Firstly, there is the fact that the British and French stocks which form the basis of our population have not yet been over-diluted by other strains. Secondly, there is the circumstance that British traditions of justice still hold full sway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and even to the Arctic Circle, whence single members of the Royal Mounted Police retrieve fugitive murderers. Lastly, in this Dominion we are still largely imbued with those high ideals of culture and civilization and civil and religious freedom for which Britain has always stood and from which the American Republic cut itself off over one hundred and fifty years ago. This is not to deny that the United States contains millions of as fine people as are to be found on the face of the earth. The trouble is that it also embraces so many of the other kind of which Mr. Hoover complains.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Attorney-General says that all drunken drivers should be jailed for 30 days. It is to be hoped the magistrates will agree with that opinion.

Sixty truck-owners charged with overloading their vehicles have been fined in the Mimico highway court. They're not as lucky as some of the owners in this district.

"The cream in my coffee" is going to cost the United States consumer something if he continues to use the Canadian article.

It is estimated that twelve million United States tourists will visit Ontario this summer. Peterborough's Old Home Week will doubtless claim a share of the credit for the increase.

"It is idle to suppose that the era of the automobile and the airplane will bring no benefits to a system organized in the days of the pioneer's ox-cart," says the Toronto Globe referring to the unsatisfactory conditions in Ontario's rural school system.

The Mexican revolution is a running business, but not exactly a going concern.—Dayton Journal.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

(C. McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1929

This is another fortunate day according to astrology which finds that benefic aspects are strong.

It is a most auspicious sway for those who are brain-workers and should benefit educators, lawyers, the clergy and statesmen.

While the direction of the stars seems to presage the upsetting of traditions and the ignoring of old standards it is most favorable to progress, the seers declare.

Farmers may have setbacks, owing to unfavorable weather, but all the planetary influences appear favorable and they may expect scientific relief from unsatisfactory conditions.

Women may discover that the direction of the stars under this configuration is not altogether favorable to them.

It is a most unlucky rule for love affairs since faults are strikingly apparent while this sway prevails.

This is not auspicious for making new friends or for making a good impression on old acquaintances.

Newspapers again seem to be subject to the most favorable rule of the stars. Again it is prognosticated that they will chronicle much sensational news in 1929.

Writers of every sort are to profit in the evolution of the world from this point where education is to be more general than ever before.

Russia comes under a planetary government seemingly favorable to the development of the nation. Schools and colleges will multiply, it is forecast.

Changes of government in certain European countries again are prognosticated. Broken treaties are indicated.

Albania and Italy are subject to adverse and sinister aspects presaging serious troubles, it is foreshadowed.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of good fortune through new plans. There may be unexpected business journeys.

Children born on this day probably will be keen of mind and original in ideas. The subjects of this sign are ingenious and resourceful in using their intelligence.

James Gordon Bennett, newspaper publisher, was born on this date, 1841. Others who claimed it as a birthday were Clement Biddle, "Quaker Soldier", 1730, and Charles Greene Sawtelle, soldier, 1834.

CRUSHED STONE NOT A MENACE IF PROPERLY APPLIED

May 7th, 1929.

To Editor of Examiner.

Dear sir:

The writer of the article in the Monday night's paper in reference to crushed stone, surely must be one who is in some manner responsible for placing these tire devils on this road, or else a stockholder in some thriving tire company for anyone who has driven a car over this road once, hesitates before taking the second chance unless absolutely necessary.

This menace is as much to horse-drawn vehicles as it is to autos and a very great danger for anyone walking along the side of this road when passing a car.

I do not agree that the stone which was placed on this road two years has carried the load any more satisfactory than properly gravelled road and the piece of road in question at the present time is full of chuck holes and in very poor condition.

It must be agreed that a mistake has been made in placing this uncrushed stone on this road, and the surface as soon as it is dry almost becomes impregnable, and any alibis of persons defending such a mistake will not satisfy anyone who has to use this road even occasionally.

The writer has talked to a great many people who live on, and others who use this road, and they all are agreed that it has been a poor policy to put this unrolled and uncovered stone on this road.

Just imagine placing cracked stone on a hard surface road, the same as George street, and you can very well imagine how long it would be before it was in the gutters and after the Keene road is dried out it is very comparable.

Twice to my knowledge in the last month the roadscraper has scraped these stones back in the centre of the road and at the present time the wheel tracks are entirely free of stone and my critic of Monday night's paper takes issue that these stones were not thrown in the gutter but if this would be "Wheel Barrow Pusher" started out to gather up the stones at the same bending of his back, he could pick up the stones from where they are or in the gutter.

If anyone will take the trouble to notice, the poor parts of the road are where the drainage at the side is the poorest and if these ditches were opened up, less work would have to be done in the centre of the road.

Perhaps the writer of the article Monday night was one who furnished the rough field stones which are taken off the good farming land to make this crushed stone out of. If so, it was surely to his advantage to get rid of them.

I believe in all seriousness that the owners of cars and horses should be given some consideration and that this stone is not scraped back in the centre of the road to be thrown out again this summer.

This crushed stone could be used to very good advantage in filling up these mud pout holes, which our "Wheel Barrow Pusher" speaks of.

It is with the object in view, of getting this road back in the same condition as it was two years ago that this article is suggested.

Life Steps In

By RUBY M. AYRES

"Oh, he said the usual thing. That it wasn't his nature to make a fuss of any woman—that he'd never said anything to a woman in his life that was worth repeating. I'm sure that's true, too." Mollie added with a sigh, pulling out a powder puff and dabbing her nose. "You know before we were married I thought he was such a romantic person—queer how one changes, isn't it?"

Ana made no answer; in memory she was once more with Anthony Hambledon, listening to the stumbling explanation of his love for her which had sounded like wonderful music—and to his one flight of eloquence.

> Ask me no more, thy fate and mine are sealed.
> I strove against the stream but all in vain——

Had he forgotten, she wondered bitterly? Had he ever really been sincere? When she looked at Mollie and listened to her it seemed impossible that the man who had pleaded with her so passionately was Mollie's husband. Ana somehow never thought of Anthony as a married man; it seemed absurd that he could belong to any woman other than herself. And yet—he was married, and this pretty, charmingly dressed woman was his wife and the mother of his son.

"What are you thinking about?" Mollie asked suddenly. "Do you know, Ana, you look quite different, somehow—you look as if you've had some frightful trouble."

"How absurd—nothing so exciting ever comes my way."

"No, I suppose not." Mollie glanced round the room. "What will you do with all these ornaments and things?" she asked.

"Give some away and destroy the rest, I suppose."

"Wouldn't Miss Sawyer be angry?" Mollie said in an awed little voice.

Ana shivered. "Yes, I hope she doesn't know. I should hate to hurt her."

"I don't suppose she ever minded how much she hurt you," Mollie said bluntly. She looked round for her coat. "Well, can I tell Anthony it's settled?"

"Settled?"

"Yes, that you will come and live with us while he is away. I know he would be much happier in his mind about me if you were there. You know, Ana, he's really awfully jealous, though he tried to hide it."

"Is he? Then I wonder he leaves you at Lyme so near Ralph Mahon."

CHAPTER XXXV.

Mollie laughed rather forcedly.

"Oh, Ralph has gone. Phillis got worse again, or she said she did, but I really think she wanted to take Ralph away from me. They've gone to the south of France, anyway."

"Oh!"

"I missed them awfully at first, of course," Mollie went on, with a little sigh. "But there'll always be Ralph Mahons in the world for me, I suppose; there always have been."

"Do you tell—Anthony that?" Ana asked harshly.

"Of course not! And I only tell you because I know you're so safe. You never did repeat things I told you, even at school."

"You asked me not to."

"I know, I've asked other people not to as well, but they gossip all the same."

Ana moved restlessly.

"Look here, Mollie," she said suddenly. "I don't think I'll come. It's kind of you to ask me, but I don't think it would do."

Mollie flushed.

"You mean that you can't forget that row we had?"

Ana frowned in distaste.

"Don't say things like that."

Tears flowed down Mollie's carefully powdered cheeks.

"You are unkind. I've asked you to forgive me. I've said I am sorry. What more can I do? I'm really very fond of you, and I hate you to be lonely all the time."

Ana smiled. She knew exactly how much Mollie's consideration was worth.

"I shouldn't be lonely," she answered. "Jessica—another woman I know, has offered to let me share a flat with her. Besides—Tom Drake has asked me to marry him," she added rather defiantly.

"I knew it!" Mollie's eyes were triumphant. "I told Anthony down at Lyme that Drake was after you. Ana, are you going to have him?"

"I don't know."

"Has he got any money?"

"Not very much, I think."

"Don't have him, then. Marriage is rotten if you're poor—it's not much catch, anyway, from what I can see"—Mollie made a little grimace. "Do you love him, Ana?"

"No, but I like him."

"I like lots of men," Mollie said candidly. "But marrying them is quite another thing. Don't you do it, Ana, unless you feel that you can't live without him."

"Why? have you ever felt like that about anyone?"

"Yes. I did about Anthony before we were married. I've never felt like it since, and now I often wonder if it was just because he didn't seem so mad about me as I wanted him to, that I was so mad about him."

Mollie was always rather frank about her emotions; she enjoyed analyzing them.

"I shall never feel like that about anyone," Ana said. "Again"—she wanted to add, but she knew it would bring forth a storm of questions.

"Well, don't be in a hurry, anyway," Mollie advised with all the wisdom of a married woman talking to an unmarried one. "Wait a little while and make sure. Come and stay with me for a time—a month or two."

"It's very kind of you. I'll see."

"Yes, do, and write to me. Anthony goes next Friday." Mollie chuckled. "I wonder what he'll say when I tell him about Drake."

"Why should he say anything?"

"Because he always declared you wouldn't look at him—that he wasn't good enough for you."

"I am flattered!" Ana said cynically.

"Anthony likes you, you know," Mollie told her. "And I like him to like you. I think I shall send him up here to try and persuade you himself."

"Persuade me to marry Tom?"

"No, to come and live with me."

"Oh!"

Ana laughed. What a farce it all was, what a horrible farce!

Mollie was fastening her coat.

"It's new, isn't it?" Ana asked.

"Yes." Mollie pirouetted like a little peacock. "Do you like it? The lines are rather nice, aren't they? It ought to be nice, it cost enough."

"Was it a present?" Ana asked, and then could have bitten her tongue through for her tactlessness in asking such a question.

But Mollie did not seem at all offended; she only imagined that perhaps Ana was slightly envious of the admiration and attention which came her way.

"No, I got this out of Anthony," she said frankly. "We had to sort of kiss and make it up, you see, and he gave me this as a peace offering—we're like a honeymoon couple again now. You'd laugh if you saw us together—— What did you say?"

"Nothing."

But Ana felt as if she wanted to take Mollie by her shoulders and shake her and scream out: "Stop! stop! I'll kill you if you talk like that about the man I love. It's not true. I don't believe you."

Mollie was looking at herself in the old-fashioned gilt-framed mirror above the mantelshelf.

"The hat's rather a dream, too, isn't it? Anthony was really a lamb to give them to me after all I'd let him in for. God only knows how he'll ever pay Mahon back. I was a fool to borrow so much money, but I was at my wits' end." She turned round and looked at Ana. "I've given up cards, anyway," she said complacently. "I never had any luck, and the women I played with rooked me, I know. I always had an idea I should win in the end, but I never did." She shrugged her shoulders carelessly.

"Supposing Anthony can never pay Mr. Mahon back?" Ana asked with an effort.

Mollie laughed.

"I don't care if he doesn't," she said. "Ralph's got more money than he knows what to do with."

She spoke as if she had a perfect right to borrow from Mahon without trying to repay what she borrowed.

"Well, I must be going." She went across to Ana and reaching up kissed her cheek.

"Don't be cross with me any more. I'm really awfully fond of you—I hate women as a rule, but I'm fond of you, Ana, really!"

"It's kind of you," Ana said with stiff lips, but she did not want Mollie to be fond of her, she felt that she never wanted to see Mollie again.

"By the way," Mollie said, turning as she reached the door, "there's a perfect darling of a man staying in the cottage next door to us at Lyme now, Ana. He looks like a poet. Wonderful eyes, and curly hair. We must get to know him when you come down."

"I may not come."

"I won't let you say that. I am sure you will come. I shall send Anthony to persuade you. He's coming up to town for the week-end on business."

"I shan't be here."

"Where will you be, then?"

Ana hesitated, then defiantly she gave the name of the hotel where she had waited all those hours in vain for Anthony to come to her.

"I shall stay there for a few days till I can make plans for life future," she said.

"All right, I'll tell Anthony to call and take you out to lunch," said Mollie condescendingly. "Good-bye, you dear thing"—and she was gone. As if nothing had happened!

What a gift, Ana thought, to be able to brush aside all trouble and disgrace and sorrow as it were no more than a speck of pollen from a flower.

"Isn't she just lovely, miss?" Martha asked with enthusiasm, when she came to remove the tea tray. "I've never seen such a pretty lady."

"She is very pretty," Ana agreed heavily, and looked at her own pale face and heavy eyes in the mirror that had a moment ago reflected Mollie's radiant beauty.

No wonder Anthony had gone back to his wife—no wonder everything was as it used to be between them. But was it? Had Mollie spoken the truth?

What would Anthony say when Mollie told him about Tom Drake? Would he care? or would he think that perhaps it was the best way out for them all?

"He'll be glad to think I'm settled and that he's rid of me," Ana told herself fiercely, but she knew it was not true, and at the bottom of her heart hope, like a little bird in the rain, was singing that Anthony would come to her when he knew—that soon they would meet again.

Why We Do What We Do.

Why, Those Less oFrtunate Are A Source of Comfort

By Mehran, K. Thomson, Ph. D. Author of The Springs of Human Action

Before the days of psychology the fable had to serve. Some of the ancient fables contain a world of psychology. Those credited to Aesop, in which animals express human emotions and illustrate human motives, are among the best and most interesting.

It has been a matter of common observation for countless generations that human beings seem to derive a lot of comfort and a satisfaction from the idea that other human beings are in a worse plight.

We find this illustrated in the fable of the hares and the frogs as follows: The hares once took serious counsel among themselves whether death would not be preferable to their miserable condition. "What a sad stat is ours," they said. "Never to eat in comfort, to sleep ever in fear, to be startled by a shadow, and fly with beating hearts at the rustling of the leaves. Better death by far." And off they went accordingly to drown themselves in a neighboring lake.

Some scores of frogs who were enjoying the moonlight on the bank, scared at the approach of the hares, jumped into the water. The splash awoke fresh fears in the breasts of the timid hares, nd they came to a full stop in their flight.

One wise old fellow among them cried, "Hold, brothers! See, weak and fearful as we are, beings exist that are more weak and fearful still. Why then should we seek to die? Let us rather make the best of our lot, such as it is."

Moral: "There is always some one worse off than yourself."

One reason why a less fortunate person is a source of encouragement is that we take credit for our own state and therefore complimented and elated.

We also find comfort in the thought that the situation might be worse, hence we subtract the difference between what we have and what the less fortunate fellow has and we feel quite rich.

The important point is that both fortune and misfortune are relative. We are rich or poor, fortunate or unfortunate, according to a comparison with our own notion of what we should have and be.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope for reply.

THE CRIPPLED CHILD

(Suggested by C. E B., Sheboygan, Wisconsin)

As Someone to His bosom took
The little children long ago,
So we who read the lovely book
The same divinity may know.
For there is more to Christ and creed
Than songs to sing or books to read:
For this alone to God sufficed,
The man who also lived his Christ.

So suffer them to come to you,
As long ago he suffered them,
For they who take Christ's work to do
Have also touched His garment's hem.
Along life's way you see them crawl,
The saddest children of them all;
Now take them to your breast, as He
Once took them up in Galilee.

For these are not the strong of limb,
But now they come, as even then
The little children came to Him,
And seek to find His love in men.
And shall they think the Christ who took
Was just a story in a book,
Or shall they come to me and you
And find the story really true?

NO MORE PILES

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

BIG DEVELOPMENT PLANNED BY HYDRO

Farmers Will Benefit Under New Rural Distribution Scheme.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9. (C.P.) — The farmers of Ontario will benefit from hydro rural distribution once the 1929 plans proposed by the Hydro Commission in rural districts are completed, according to a report issued by the commission here yesterday.

The Hydro Commission propose to build during 1929, over 1000 miles of primary lines in addition to the 4000 miles already constructed. These additional lines will serve over 6000 rural consumers, and will cost approximately $2,500,000. There are at present over 377 miles of lines constructed, or about to be constructed, which will serve over 1400 additional consumers, and will cost approximately $835,000.

OBITUARY

HARRY FEE.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, May 9. — On Sunday at old resident of Cavan, the late Harry Fee, was buried at St. John's cemetery, Ida. The body was brought from Toronto, where he had resided for some years, on the noon train. The Rev. F. Carpenter conducted the funeral service.

B. A. GERMAN.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Ont., May 9. — The community was shocked by the death of B. A. German, who died on Tuesday after a brief illness.

Deceased was in his sixtieth year, and was a resident all his life of Percy township. He was an active church member and an honorable man, and was well liked by all his neighbors and friends. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and brothers and sisters. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon from his late residence.

DONALD ANDERSON HAY

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Donald Anderson Hay was held yesterday afternoon at two o'clock from the home of his parents, Lot 5, Concession 4, Seymour, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery where interment was made. The Rev. W. J. Clark, D.D., was the officiating clergyman. The pall bearers were Donald Scott; Donald Rutherford; Donald Watters; Donald Fraser, Stuart Afderson and Gordon McCulloch. Several pupils from the Myersburg school were flower bearers. There were a great number of friends and relatives present to pay their last respects, and the numerous floral tributes were evidence of the popularity of the deceased child.

Donald Hay was the second child and oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hay. He was in his fourteenth year. In order that he might undergo an operation he was taken to hospital in Peterborough, but death came soon after the operation had been performed. He is survived by his parents, one sister, Jessie, 14; and two younger brothers, Thomas Stewart, 11; and Bruce, 7. He was a student at the Myersburg school and a member of the Presbyterian church. His death came as a distinct shock to his many friends in the community.

In Police Court

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Approximately half an hour was all the time Magistrate Floyd of Cobourg required to dispose of the five cases on the docket in police court here yesterday afternoon. The first three cases were brought by Constable Seaborne, Trent River. They were breaches of the Highway Traffic Act, driving vehicles without the legal lights. In each case the offender pleaded guilty and paid the prescribed fine of two dollars and costs, being $8.75 in all.

The last item on the list was the sequel to the preceding session of the court when three boys appeared before the magistrate for stealing chickens. Two of them were allowed to go on probation. The third appeared again yesterday afternoon and was returned to the Children's Shelter at Port Hope, of which he was already a ward. Before making his decision, the magistrate questioned the boy regarding his family and his previous conduct. His worship did not pass any sentence other than suspended sentence on condition that the lad be returned to the children's shelter and kept there. Should he return to Campbellford without permission, he will be sentenced, said the magistrate. "Some one has got to take care of you. This is the third time you have been here. It is time you stopped misbehaving" said his worship in disposing of the case.

Wheat Takes Drop After Strong Opening

CHICAGO, Ills., May 9 (C.P.)—Wheat underwent a sharp early break in price here to-day despite upturns at the start. Liverpool wheat quotations were higher than expected, but new buying support here was thin, and selling pressure broadened out, especially from sources east. Starting at ⅛ to 1⅛ advance, Chicago wheat later showed about 2½ drop. Corn and oats also developed weakness with corn opening unchanged to ⅜ to ½ up, and subsequently showing declines. Provisions were easy.

British American and Imperial Suffer Fractional Losses at Noon Quotations.

MINOR PRICE CHANGES.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9.—(Canadian Press).—With lack of trading interest again resulting in liquidation, the general list on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day gave way to slightly lower levels. Declines, however, were on only a minor character. Even the oil group which started off firm, began to lose ground toward the noon hour, with both Imperial and British American suffering fractional losses.

International Nickel, leading the list in point of activity, eased off ⅝ to 52, while Ford Motor lost 1½ to 58½, Cockshutt Plow ¾ to 43½, and Goodyear Tire 5 to 370 Walkers at 73, and Lake Superior at 18 were both off a single point, while City Dairy dropped back two points to 70.

Canada Bread and De Forest-Crosley both continued to better their position, the former advancing an additional 8 points to 183 and De Forest climbing up three more points to 68. Standard Chemical was a point stronger at 46½.

For the forty weeks, ending May 4, 1929, world shipments to Europe were 542,752,000 bushels, and for the corresponding forty weeks, a year ago, they were 521,312,000. On passage to Europe there are, as on May 4, 55,160,000, and a year ago there were 61,680,000.

Total Canadian wheat and flour shipments for the crop year commencing August 1, 1928, from all ports, up to the end of March, were 315,283,812 bushels, and for the corresponding period in the previous season, Canadian and United States ports.

WHEAT IS FROZEN

BRANDON, Man., May 9.—(C.P.) Wheat shoots on hundreds of acres in the Brandon district have been nipped off by continual night frost. Grain that in some cases reached a height of one and one half inches, has been levelled. Farmers state that the grain will grow again without re-seeding, and some contend that the new growth will be a benefit, strengthening the roots.

Offering Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Preferred.

Nicholson, Clarke & Co. are offering for customer subscription 730 shares of 7 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock and 3650 shares no par value common of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company, Ltd. These shares are offered in units of one share preferred and five common, each customer being limited to the subscription of one unit at a price of $110 per unit.

The company is selling and distributing one, organized for the purpose of taking over the business formerly operated in the Province of Quebec by the Onward Manufacturing Company, Ltd., of Kitchener, Ont., of which T. A. Witzel is the president. The Eureka Company owns the exclusive selling rights for the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner and Sunnysuds Electric Washer in the Province of Quebec, and it is the intention of the company to extend their operations in the near future.

Based on the net earnings for the past three years in the territory now controlled by the Eureka Company, and taking into effect the within financing, proceeds of which will be used for expansion purposes, the estimated net earnings for the ensuing year will be approximately twelve times the dividend requirements of this preferred issue.

Beatty Brothers Earn $4.25 a Share On Common Stock

Among the Canadian companies which have benefited to a marked degree from the increased prosperity of the past few years throughout the country, there are few whose earnings have reflected to such a large extent the improvement that has taken place as has been the case with Beatty Brothers, of Fergus, Ontario. The company enjoys a large market for its output of washing machines, farm pumps, barn equipment and other agricultural specialties, and has built up over the past 55 years a constantly growing business, particularly in rural communities.

At the time of the recent offering by A. E. Ames and Company of an issue 6 per cent. cumulative preference stock, it was shown that net earnings in the fiscal year to the end of August last were more than double those of the previous period. Since then there has been a further substantial gain in business and for the current year earnings are likely to run somewhere around the $800,000 mark, as compared with $682,923, or about 4.25 a share on the common stock, of which 134,000 shares are outstanding.

A particular feature of the position of Beatty Brothers is the exceptionally strong showing in current assets, which amounted to $4,201,885 at the end of 1928 year, compared with $370,816 of current liabilities, leaving net working capital $3,831,069. Fixed assets have also been written down to a marked extent. These are carried in the balance sheet at $1,085,175, with reserve for depreciation of $467,764, a balance of $617,410, whereas the actual replacement value, less depreciation, amounted to $2,065,163.

Propose Adding Other Lines

W. L. Davies, General Manager of the Starr Manufacturing Company Limited, is leaving for Europe this week to contemplate the handling in Canada by his firm of a European line of Bicycles and Children's Vehicles, such as Velocipedes, Tricyles, etc.

The Starr Manufacturing which is the largest and oldest skate manufacturing concern in the British Empire has recently had its business extended by the absorbtion of the Ballard Plant and the removal of the machinery and moulds to Dartmouth Nova Scotia. The company is also engaged in the manufacture of bolts, nuts, rivets, railway spikes, hinges and other metal products, such as iron fences and fire escapes. This new line of business will work in very satisfactorily with the skate business as the distributors of skates are also distributors of bicycles.

Build Power Plant

Chapleau, Ont. — The Chapleau Electric Light and Power Company, has contracted with the Dominion Construction Company of Montreal and the H. Acres Company of Niagara Falls, for a new hydro-electric development at a cost of $100,000. Work will be commenced immediately on the erection of a rock filled dam and creosoted, wood-staved pipe line and surge tank approximately 900 ft. long, running to a power house of brick which will house two hydraulic units each of 275 h. p. This, is it expected, will take care of all possible requirements of the municipality in addition to supplying power for the local railway machine shops.

LARGER EARNINGS FOR CANADA DRY

Second Quarter Net Profit May Run Close To $2.75 a Share.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., began the second quarter of the calendar year with sales and earnings in April exceeding those or any corresponding month in the company's history.

With seasonable weather in the next two months, it is estimated net profit for the quarter will run close to 2.75 a share, bringing the first half's net to about $3.90 a share on 508,858 shares of stock currently outstanding. These results would compare with net profit of $3.14 a share on 461,814 shares of stock in the first half of 1928 and with $2.77 a share on 458,793 shares in the first six months of 1927.

G. B. Seely's Sons, operating in the metropolitan area, and Chelmsford Company, operating in New England, do a general line business, largely in the quart family size bottle, and their business is therefore much more seasonal than that of the Canada Dry. Whereas Canada Dry has managed to even out its sales curve through a method similar to the "spring dating" system employed in the tire trade, and through the very nature of its product, Seely and Chelmsford do well to break even in the winter months, counting on the second and third quarter of the year for the great percentage of their business.

In addition to the above circumstances, the influenza epidemic and the severity of the weather in the first three months of the year contributed to a poorer showing than there would have been otherwise. In the case of the Seely Company, Canada Dry wrote off out of earnings considerable expenditures among which were changes in the manufacturing end of the business, re-organization of the distribution system involving the purchase of a fleet of trucks to supplement those which Seely already owned and to replace horse-drawn trucks, and an increased advertising budget preparatory to pushing the sale of Seely's products in the current and the third quarters.

Canada Dry's management believes that there is a tremendous field for expansion in the manufacture and distribution of beverages in the quart size family bottle, and it is this end of the Chelmsford and Seely business that the company intends to push vigorously. The market for this trade is one which Canada Dry, selling a high quality product, has not touched heretofore.

In this connection, Canada Dry expects to add more local bottlers to its organization, with the goal and eventually doing as big a national business in the quart size bottle field as is done at the present time in the company's own field. The management at present has its eye on two of the countries largest cities, one in the east and the other on the Pacific Coast. If operations continue to run smoothly and Seely and Chelmsford become thoroughly consolidated with the parent company, Canada Dry may possibly acquire local bottling concerns in these two cities sometime during the current year.

Canada Dry stockholders may rest assured that if expected earnings gains materialize, they will receive a greater return during stock. Although directors have not discussed the question, it is possible that an extra dividend of 50 cents or $1 will be declared at the June or September meeting of the board, with the possibility that the stock will be placed on a regular $5 basis before the end of the year.

At its current price of 85, Canada Dry stock yields just under 5 per cent and is selling at about 14 times 1928 earnings of $6.10 a share.

The stock has sold as low as 78 and as high as 89¾ this year.

Store Chains Show High Earnings Ratio

The ratio of earnings to net assets of a representative group of chain store companies has averaged from three to five times as much as the same figure for groups of industrials, public utilities and railroads, according to a compilation of chain store earnings and security values prepared. Nine chain store organizations averaged 24.2 per cent, five industrials 8.4 per cent, three utilities 8.5 per cent., and three railroads 5.5 per cent.

Figures reveal that the percentage of earnings retained in their businesses in store chains averaged nearly four times that of other companies. Comparing the earnings of the same group of companies with ten $1,000,000,000 corporations in this country, it is shown that these companies on an average earned 5.3 per cent on their asset value compared with 24.2 per cent earned by chain stores.

In comparing earnings of small and large chains, says the review, there is a striking increase in earnings of the former compared with the latter. A group of small chains showed annual increase of earnings available for dividends on common stock from 1925 to 1927 of 37 per cent, 32.2 per cent and 20.3 per cent, contrasted with 13.6 per cent, 5.9 per cent and 6.4 per cent for a group of large chains for the same three years.

Noranda Sells Down Rapidly After Strong Opening in Early Trading.

OIL SECTION UNEVEN.

TORONTO, May 9. (C.P.)—Though the general list held steady, practically all the more active stocks were reactionary on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, when a heavy decrease in trading occurred. Even Noranda which came out close to yesterday's high mark, sold down rapidly from 58.00 to 56.50, the noon price at this figure indicating a net loss of 1.25. The Lindsley group were a little softer with Falconbridge losing an earlier advance, while Sherritt lost 10 to 8.15 and Sudbury a similar loss to 8.15.

The oils were uneven, with Ajax in active trading remaining 2c lower at 80, and Associated losing 20 to 5.00, and Baltac 10 to 3.00. Mayland was 25c stronger at 12.75.

A few shares of Treadwell sold 1.00 higher to 12.75, while Newbec in the heaviest turnover on the list—more than 326,800 shares—gained 3c to 55.

MINING BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner

Shaft sinking operations on the McMillan property of the Locarno Copper Mines, located in the Stormont mining district of Nova Scotia, continue to reveal good samples of free gold, running through the quartz vein in which the shaft itself is being sunk, according to advices from J. M. Cohen M. E., the company's engineer. The present shaft, which is being sunk on the main projection of the Richardson anticline, which is said to traverse the entire width of the McMillan property, has brought forth rich samplings.

Sudbury advices are to the effect that encouraging results are being obtained from underground development of the Lake Geneva Mine, controlled by the Towagmac Exploration. Drifting east and west on the vein has been proceeding for the last three months, and sampling is said to have shown slightly higher grade than disclosed by diamond drilling.

WHEAT PRICES BEATEN DOWN

Winnipeg's Market Suffers Another Relapse Owing to Foreign Reports.

ELEVEN CENTS LOWER.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9.—(Canadian Press).—Beaten down to bottom prices for the year by Liverpool predictions of a monster surplus of Canadian and Argentine wheat and by United States reports of lower grain freight rates to take effect immediately, Winnipeg's wheat market suffered another severe setback today.

Prices at eleven o'clock were about eleven cents a bushel below last week's closing figures.

Down to $1.08 a bushel, May wheat appeared a sorry figure alongside last Saturday's close at $1.19¾. July was in similar straights at $1.09½, as compared to $1.21⅞ Saturday and October wheat proces at $1.11½ compared to $1.22¾ on Saturday.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 9.—(C.P.) — Wheat values ebbed to new low levels for the year on the Chicago market to-day.

Opening a bit firmer than yesterday's closing quotations, prices quickly dropped off as traders evinced discouragement with the failure to break the jam of an oversupplied market. Yesterdays buyers were on the selling side to-day, and at 11 a.m. wheat had sagged to 2¼ to 2¾ cents below the previous close.

The unprecedented break that has sent wheat skidding 30 cents from the peak price of the year has failed to stimulate export demand. Foreign buyers have ignored United States wheat in favor of Canada or the Argentine, where prices have met the competition of the huge carry-over from the big 1928 United States' crop, and the grade was beginning to feel that the only incentive to demand for the old crop would be a heavy loss to growing North American or European crops. Emergency reduction of domestic freight rates to facilitate movement of the surplus to the seaboard apparently has gone unnoticed.

May wheat sold at $1.04½ at 11 a.m., compared with a closing price Wednesday of 106⅜.

While wheat futures were slipping to record depths, flour quotations at Minneapolis dropped 20 cents a barrel to-day

Movement Is Irregular On Wall Street Market

(By Stanley W. Prenosil.)

NEW YORK, May 9. (C.P.) — Extreme nervousness over the credit situation was reflected in the highly irregular movement of prices in to-day's stock market. Prices started upward at the opening, turned sharply reactionary before midday, and then made irregular recovery. Much of the day's selling is believed to have been inspired by the cautionary advices of some of the commission houses which suggested the possibility of a large increase in brokers' loans and a higher re-discount rate.

The mid-day selling movement was checked by the reduction in call money from 14 to 12 per cent, the first change in three days. Wall street has been looking for easier money all week with the return to the banks of the May 1 disbursements. New York bankers have hesitated to provide the market with additional funds by taking advantage of the re-discount privilege, and out-of-town banks have sent little money here, probably because of increased local demands because of the recent sharp drop in the prices of some of the basic commodities.

Winnipeg Wheat Prices Reach New Low Record

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9. (C.P.)—New low marks in Chicago's wheat market on reports that the new freight rates on grain on the United States Railways had gone into effect, sent Winnipeg wheat prices down to record low prices for the year. The market opened 1 1-8c higher but the news from Chicago sent values back until at ten o'clock prices were 3c lower than yesterday's close.

May wheat was 2 7-8c lower at $1.10 1-2; July 3c lower at 1.12 3-8; October 2 3-8c lower at $1.13 7-8.

Export business in Canadian wheat was reported as good overnight, but this failed to stem the downward trend of prices.

SAY MERCHANTS UNANIMOUS ON HALF HOLIDAY

Meeting of Merchants When Important Issue Was Decided Was Most Representative.

LEFT HAND TURN WANTED.

Several Questions Were Then Discussed Concerning Retailers in Peterborough.

In last evening's Examiner there was given some impressions of the half holiday situation that is now agitating the public, the Council, the merchant and the shopper, obtained from those who shop here, and to-day The Examiner is giving the merchants' side of the question, who are advocating the Wednesday half holiday for the months of May, June, July and August.

In yesterday's report of the interviews, it was suggested that there was not complete unanimity among the majority of the merchants. This was denied by a member of one of the best known firms in the city, and as evidence he submits the following list of those who have signed the petition to close.

He further states that a meeting was called of the retail merchants of the city that was most representative and they unanimously decided to petition the City Council to pass a by-law closing the business houses in the city for the months of May, June, July and August on Wednesday afternoon. This was not the only matter considered at the meeting, as they desired that the "no left turn" at George and Charlotte be rescinded by the Council, which was done, and also set the evenings for shopping before Christmas as six, with no stores open on New Year's eve. These matters were all considered by a full and representative meeting of the retail merchants of the city.

So far as giving service to tourists and outside shoppers was concerned he stated that Peterborough gave a service equal or better than any city of a similar size in the province, that the half holiday period was no longer here than in other cities and that it would be a retrograde step if Peterborough did not use their employees in a manner similar to merchants in other cities.

It is the intention of those merchants represented on the petition to close their shops during the four month period and their desire is that a by-law be passed by the Council so that there will be complete uniformity.

Ald. McNabb desires to correct the impression, as obtained from last evening's Examiner that he fathered the half holiday idea in Peterborough. This is not so, as he presented the case to the Council at the request of the merchants.

Those who signed the petition are:

PARKS ENTERS EIGHTH DAY OF STRIKE

from the county jail to-day said that Parks' condition was weakened considerably since they had him in charge of his arrival here from the West.

Parks said in an interview before his arraignment: "I'm not going back to Kingston. The work there is not so tough, but the treatment is pretty rotten, and I don't want any more of it."

Parks was charged specifically with the theft of the automobile which he had been driving when he was arrested in Moose Jaw, Sask.

He had stolen it here while en route to the West, after breaking out of the Peterborough jail, he admitted.

Made Trip In Three Days.

"I made the trip out West in three days, going by way of Chicago, St. Paul and Fargo, and then over the boundary line into Manitoba," he explained in his interview to-day.

"Before that I was never far from the border, and I read in Canadian papers how I had been seen here and there, and how robberies in every section of the country had been blamed on me."

The prisoner was quite interested in the fate of 17-year-old Pearl Bowerman, of Aylmer, who was with him when he was arrested in Moose Jaw. He knew that no charge had been placed against her, and was quite skeptical of a report from London that she would appear against him in connection with shopbreaking charges in Elgin County.

"They blamed me for everything," he commented, "and Orville Shaw."

Discussing Shaw's exploits, Parks said he had been a close friend of Pete Brennan, Shaw's confederate, who was shot by Provincial Police several weeks ago. "I worked with his two years down near Ottawa, soon after he came out from England," Parks remarked.

Little to Say in Court

Parks had little to say when arraigned. His record, including several jail terms since 1919, was read by Crown Attorney James S. Allan.

"Have you anything to say, Parks," inquired Magistrate Brodie. It seemed as though Parks would speak, but he remained silent. The magistrate went on: "It would appear to me that you are determined to lead a life of crime. Even after two terms in Kingston Penitentiary, you went back to the same life soon after your release. You were dealt with leniently twice after you left Kingston, by not being sent there again. You have, therefore, nothing to complain of in your treatment, if you remain determined to be dangerous——

"You don't know the circumstances of the Woodstock case——" Parks interrupted.

But the Magistrate continued, "But the public has the right to be protected. Any man who is determined to lead a life of crime would be safer under confinement somewhere, and I'm sentencing you to five years in Kingston."

Parks, who was escorted immediately from the courtroom, offered no comment and made no change in his expression. It was clear, from his previous conversation, he had expected another "jolt" at the "big house."

Parks is to be transferred immediately from the county jail at Sandwich, to the Norfolk county jail at Simcoe. Provincial Police announced, three shopbreaking and theft charges have been pending there against him for a considerable period, two charges of a similar nature were filed several months ago by Elgin county authorities, several weeks before Parks' arrest and incarceration in the Peterborough jail.

that the Canadian farmers have been having a hard enough time of it, and any added difficulties would be more than burdensome, but that he could not see where the new U.S. tariff would affect the live stock raiser greatly.

None Shipped To States.

The new revisions in the United States tariff will not affect the dairy industry in Peterborough to any extent, according to S. A. Keyes, manager of the Campbell's Dairy Products, since the products are not shipped to the States to any great degree from his plant. However, it would have some slight results on the butter, since during the peak of the season here butter is shipped to the States.

Mr Keyes stated that for the past three years the Canadian creameries haven't been able to supply our own market and butter was being imported from New Zealand to make up the deficit. Owing to a raise in the tariff some three years ago the U. S. market he said had been more or less out of the Canadian dairy producer's reach.

The Examiner endeavoured to secure G. A. Gillespie's opinion on the tariff changes, but he was out of the city.

Daylight Saving Sought For Port Hope Merchants

PORT HOPE, May 9.—The Retail Merchants' Association has decided to petition the Town Council to have daylight-saving inaugurated in Port Hope, and to interest every merchant in observing Empire Shopping Week, May 25 to June 1.

Officers elected were: President, G. T. Hancock; First Vice-President, F. Flood; Second Vice-President, E. Franks; Secretary, Elwin Brown; Treasurer, George Gould.

CHURCH SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Routine Business Transacted By Members of George Street Ladies' Aid.

REPORTS READ.

The May meeting of the Ladies Aid of George Street United Church was held in the Board room yesterday afternoon with the president, Mrs. C. E. Smith occuping the chair and in the absence of Mrs. S. R. Armstrong taking charge of the devotional period. After singing a couple of hymns, Miss Lottie Allen read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. E. W. Coon led in prayer. Mrs. G. C. Staples gave a splendid report of the April meeting and also gave the treasurer's report owing to the absence of Mrs. S. Oke.

Miss Mary Elliott, the corresponding secretary read twelve letters of appreciation for flowers sent and four were conveyed verbally by members of the society.

The report of the sick and visiting committee showed that 51 calls had been made during the past month.

Mrs. B. Shortley convenor of the cupboard committee reported tetowels and linens purchased. Owing to the absence of Miss Morrow the report of the flower committee was given by Miss Elliott, showing flowers sent to eight persons since the last meeting.

Miss Miller, convenor of the arrangements for the rummage sale, held recently gave her report. Miss Mary Elliott gave an encouraging report of a special meeting of the convenors and their committees held in connection with the Christmas fair.

A request was received from the Mens' Organization of the church asking that a committee of ladies from the Ladies Aid be appointed to assist them in planning the congregational picnic to be held on June 19. On motion Misses Higgins, Elliot, Miller and Mrs. Stephens were appointed to act in that capacity.

A communication was read from Frank Stinson, secretary of accommodation committee for Old Home Week asking if the society intended to serve meals.

A vocal duet was rendered by Miss Pearl Carruthers and Miss Dorothy Bamforth accompanied by Miss Helen Burns.

Rev. J. E. Todd gave a very interesting talk on reminiscenses of the past four years, saying by way of introduction that about four years ago he came to George Street United Church and took stock of the people and they of him. During that time the church had advanced greatly in church life ,in building and equipment and he mentioned several factors, helpful in bringing about these changes.

"It is very important" he said, "to have a true sense of value and higher and nobler things of life than the material things" and he warned his hearers to never get their sense of values twisted comparing the rich man and the poor man who died, one leaving riches, the other memories of noble work and good deeds, which lived for, ever. He pleaded for all to have a desire to put something into everything and not to be thinking of returns.

He referred to the unselfish labors and sacrifices of different organizations of the church and thanked the Ladies' Aid for their helpfulness, wishing them continued success in the future.

LEGION HALL IS SELECTED

Registration Headquarters For Old Home Week Decided By Committee.

MANY ADVANTAGES.

The Old Home Week committee under the chairmanship of James Dutton to select registration headquarters and rest room for Old Home Week yesterday concluded an agreement with the Canadian Legion for use of the Legion Hall. The committees on registration and accommodations will have the use of the main auditorium and the rest rooms for the entire week.

It was believed by the committee that this hall would be more satisfactory than others considered, for several reasons. It is slightly removed from the centre of the city, and the parking and traffic difficulties will, therefore, be lessened. At the same time it is in the centre of most of Peterborough's most beautiful buildings and adjacent to two of its most attractive parks, thus giving a good impression to visitors.

Then, too, the hall is admirably adapted to the purpose. There is the large hall, requiring very little decoration to make it attractive, and a splendid rest parlor for women on the same floor is an important consideration for this week.

Chapter IV.

A GOVERNOR'S VISIT

In the preceding pages we have narrated events slightly in advance of their chronological orders, so as to present in one view the gradual progress of the town in its first stage. The reader's mind must go back a year or two ere several of the last-named buildings were erected, in order to realise the exact condition of the town at the period of the visit of His Excellency, Sir Peregrine Maitland, which took place in the winter of 1826, and just one year and a few months after the arrival of the immigrants.

Very few houses (and those only of the most common description) besides those erected by Mr. Robinson, then existed here. The portion of the site of the town then cleared, was still disfigured by stumps, occasional brush-heaps, etc.; and altogether the scene was far from attractive, presenting but little accomplished in the present, and leaving a very wide margin for hope or despair in the undeveloped future.

His Excellency was accompanied on this occasion by Col. Talbot, founder of the Talbot settlement in Western Canada; by the Honorable John Beverly Robinson, then Attorney-General, afterwards made a Baronet, and Chief Justice of Upper Canada at the time of his decease. (Sir John was a brother of the Hon. Peter Robinson). George G. Bethune, Esq., and the Hon. Zaccheus Burnham accompanied the party. The journey from Cobourg was made in sleighs and across Rice Lake, in the early part of the winter season. Passing up through Otonabee, they stayed at the house of Captain Rubidge, R.N., for dinner, and on their arrival here they were met by Mr. Robinson, Colonel McDonnell, and the chief settlers adjoining the place, and entertained in the best manner circumstances would permit, in the log building already referred to, where their entertainers resided. The Governor and his friends remained a few days, during which they were waited on by Captain Rubidge, Robert Reid, Esq., the Hon. T. A. Stewart, M.L.C., and the few other gentlemen in the neighborhood. The central room of the government house already described, was used as a reception room, in which a sort of rude levee was held. His Excellency was seated at the further end, and the settlers, who attended in considerable numbers, were presented to him, and then retired by another outlet. The occasion of this visit was seized to present to the representative of Royalty sundry loyal and patriotic addresses. In one of these from the "Magistrates, Clergy and other inhabitants of the country of Northumberland," the high sense of the honor conferred on the Newcastle district and the interest shown by His Excellency in the prosperity of the province, in this visit was acknowledged in suitable terms. Testimony was also borne to the good conduct of the immigrants during their residence at Cobourg, which was 'd to "warrant the expectation of their becoming a valuable acquisition to the province." This was the substance of their address.

A deputation from "the colony" in Smith as the settlement there was called, was also appointed to wait upon the Governor, and Mr. Walton Wilson, one of the early settlers, undertook to present a verbal address, the general terms of which had been previously agreed on. The spokesman had proceeded but a little way, when his utterance became confused, and he broke down ingloriously. Turning round to Mr. Jacob Bromwell, another settler, who was one of the deputation, he said:

"Speak it you, sir"

Mr. Bromwell continued the address to His Excellency, in which the difficulties and occasional distress of the settlers were plainly portrayed, and the absence of milling facilities especially deplored. Wilson had told the Governor, "He has a mill, and we has nee mill," but Bromwell, as a practical illustration of the necessity for better accommodation in this respect, added: "Save in your presence, Sir, I have to get up at night to chew corn for the children"; a statement which, no doubt, was literally true. His Excellency returned a gracious reply, in which he promised them assistance; a pledge which, ere long, he fully redeemed, to the great joy of the settlement.

A written address was presented on behalf of the Irish immigrants by Patrick Barragen, a school teacher, by whom it was read. As it is the only address from the neighborhood which has been presented, the former one being entirely verbal, and is moreover highly characteristic of the people from whom it emanated, we cannot refrain from presenting it entire:

To His Excellency Sir Peregrine Maitland, etc., etc:

"We, the Irish emigrants recently brought out by Colonel Robinson to this country, feel grateful to our gracious good King, and to His Majesty's worthy, good and humane government, for all they have, and we hope yet intend, to do for us."

"We also are well pleased, and entertain the best wishes for our worthy Chief, Mr. Robinson, for all he has done for us; and we are fully sensible that his fine and humane feelings will not permit him to leave anything undone that may forward our welfare."

"Please Your Excellency, we are totally at a loss for words adequate to express the thanks and gratitude we owe Doctor Reade, for his active, skilful and unremitting care, etc., of us. We are likewise thankful, too, and well pleased with the officers placed over us."

"Please Your Excellency, we agree very well, and are pleased with the proceedings of old settlers amongst us, as it is in the interest of us all to do the same. And should an enemy have the presumption ever to invade this portion of His Majesty's dominions, Your Excellency will find that we, when called upon to face and expel the common foe, will to a man follow our brave commanders; not an Irish soul shall stay behind; and if we have no better weapons in our hands, mow them down with our Irish shillelahs."

"Please Your Excellency, we labor under a heavy grievance, which we confidently hope your Excellency will redress, and then we will be completely happy, viz.: The want of clergymen, to administer to us the comforts of our Holy Religion, and good school-masters to instruct our children."

"We now beg leave to retire: wishing your Excellency long life, good health, and every success."

"God Save the King."

The Governor's reply does not appear among the official records, and at this remote period, it would be useless to attempt to gather-up its precise terms from the memories of the survivors to whom it was addressed. It was, no doubt, as in the other cases, gracious and encouraging.

Splendid Music By Band Assured

That Peterborough will have a splendid line-up of music for Old Home Week is indicated by the plans already laid by the bands. It is a fortunate coincidence that Lieutenant W. Peryer, Bandmaster of the Peterborough Rangers, went to France with Lieutenant J. Holden of the Toronto Scottish Band. They are co-bandmaster of the massed Canadian bands in 1917 and are old friends. Together, they are arranging a program for Old Home Week which will fill every need.

On the Sunday evening when the Toronto Scottish are here, there will be a massed concert in Victoria Park. At one of the concerts during the week, the Band of the Peterborough Rangers will play a selection of old time songs arranged by Sergeant A. E. Paterson, of the Rangers' Band. These include the following: Hot Time in the Old Town, Home, Sweet Home, Come to the Ball (from the "Quaker Girl"), The Mosquito Parade, March from Tanhauser, The Old Gray Bonnet, Sunset on the St. Lawrence, My Old Dutch, By the Light of the Silvery Moon, Moonlight Bay, Beautiful Garden of Roses, My Hero, (from "Chocolate Soldier") Berceuse di Jocleyn, Highland Laddies, Swanee River, Massa's in de Cold Ground, Daisies Won't Tell, Auld Lang Syne, Sussex By the Sea, the Maple Leaf For Ever, and Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here.

On one night during the week the Salvation Army Temple Band, under direction of Bandmaster S. J. Richardson, will give a concert in Victoria Park, and on the second Sunday evening, at the conclusion of the program by the massed choirs, the local bands will play together for community singing as a grand finale to a wonderful week.

During the entire week, the Band of the Peterborough Rangers will be on the job for the vaudeville at the exhibition grounds, and parades, and anything else the members are called upon to do.

Good Advertising

Good advertising is given the Old Home Week by the rendition, on Tuesday night, of two of Lieutenant Peryer's marches, "The Peterborough Rangers" and "The Electric City March" broadcast by radio from WLW at 10.30. Henry Fillmore's Concert Band, of Cincinnati, is responsible for this rendition.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Three fingers on his left had badly lacerated by a falling plank, Robert Hamilton, of 295 Murray Street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday afternoon, and was last night able to go to his home, following medical attention by Dr. J. N. O'Brien.

It is understood that Mr. Hamilton had been engaged on the construction of the new buildings at the Canadian General Electric.

TRAINS MOVE OUT.

THE PAS, Manitoba, May 9. (C.P.) As a dead calm settled over the north country to-day, in the wake of a ten day blizzard, two marooned trains on the Canadian National Railways line to Churchill proceeded after slow-moving snowplows to-day. A party of 150 men, who had been held on one of the stranded trains, left mile 455 to-day by snow tractor en route to their work at the Bay port.

MAKES SONG RECORDS.

LONDON, May 9.—Lord Aberdeen, former Governor-General of Canada, who is 82 years old, has made two song records at Queen's Hall. Accompanied by his own pianist, whom he brought from Scotland, he sang "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Will Ye No Come Back To Me."

Before he left the studio he was able to hear his own voice as it had been recorded in wax. He said he was making "the records privately for "a family affair."

2,000 ROTARIANS ATTEND CONVENTION

28th District Conference Is Being Held in Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 9 (C.P.).—The largest number of Rotarians ever to attend a 28th district conference assembled here to-day for their seventh annual meeting. A special train carrying 300 Canadian delegates brought the number in attendance well past the 2,000 mark. Boy Scouts camped at every entrance to the city shivered through a cold night to be ready early this morning with information for delegates arriving by automobile.

Delegates from sixty clubs, comprising the 28th district, which covers New York State from Utica to Rochester, including Eastern Ontario and the Province of Quebec, heard District Governor Arthur B. Stile of Oswego speak at the opening session on "A Year of Stewardship" and International Director Robert L. Hill of Columbia, Mo., discuss "Rotary International."

ECLIPSE OF SUN TO-DAY.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, May 9 (Canadian Press). — Heavy clouds obscured the sun here to-day during an eclipse, the local phase of which began at 12.05 p.m., the maximum being reached at 1.40 p.m.

As the eclipse began the air was sultry and close. There was a gradual darkening of the atmosphere until it reached its maximum when the air became refreshingly cool.

The eclipse aroused considerable interest here.

Who else wants new clothes?

"I have used Sunset Soap Dyes since 1919; have never had a failure. Three daughters and myself to clothe make a big problem, but thanks to your Dye Pot our clothing budget is cut in half. I have just completed a redyed crepe silk dress, originally gray. Everybody thinks it is new. I redyed and made over from ladies' coats, five coats for girls. One made a lovely wine colour from a faded brown, one a darker green from a faded green, one a warm brown from a faded tan and the other two their original colour of light brown redyed to freshen them up.

"Garments practically useless, with a little dye and remodeling make wonderful new garments at very little expense. My girls have three times more than if I had to buy every garment brand new. I have redyed curtains, couch covers, faded cretonnes, washable rag rugs just as satisfactorily as coats and dresses.

"I like your dye because it does not soil the hands or utensils. It is not necessary to rip garments apart, which saves time and patience. I told a friend about Sunset two years ago, she has used it ever since with wonderful results. People here in town will not believe we have redyed the winter coats our girls wear. I am glad to pass my knowledge of Sunset Soap Dyes on."

MEN FROM EVERY WALK IN LIFE ENDORSE ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A.

All Agree That Local Institution Holds Out Advantages to City's Men and Boys.

UNSTINTING IN PRAISE.

Value Cannot Be Estimated in Dollars and Cents Is Concensus of Opinion.

That the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. fills a great place in the life of this city and holds out advantages in physical and moral well-being to the boys and men which can not be estimated in dollars and cents is the consensus of opinion of a large number of men interviewer by The Examiner yesterday.

Every one approached and asked for his view on the work that the "Y" was doing here, was unstinting in his praise of the association, its activities and all that it stood for. These men were taken in every walk of life, professional, business and manufacturing and none were too busy but to stop for a moment to tell the reporter his views on the "Y" Several were in close touch with the association and spoke from their own experience and the others spoke from their observation on the effect of membership and participation in "Y" work upon the general welfare of the youth of the city.

The interviews follow:

C. S. Cummer

"I believe the Y.M.C.A. gives more value for the money than any organization in Peterborough. The privileges of membership in the local "Y" are abundant. The benefits of the gym classes are of vast importance, and the goodfellowship in these classes is quite apparent. There is a spendid spirit prevailing in the local institution and its influences is ever-increasing. Young boys entering the various classes undoubtedly do so amid surroundings and leadership that should be helpful to them.

The local staff is efficient and ever on the lookout to advance the interests of the whole community. No one should hesitate in supporting this splendid institution to the limit of their ability."

Mayor Denne

"The city of Peterborough needs the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. because they are setting high standards of character for our boys and girls. Certainly the "Y" should have the support of every citizen. No one can help but realize the great work that they are doing for young Peterborough."

Magistrate Langley

"I certainly can speak highly of the work the Y.M.C.A. is doing for the welfare of the boys in this community.

"I believe in the "Y" as an institution that is eminently fitted to train young men both physically and mentally. The clean, wholesome association of the "Y" bring to the young men all those things that interest him under ideal conditions. These are my conclusions after over twenty-five years' association with the "Y" in all its activities. The training physically that the boy gets on the gymn floor sets him up to take the jolts that often affect men's health when they reach middle-age. This early training pays large dividends later because it developes muscle and a clear head."

J. E. Smith

"What the Y.M.C.A. means to the men and boys of Peterborough is clearly indicated by the greater attendance at "Y" activities. In 1918, the memberships taken out amounted to $1,542. This has increased to $4.279 in 1928—an increase of over 250 per cent. The "Y" means just that much more to Peterborough today."

C. G. Graham

"I think the "Y" is one of the finest things in the life of this city. I thing it is the best place that the parents con send and encourage their boys to go to because of the fine training for manhood. Personally I get a great deal of benefit fwm the exercises in the gym throughout the year and it keeps me fit and full of pep for the every day tasks."

J. W. Kenmuir

"I believe that the association of any man or boy with the "Y" can not help but do him good, morally, spiritually and physically, and it fits him for a better contact with his fellow men in late life"

Dr. J. J. Craig

"The Y.M.C.A. has a great moral influence in the life of the boys of Peterborough. It serves in developing the boys in every respect. Under present city conditions the average boy ,without the advantage of the "Y" could not get the exercise necessary to develope him physically. At the "Y" he gets and takes his training under wise supervision."

G. A. Goheen

"The Y.M.C.A., I know, has done a great benefit to my own two sons, and it will have the same benefit on all boys who take advantage of it splendid facilities."

Walter H. Kidd

"I firmly believe that the work done by the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough has possibly a greater influence on the physical and moral well-being of our citizens than any other organization in the city."

Rev. J. E. Todd

"The Y.M.C.A. should receive the sympathetic support of the citizens of Peterborough, because it stands for a type of manhood, who are always trained to be intorested in the city's welfare.

It stands for a manhood which emphasises cleanliness, physically, intellectually and spiritually. This is one of the many reasons why I believe in the Y.M.C.A."

W. R. Fox

"I think the "Y" is the finest organization we have ,particularly in regard to its activities in connection with the physical and spiritual training of our young boys' In addition, from a personal viewpoint, I have derived a great deal of benefit from my activities at the gym during the winter months. The facilities available for men past middle age are such that all should enjoy."

R. Grant

"The time I put in at the Y.M.C.A. gym I consider more important to my physical welfare than any other thing that I do. I take part in quite a number of sports, but would gladly forego the time given to any of them rather than miss a class at the gym."

G. A. Macdonald

"My feeling about the "Y" is that it is the only place where men have athletic facilities open to him indoors. I think that the present building is not adequate for the increased membership and needs of Peterborough. The "Y" was built many years ago and the city has outgrown the present accommodation afforded, although the "Y" officials are to be congratulated on the fine manner they have been managing under the circumstances. Peterborough certainly needs the "Y" and needs a better one.

Fred L. Roy

"What appeals to me at the "Y" is the athletic activities for business men. Personally I am getting exercise that would be absolutely lacking without the advantages of the "Y". The bathing and shower facilities are overcrowded in the present building, and while it is doing great work as it is now it could do much greater work if it were enlarged."

Joseph Wearing

"The directorate of the Y.M.C.A. is composed of representative business and professional men of the city who give a great amount of time endeavouring to adapt the Y. to the needs of the city and each director is also among those who support the institution financially. These men work hard to make the Y. a real asset to the city and any fair criticism is given full consideration in order that from time to time changes may be made to bring the institution as much up to date as possible. After fifteen years' experience as a director I have no hesitation in stating that the "Y" merits the confidence and support of every citizen in Peterborough."

H. B. Cowan

"Only those who have given the Y.M.C.A. a real try-out are able to appreciate its worth. When a young lad at school ,and before I have joined the association, other boys who belonged to the Y.M.C.A. and had distinguished themselves in Y.M.C.A. contests, were heroes among the boys at school. This led me to want to join. When about twelve years of age I became a member of the Y.M.C.A. in Ottawa for the first time, and have been a member of the association ever since. During that period I have had experience with the Y.M.C.A. in its boys' camps, in its gymnasium, religious services, night schools and many other activities, and found them all helpful.

On leaving home at seventeen to go to a large city, the associations of the Y.M.C.A. proved a great comfort and safeguard. My own boys have all been members since they were old enough to join. As a member and director for a number of years of the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough, I have been favourably impressed by the men in charge, and by the good work they are doing. Our local association is one of which we may well be proud and it deserves loyal and hearty support from the community which it serves."

Without Health, What?

In this age of speed, high tension and competition the human frame is under double the strain.

Money is not everything. Look at the number of men of means who are willing to spend all they have to regain their health.

The hospitals and sanitariums are full of people with nervous breakdowns.

Why For the simple reason they do not have the proper exercise and relaxation.

The Y.M.C.A. affords you all these wonderful opportunities to keep you fit, mentally, physically and morally.

It's New! Irradiation of a whole-wheat cereal with Ultra-Violet Rays

Muffets..."ribbons" of whole wheat... bring you health vitamin of sunshine—no increase in price!

WHAT is the vital element in sunshine that promotes health? Only recently have scientists found out. They have named it Vitamin "D", the sunshine vitamin.

And now Professor Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin, distinguished scientist, has found that this sun vitamin can be passed on to you by irradiating Muffets, the different whole-wheat cereal, with Ultra-Violet Rays.

A Muffet is a "ribbon" of cooked whole wheat wound 'round and 'round and toasted to a rich brown. Eaten with sugar and cream, with berries or fruit added . . . Um-mm-m! What a meal!

And now Muffets are irradiated for your health! Nutritionists acclaim Professor Steenbock's discovery as one of the most important in the history of foods.

The sunshine vitamin enables the body to make better use of the lime in cereals, milk and other foods. Teeth and bone are built of lime. Children need plenty of the sunshine vitamin if teeth are to be sound and hard; bones straight and strong. Adults, likewise, need the sun vitamin.

The Ultra-Violet Rays of the sun cannot penetrate through ordinary window glass, and they are effectively stopped by fog or smoke, and even by the clothes you wear.

Now you can have a "dash of sunshine" at every meal. Muffets bring it to you. No other whole-wheat cereal offers you this health advantage. Won't you try irradiated Muffets tomorrow for breakfast? Your grocer can supply you.

Growing bodies need the "sun vitamin". Here it is now added to a nutritious whole-wheat cereal.

All Muffets are Irradiated
All Muffets on your grocer's shelves have been irradiated, whether so stated on the package or not. There are two Muffets packages but only one kind of Muffets — in every package the same irradiation, the same quality, the same wholesomeness of the whole wheat.

DRY—wet—sand—mud—ice—snow—what a variety of road conditions your tires must meet! How important it is to have All-Weather Treads to protect you—to "show their teeth" to any kind of going.

Stones—ruts—holes—curbs.

How important, also, to have tires built of extra elastic and extra durable SUPERTWIST Cords which out-stretch ordinary tire cords, "give" to blows of the road, recover to lively strength, reduce blow-outs and increase tire life.

At your Goodyear Dealer's you can make two indisputable tests of Goodyear superiority. The tread test—press your hand firmly on an All-Weather Tread tire—actually feel it grip just as it grips the road. The Supertwist test—you, yourself, use the cord-testing machine which proves Supertwist's extra stretch.

COUNCIL ASKED FOR SIDEWALK IN BRIDGENORTH

Tax Collector's Roll For Smith Returned, Showing $1,037.24 of Unpaid Taxes.

APPOINT WEED INSPECTOR.

Deputation Seeks To Have Union School Section Established at Burleigh Falls.

The municipal council of the township of Smith met in the county council chamber, Peterborough, on Saturday, May 4, at the hour of 10 a.m.

All the members were present, with Reeve H. D. Coons presiding.

The report of the collector of taxes, the late James Middleton, was presented for consideration, and showed that he had collected of 1928 taxes and deposited in the Royal Bank, the sum of $47,088.51. There still remains a balance unpaid of $1,037.24 chargeable to lands, with a loss of $10.82. Penalties on taxes amounted to $157.65.

Moved by Deputy-Reeve Fitzgerald and seconded by Councillor Milburn that the report of the collector be received.

Owing to the death of an efficient and much respected tax collector, the late Mr. Middleton, it was moved by Councillor McConkey and seconded by Councillor Mullen, that the clerk write a letter of condolence to the family of Mr. Middleton.

Sheep valuator, C. E. Moore, sent a communication to the effect that Allan Oliver had had one sheep killed by dogs on or about April 17, 1929; and that he valued the same at $20; the necessary affidavit was enclosed.

He also reported that Joseph Mann had had one sheep killed by dogs on April 20, and one lamb carried away on April 24. The usual affidavit also was enclosed.

Messrs. Rev. J. O. Totten, G. D. Mann and W. J. Telford were present to explain to council the dangerous condition of the old board sidewalks in Bridgenorth, and to ask council to grant aid within its power to remedy same.

By recent legislation, subject to the permission and inspection of the Department of Highways, sidewalks may be built on provincial or county highways for which a grant may be given from the highways improvement fund. Council was also asked to apply to the Department of Highways for such permission.

Council agreed to look into these matters on their annual tour of road inspection.

Ask for Union School Section

Mesdames Shewen and Spencely and Public School Inspectors Lees and Downey were present in relation to the formation of a union school section including Burleigh Falls and composed of parts of Smith, Harvey and Burleigh townships.

After discussion, it was agreed to follow the legal procedure governing such cases by having three separate petitions asking for such union school section to be formed, signed by five ratepayers from each of the townships of Harvey, Burleigh and Smith presented to the respective municipal councils of the said townships.

Also the petitioners present were asked to define the area and give the assessment of lands in each township which they contemplate including in such union school section; and to present a copy of such to each township council concerned for consideration at its May meeting.

G. D. Mann ,assessor, was present and reported re several matters in relation to assessment.

He also asked that Princess street in Bridgenorth be opened to afford him a passable road outlet in winter.

A. G. Turnbull of Belleville, Eastern representative of Messrs. J. D. Adams & Co., manufacturers of graders and other road machinery, was present and demonstrated by use of a miniature model the workings of their leaning wheel graders.

Reeve Hooton of Cavan township council was also present as salesman in the interests of Cleveland tractors, giving general information and prices.

While no orders were given, the demonstrations and information given by both gentlemen were much appreciated.

A petition from H. Carver, signed by residents on the boundary line between Smith and North Monaghan was received, asking that immediate steps be taken to put this road in safer condition by the use of culverts and by widening its narrow places. Council decided to investigate in the near future.

Moved by Councillor McConkey and seconded by Councillod Mullen that pay sheets Nos. 13 to 42 inclusive be recommended for payment.

Moved by Councillor Mullen and seconded by Councillor Milburn, that the sum of $30 be paid to J. B. Nelson, B.S.A., as a grant to school fairs in Smith township.

Weed Inspector Appointed

By-law No. 872 appointing Thomas H. Graham as weed inspector for Smith for 1929 received its several readings and was passed.

On motion of Deputy-reeve Fitzgerald and Councillor McConkey, it was decided to hold the annual road inspection on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 7 and 8.

A tender was received from Frank Fowler to provide steam power for the stone crusher for the season of 1929. This tender was tabled for future consideration.

Moved by Councillor Mullen and seconded by Deputy-reeve Fitzgerald that the next meeting be held on Friday, May 31, at the hour of 10 a.m. for general business and at the hour of 2 p.m. as a court of revision.

The memorandum of agreement for the collection of garbage in Chemong Park as drawn up for council's consideration was approved of, and the clerk was instructed to prepare a copy of the same in duplicate and to secure the necessary signatures thereto.

Moved by Councillor McConkey and seconded by Councillor Mullen, that the following accounts be paid:

James Middleton Estate, collector's postage, 1928, $50.00; Percy T. Udy telephone account for April, $1.2 Allan Olver, one sheep killed by dog $20.00; Percy T. Udy, township i surance premium $9.77; J. B. Nelso B.S.A., grant to school fairs, $30.00

Council adjourned to meet on Ma 31 at 10 a.m.

YOUNG COUPLE RECEIVE HONOR

Presentations Made Mr. an Mrs. Wilburt Wright By Friends.

DISTRICT NEWS.

WARSAW, May 9 — (Examine Correspondence).—On Friday even ing a large number of friends in cluding Bethel Church people, gath ered at the home of Mr. and Mrs Sidney Watley to extend their goo wishes to their daughter, Rita, re cently married to Wilburt Wright Mrs. Wright has been a member o D. Munro's orchestra, and a teache in Bethel Sunday School. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Munro and Rev. H. B. and Mrs. Herrington

Besides the usual social inter course, there were games, and con tests.

Dr. Munro gave a short addres in his own inimitable style. Among the ideas he wished to impress wa that it was all right to wish th young couple good luck, happines joy, and all good things, but life i not made up of fair things. It i not much unless there are a fe hard knocks. The knock develop on and bring people to a better under standing.

Mrs. Wright replied in a pleas ing manner, and thanked the peopl for their kindness shown in word and in the gifts which she appreci ated very much.

A splendid supper was served an some of the guests left for home Others remained and the evenin was spent in music and dancing.

To Hold Special Service

The Presbyterian Sunday Schoo will observe Mother's Day on Sun day morning. Mother's Day will b observed in the United Church o Sunday evening. The program wil be put on by the young people, an the Sunday School will meet with the regular church service. Th choir is to be composed entirely o young people.

Loses Valuable Horse

Joseph Matthews had the mis fortune to lose a valuable horse on Sunday afternoon, when the anima broke its leg. Two horses owned by Mr. Matthews jumped the fence and were on the road when a car driven by some young men came along. One of the horses turned suddenly and ran across the road. It jumped on the car and did some damage to it besides breaking its leg

Mr. Matthews will be greatly handicapped at this season, due to this heavy loss.

W.M.S. Meets

The United Church W.M.S. met in the small classroom on Friday afternoon, the president in the chair. After the opening exercises Rev. H. B. Herrington gave a les son on the third chapter of "Drum in Darkness" dealing principally with the establishment of the first mission at Baillieboro.

Systematic giving, expense fund and mite boxes were discussed.

One decision was that instead o collecting the systematic giving en velopes at one time and the ex pense fund collection during the lunch, the two collections be taken at once.

It was also decided to give the returned missionary, who is to ad dress a public meeting, probably a church service, in behalf of the W M.S., a certain sum out of the ex pense fund. Group D in charge o Mrs. David Taylor will take charg of the next regular meeting on Jun 6. It was decided to call a specia meeting and invite others to hea Mrs. Herrington's report of the con ference at Kingston.

Personals

Master Orval Watts is progressing favorably and his mother was abl to return home on Sunday.

Mrs. Herrington returned from Kingston on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Ivan Clements spent the week end at home.

More young Englishmen are be ing placed in homes this week by the United Church Immigration Com mittee.

INDIGESTION TORTURE

Pain and Suffocating Pressure Until Tanlac Brought Relief

Only those who are tortured by Indigestion cramps after eating, and suffocating pressure of gas, can realize the relief, the joy, which came to Mrs. Odelie Langlois, as Tanlac freed her of every trace of Stomach Trouble.

For 25 years, she suffered. "Food was like poison," she writes from 71 Arthur Street, Windsor, Ont. "It would cramp me and gas would bloat me up so I could hardly catch my breath, and I would become dizzy and faint. I became so weak and nervous that my daughter had to do my housework. I spent enough on treatments to buy a home; and it almost breaks my heart to think that I did not use Tanlac before, because four bottles of this great medicine made me a well woman. I could feel the very first spoonful helping me; and now after only four bottles, I have regained my health and strength. My husband also uses Tanlac for Kidney Trouble and it has made a new man of him."

If you are suffering, don't wait Get Tanlac today. It is pure and good—and it must help you or your money will be promptly refunded. It costs less than 2c a dose—less than 6c a day to get well. Ask your druggist.

MASONS GATHER AT CEREMONY

Members of Keene Order Pay Fraternal Visit To Campbellford.

DISTRICT NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Some thirty members of the Masonic Order in Keene paid a fraternal visit to the Golden Rule Lodge Number 126 A.F. and A.M., here on Tuesday evening and presented the travelling square. The visitors from Keene also exemplified the degree work of the evening. Fellow Masons from Lindsay and Hastings were also present. At the close of the lodge ceremonies, the local brethren provided an excellent supper, catered by Long.

One of the new attractions which is expected to be a big drawing card with the Joyland Shows this season, will be the free performance given several times each day in front of "Fun on the Farm." Paul Harrison and Bert Gordon, clowns, acrobats and vaudeville artists, will present their line of amusement to the accompaniment of string music specially arranged for the engagement here. These two entertainers have formerly been on the bills of Barnett's circus and have been doing vaudeville work all winter in Montreal. Their part of the program is open to the general public free of charge.

The county road gang are busy making over the Campbell-Hastings road, and so far their operations seem to be meeting with the unanimous approval of everyone who has seen them. From the end of the pavement on Sebastapol street to West's Corners, two miles further along the road, the travelled road represented an impassible barrier of mud for some time during the Spring break-up. For many days it was entirely impassable for motor vehicles of any kind. Now the road gang are working on this stretch, ditching, grading and gravelling a wide roadway that has every appearance of having enduring qualities.

An instrumental trio, coached by George Earle, orchestral conductor of WOR, has been added to the entertaining cast of Mason's Merrymakers which previously consisted of Roy Smeck, "Wizard of the Strings"; George Shackley, director and accompanist and Goldy and Dusty, one of Radio's most popular harmony duos.

The members of the trio include Ray Ramona, pianist; Sherman Keene, zylophonist and Eddie Dornslife, saxaphonist.

Mason's Merrymakers is a regular Tuesday night feature which goes on the air at 8.00 o'clock. The inclusion of the trio gives the program considerably more of a diversification and its popularity with listeners has resulted in its being retained as a permanent feature.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jenkins, of Campbellford, Honored By Friends at Social Evening.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 9.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)— Members of Christ church congregation met in the Parish Hall, Rear street, on Monday evening to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Penkins who for many years have been actively interested in the affairs of the Anglican church here, and who are leaving town to take up residence in Montreal. Euchre was the chief form of entertainment and there were ten tables of players. The ladies of the church served an excellent lunch toward the close of the evening. The prizes for the ladies' games and lone hands were won by Mrs. Mat Sergeant, Sr., and by Mrs. Harry Tinney. The men's prizes were won by Jack Free and the Rector, the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace.

As a token of remembrance from the congregation of Christ church, Mrs. Jenkins was presented with a pair of shoe straps and rhinestone buckles. Mrs. J. P. Archer made the presentation. To Mr. Jenkins from the congregation, Mr. A. T. Linton, the Rector's warden, presented a gold-headed cane, suitably inscribed.

During their many years in Campbellford, both Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins have been deeply interested and actively concerned in the welfare of the church. The members of the congregation present at the farewell party were unanimous in their expressions of regret at the loss of two such ardent church people. Among those who voiced their opinion were Mrs. J. P. Archer, the Rector, John Maynard, A. T. Linton, the rector's warden, S. H. Neale, J. R. Wilkinson, the people's warden, J. M. Bygott and J. P. Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins expect to leave town the end of this week.

Nervous and Run Down The Least Noise Would Bother Her

Mrs. R. Burton, Oshawa, Ont., writes:—"Three years ago I was so nervous and run down I could hardly bear to have the children make a noise it would bother me so.

IN WOMAN'S REALM.

By JEANETTE.

"If you wish for kindness, be kind,
If you seek for truth, be true.
What you give to others, you'll find.
Your life is a mirror of you."

Down in the basement rooms of the big Y.W.C.A. building, busy fingers have been working for weeks past in the preparation of costumes for the 'Y' Pageant which will be presented this week on Friday and Saturday evenings, at the Grand Opera House. Those who watch these big exhibitions yearly have little idea of the intense amount of work and interest taken by women whose children are among the members of the classes.

Hundreds and hundreds of yards of material are used in the making of the various outfits. When five hundred or more girls are to be clothed in dainty costumes, and when many of these girls are in four or five of the dances and drills, an idea is gained of the number of costumes needed and the amount of time required to see that they are made in a way to stand the strain of swift dancing for two nights and to see also, that they are fashioned to fit the individual wearers and at as small a cost as possible.

The outfits are not elaborate but they are very pretty and unusual and they require all the accessories in the way of undies and hats and stockings and shoes, to make them complete. Again, there is the task of labelling them with the names of the wearers and of seeing that each outfit is complete and ready to be donned in a very small space of time. Much of this work is looked after by the busy mothers, working week after week in the lower rooms, where nine or ten sewing-machines have been in use all the time.

On Monday afternoons during the past weeks, a group of ladies from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has been engaged in this work at the 'Y', and on Monday evening a special group of ladies convened by Miss Large has been working. On Tuesday, there were members of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. and on Wednesday, ladies from St. Andrew's and Trinity churches, with Mrs. M. T. Breckenbridge's group working on Wednesday evenings.

Thursday afternoons brought ladies from George street United church and Thursday evenings the members of the 'Y' Old Country Club assisted in the task, while on Friday afternoons there were ladies from All Saints' Church and a special gymnasium class, and on Friday evenings a group of ladies from St. John's Church assisted in the work.

Mrs. H. Beal and Mrs. D. F. Drummond are joint convenors of the sewing committees.

ONE does not see much interest in this country in May Day, which is one of the big days in the year to the youth of the Old Country.

* * * * * *

I remember one year when I was over there seeing a splendid parade, with the May Queen as the centre of ceremonies.

* * * * * *

It is a great honor to be chosen May Queen, and something for the fortunate girl to boast of for years.

* * * * * *

Usually enthroned on a floral float, she is dressed really like a queen and is the envy of all. Next to the Queen in importance are the maids of honor—there were about twenty in the procession I saw—and they are dressed only a little less gaily than their leader.

* * * * * *

Probably the May Queen festivities are not carried out here because of the climatic conditions, but couldn't we crown our queen about the twenty-fourth? The weather is usually good about then, and it seems too bad to miss all the fun and frolic that accompanies the ceremonies.

* * * * * *

I think it would be nice to have a May Queen at every school, with a procession and a Maypole. Many children could be interested—the girls as maids of honor and attendants, and the boys are courtiers. There is room, too, for jesters and other fun-makers.

* * * * * *

This, linking us up as it would with the Old Country, might well form part of the Empire Day celebration on May 23.

* * * * * *

There are enough Old Country people in Peterborough to put such an affair across well; maybe the Home and School Associations will take the question up?

* * * * * *

Here's what Tennyson pictures, in "The May Queen":%

You must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear,
To-morrow 'ill be the happiest time of all the blythe new year;
Of all the glad new year, mother, the maddest, merriest day,
For I'm to Queen o' the May, Mother, Im to be Queen o' the May.

There's many a black, black eye, they say, but none so bright as mine:
There's Margaret and Mary, there's Kate and Caroline:
But none so fair as little Alice in all the land they say,
So I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

I sleep so sound all night, mother, that I shall never wake,
If ye do not call me loud when the day begins to break:
But I must gather knots of flowers, and buds and garlands gay,
For I'm to Queen o' the May, Mother, Im to be Queen o' the May.

As I came up the valley whom think ye I should see,
But Robin leaning on the bridge beneath the hazel tree;
He thought of that sharp look, mother, I gave him yesterday,
But I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

He thought I was a ghost, mother, for I was all in white,
And I ran by him without speaking like a flash o' light.
They call me cruel-hearted but I care not what they say,
For I'm to Queen o' the May, Mother, Im to be Queen o' the May.

They say he's dying all for love, but that can never be:
They say his heart is breaking, mother—what is that to me?
There's many a bolder lad 'ill woo me any summer day,
And I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

Little Effie shall go with me to-morrow to the green,
And you'll be there too, mother, to be see me made the Queen;
For the shepherd lads on every side 'ill come from far away,
And I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

The honeysuckle round the porch has wov'n its wavy bowers
And by the meadow trenches blow the faint sweet cuckooflowers,
And the wild marshmarigold shines like fire in swamps and hollows gray,
And I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

The night winds come and go, mother, upon the meadow grass,
And the happy stars above them seem to brighten as they pass;
There will not be a drop o'rain the whole o' the livelong day,
And I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

All the valley, mother, 'ill be fresh and green and still,
And the cowslip and the crowfoot are over all the hill;
And the rivulet in the flower dale 'ill merrily g'arce and play,
For 'Im Queen o' the May, Mother, I'm Queen o' the May.

* * * * * *

Maybe we don't admire, altogether, the spirit of the young lady, but we must admit the exhiliaration she feels in prospect of being crowned May Queen.

* * * * * *

It has been suggested that a Maypole dance might form part of the Old Home Week program. It would be very pretty, of course, but hardly appropriate to the occasion. Such an affair would, however, be quite in order for May twenty-third.

What do you neighbors think of the idea?

TOO MUCH, IF ANY

The Spatts had been at it again.

"And furthermore," said Mrs. Spatt, concluding her long tirade, "you certainly aren't much of a husband.

"Well, my dear," her husband retored, wearily, "I can truthfully say you are a lot of wife."—Tit-Bits.

The Mirror of the Mode

By Mary Marshall

This straight-line, one-piece frock of grege crepe de chine shows a novel arrangement of the finely pleated skirt.

The straight side-pleated skirt has been such a favorite with so many women that one hesitates to say that its days are numbered. In the smartest wardrobes you will find skirts of this sort made of silk crepe or one of the lighter woolen materials. They are just what many women like best to wear with informal little jackets and cardigans that Chanel and other French dressmakers have brought forward and that women in this country have accepted so willingly.

One must not, however, overlook the importance of the new flared skirts, closely fitting at the top with fullness introduced by means of gores, godets and wide inverted pleats.

Then there are the new pleated skirts with a diagonal top — like a yoke scarcely more than hip length on one side and extending nearly to the knee on the other. You will find this arrangement in many of the new summer dresses of plain or figured silk.

A clever young American, recently returned from France, completed her sports ensemble with a bandeau round the head of fine copper-colored gauze, which toned attractively with her short sports necklace made of copper. A European fad which is interesting but hardly likely to become popular in this country is that of wearing earrings of different lengths—one short and one long, but otherwise very much alike.

Come In Handy

By CORONA REMINGTON

Jim Allen shivered as he stood in the jostling group and waited dumbly for the big doors to open and the crowd to rush in. Slowly he counted the men around him—twenty-eight of them, all trying to get the same job.

As the moment approached for the doors to open, Jim's tension grew. If he failed this time he would have to beg or steal, for Sally had to have food and warmth; there were exactly thirty-three cents left in the worn pocket of his trousers and he had had no breakfast. Cold bit his ears and his thinly clad body, and hunger nipped at him from inside. He only felt these discomforts in a remote way for his mind was too occupied with thoughts of his fiancee.

They had been neighbors back home—had fallen in love as naturally as any other denizens of the forest and had spent a blissful month planning their future. Then Sally had suddenly developed a s reak of restlessness.

"Just seems like I couldn't settle down till I got a chance to see a big city," she had told him. "I ain't never seen a street car nor any big fine houses or nothin'. They say they got houses down there twenty or thirty stories high, just piled one on top of the other. It must be a sight."

Jim had tried to dissuade her, but in vain. Sally was determined. The adventurous spirit of her pioneer ancestors had seemed to crop out in her. On a bright fall morning she had taken wings unto herself and had flown away, carrying with her a crash covered "telescope" full of home-made clothes and $8.80 in her cheap little purse. Jim had heard from her regularly, but the letters had brought little news: a few laboriously written lines of stilted sentences: "I am well and hope you are the same. I like it here fine, but do miss you a heap. Hope all your folks are well." Then at last had come a note: "I am bad off sick. Can you come? Don't tell Mommy and Poppy."

Half frenzied with terror lest she should be desperately ill, Jim had dropped his work and rushed to town. After a bewildering search he had found her in an unspeakably dreary rooming house, in an unheated room. Her face was pinched then and her cheeks flushed with fever. When he first saw her he was so shocked that he could not speak, but he carried in his heart for years afterward the memory of her face as it lighted up at sight of him.

When the people in the rooming house heard that Sally's friend had arrived they helped him find the things he needed. They directed him where to get food and where to buy fuel for the empty grate. Almost immediately the girl began to show improvement. Jim spent his few dollars with joy, then suddenly found his pockets nearly empty and the search for work began. Day after day he tramped the strange, bewildering streets. At first he allowed himself only two meals a day, then only one meal until finally, with thirty-three cents left, he did not dare permit himself even a cup of coffee. If he didn't get this job—

The doors in front of him opened noiselessly. A well-dressed man stood at the entrance.

"Sorry, boys, but we hired a man yesterday afternoon."

The crowd turned away growling and swearing. In a daze Jim moved down the unfamiliar street. At a big store window he was attracted by a display of homespuns. "These are woven back in the hills by the mountain folk," a card informed him. It would be warm inside and he felt that he could not endure the cold another minute, so he turned in the door.

"Can I wait on you?" a man's voice inquired.

"I was just lookin' at the homespun you got in the window. Mommy used to make me weave that stuff when I was a youngun."

"Can you still do it?"

Jim nodded listlessly.

"We've got a loom and spinning wheel and we're thinking of putting on a window display for a week. Could you find a mountain girl to spin?"

Something like an electric current swept through Jim as he grasped the import of the other's words.

"Sure could," he answered eagerly.

"All right. Tomorrow's Saturday. You come on down and get the loom set up and we'll start the display on Monday."

So the Sunday papers carried an advertisement to the effect that Sally Lane and Jim Allen of Bear Wallow would give a demonstration of weaving and spinning at Whittington's all the following week.

By the time the store opened Monday morning people were already crowded around the big window, to watch the mountain girl and man at work. Every hour they came out of the show window and talked to the customers in the store.

"They're the quaintest things I ever saw and you ought to hear them talk!" said one customer to another. "Mr. Whittington says he's going to keep Sally to sell the goods because she can explain how it's made and everything, and Jim's going to do some kind of work around the store. Sally told me all about it. She's the happiest little thing—and so pretty—looks just like a wild flower."

Jim laughed that night for the first time in weeks as he held Sally close in his arms.

"My weavin' come in handy, didn't it?" he said. "And remember how Mommy used to have to beat me to make me do it!"

Get a Package Today

Princess Soap Flakes are becoming more popular every day because they give such excellent results, and yet are so economical—the big yellow package is brim full and a few flakes make mountains of rich, effective suds. Because they are all pure soap and not a lot of cheap chemical filler, they go much further than ordinary chipped soaps.

This Red Hand on top of the package guarantees it genuine.

Guarantee

Palmolive guarantee to replace any washable garment which, by reason of its having been washed with Princess Soap Flakes, has been damaged in texture or its colour made to run, provided such garment has been washed in accordance with instructions. We suggest that you test garments in plain, tepid water to make sure they are washable and that the colour will not run.

PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES Made in Canada

Clippings from my Scrapbook

I have just been going through some of my many scrapbooks—full of clippings which I have been gathering for years—hundreds of hints for making housework easier and obtaining better results. Here is one which says:

"Carpets may be cleaned by sprinkling them with wet salt and bran. Leave this on for an hour and then brush well. A carpet from which the colour has faded, can be partly restored by using an ounce of salt in a pailful of water."

On the next page I find an article about wringing sheets and tablecloths. The thread next to, and running parallel with the selvedge is double, while the cross threads are only single. Therefore, if, when wringing sheets and tablecloths, you do so by the selvedge, your household linen will wear much longer.

Careful wringing will lengthen the life of any article. There are so many fine things, such as silk stockings, lingerie, lace things, which should not be wrung out at all, but merely squeezed gently or rolled in a bath towel to absorb the moisture.

And washing is just as important as wringing. Too much rubbing results in worn spots—it absolutely ruins delicate fabrics. And some soaps contain harsh chemicals and caustic which fairly eat away the fine threads from which most fabrics are woven. To guard against both these dangers, I always use Princess Soap Flakes for my washing. They contain no ingredients which are harmful to anything that will stand the touch of plain, tepid water, and they are so efficient in removing dirt that only the minimum of rubbing is necessary.

As I turn page after page of my scrapbooks, I find notes I have made on nearly every one as I have discovered more and more uses for Princess Soap Flakes. I would not have room here to list them all. If I did, the list would include every household washing task—dishes, woodwork, floors, windows, the family washing, and those dainty, filmy things which require special care.

I would like very much to have you try Princess Soap Flakes, and if you will send me your name and address, enclosing 4c in stamps for postage, I will see that you receive a free trial package. I would also be glad to help you with any washing problems you may have. Address your letter to 64 Natalie Street, Toronto 8, Ontario.

Hints for Washing Lingerie

Before washing a piece of rayon lingerie, one should go over it and catch together all the little beginnings of runs. Without very much trouble the thread may even be picked up with a fine crochet hook, the point of which has been waxed. Runs in silk stockings may also be mended in this way.

With rayon, when one tiny thread becomes worn, it starts a run which soon becomes irreparable. So you see how important it is to wash rayon carefully. Never use water that is too hot, and guard against very much rubbing, too. When washed, wring gently and roll in a towel. Rayon and other silk lingerie, and delicate lacy under-things, may be safely washed, both for colour and texture, in Princess Soap Flakes.

You Do Not Need to Eat So Much If You Take

BOVRIL

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

The statement is often made that eggs taken raw are more nourishing and more easy of digestion than cooked eggs. Recently this opinion has been reversed and experts tell us that cooked eggs are more completely digested than raw eggs and are more agreeable than raw eggs to most individuals.

Hard-cooked eggs have the reputation of being less wholesome than those cooked soft, but this statement is usually qualified by the note that if eggs are cooked for over fifteen minutes they are then as digestible as soft-cooked eggs.

Most persons find eggs in almost any form quite wholesome and agreeable, though for children coddled eggs, poached eggs and the powdered yolk of very hard-cooked eggs are usually recommended.

Fried eggs may be entirely wholesome to all save invalids and very young children. But they may also be just the reverse. The right way to cook them is to use plenty of fat and to let it become quite hot, but not burning, before the egg is introduced. Once the egg is in the fat the pan should be drawn from the flame and the cooking should continue off the flame. The hot fat should be basted over the egg so that it cooks evenly and no part of the white should be hard and leathery. The consistency of a properly fried egg is not unlike that of a poached egg.

Scrambled eggs should be cooked so that the eggs are creamy through. They are best made in butter, a little of which should be put in the bottom of a perfectly clean frying pan. It should be heated but not at all browned. The eggs, slightly mixed, should be put in and the heat turned down and cooking should continue at a fairly low temperature. the eggs being stirred throughout the process so that they do not become crusty or hard on the edge.

Included among the building permits issued this week from the City Engineer's office, is one providing for the installation of a 12,000-gallon gasoline storage tank at the British American depot in Ashburnham.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

Influence of Mind Over Mind

When you think about the treatment of an ailment of the body you naturally have medicine in mind, but what about the treatment of an ailment of the mind?

Although some drugs are used when extreme necessity arises, the treatment of mental ailments, that is in the early stages, is by the use of the doctor's mind on that of the patient.

This is what is known as psychotherapy which is not a hard word when you remember that "psycho" means the mind, the "therapy" means treatment.

Now mental specialists differ in the way they go about the treatment, but it is usually by one of three or four methods.

The first is what is called the educational method where the doctor takes complete command of things and undertakes to educate the mind of the patient. This is often called the Dubois method.

He goes into the whole matter with the patient, teaches him enough anatomy, and physiology, to know what his mind should do normally, also some pathology, which is what a condition is called when it is not normal, that is diseased.

He "enlightens" the patient in every way possible and persuades him to take the proper view point about his complaints.

This means of course that the patient must have a certain degree of intelligence and that the doctor must give the case the necessary amount of time.

The second method is known as the suggestive method which may even include hypnotism. Certain suggestions are made to the patient that will help him to "get above" his symptoms or depressions.

The physician attempts to strengthen his will power, to keep him busy with thoughts about other matters than his ailment.

A third method is the "analytical" method, or psycho analysis as you so often see it called.

This takes in dreams, and slips of the tongue. The patient is allowed to talk about anything and everything that comes into his mind and the doctor notes the subjects he talks about, and what is more important the subjects he avoids.

By bringing the avoided subject or subjects to the light, the doctor can often show that is is really not so important as the patient thinks it is. Also that his ideas about it are all wrong, what the right ideas are, and so forth.

Now you can readily see that persons who are just beginning to have mental ailments need careful treatment and it is the trained specialist, who knows how to appreciate the matter, who should get the best results.

However the family physician who really knows the family and all its affairs financially and every other way can often get results in a short time.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

The Price He Paid
(By Ella Wheeler Wilcox)

I said I would have my fling
And do what a young man may;
And I didn't believe a thing
That the Parsons have to say.
I didn't believe in a God
That gives us blood like fire,
Then flings us into Hell, because
We answer the call of Desire.

And I said religion is rot.
And the laws of the world are nil;
For the bad man, is he who is caught
And cannot foot the bill;
And there is no place called Hell,
And Heaven is only a myth.
When a man has his way with a maid
In the fresh keen hour of youth.

And money can buy us grace.
If it rings on the plate of the church,
And money can neatly erase
Each sign of a sinful smirch.
For I saw men everywhere,
Hotfooting the road of vice,
And women and preachers smiled on them,
As long as they paid the price.

So I had my joy of life.
I went the pace of the town.
And then I took me a wife,
And started to settle down.
I had gold enough and to spare,
For all of the simple joys
That belong with a wife and a home
And a brood of girls and boys.

I married a girl with health
And virtue and spotless fame.
I gave in exchange my wealth,
And a proud old family name.
And I gave her the love of a heart
Grown sated and sick of sin.
My deal with the devil was all clean-up
And the last bill handed in.

She was going to bring me a child
And when in labour she cried,
With love and fear I was wild.
But now, I wish she had died.
For the son she bore me was blind,
And crippled and weak and sore,
And his mother was left a wreck,
It was so she settled my score.

I said I must have my fling
And they knew the path I would go.
Yet no one told me a thing,

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Restored Vim and Vigour

What a blessing "Fruit-a-tives" proves to those worn out and weary by the day's work. A blood purifier, a builder of health and strength, this marvellous medicine, made of an extract from fruit juices, combined with the finest medicinal ingredients, is just what is needed to regulate bowels, kidneys and skin—sharpen the appetite—steady the nerves—and restore the whole system to its former vigour and vitality. As Mr. John O. Ringheim, Wynndel, B.C., writes: "My nerves were completely gone and I was so tired out and run-down that work seemed impossible. Since taking "Fruit-a-tives" I am eager to work and life is worth living again."

One cannot realize, until he has gone through the mill, how fine it is to be well again. I owe my present good health to "Fruit-a-tives." Try it. 25c. and 50c. a box—at dealers everywhere.

Of what I needed to know.
Folks talk too much of a soul,
From heavenly joys debarred,
And not enough of the babes unborn
By the sins of their fathers scarred.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. Myles Henry is Elected President of Catholic Ladies' Organization.

Mrs. Myles Henry was elected president of the Catholic Women's League, at the annual meeting held on Monday evening. The Rt. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, D. D., Bishop of Peterborough, is honorary chaplain and other officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. Frank Lynch, first vice president, Miss Margaret McCabe, second vice president, Mrs. A. J. Reynolds, third vice president. Mrs. Bruce Law, recording secretary, Mrs. William J. Hickey, corresponding secretary and Miss Emma Corkery, treasurer. Councillors will be Mrs. W. J. Young, Mrs. W. O. O'Brien, Mrs. W. Bell, Mrs. J. F. Mackenzie, Mrs. J. J. Doris, Mrs. F. J. Overend, Mrs. Ken. Poole, Mrs. T. Ryan, Mrs. J. D. Fitzpatrick, Miss Norah Shevlin and Miss Stella Brady.

An encouraging report of the past year's activities was read by the recording secretary, Mrs. Bruce Law.

The retiring president, Mrs. J. J. Lynch, was presented by the incoming president, Mrs. Henry, with a handsome rosary in appreciation of her untiring efforts as president, from which the League has greatly benefited.

It was announced that proceeds of the bridge party which will be held on Saturday afternoon next will be entirely devoted to relief work.

Plans were discussed for the League's co-operation in "Old Home Week" celebrations and decision as to these was left over until the next regular meeting on June 3rd.

A brief, pleasing program of music was a feature of the meeting and included a vocal solo by Miss M. Allen, with accompaniment by Miss L. Letellier, and a reading by Miss Peggy Roche.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It happened, once upon a time, that as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, on his way home to his hollow stump bungalow, he heard a buzzing sound in the bushes and a voice said:

"Don't go home by this path, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Why not?" asked the rabbit gentleman, even before he saw who was speaking to him.

"Because," went on the voice, "at the end of this path the Skillery Scallery Alligator is hiding to catch you. So you had better go around by the other path. It is a little longer but it is safer."

"Safety first!" said Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh. "But who are you that is so kind as to warn me?" he asked.

"Oh, I'm just a Squiggle Bug," was the answer, and out on a leaf crawled a jolly red-spotted bug, whom Uncle Wiggily knew quite well.

"Thank you," said the rabbit gentleman. "It is very kind of you Squiggle Bug, to tell me about the

"Thank you!" said the rabbit gentleman.

Skillery Scallery Alligator. I shall go around the other way and fool him. It is a great favor you have done me. Now, can't I do a favor for you?"

"Well," said the Squiggle Bug, "it seems a silly thing, but I should dearly love to go skating."

"Skating!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Skating? When here it is May and almost summer."

"I told you it was silly!" buzzed the Squiggler. "But you asked me if you could do me a favor and the only one I can think of is that you could find a place where I could go skating. You see, it's too cold for me to skate in winter, but it is warmer now and I'd like to find a pond of ice where I could glide around."

"Right gladly would I do you a favor if I could," said Uncle Wiggily, "but I cannot make ice in May; that is around here. I know in some countries there is ice all the year, but not here. Can't you think of some other favor I can do in return for the one you did me?"

"Thank you, it doesn't matter," buzzed the Squiggle Bug. "I just had a notion that I wanted to skate, but of course I know you can't make ice in May. So forget it."

"Oh, but I say! Look here!" suddenly cried Uncle Wiggily. "I have some ice in my refrigerator. What about coming home with me and skating on a cake of ice in my bungalow? How about it?"

"Thank you, no. It wouldn't be the same as skating on a frozen puddle or little pond," buzzed the Bug. "Just don't bother."

But on his way home, by a different path which he took so the Skillery Scallery Alligator with the double-jointed tail wouldn't get him, Uncle Wiggily was thinking it was too bad he couldn't find a frozen pond for the Squiggle Bug to skate on.

"He wouldn't need much of a pond, he's such a small bug," said Uncle Wiggily. "A little puddle as big as a plate would be large enough if it were frozen. But where can I find a skating puddle in May?"

All of a sudden as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, he heard a noise in the bushes and he got ready to run, thinking, after all, it might be the Alligator. But it was only Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, coming home from school. As soon as they saw Uncle Wiggily they barked joyfully and Jackie said:

"What do you think, Unkle Wig! Just now Peetie and I found a hard puddle."

"A hard puddle!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "What do you mean?"

"Well, back here, down in a sort of glen where the sun doesn't shine, Peetie and I found a puddle that is still frozen," barked Jackie. "It's hard and all ice, for the sun hasn't melted it, and we skipped stones on it and they didn't break through. Come and look."

Uncle Wiggily knew that in deep glens or hollows between hills, which were too narrow for the sun to shine into, often, even on Fourth of July, there could be found ice and snow left over from winter. It was this sort of a place the puppy dogs had found.

As soon as Uncle Wiggily saw the hard, or frozen puddle, which was about as big as an automobile tire, the rabbit cried:

"Hurray! Now the Squiggle Bug can come here and skate!"

Quickly Uncle Wiggily ran back to the red-spotted bug's house and called him to come out with his skates. And putting them on, the jolly insect was soon gliding around and around the little frozen puddle down in the cool, dark glen, skating like a house on fire.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily!" buzzed the Squiggler. "Now you have done me a big favor and I am happy." Mr. Longears and the puppy dogs laughed to see the Squiggle Bug skate. And he only fell down once.

Hubbell Pitches No-Hit, No-Run Game Against Pirates

GIANTS POUND HURLERS FOR TWELVE HITS

Home Runs Feature New Yorkers' 11-0 Victory Over Pittsburgh Club.

CUBS LEAD LEAGUE.

Hubbell's Performance First No-hit Game in Majors Since 1926.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 9 (Canadian Press). — Carol Hubbell, star left-hander of the Giant staff, and who was with Toronto in 1926, entered the Hall of Baseball Fame at the Polo Grounds yesterday by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the Pirates. The Giants pounded Jess Petty, Fred Fussell, and Remy Kremer for 12 hits and 29 bases, including two home runs by Melvin Ott and one each by Chuck Fullis and Andy Cohen. The home team won easily up behind Hubbell's fine effort, 11 to 0.

Hubbell's performance was the first no-hit game in the majors since August 1, 1926, when Ted Lyons, of the White Sox, let down the Red Sox without a safety.

CUBS LEAD LEAGUE.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 9 (Canadian Press). — The Cubs marched into first place yesterday through their own 4 to 2 victory over the Robins at Ebbets Field, and the St. Louis' victory over the Braves at Boston 10 to 2. It was the second straight Chicago triumph over the Flatbush Flock.

CARDS EVEN SERIES.

BOSTON, Mass., May 9 (Canadian Press). — Cavorting over the home plate eight times in a single inning, the first, the St. Louis Cardinals evened its series with the Braves by taking the second game yesterday, 10 to 2.

The defeat, together with Chicago's victory over Brooklyn yesterday, put the Braves out of the league lead for the first time this season.

PHILADELPHIA WINS 3-2.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (Canadian Press). — Phil Collins pitched the Philadelphia Nationals to their third successive victory yesterday by defeating Cincinnati 3-2. The former New Orleans right-hander, starting his first game for the Phillies, pitched tight ball, allowing seven scattered hits.

Tigers Win Sixth Consecutive Victory

DETROIT, Mich., May 9.—(C.P.)—By working eight hits for five runs while the Washington Nationals were able to convert 13 safeties into only four tallies, the Detroit Tigers yesterday chalked up their sixth consecutive victory. George Uhle incidentally turned in his fifth win in as many starts this year.

Philadelphia Evens Series With Chicago

CHICAGO, Ills., May 9.—(C.P.)—Philadelphia evened the series with the White Sox by winning 5 to 4 yesterday afternoon. The Athletics made ten hits count for five runs, while the Comiskey team could score only four tallies off three enemy pitchers.

C. G. E. AND BRINTON IN SCORELESS DRAW

C.G.E.-BRINTON SPLIT POINTS IN LEAGUE SOCCER

Forwards of Both Teams Work Hard to Score—Curtis Was Kept Busy.

NO GOALS TALLIED.

Second Half Full of Excitement —Goals Went Under Bombardment.

The first evening game of soccer, last night, brought out a large crowd of spectators and they were well rewarded for their attendance when the Canadian General and the Brinton A. A. battled to a scoreless draw, after a fast game that was full of thrills from beginning to end. It was an excellent game of the code, until the remaining minutes of the tussle when the spectators failed to realise real sportsmanship. Some of them showed the lack of knowledge on the issues of the game, more particularly when they would question the referee's ruling. The heaquarters' ruling is: Never interfere with referees or judges, no matter what the decision may be. He is the sole official upon whom all decisions are final.

First Half

Early exchanges were even, but there were no dangerous episodes at either goal, though McMaster with a good opening might have done better than send the ball past. Both goalkeepers then had a busy session and they came through the test perfectly. The first real excitement was caused when Sharman beat the defence on the run, he shot for the far corner of the post which terminated in Bolton saving in the nick of time. Then C.G.E. boys took a more active part in the play by continuing a seige that tested the qualities of Bishop and Baylis to their utmost. Quick as a flash, the Brinton forwards transacted the same performance at the other end.

C.G.E. Righ Wing Brilliant

Robb had a fine run down the wing with McMaster along with him. Creighton never being far away to prevent them from becoming dangerous who put in a good defence against the fast wing. McMaster time and again would work inside the defence to be stopped at the critical moment; Bishop punting clear up-field.

A well-planned movement by the C.G.E. forwards resulted in Jones nullifying their progress in the vicinity of the goal. He sent James away to the other end when the latter shot wide of the mark when only a few yards out. On the next visit, he redeemed himself by giving Bolton a lightning drive to hold from a peculiar angle. Fast play continued on an even basis, with both front ranks setting a fast pace around the goal area, that created a lot of excitement.

James' Great Effort

On mid-field play, Baylis got the better of a hard tussle and left his right wing in possession of the ball and travelled inside the C.G.E. full backs. James saw the opening and, wasting no time, he let drive from close in with a rising shot. Bolton making a brilliant save when his defence was in a quandary. From the goal kick, Robb went along the wing himself and went down into the flag corner. All the opposing players gathered into the corner, but the winger surprised them when he centered across the goal mouth. With the goal-keeper outwitted, the ball rolled right across the front of the goal looking for a gentle touch.

Half Time—No scoring.

Half Time

Both ends were visited on resumption and the first real effort came from Burgess, who shot was stopped by Bishop. For a time it was all Electric Boys, but their finishing was lamentably poor, especially after defeating the defence and banging the ball into the custodian's arms. A misunderstanding between the C. G. E. backs left an opening for the Brinton forwards. They went right through to give Bolton a merry time that only brought two unsuccessful flag kicks.

Pressed Continually

At this point of the game, the Canadian General eleven dominated the play, which brought out the defensive tactics of the Brinton half backs. Even the defence were down in the opposing half. Curtis being the prominent factor in holding the score at nought, in fact, he was on his game and handled all the shots ranged at him in masterly fashion.

Teams Increased the Pressure

Nearing the conclusion of the tussle, the forwards on both teams endeavored to break the deadlock, but their efforts were fruitless. oN matter what the forwards of the respective teams tried to do, the halves would check very closely and never did allow the player any latitude of the desired area. The closing minutes were full of excitement and the fans saw a real, old time game that was well worth watching.

Full time—No scoring.

The Teams

Canadian General—Bolton, goal; Figg and Wade, full backs; Rankin, Mann and Blowers, halves; Robb, McMaster, Mitchell, Wilson and Burgess, forwards.

Brinton A. A.—Curtis, goal; Bishop and Baylis, full backs; Lucas, Jones and Creighton, halves; Cherrill, Tait, James, Hawthorne and Sharman, forwards.

Referee—Alex. McKinley.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral for COLDS and COUGHS HOSPITAL CERTIFIED

NEWARK BLANKS TORONTO LEAFS BY 5 TO 0 SCORE

Bears Batter Jess Doyle From the Mound in the First Inning.

BIRDS WIN SERIES.

Keys Defeat Montreal By Close Scores in Doubleheader.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (Canadian Press). — As far as the Leafs were concerned yesterday's game with Newark was over at the end of the first half of the opening inning.

Jess Doyle pitched two-thirds of that first inning, and during his abbreviated stay on the hillock two triples, a double, and a single shot off the Bruin bats.

Two bases on balls, a long sacrifice and a dropped ball at the plate by Bud Hungling also crept in to help the enemy cause, and the whole works accounted for four runs.

Al Mamaux, Newark big right-hander, always has been a great pitcher at the Fleet Street Park, but he surpassed all former efforts in winning yesterday's game 5-0. Mamaux was able to put the ball just about where he liked, and he did not yield a base on balls until after two were out in the ninth.

RED WINGS WIN 4-3.

ROCHESTER, May 9 (Canadian Press). — Rochester made it five straight wins and a clean sweep over the Jersey City Black Cats as Paul Derringer outpitched "Lefty" Shoffner here yesterday to take a triumph 4 to 2.

Derringer allowed but one hit in the first eight frames, but two safeties and two bases on balls in the ninth gave Gilhooley's men a pair of runs.

SENSATIONAL BASEBALL.

MONTREAL, Que., May 9 (Canadian Press). — Sensational pitching performances under frigid weather conditions marked the closing doubleheader of the four-game series between Reading ond Montreal here yesterday afternoon, which the Keys captured by scores of 3 to 1 and 2 to 1.

Ed. Holley, former Chicago Cub, missed a no-hit game by the skin of his teeth when pinch-hitter Eddie Conley rapped him for a single in the eighth inning to score Tice, who had walked, and also steal a shut-out triumph from under his nose.

ORIOLES WIN SERIES.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 9 (Canadian Press).—The Baltimore Orioles continued their relentless trail of the league-leading Rochester Red Wings by capturing the third and final game of the series from the Bisons here yesterday afternoon for a clean sweep. The score was 6 to 1.

Toronto Elizabeths Win Junior Honors

WOODSTOCK, N.B., May 9.—(C.P.)—Showing themselves to one of the greatest basketball teams in the country, Toronto Elizabeths gained the highest junior cage pinnacle when they captured the Canadian title here last night by defeating the local 89th Garrison 62 to 14. They won the round, 108 to 33. Bob Abate's lads showed a powerful offenesive which crushed all opposition throughout the series. The half-time score was 27 to 8.

Queen's University Football Stars Fail To Pass Their Examinations

KINGSTON, May 9.—While everything appeared promising for the Queen's University senior football team for next fall, despite losses by graduations, the old bugbear of the student, the spring examinations, have almost resulted in wrecking the team, so much so that of the twelve players who were regulars last season only four are at present eligible for next fall, while some of the substitutes of the senior squad have also fallen by the wayside.

The graduation of "Unc" Durham, Ed Hanford, Conrad Nagel, "Chuck" Agnew and Jimmie Wright robbed the team of both outside wings, one half-back, one inside wing, and the snapback. But the worst blow of all came in the examination results. Information now is that "Bubs" Britton, "rish" Monahan and Fred Warren have failed, while of the substitutes on the first team Armour Munro and 'Jakie' Jamieson were turned away. The latter two were freshmen, and it is doubtful if they will return to college. In addition, it is believed likely that George Caldwell, substitute quarterback, will remain at his home in Hamilton next fall.

Thus it will be seen that Queen's senior team has been pretty well wrecked. "Howie" Carter and "Red" Gilmore remain for the backfield, and if "Huck" Welch enters Queen's this department of the team will not be weakened. Then, too, there is the possibility that "Weenie" Day, who kicked the juniors to the championship, will be given a chance to make good in senior company. A new flying wing will probably have to be found, though Britton may pass the supplementary examinations, and qualify to play one more year. Last season, though it was Britton's fourth in the Intercollegiate, he played in only one college game, and is still eligible under the four-year rule.

'Ike' Sutton will again be available for quarter, but of the other linemen only Basserman and Kilgour remain.

AT THE CAPITOL

HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE, BUSTER KEATON IN "SPITE MARRIAGE" THE LAUGHING HIT OF THE SEASON, AND A BEAUTIFUL HISTORICAL SUBJECT IN TECHNICOLOR "MADAME DUBARRY" AT THE CAPITOL TO-NIGHT, AND FOR THE BALANCE OF THE WEEK.

To-night the Capitol offers a great variety program. High class vaudeville, a beautiful historical subject in technicolor, and what is said to be the laughing hit of the season, Buster Keaton in "Spite Marriage."

Buster is a tailor who is infatuated with the star. To win her he poses as a millionaire by wearing the suits left by his customers to be cleaned. When he marries her, he tries to be an actor and almost wrecks the stage. Then he sails on a rum runner, is cast away at sea and turns up on a yacht on which his wife is a guest. The yacht catches fire and is deserted and Buster and the heroine navigate it through a storm back to port.

After all this of course she goes ahead and really falls in love with him, and there is a pretty little romance mingled with the hilarious comedy details of the picture.

Dorothy Sebastian is beautiful and vivid as the acress heroine, and Buster plays a "dressed up" role for the first time, as he's almost always in tailored clothes rather than the usual rags of the screen comedian. There are many "different" things in the picture, such as laughter generated by breath-taking thrills.

Leila Hyams as the blonde vamp, Edward Earle as the leading man in the theatrical troupe, William Bechtel as the stage manager and John Byron as the rum runner are all adequately cast and Edward Sedgwick who directed "The Cameraman" handled the megaphone. The story is by Lew Lipton and Ernest S. Pagano.

EVERY 3000 MILES ..... change your grease!

THE first thing about lubrication is to realize that changing the grease in your transmission and differential is just as important as changing your oil. Changing your oil regularly will take you only half way along the road to correct lubrication—changing your grease will complete the trip.

Eliminate imperfect lubrication and you eliminate 75% to 80% of the cause of repair bills. Worn out grease means imperfect lubrication and the safest precaution is to have your grease changed regularly every 3000 miles. Don't forget that "One pound of fresh grease added to 4 pounds of worn grease, equals 5 pounds of old grease."

When you change be sure you get WHIZ GEAR GREASE—for WHIZ GREASE is all pure lubricant. 160

Many Matters Discussed At Annual Meeting of Ladies' Golf Club.

OPEN JUNE 5.

Mrs. J. A. Aylmer was elected president of the Ladies' Golf Club at the annual meeting, held this week. Other officers for the ensuing year will be Mrs. W. H. Hill, vice-president; Mrs. Gerald Wood, captain; Mrs. L. W. Scott, vice-captain; Mrs. J. H. Vernor, treasurer; Mrs. L. A. Potvin, secretary. The committees are as follows: House, Mrs. H. A. Morrow; Telephone, Mrs. T. P. McCullough (convenor), Mrs. D. Carmichael, Mrs. J. Wearing, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, Miss L. Lyle; Bridge, Mesdames J. W. Fraser, A. L. Killaly, G. H. Thompson; Bridge telephone, Mrs. A. L. Killaly (convenor); Social, Mrs. E. S. Martin (convenor), Mrs. J. F. Strickland, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, Mrs. E. H. Wood, Mrs. L. A. Potvin; Trophy and Sports, Mrs. C. G. Graham (convenor), Mrs. B. D. Hall, Mrs. R. Turner, Mrs. D. Lawrie, Mrs. G. Wood; Handicap and Ringer, Mrs. F. L. Roy (convenor), Mrs. J. A. Aylmer and the Misses M. Rush and M. Hatton.

Mrs. E. S. Martin and Mrs. L. A. Potvin have charge of the schedule of matches.

The report of the Nominating Committee, with members in Mrs. H. W. Morphet, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer and Mrs. F. L. Roy, was accepted by the meeting, which was held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A., with twenty members present, and the president, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, in the chair.

It was decided that, if possible, the opening day should be on June 5 and that a field day for both men and women should be arranged, with dinner, dancing and bridge to follow.

It was also decided that an Orthophonic fund be started.

Year's Report.

A comprehensive report of the past year's activities was presented by the secretary, Mrs. L. A. Potvin, recording a very successful season in 1928.

Much appreciation was expressed for the efforts throughout the year of Mrs. B. D. Hall and Mrs. E. H. Wood, in charge of social events and working under a handicap caused by club rulings.

Gratitude was also expressed for the work of Mrs. J. W. Fraser and her committee, who acted as hostesses at the weekly bridge luncheons; to the Games and Handicap Committee, with Mrs. R. Grant as convenor, "who worked faithfully and often and kept the players very interested by the number and variety of matches provided"; to the Telephone Committee; to the Captain, Mrs. E. S. Martin; to Mrs. C. G. Graham, who was in charge of a very successful Field Day; to the Prize Committee, and to The Examiner, "for their courtesy in publishing the various events of the season."

The following is a list of the winners of the various prizes and trophies for the year:

Golf Championship and Kendry Trophy, Mrs. Gerald Wood, runner up Mrs. R. Grant; Hall Trophy, Mrs. L. W. Scott (Mrs. R. Grant); Stratton Trophy, Mrs. L. A. Potvin (Mrs. R. Grant); Ringer, Mrs. Gerald Wood; Consolation Championship, Mrs. C. G. Graham (Mrs. F. L. Roy); Captain and Vice-Captain, Mrs. R. Grant (Mrs. C. G. Graham); Junior Roy Trophy, Miss Isabel Davidson (Miss F. Ackerman); Special 36 Handicap, Mrs. J. Blaiklock (Miss L. Lyle, runner-up).

In the mixed two-ball foursome, Mrs. G. Wood and Dr. Green were victors, with Mrs. B. D. Hall and Mr. Alex. Donelly as runners up.

Prizes for Field Day events were won as follows: Driving: 3 balls, Mrs. Gerald Wood, with an average of 155 yards, longest ball over 200 yards. Monkey Competition: Leader, Mrs. E. S. Martin, assisted by Mrs. J. D. Collins, Mrs. J. H. Vernor and Mrs. E. H. Wood. Approaching and Putting: Mrs. G. Wood. Putting: Miss Lenore Lyle. Nine-hole handicap: Mrs. R. Grant.

Mark Roth Walks the Ties 'Till Rescue Cab He Spies

ST. LOUIS, May 9. — There wasn't a Roth to the carload here when a Wabash train unloaded three cars of Yankees at the Delmar avenue station for the series with the St. Louis Browns. In fact, Mr. Roth was nowhere to be seen. He was the stout gentleman who was walking the track about two and one-half miles away and might be seen if one were patient enough to wait.

As the Yankees go and where they go, so goes Mark Roth. Mark is travelling secretary, who handles all the business while the team is away.

As the Yanks motored near St. Louis their train stopped, somebody said: "Delmar Station," and a few, including Mark, got off Then the engineer stepped on it, the train moved away and it was a tough spot for Mark to climb back. He didn't.

When the players arrived at the Delmar station, two and a half miles away, a cab was sent back along the road running parallel with the railroad tracks. The driver finally caught sight of the travelling secretary, then travelling the worst way, and whistled a cheery welcome.

Mark quit the railroad right then and there and caught up with his charges a few minutes later.

VIEWS ON SPORT

With the continued warm weather the whole jamboree of baseball practising will likely break out this Saturday.

SENIORS TAKING PRACTISES SERIOUSLY.

The Central League team has been getting in some valuable hardening work in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. Last night when Doug. Loomis stepped out on the floor to give the boys their P. T. jerks, fifteen stalwart athletes, all sweatered and ready to go, greeted him. The players have been taking their pre-season work seriously and the average attendance at the classes has been better than 90 per cent. The boys put pep into their games, too. Last night in a scramble for the volley ball Ab. Rose came out of the melee with a black eye.

With good weather promised the next ball practise is scheduled for King Edward School grounds Saturday afternoon.

GOOD GAME MARRED BY SPECTATORS.

The C.G.E. and the Brintons played to a scoreless tie in the soccer game last evening. The good play of the teams was marred by the unsportsmanlike behaviour of the spectators, who questioned nearly every decision that the referee made.

LACROSSE GAME ON PROGRAM.

Discussion of the hoped-for Old Boys' lacrosse game is gaining in volume. King Dillon is understood to be working on the proposal and he will receive the support of every old timer to put the game over.

Fred Lynch, in a letter the other day, was very interested in the game, and he suggested that the play periods be five minutes and the rests fifteen. He wants to play in the game.

The problem of sticks is one that can be easily overcome. Lou Lebarr said yesterday that he has half a dozen sticks ,and he spoke of places in the city where another dozen could easily be secured.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR SOFTBALL SEASON

The Bridgenorth Wildcats have a full line-up of fifteen players to step out in the softball scramble, and they have had a practise this week. The Teco Stores are rounding up a team and any prospective players would be welcomed on their outfit. Perce Harrison is sitting in pat in the north end, with a complete team of experienced players.

HOCKEY STARS MIGRATING TO NEW HOMES.

The hockey tourists are beginning to take flight, and next Wednesday, May 15, will see them all settled in their new homes. Already several moves have been made, but the migration is not nearly as great as before the O.H.A. put the screws on the wandering player. In the old days teams were phantoms and grew up overnight.

It is reported that Sandi Delabbio, Sault Ste. Marie goalie, and his team mate, Stearns, have moved to Toronto. These two boys were the stars of the Greyhounds. Young Delabbio gave a sensational exhibition in the nets on every appearance.

BRITISH GOLFERS PLAYING STERLING GAME.

British golfers have been furnishing all the surprises in the great international golf championships that are now in progress England. Yesterday Percy Arliss, young British pro., played the most amazing game yet, when he turned in a card of 69 to break the record of the Muirfield course of 70 set by Leo Diegel, the American star, the day previous.

There have been sensational battles around the course, but the play of Walter Hagen, defending champion, has proved disappointing He has been shaky on his starts; his drives have been off the line, and his putting unsteady. Hagen has been having a hard time of it and turning in some of the worst cards of his brilliant competitive career.

CARL HUBBELL EARNS HIS "SPURS."

Carl Hubbell, former Toronto moundsman, is the hero of the hour in the major leagues following his feat yesterday when he turned back the slugging Pittsburg Buccaneers without a hit or run. Lefthanders do not often enter baseball's hall of fame, and it was just eleven years ago that "Dutch" Leonard, hurling for the Boston Red Sox, performed the same enviable feat Hubbell's achievement overshadowed every other in the majors yesterday, not even the advance of the Chicago Cubs to first place in the National being considered as important as the amazing pitching served up by the man who never was a regular on the Toronto staff, "Lefty" Stewart doing most of the portside hurling in 1925, when Dan Howley's team won the International League title, and stopped Baltimore's great pennant-winning streak at seven Hubbell, who was the property of the Detroit Club, was recalled for the season of 1926, but for some unexplained reason his major league pretensions were not taken seriously,and he was cast adrift, only to secure employment with the Beaumont club in the Texas League His work then attracted the attention of the New York scouts, and Manager McGraw called him in late last season, Hubbell immediately springing into prominence In fact, he shoved "Lefty" Faulkner right out of the Heydler loop The new no-hit, no-run star is slimly built, but he can make a ball do all kinds of fancy tricks when dashing plateward No pitcher who has appeared in Toronto since the war could match Hubbell as a curve-ball specialist. When with the Leafs he took keen delight in whipping all major league teams in exhibition tilts, but as stated before, his ability passed unnoticed So again class has asserted itself

Ontario Man Swears By Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. A. C. Cooper Suffered With Dreadful Kidney Attacks

Toronto, Ont., May 8.—(Special)—"On different occasions I have had dreadful attacks from the Kidneys," writes Mr. A. C. Cooper, 22 Tennis Crescent, Toronto, Ont. "Sometimes the pain was almost unbearable. I remembered the remedy my Father used when Doctors said he could not live. Dodd's Kidney Pills pulled him through. They have pulled me through every time also."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They act directly on the kidney strengthening them and putting them in condition to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have restored sound health to thousands of troubled men and women. Give them a trial at once.

The road to good health lies through the kidneys, so keep them in good condition with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

DIEGEL AGAIN TAKES LEAD

Canadian Open Champion Has Card of 140 For Two Days' Play.

WALTER HAGEN NEXT.

GULLANE, Scotland, May 9.—(A.P.)—Leo Diegel, pro champion of the United States, and Canadian open champion, was back in the glare of the limelight again to-day when he rounded the 18-hole second lap in the British open golf championship with a 69, taking the lead away from Walter Hagen, captain of the United States' Ryder Cup team, in the first 36 holes of play. Hagen beat Diegel by twto strokes in to-day's play, turning in a card of 67, but the count for the two days of play gave Diegel 140 and Hagen 142.

Percy Alliss, yesterday's leader with a score of 69, took 76 to make the round to-day, but is still in third position with a total of 145 for the two days.

Johnny Farrell and Bobby Cruickshank were next with 147 and Bill Mehlhorn, Tommy Armour and Aubrey Boomer had totals of 148.

Johnny Farrel scored 75 to-day. The open champion of the United States finished with a six at the home hole.

Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scot from New York, took a 74 to send his 36-hole total to 147. Cruickshank went out in 34 but faltered on his incoming journey needing 40.

Around the City

Michael Long, a resident of Stewart street, suffered painful injuries when he was attacked by a large dog, yesterday. Mr. Long was severely bitten in the calf of the leg. The police, who were immediately notified, arrived on the scene and conveyed the unfortunate man to the Clinic, where he was treated by Dr. McCullough.

Though it is still in the dim distant future, it is evident that some Peterborough folk have been thinking of Civic holiday, for several inquiries have reached the City Hall, regarding the date. This year, the Civic holiday will be on the first Monday in August.

"Cats can see at night—they catch the birds who have their heads under their wings, they tear up my flower beds and they come in on my verandah so frequently that I have to take in mats and cushions and place a cardboard over my screen doors," an indignant Peterborough housewife told The Examiner this morning. She believed that there should be some regulation to compel people who own cats to keep them in after seven o'clock in the evenings.

JAMES MORLEY HEADS A.Y.P.A.

Forty-five Attend Banquet of Anglican Young People's Organization.

PROF. ISHERWOOD SPEAKS.

James Morley was elected president of the Anglican Young People's Association of All Saint's Church at the annual banquet and installation of officers, this week. J. Hope is vice president for the coming year, Miss J. Maconomy, secretary, Miss E. Young, treasurer, and the executive is composed of the Misses Wallace, D. Worboy, H. Lundy and A. Hope.

The banquet which was a feature of election night was attended by about 45 young people, and the Rev. J. D. Paterson acted as toastmaster and proposed the toast to "The King", which was responded to in the usual fashion.

Mrs. R. Price proposed the toast to "The Church", and the Rev. Mr. Paterson responded, while the toast to the A. Y. P. A. was voiced by Miss B. Wilson of St. John's Church and responded to by J. Morley.

The next toast, to "The Ladies", was humorously worded by J. Hope and Miss C. Adams of St. John's branch made a witty reply.

Following the toast list, community singing was enjoyed and the installation of officers was made by the Rev. Mr. Paterson.

The speaker of the evening, the Rev. Professor Isherwood of Toronto, was then introduced, and gave an interesting account of his tour of Western Canada, a trip taking sixteen weeks and covering fourteen thousand miles. The speaker extolled the magnificence of Western Canadian scenery and remarked on the inspiration derived from the beauties of nature.

Gradually reverting from the description of his trip, Professor Isherwood talked very interestingly on the finer things of life and urged his hearers not to forget their duty of spiritual loyalty.

In conclusion, he strongly emphasized the fact that, as true Christians, support must be given to missionary organizations.

Miss Dorothy Worboy, a member of the Dominion executive, moved the vote of thanks to the speaker, which was seconded by A. Hope and the pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "O Canada."

CLEVELAND PAPERS BOOST TRENT CANAL

Claims This Section of Country is Becoming Mecca For American Tourists.

Peterborough's attractions as a tourist resort is getting valuable publicity in and around the city of Cleveland, Ohio. In all ten weekly papers that are circulated in the large suburban areas of Cleveland carried a short description of Peterborough's beautiful lakes and rivers.

This is the article that appeared in the papers: "One of the interesting visitors at the Sportsman's show recently held in Cleveland was Frank G. Stinson of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, Peterborough, Ontario. Aside from being secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Stinson is secretary of the Trent Waterway Development Association. This section of Canada is gradually becoming a mecca for American tourists since it can be reached by rail, auto and boat. The boating trip is by far the best from a scenic standpoint and many owners of boats made this voyage every year

"The Trent Canal affords a splendid means of passage and the adjoining lakes are places of beauty. One of the Cleveland boat owners who intends to take the trip this year is 'Milt' Gallup, skipper of the good ship, 'Wing and Wing.'"

"For your family's protection the bathroom should always be healthfully clean." This is accomplished by cleaning the tub and washbowl after each using, because Old Dutch not only removes the visible dirt, but the often-dangerous impurities, as well."

For greater economy Old Dutch is unequalled. No cleaning preparation does so much as Old Dutch and none can do it so well.

PREDICTED THAT "HUSKY" WILL RESTORE HEALTH FOR SCORES IN PETERBOROUGH

Help Is Here For Those Who Suffer From Indigestion, Constipation, Chronic Headaches, Catarrhal Troubles, Rheumatism, Kidney Ailments and Similar Ills—Treatment of Several Bottles Restores Run-Down Nerves, Puts Healthy Flesh on Skinny Bodies and Gives New Strength and Energy.

Expert From the Husky Laboratories Is Now at Bond's Drug Store To Explain How Best Results Are Obtained From This Medicine — You Are Invited To Call On Him.

"Husky will relieve thousands of persons in Peterborough and vicinity of indigestion, constipation, headaches, catarrhal troubles, rheumatism, nervousness, kidney ailments, and similar ills," said the "Husky" expert to-day at Bond's Drug Store, where he is explaining to local people how best and quickest results are obtained from this medicine.

"I saw this," he said, "because I have personally seen thousands of persons who have used Husky with such marvelous results for the above ailments. I have seen so many men and women, who complained that their stomach filled with gas as soon as they ate a meal, that their stomachs bent them double with pain, that they couldn't bear to eat more than a few bites of food at a meal, use two or three bottles of Husky and become entirely free of their trouble.

"I have seen others who had neuralgia, pains across their back and rheumatic trouble all through their body use Husky for a time and get genuine relief. Many women have reported to me how Husky has relieved them of insomnia, which had afflicted them for years, and that using this medicine has built them up and strengthened them so much that they do their housework in half the time that it used to take them.

"When the trouble has been hanging on for some time it usually takes three or more bottles of Husky to give lasting relief, but often the results are noted right away and in most all cases Husky helps in a very short time. The quick way Husky helps was brought before me again to-day when a Stratford man, who just began taking Husky Tuesday, told me that already he could eat much better, as Husky has taken the gas off his stomach and relieved the pains he used to always have after eating."

Stops Having "Colds"

Mrs. I. Carlson, of 226 Carlton St., Winnipeg, Manitoba, writes about her experience with Husky as follows:

"I was so subject to bad colds and they made my back weak and achy, and caused me to hurt all over. These colds made me feel so bad I decided to try Husky when I heard others praising it so. Very soon Husky cleared my head and stopped it from aching and then my back stopped paining me and I got stronger.

MRS. I. CARLSON

"I feel so much more like eating now and I'm not bothered with constipation like I used to be. I certainly recommend Husky to anyone who has a cold or feels weak and run down as it has done so much for me so soon."

Husky relieves chronic acidity (too much acid in your system), which irritates the delicate mucous linings of your body, sours your food, constipates you, robs your blood of the red corpuscles which you must always have plenty of to keep from getting weak, nervous and run down. You are easy prey for colds and such troubles when these ravaging acids have irritated and weakened your body.

Begin Husky now and note how soon the acidity is reduced, food tastes better, sleep is more sound and you feel stronger. Call on the Husky expert at Bond's Drug Store and let him explain to you how best and quickest results are obtained from the use of this medicine. Call on him, you incur no obligation by receiving his information and it may be the means of gaining real and lasting health.

CANADA CAPTURES SECOND POSITION

Xavier Batlet Wins Kolster Radio in International Bridge Contest.

"Viewing the many prizes Xavier Ballet of 495 Cote des Neiges Road, Montreal, Quebec, has in his home as a result of his keen knowledge and skill in that greatest of all card games, Bridge, it is easier to appreciate his winning second prize in the recent Vaniva Products International Bridge Contest. Competing against thousands of keen bridge players, from every quarter of the United States and Canada, Mr. Ballet is modest about gaining International honors by carrying off the second prize, an all-electric model KOLSTER Radio, valued at over $500.00.

He is well-known in Montreal and district, as a keen minded business man, and has won recognition as an authority on Bridge. Mr. Ballet is also hoping to play a few trump cards with a niblick on his favorite golf course.

The problem for competition was set by Sidney S. Lenz, outstanding authority on bridge, and 14 times holder of the National and International Bridge Championship. The competition created tremendous interest among bridge players all over America. In the list of 471 prize winners, only three Canadians won recognition ,and the Province of Quebec must be a keen bridge centre supplying as it did Canada's only other two winners, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stewart of Riviere du Loup.

Delighted with his prize, Mr. Ballet said that given the choice of all the prizes offered—automobiles included—he would have chosen the radio. Already the owner of a Kolster Battery model, he is an enthusiastic fan, and he has added another splendid and useful piece of furniture to his already delightful home by his skillful solution of the bridge hand set in the problem.

MINISTER NAMES WEED INSPECTORS

Two Provincial Officers Are Appointed By Hon. John S. Martin.

TORONTO, Ont., May 9 (C.P.).—The appointment of A. R. G. Smith, Waterloo County, Ont., and John D. McLeod, Glengarry County, Ont., as special weed inspectors for Western Ontario and Eastern Ontario, respectively, was announced yesterday by Hon. John S. Martin, Provincial Minister of Agriculture.

Their appointments represent the first move in an intensive campaign which the department will wage this year to combat the weed menace. Since the passing of the compulsory act of a few years ago, weed inspectors have been appointed by the municipalities. Now the municipalities are to have the assistance of Mr. Smith and Mr. McLeod, as well as the aid of several part-time inspectors, who will devote most of their attention to Northern Ontario.

Beats Taking Soda for Sour Stomach

"For quite some time I used soda for gas and sour stomach. Then I decided to try Adlerika and found it far better than soda."—Ed. McNeill.

Adlerika relieves gas and sour stomach at once. Acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel, it removes old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and see how good you feel! Overcomes constipation. McDermid & Jury, E. L. Payne, McDermid Drug Co.

MOVE IS MADE TOWARDS UNION

Congregational Church in England Adopts Important Re-union Report.

FORM ORGANIZATION.

LONDON, May 9.— (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)— The Assembly of the Congregational Union of England and Wales has adopted an important report on re-union with the Church of England and the Free Churches.

The report suggests some central organization should be formed with certain administrative powers to promote co-operation between the Congregational churches and the various parts of the Free churches, and regarding the Anglican church welcomes the approaches made in recent years. The report, however, in connection with the Anglican church, does not accept the view that government of the church by bishops is a necessary organ of the church unity and continuity and adds it does not believe union can be brought about by acceptance of episcopal ordination.

The Congregationalists are the most ancient community of dissenters. The majority of their churches were formed into the Congregational Union in 1831 and it includes at present 51 county and other associations, with 4,754 churches and preaching stations.

WHEAT POOLS LEFT IN LURCH

Liverpool Importer Denies Report That Argentina Is Dumping Wheat On Market.

ALL CONTRACTED FOR.

LIVERPOOL, England, May 9.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—"The Canadian and Australian wheat pools have been left in the lurch,' one prominent grain importer said to-day in commenting on the world drop in prices of wheat. "It would be all bosh to say the Argentine was dumping large quantities of wheat. This was contracted for from two to four months back."

Liverpool now holds the largest stocks of wheat in the country, and they were exceeded in quantity only in the pre-war years, this importer added. "The question of reduction of grain freights by the United States has nothing to do with the large sales of Argentine wheat, he declared.

SIR EDMUND TURTON DIES IN ENGLAND

Fifth Vacancy is Created in House of Commons On Eve of Election.

LONDON, England, May 9.—(C. P. Cable.)—A fifth vacancy was created in the House of Commons to-day, the eve of dissolution, by the death of Sir Edmund Turton, Conservative member for Thirsk and Malton. He was elected over a Liberal opponent by a majority of 6,500 in 1924 and had been seeking re-election. A chairman of standing committees and member of the Royal Commission on Local Government, Sir Edmund was 72 years of age. He was a Justice of the Peace and director of a number of important rail and financial concerns.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN U.S. TARIFF TO MEET WITH HOME OPPOSITION

Residents of New England States Will Oppose Duties on Milk and Cream.

CONSUMER WILL PAY.

Producers in United States Cannot Meet the Demands of Large Cities.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9—(Canadian Press).—The proposed changes in the United States duties on milk, cream and cheese are expected to meet with considerable opposition in that country, W. F. Stephen, secretary of the National Dairy Council of Canada said to-day. He did not expect the changes to be adopted in their present form.

The proposed increases in the duty on cream was a very heavy one, said Mr. Stephen, from 20 to 48 cents a gallon. But in discussing the matter with some American importers they had intimated they would still need to have Canadian cream, he said. Consumers in United States are very much opposed to such increases continued Mr. Stephen.

12 Hours Run of Ontario

He pointed out that the New England States are within a 12 hour's run of Ontario and Quebec and the population of these states numbers about 36 million persons. Producers in U. S. A. can not meet the demands of this big population, said Mr. Stephen.

At the same time, he pointed out, Canada's exports of dairy products to U.S.A., represent only about two percent of the later consumption. The New England States do not need to fear Canada but the whole middle western states, he said.

As regards exports of cheese, American firms use Canadian cheese for their process products in this line. Qualities in Canada as to dairy products have been pretty well standardized, he said, and are popular in the United States.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings, but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999 1445 E. Third St., Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

GERAGHTY—ALLEN

The marriage was solemnized in Rochester on Thursday, April 9th, of Nora Allen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Allen of Galway, and Joseph Geraghty.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. Geraghty and his bride motored to New York. They will live in Orange, New Jersey.

OBITUARY

MRS. CHARLES ADAMS

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. Charles Adams, aged 56 years, at her home, 275 Sherbrooke street. Mrs. Adams was the daughter of the late Joseph Ball. She was born in England but had lived in this city for 53 years being well known. She was a member of All Saints' Church.

She is survived by one son, Walter Adams; one daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Miller, both of Peterborough, and also one sister, Mrs. Thomas Mills of this city, and one brother, Walter Ball of Alberta.

The funeral will be held from the family residence to the Little Lake Cemetery at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. J. D. Paterson will be the officiating clergyman.

DONALD GEORGE MURRAY

The death occurred yesterday of Donald George Murray, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. H. Murray, 408 McDonnel street.

The funeral service will be held from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Rev. William McDonald will be the officiating clergyman.

In Police Court

Ordinarily, Walter Mahaffey, Patterson street, dealt in junk. That was his business—and he needed a horse George Doig of North Monaghan, sold him the equine assistant on a weekly payment plan. But complications set in.

Somewhere in the negotiations Doig had understood there lingered a verbal agreement that Mahaffey should sell him all the junk drawn by the horse. Payments on the animal were kept up until Doig gained the impression that the verbal agreement was not being lived up to. To answer the ends of junk justice, so to speak, the North Monaghan party brought along his hired man, Harry Faiers, and together they handled Mahaffey none too gently, while a third party named Thompson went into the stable and led the disinterested horse away.

All this, and more, came out during the hearing of charges of assault brought against Doig and Faiers by Mahaffey, in the police court late yesterday morning. As a result the employer was fined $5 and costs while his hired man was fined $15 and costs.

In the same court, John Maloney of Belmont township was remanded until next Tuesday when he will appear before the court in Havelock town hall on a charge of arson and also a charge of assaulting his wife and daughter.

Before Magistrate Langley this morning, William Laporte of Apsley, was charged with the theft of a motor car to which he pleaded guilty and was remanded until Saturday.

TAXICAB DRIVER STANDS MUTE AS ROBBERY CHARGES ARE READ

Survivor of Border Trio Which Staged Hold-up Near London Arrested

CAUGHT IN DETROIT.

Prisoner Is Said To Have Admitted to Police Complicity in Robberies.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 10 (C.P.).—Ralph McLaughlin, 23, Windsor taxicab driver and self-admittedly a survivor of the border trio which ten days ago staged a disastrous hold-up attempt near London, stood mute this morning in Sandwich police court when charged with participation in the robberies at Cottam and Leamington two weeks previously. The prisoner did not speak, but his counsel, J. E. S. Taylor, sought an adjournment till next Tuesday. The request was granted, as Taylor assured he would be ready for the hearing on that day.

Arrested in Detroit

McLaughlin, who was arrested late yesterday afternoon in Detroit and transferred immediately to Windsor police headquarters after waiving extradition, admitted last night to complicity in the Cottam, Leamington and London enterprises, according to announcements by Detective-Inspector Claude Renaud of Windsor and Inspector Arthur Moss of the Provincials.

This morning, the prisoner was charged specifically with the robbery while armed of Ernest Riley in a Cottam pool hall and of Grant Thomas an operator of the Symes and Stodgell garage at Leamington. The first venture netted $16.15 and the second $65. After the Sandwich trial, McLaughlin will be removed to the Middlesex county jail at London, Inspector Moss said.

36 DIVORCE BILLS.

OTAWA, Ont., May 10.—Thirty-six divorce bills were approved by the Private Bills committee of the House of Commons this morning, with little discussion. The measures will shortly be presented to the House for third reading. One bill was allowed to stand over to enable one of the parties concerned to produce further evidence, should she so desire, in opposition to granting of a divorce in favor of the husband.

Intending To Kill Himself Man Summons Officer

WINDSOR, May 10 (C.P.).—When Constable Hector Rivers reached the home of John Rose, Ford City, yesterday, he found the man sharpening a butcher knife. "Don't be in a hurry officer, I'm going to kill myself," Rose said, waving the officer aside. Rose, who has been having family trouble, was subdued and locked up on a charge of non-support. He will be kept under observation.

MONEY IS HID IN HAY STACK

Man Arrested On Bank Robbery Charge Makes Statement to Police.

FIGHT EXTRADITION.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10. (C.P.) — Carrying with him a copy of a confession said to have been made by one of the five men under arrest at Niagara Falls, N. Y., and two points in Massachusetts, Clifford Magone, of the Attorney-General's Department, left yesterday for Buffalo where he will launch extradition proceedings against the five men. The five prisoners all have homes in Niagara Falls, and will return there, without any proceedings, but not to Beamsville, Ont. Therefore Ontario's fight will be directed from Buffalo. The men were arrested in connection with the recent robbery of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Beamsville, Ont.

Only Canadian in Band.

Henry Biscock, 19, is the prisoner alleged to have made the confession to the police. He is the only Canadian among the five, and while he gave his home at Niagara Falls, N.Y., he is well-acquainted with the district around Beamsville, the police declare.

Hiscock, in his confession, is alleged to have stated that the $2000 loot was hidden in a haystack on a farm near Ancaster, Ont., following the robbery. One of the robbers returned the day following the robbery and secured the money, which was "split" in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Approval Is Given Bills

King George's Speech Is Read To Parliament By Lord Chancellor.

80 MEMBERS NOT RETIRING.

Committee of Experts To Discuss Dominion Legislation in November.

LONDON, May 10 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — With a formality that echoed back to the days of the Norman kings, Parliament was prorogued to-day. Dissolution by proclamation of His Majesty, signed at a meeting of the Privy Council at Craigweil House, Bognor, will follow. The members of the House of Commons, with bantering comments, disposed of their remaining business in about ten minutes when the House assembled. There was a pause. Then a summons from the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod called the Commoners to the House of Lords, where royal assent to the Bills was given by commission.

Interest to Canada.

The King's Speech from the Throne, as read by the Lord Chancellor, contained an announcement of particular interest to Canada. This was that in accordance with the recommendations of the last Imperial Conference an experts committee had been summoned to meet in London in October to consider operation of Dominion legislation in view of the altered relations between the component parts of the British Empire. The committee will consist, in the official phrase, of "Representatives of My Governments"—in other words of the Governments of Great Britain, the Dominions and India.

And as Parliament stood prorogued the members of the Commons returned to their own chamber and there bade their good-byes. Eighty of them are not seeking re-election.

The Speaker, seated at the Clerk's table, first shook hands in farewell with the venerable "Tay Pay" O'Connor, who, suffering from rheumatism, was led up in a chair.

Premier Stanley Baldwin followed by other ministers also went through the formula of farewell handshakes.

Privy Council Meets.

Prorogation took place shortly after noon. The Privy Council met at Craigweil House shortly afterwards and the King signed the proclamation dissolving Parliament. This was an act which the King must perform himself, and actual prorogation had to be effected before the proclamation could be constitutionally signed.

The dissolution ends the life of a Parliament that has been in existence since the Ramsay MacDonald Labor Government was defeated at the polls in November, 1924. Nominations for the new Parliament will close on May 20, and the general election will be held on May 30.

"The negotiations for my participation in the multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war in a form proposed by the government of the United States were successfully concluded March 2, last, when my ratifications of this instrument in respect of all parts of the Empire were deposited in Washington," the message said.

Prince Henry's Visit.

It then related that the Duke of Gloucester had been entrusted with a mission to confer the Order of the Garter on the Emperor of Japan as a pledge of friendship which unites two countries in determination to co-operate for peaceful settlement of international questions in the Far East and the world at large."

The King expressed a hope that a pledge of friendship which unites evetns in China would continue to improve and progress toward more stable conditions. He also expressed the hope that peace would soon be restored in Afghanistan and a government established "with which my government will be able to resume the friendly intercourse of the past.

Reduction of Armaments.

"My government have continued to press for reduction of armaments in consultation with other governments at Geneva," the message said. "A new hope of an early settlement of the question of further naval disarmament has recently been given by the speech of the United States' delegate there of which my government were not slow to express their appreciation.

"My government have announced their intention of taking necessary

CANADA'S GRAND OLD MILITARY LEADER

Sir William Dillion Otter, first Canadian to be made a General, who was laid to rest to-day in St. James' Cemetery, Toronto.

THREE-CORNERED CONTEST TO BE GENERAL IN BRITAIN

Three Leaders Are Facing Plenty of Opposition in Their Ridings.

BURY CONTEST INTERESTING

Only Three Cabinet Ministers Will Enjoy a Straight Fight.

LONDON, May 10.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—With the substantial increase in number of candidates by the Conservative and Labor parties and the great increase in Liberal candidates, the general election on May 30 will see a remarkable number of three-cornered contests. And the prospects of the party leaders and the ministers in Premier Stanley Baldwin's government are the subject of much political comment.

The three leaders are all facing plenty of opposition in their ridings, but the Prime Minister and his two ex-Premier opponents are considered fairly sure of re-election. Premier Baldwin, who received an acclamation in Bewdley, Worcestershire, in 1924, is opposed this month by S. Hancock, Labor and S. B. Carter, Liberal.

Lloyd George Opposed By Labor

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George in Carnavon in 1924 hand an overwhelming majority of 12,000 over a Labor opponent. This year he has a blind opponent in T. Rhys, Labor, and is opposed by Bowen Davies, K. C. Conservative.

Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, in Seaham, Durham, a new seat for the Labor leader, has three opponents, —but Sidney Webb, academic veteran of the Labor movement, had a majority of 10,000 in a straight fight with a Conservative opponent in 1924 and the addition of a Communist this year is not expected to do the Labor leader much harm as he had a majority of 2,100 in Aberavon, Wales, in 1924.

Of the cabinet ministers, only three will enjoy a straight fight, and in each instance they meet Labor opponents. These are Sir Aus-

New Uniforms Arrive For Fire Department

The members of the Fire Brigade will soon step out in natty new uniforms. Twenty-one uniforms, the annual shipment, has arrived, being obtained through the local firm of Riley and Hickey's, who secured the tender. These uniforms consist of two pairs of trousers, vest, and a single-breasted coat. Each year the firemen are equipped with two pairs of trousers vest and a coat. The coats are alternately double-breasted and single-breasted, the latter being used for summer wear. This year the firemen are being equipped with their new Summer toggery.

PARKS BREAKS HUNGER STRIKE

Prisoner Takes Soup As It Is Being Served To-day.

HAD GONE EIGHT DAYS.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 10. (C.P.) — This is "vegetable soup" day at the Essex County Jail, and as the steaming pails were carried along the corridors, Jack Parks, 28, broke his eight day fast, accepted his ration, and shoved out his cup for "seconds."

Evidence of his hunger strike had shown in his appearance, the authorities stated.

Parks was sentened here yesterday to five years in the Portsmouth penitentiary for the theft of an automobile. He had been captured in Moose Jaw, having crossed into the United States and back into Canada again, after his break from the Peterborough City Jail.

He indicated to-day that he will remain at the Essex County jail for another 30 days, the time allowed for an appeal, "even if the food is punk," he confided.

Tribute Is Paid To Otter

General Sir William Otter is Laid To Rest in St. James Cemetery.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

All Units of Canada's Military, Naval and Air Forces Were in Cortege.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10 (By Harold Raine, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — With religious simplicity, accompanied by military pomp and solemnity befitting his illustrious military career, General Sir William Dillon Otter, who rose from private to general in nearly 70 years of service to his country, was buried this afternoon in St. James' Cemetery on Parliament Street. It was perhaps the most impressive military funeral that has been given to a Canadian warrior since that of Major-General W. B. Morrison, Commander of Canadian Artillery in the World War, who died in Ottawa four years ago.

Veterans Since 1861 Out

All military units in Toronto and veterans of all the campaigns in which General Otter served from the time he became a soldier in 1861, were represented as the funeral procession moved off slowly from the armouries. The route to the cemetery from the armouries where the brief and simple service of the Anglican Church was held, was lined with thousands of people who stood in reverent silence undisturbed except by the mournful notes of the funeral march and the dragging footsteps of the troops.

The line of march took the procession past the General's late residence, the Alexandra Palace on University Avenue, where he died last Monday night in his 86th year.

The body of Sir William, in a plain mahogany casket, wearing his full dress scarlet tunic, his sword lying on top of the Union Jack with the white-plumed helmet of a general, lay in state in the armouries from Thursday afternoon until a few minutes before the funeral service. Orders and medals won in campaigns in which he fought, beginning with the Fenian Raids in 1868 and ending with the World War in which owing to his advanced age he was appointed Director of Internment Operations in Canada, shone brightly on the tunic of "The Grand Old Man of Canada's Militia".

Thousand File Past Bier

A continuous stream of people had filed past the bier to honor in death the soldier who led to victory Canada's first contingent in the Boer War. The sword that lay on Sir William's bier was presented to him by the women of Toronto when he returned from South Africa as a tribute of victory, for which he was personally thanked by Queen Victoria and Sir Wilfred Laurier, then Canada's Prime Minister.

Right Rev. James F. Sweeny, Anglican Bishop of Toronto, Rev. Canon H. P. Plumptre of St. James' Cathedral, and Rev. J. Russell MacLean of St. John's Garrison Church, of which Sir William was a warden, officiated at the funeral service at the armouries. Canon Plumptre and Rev. Mr. MacLean proceeded to the cemetery where they recited the committal prayers and pronounced the benediction.

"Last Post" Is Sounded

As the casket was lowered into the grave, buglers sounded the "Last Post" and all troops under arms except the firing party, stood rigidly at attention, their officers at the salute. It was an emotional period, whose keenness was only broken by a few sharp commands as the last shrill not of the salutary bugle call died away. In response the firing party composed of members of the Queen's Own Rifles and the Royal Canadian Regiment raised their rifles and fired three volleys across the grave, and the troops presented arms as a final salute to the departed soldier. Had Sir William not been a retired general, he would have received an artillery salute of twenty-one guns.

The honorary pall bearers were Major General H. A. Panet, Major General W. E. Hodgins, Major General The Hon. W. A. Logie, Major General H. M. Cawthra Elliott, Major General G. B. Hughes, Major General S. C. Mewburn, Major General J. H. MacBrien, and Major General Robert Rennie. Sergeants of the Q. O. R. which Sir William formerly commanded, and the R. C. R. which he commanded in South Africa, were the actual pall bearers.

All units of Canada's military, naval and air forces were in the cortege. Col. K. R. Marshall, A.D.C., represented Governor-General Viscount Willingdon. Lieutenant-Governor W. D. Ross of Ontario attended in person. The headquarters staff in Ottawa was represented by Major-General R. MacNaughton, and Lieut.-

CANADA ACTS AS CONNECTING LINK BETWEEN EUROPE AND ORIENT

Rev. C. A. Seagar, Bishop of Toronto, Addresses Local Kiwanis Club.

IMAGINATION NEEDED.

Hearers Urged To Get Behind Their Church and Aid in Great Work.

Canada stands in that highway of influence which links the old life of Europe with the new life of the Orient, and through her geographic position, the intrinsic value of her national wealth and her connection with the British Empire she justifies the gradual awakening of her people to a well grounded national consciousness.

Such was the portent of one of the most inspiring addresses ever heard at a Peterborough Kiwanis meeting, delivered to-day by the Right Reverend C. A. Seager, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Bishop of Ontario. Coming to the club through the instrumentality of the Rev. Douglas Paterson, of All Saints' Church, His Lordship held the eager attention of every listener, for his address was one having a direct bearing on the church movement as a parallel to the national growth of the Dominion.

Calling attention to that stir of latent force in Roman Catholic, Presbyterian-Methodist union, Church of England and other religious institutions, all of whom he declared to be lengthening their cords and strengthening their stakes throughout Canada, and drawing a parallel in the gradually awakening consciousness of a great national worth among Canadians, the reverend gentleman went on to discuss the grounds on which such stir and new consciousness might be based. While speaking in somewhat critical vein of the misunderstanding which only now is subsiding between the provinces, and which he believed was due in years gone by, to a lack of imagination among the peoples of each section, His Lordship expressed the belief that this imagination, growing, would mean a new realization of Canada's national consequence. Grounds for optimism could be found in Canada's national consequence. Grounds for optimism could be found in Canada's geographical position as the true highway to the Orient (though by rail, and not by waterways as the early explorers had hoped for); science had made possible her agricultural development on the prairies and her relationship with the British Empire had already begun to result in her development in a centrifugal manner such as would make her a

KING GEORGE SIGNS DECREE

Privy Council Meets For First Time Since Councillors of State Were Appointed.

EARL OF BALFOUR PRESENT.

BOGNOR, England, May 10 (C.P.) —King George signed a proclamation dissolving the British Parliament at a meeting of the Privy Council at Craigweil House this afternoon. The proceedings occupied only a few minutes.

It was the first Privy Council which the King had held since the historic meeting at Buckingham Palace during the early days of His Majesty's illness when he appointed Councillors of State to act for him.

With the dissolution of Parliament, the campaign for the general elections now will enter on its most active stage.

Motored to Bognor

Members of the Privy Council motored to Bognor from London and assembled in the smoking lounge overlooking the sea where King George wearing morning dress, received them.

The veteran Earl of Balfour, who had not appeared in public for a long time and has been under medical care, attended the session. He looked rather tired and worn. The Earl is one of the King's oldest friends. It had been many months since they met, and as he was an early arrival he spent several minutes talking to His Majesty before the session began.

After the King had signed the proclamation of dissolution, Sir Maurice Hanking started to London to hand the proclamation to the Lord Chancellor. The other members of the Council took a leisurely luncheon and then left for London.

Third Death Occurs In Ekfrid Family

LONDON, Ont., May 10 (C.P.) —Mary Grover, 18, of Ekfrid Township, died to-day of spinal meningitis at the home of Thomas Brown, where she had been quarantined since the death of two Brown boys from streptococcus. At first it was thought Miss Grover had contracted streptococcus infection, but medical authorities dispelled this theory.

C.N.R. RADIO STATIONS TO ASSIST IN ADVERTISING OLD HOME WEEK

Network Stretching Across Dominion Will Broadcast, Publicity.

CHILDREN'S PARADE.

Headquarters For the Week Will Be in Canadian Legion Hall.

Through an arrangement made with Canadian National Railway officials in Montreal, by Arthur Costello, of the Peterborough Old Home Week and Centennial Celebration committee, a network of radio stations from Halifax on the East to Vancouver on the west, will broadcast publicity matter regarding the biggest week in Peterborough's history June 29 to July 5.

The above announcement was made by chairman Costello while reporting for the community dance committee at the Old Home Week executive meeting in the city buildings last night, and drew forth the heartiest approval from all present. Further discussion of the general program for that week, and reports from chairmen of various other committees held the attention of all present for more than an hour. Among the decisions reached, was that in favor of procuring the Canadian Legion Hall for headquarters during the week.

At the meeting, which was in reality a carry-over from the Wednesday night executive session, certain details of the general program were amended and discussion turned to the matter of headquarters. It was felt that the Royal theatre while suitable would require considerable preparation while a traffic problem would probably be the result of having the visitors go to the theatre for their information. The Legion Hall, however, would be spacious and centrally located, yet the parking area in its neighborhood would be much more extensive. Accordingly, the motion to obtain the hall, carried.

Labor Party Stands For Complete Settlement Of War Debts, Declares Ramsay Macdonald

DONCASTER, Eng., May 10.— (C.P.)—The Labor party is apparently no more enamoured of the reparations proposals reported from the Paris Experts' Conference than are the Conservatives.

Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier and leader of the party, addressing a meeting here to-day said: "The other day in Paris the proposal was made that we again show our special good will on the matter of reparations and that more burdens be placed on our shoulders.

"I am sorry to say that the arrangements made heretofore regarding reparations have not yielded the good fruit expected.

"As far as the Labor Party is concerned, we are going to take no more burdens on our shoulders, unless we get equivalent guarantees that the nations which said they could not accept less contributions from our old enemies, prove their poverty by spending les suuon armaments.

"This nation is not going to continue its policy of super-generosity, which has characterized it hitherto."

Mr. MacDonald continued: "We stand for complete and final settlement of war debts all around."

COUNSEL FOR MENARD BROTHERS WANTS THEIR SANITY TESTED

Men To Appear in Court On Charge of Murdering Earl Durham To-day.

ACTIONS AT PRELIMINARY.

124 Indictments Are On Docket Which Will Be Placed Before Quebec Judge.

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, May 10. — Provincial alienists will be called in to test the sanity of the Menard brothers if the motion of the counsel for the defence is granted when they appear for trial on charges of the murder of Earl Durham in the St. Henri district of Montreal, of attempted murder and of numerous hold-ups, before Mr. Justice Charles A. Wilson and a jury at the May term of the Assizes Court, which opened to-day with a docket of 124 indictments. The motion to have Norman and Lawrence Menard submitted to a mental examination will be based on their antics during the preliminary hearing.

When the Menards first appeared in a Montreal court, both appeared to be highly amused and from chuckling at the evidence they proceeded to exchange witticisms and finally to laugh outright. This provoked a stern reprimand from Judge Choquette, and a sensation in court occurred when the elder Menard insolently told the judge to "shut up." Also after Mrs. Durham, widow of the victim of the St. Henri murder had briefly given evidence relating to her husband's movements on the day of his death, Norman Menard leaned over the side of the dock and made a horrible grimace at her as she was leaving the witness stand. It was only after an angry threat from the Bench that if they did not observe decorum in the court they would be removed to the cells and the hearing would continue without them, that the two prisoners subsided. If the motion to have their sanity tested is granted, it will mean that the brothers will not be tried before the Fall Assizes.

HON. JOHN S. MARTIN ANNOUNCES LOCAL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

319 Fertilizer Demonstrations Are Being Planned Through out Province.

SURVEY HAS BEEN MADE.

Permanent Experimental Fertility Fields Established at Various Points.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10 (C.P.).—A program believed to constitute the most comprehensive schedule of soil improvement work ever launched by any Canadian province was announced by Hon. John S. Martin, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, here yesterday.

The plan, to be carried out this summer, includes 319 fertilizer and soil improvement demonstrations, to be held throughout the province; the production of soil maps compiled from surveys of as many counties as can be gone over this year; the establishment of permanent experimental fertility fields at various points, and an educational campaign on soil improvement to be conducted through newspapers and county agricultural representatives.

These plans have been developed by Mr. Martin, in conference with Dr. G. I. Christie, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, and Dr. R. Harcourt, head of the college chemistry department.

Surveys Have Been Made

A soil survey of most of the province from Kingston west has already been made, as well as detailed surveys of Essex, Kent, Norfolk and part of the Niagara district by the chemistry department of the Ontario Agricultural College.

20,000 ACRES OF FARM LAND FLOODED IN WESTERN ONTARIO

Sections of Province Facing Possibility of Crop Devastation.

HEAVY PROPERTY DAMAGE.

Waters of Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie Have Invaded the Shores.

CHATHAM, Ont., May 10.—(C.P.)—A large section of Western Ontario to-day is facing the possibilities of a crop devastation which may assume grave proportions before the end of the summer, as the result of the worst flood which has been experienced in the history of the province.

In Dover township alone the report of a survey shows that more than 20,000 acres of land are flooded, while the shore line of Lake Erie has been turned into a great sea of water. The total loss up to the present time is between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

Some farmers are already ruined and no belated alleviation of the situation can save them from poverty. In other cases a partial crop may still be saved from the deluge if Providence takes a hand at once and the victims provided with sufficient means to carry them through the winter.

There has been no loss of life; while with the exception of large flocks of sheep, which are reported drowned in one area, the cattle seem to have escaped the onslaught.

The two main areas affected are in Dover township, where the waters of Lake St. Clair have invaded the shores and that district surrounding Erieau.

Passengers Drive Through City Of Hamilton With Flames Enveloping Part Of Bus

HAMILTON, Ont., May 10 (Canadian Press). — Driving through the main streets in a blazing bus was the experience here yesterday of several persons. With flames enveloping the back portion of the machine, the driver and passengers were unaware of their danger until the flames had eaten the back portion away and the roof was ablaze. Pedestrians on the street gazed in wonder at the spectacle of the flaming car proceeding along the streets with the driver and passengers serenely sitting back in their seats.

The bus was returning from a trip to the Mountain, and it is believed hot asphalt used in repairing John Street hill caused the fire. No one was injured and the fire was beaten out in a very few minutes.

Forest Fires Threaten To Cause Heavy Damage in Northern Mining Districts.

FIVE MILES WIDE.

Government Planes Are Directing Activities of Forest Patrols.

THE PAS, Man., May 10 (Canadian Press).—Raging for two days in the north, and still unsubdued, forest fires threaten to cause heavy damage in the Flin Flon and Cold Lake areas. Indian families fled to safety as the sweeping flames consumed their shacks at Mile 83 and Mile 85.

Five miles wide, the blaze is being swept northward by a stiff breeze. The mining settlement at Mile 83 was in danger yesterday, but an alteration in the direction of the wind averted possible damage. The log office and barn of the Ross Navigation Company, and the headquarters of J. Duncan, mining engineer, are said to have been destroyed.

A high blaze is reported blazing in the neighborhood of the Mandy Mine, but its extent could not be determined last night. Other fires are raging at Mile 69 and near Cranberry Portage. Government planes have been directing the activities of forest patrols, and squads of men have been despatched to halt the progress of the fires.

42 CANDIDATES ARE CONFIRMED AT ALL SAINTS'

Bishop C. A. Seagar, D.D., Conducts Impressive Ceremony Before Large Congregation.

POWERFUL ADDRESS.

Members Are Asked o Always Allow the Church to Stand First in Their Lives.

"Never let anything on earth separate you from the church," so spoke the Rev. C. A. Seagar, D.D., Bishop of Ontario, to the confirmation class last evening in All Saints' Church. There were forty-two candidates from the ages of fourteen to eighty who presented themselves at this beautiful ceremony. Rev. J. Douglas Paterson presented the class and Bishop Segar received them, assisted by Rev. C. A. G. Spence, the Rura Dean for Peterborough.

A congregation that comfortably filled the church assembled to witness this beautiful spectacle, made more beautiful as the white of the girls impressed the onlookers of the seriousness of the step that was about to be taken when the candidates would be admitted to the Holy Communion.

The ceremony naturally followed that laid down in the prayer book of the Church of England, while Bishop Seagar gave the address, speaking these words: "I thought perhaps that we might spend the time that is at our disposal for meditation in this service in contemplating what is the act of Confirmation. It is familiar to most of us, in the laying on of the hands in prayer and the completion of the baptism. Baptism and Confirmation are really one ceremony, the latter being performed by the condidates themselves after they have reached the age of discretion and reason, while the former is performed for them by their parents or godparents.

Ceremony Explained.

"Let us go deeper into the ceremony to-night. Confirmation has been ministered in the Christian church as long as it existed, and differs to-day from the past in form only. The Church of England form is only the local form or shape in which the act is performed. Let us examine the act as it is laid down in the prayer book.

"The ceremony can be divided into three parts and each part is designated or represented by a word starting with the letter "P"—Profession, Prayer, and Participation. Let us follow through and examine each of these three.

"Profession—The candidates profess their faith. This element is quite prominent. They acknowledge openly the vows of baptism, acknowledge them openly for the church when they have reached the age of reason. It is a public profession in front of the congregation, church officers, and church representatives. The individual is no longer an in-

A. JORY BURIED IN LAKEFIELD

Chicken Farmer Who Committed Suicide Near Newmarket Born in Douro.

FINANCIAL WORRIES.

Despondence, believed brought on by financial worries and an affliction which had crippled him from his youth, A. A. Jory, of the little village of Pine Orchard, near Newmarket, died by his own hand on May 7, the weapon used being a .35 calibre revolver. A chicken farmer at the time of his death, the unfortunate man had claimed Douro as his birthplace, and to Lakefield on Wednesday afternoon, his remains were brought for burial. Interment was carried out simply and quietly in the Lakefield cemetery.

Born in Douro, the late Mr. Jory is survived by three brothers and two sisters, namely R. J. Jory, Mrs. Joseph May, Mrs. J. S. Millar, all of Lakefield; Edward of Regina, and Frank of Beamsville. The late Mr. Jory had lived in Lakefield until about seven years ago, a member of a highly respected family.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10.—(Canadian Press).—News of an accident at Go-Home Bay, Georgian Bay, which caused the death of Charles Knowler, employee of the University of Toronto, and injured Captain William Longlad, was received here yesterday. An explosion resulted in the complete destruction of a 41-foot cabin cruiser, owned by Dr. W. P. Firth, Toronto, while the two men were on board. Captain Longlad is in Penetang hospital. He states that they had just finished unloading some drums of gasoline from a scow and that when he pressed the starting switch of the motor on the cabin cruiser the explosion followed.

WORLD WANTS DISARMAMENT IS CLAIM OF LIBERAL LEADER

David Lloyd George Makes Appeal To Women Voters of Great Britain.

PLENTY OF PAPER PACTS.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, May 10. — "Are you preparing for war or are you resting on peace?" With a dramatic gesture Right Hon. David Lloyd-George, Liberal leader, last night put this question to the 9,000 women who packed Abert Hall and to the 20,000 other women who heard the speech by relay in a dozen towns. That, he said, was the question the woman voter must force Governments to answer. He spoke of disarmament as one of the most urgent issues before the women of to-day.

What the world needed, he declared, was not pacts and covenants and treaties but disarmament. "We have the covenants of the League of Nations." Mr. Lloyd-George continued "Treaties, Locarno, and the Kellogg pact that banishes war altogether—on paper. At the same time we have more formidable armies in Europe at the present time than we had in 1914. We have in many respects more destructive navies. We certainly have more devastating aircraft.

"The temple of peace is being built on paper adorned, frescoed, and glittering, but still paper. New wings are being added to it with great ceremoney, but it is all paper. The temple of war, on the other hand, is of solid steel and its pillars are of solid gold. We are spending a million a year on the service of the temple of peace. We grudge it. We cut down our contribution. Why? Because it is too extravagant. We are spending in this country one hundred and fourteen millions on the service of the other temple. The world is spending hundreds of millions perfecting the mechanism of slaughter."

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, May 10.—There were not enough cattle at the Union stock yards to make a market yesterday morning. Just a couple off the railroad and a few by truck offered. The dealing was steady at the week's advance of 25 cents a cwt. on butcher cattle and all killer classes.

The supply for the week was about even with that of the previous week. Trade in all classes has been active.

The few calves offered yesterday sold steady at a slight decline for the week, making the range on choice veal 14 to 15 cents a pound, with grassers from 7 to 8 cents a pound. Calf receipts for the week were down about three hundred.

There were no sheep or lambs at the opening of the market, although it is probable that a few will arrive by truck before the close. Dealing is steady on yearlings, spring lambs and sheep, which were sold this week at prices unchanged for the previous week, on a somewhat lighter supply.

The supply of hogs this week totalled some 800 more than last week. Late sales Wednesday made an advance of 15 to 25 cents a cwt. in price, select hogs selling from $13.85 to $14 a cwt. Cattle receipts: Cattle 2, hogs 155, calves 9.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 10.—Heavy shipments of fresh eggs arrived on the Toronto wholesale market yesterday, and was an easier undertone in evidence on the market, and large dealers stated that they were reducing their buying prices on eggs today 1 cent a dozen on all grades.

Reports from the country indicate that production is at its peak, and during the next week large supplies are expected to reach the market. Quotations to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, are as follows: 28 cents a dozen for fresh extras, 26 cents for firsts, and 23 cents for seconds.

Butter Unchanged

Trading was slightly more active in the wholesale butter market, and the price of No. 1 finest New Zeal. and creamery was unchanged at 36 cents a pound, with No. 2 grade steady at 35 cents. Dealers are still operating in hand-to-mouth fashion, and the imported stocks are not yet depleted. Domestic production is active, and supplies from this source are increasing daily.

Lacking any new interet, trading remained quiet in the wholesale cheese market, and the price of No. 1 large, colored, waxed, Government-graded cheese was unchanged at 17¾ cents to 18½ cents a pound, delivered.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 10.—Declining to within ½c of the low points reached by the October future last August, when it went to $1.07½, the wheat market yesterday established new low levels for the current delivery month, and at the close of trading showed a net decline for the day of 2⅝c to 2¾c. The market opened strong, but reports from Chicago stating the new freight rates on grain were going into effect immediately sent values downward, and predictions in Liverpool of a great wheat price slump aided in the slide to bottom levels. A little support at the close saved the market from futher drops.

Reports of good export business were not reflected in the pit. No. 3 Northern and lower grades advanced ¼c to ½c on the cash market, where a good demand was shown for most grades.

Oats recorded fractional gains and barley was well bought at firm prices, but flax and rye were practically neglected.

42 CANDIDATES ARE CONFIRMED

dividual, but the concern of the church. The religion is vivid in the items of the fellowship of the church—it is not a secret or it cannot be, but the act is the concern of the whole Christian church and Christian community.

"The church is not an accident; it is not super-added; but the life of the church is Christianity, and it should not be divorced. The lives of the individuals is a divine society, the brotherhood in which they live under the fellowship of God. The New Testament knows no individual's religion apart from the fellowship of the church.

"How can you divorce the bridegroom from the bride? The church is the spouse of Christ, for which He gave His blood. We have to patch up the divorce between the individual religion and the church. The candidates profess their faith before you, and that is the New Testament Christianity.

Loyal to Church.

"You who are being confirmed tonight," said Bishop Seagar, "do not let anything on earth separate you from the church. What is the use of an individual alone? Take the practical instance. What is the use of a single soldier no matter how well trained he is, or a single link in a chain, no matter how valuable or how strong? It is only when men are massed that they get any significance.

Strengthened by Holy Ghost.

"The second word is Prayer—In order that by prayer and the laying on of hands they that are confirmed may be strengthened by the Holy Ghost. What is this service but a service of prayer with the laying on of hands? When the hands are laid on the heads of the candidates it is done with prayer. Before this act we sing 'Breathe on me, O Life of God,' and then we say the Lord's Prayer—we pray for the candidates, for the general congregation, and for ourselves, and that is all. The entire service is one of prayer.

"What is the gift of the Holy Ghost? The breath and rhythm of a psalm. The early Christians were Jews, and the Holy Ghost was not strange to them; the spirit of God ruled. The Old Testament is full of the spirit of God.

"What is the new thing in the New Testament? I would but refer you to the words of our Lord: 'I will not leave you comfortless; I will come unto you.' The New Testament idea is found in the gift of the spirit and all the power of God manifested through Christ and passed on to the church. It is the heart of Christianity.

"The real presence of Jesus Christ by this spirit beats through the records of the New Testament like the chord of a song. When a congregation of a whole church slackens it has but to baptize itself in the presence of the Holy Ghost and then rise to its task. That is Christianity."

Great Duty to Perform.

"I trust," continued Bishop Seagar, "that every member to-night has a great duty to perform. You are gathered together to pray for those who are confirmed to receive the spirit of God I would ask you to remain on your knees in prayerful reverence during the short ceremony.

"I trust that the candidates will pray to the Lord constantly. I often fear that there are those who say that they have no time for prayer. It does not take a great deal of time to say the Lord's Prayer before going to the office in the morning or to stop at noon instead of hurrying to lunch and remain in solemn reverence thinking of that one awful noon when the Son of God died for our salvation.

"People often express surprise that their prayers are answered. They often are, but it is a good thing that all prayers are not answered. What a terrible muddle it would be if it were so. A good father does not give his children everything they ask for.

"The last word is Participation.—It is sharing in the thing that we pray for; God answers prayer and gives His spirit. The laying on of hands is used in the church as the old sign of blessing and as an outer evidence of the blessing that the unseen Christ gives. The bishop's hands are but the signs of those that are never withdrawn. That is the act of confirmation as administered by our church." These were the closing words of the Bishop, after which the candidates, girls first, were confirmed

The new confirmants will receive their first Communion one week from Sunday, when a special Communion ceremony will be held. Next Sunday the final class before Communion will be held.

COUNCIL APPOINTS WEED INSPECTOR

Havelock's Township Fathers Hold Regular Court of Revision.

HAVELOCK, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Court of Revision was held by the Havelock Council on Tuesday evening, when many items of business were transacted.

Before Court of Revision was held, the council appointed Mr. Southward as weed inspector at a salary of 30 cents an hour while he is working.

The council decided to carry the account with the Bank and all accounts were ordered paid except one or two held over for investigation.

During Court of Revision, it was decided, on motion, that the assessments of Mrs. Dickson and F. Coates be sustained. Mrs. Emery's assessment was reduced $25 and back taxes were reduced to $40. M. Isaac's assessment was reduced to that of last year and the assessment of Jeff building was lowered $125.

The petition from the Havelock merchants as to having Wednesday afternoons of May, June, July, August and September made half holidays, was left over until the next meetin.

On motion, Mrs. Rupert's appeal for damages was left over. The assessment on the Young property will be charged to William Clark. On motion it was decided that authority must be given by the Reeve, Councillors or Clerk before the fire engines may be taken out. The council will ask that the C.P.R. remove dead telegraph line on Ottawa street and the Attorney-General will be asked to appoint a provincial man here if provincial force is increased.

The council adjourned to meet on June 3.

REAL CHARITY

CREAL SPRINGS, Ill., May 10—"And the greatest of these is charity." When the century-old log cabin owned by Mrs. Margaret Parks, widowed mother of five children, was destroyed by fire, neighbors came to her aid. While she attended the funeral of her mother shortly after the fire, 100 of her neighbors gathered together, built her a home, completely furnished it and canvassed the neighborhood for foodstuffs to stock the larder.

CAMPBELLFORD Y.P. VISIT WARKWORTH

Basement of the Presbyterian Church Is Filled to Capacity To Hear Program.

WARKWORTH, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held their closing meeting on Monday evening and had the pleasure of entertaining the Campbellford Society. The basement was filled with an appreciative audience for the splendid program put on by the visitors.

After the devotional exercises and a few words of welcome from the local president, Mrs. Scott took charge if the following program: Piano solo, "melody in F", Miss McGregor; vocal duet, "Trust and Obey", Mrs. McMillan and Mr. Russell; vocal solo, "Sunshine of Your Smile", Miss Reynolds; piano solo, Mr. Newcourt; address, Dr. Marks; vocal solo, "Sunrise and you", Miss McKelvie; vocal solo, "May Morn", Mrs. McMillan; vocal solo, "When I meet McGie", Mr. Storie.

Each number was heartily encored and much enjoyed by all. In the absence of Rev. Mr. Duncan, Dr. Armstrong, honorary president moved a vote of thanks to all who contributed to the enjoyment of the evening. Lunch was served by the young girls and a social hour spent together.

Personals

The Ladies Guild of St. Johns Anglican church was held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Baker Tuesday afternoon.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER.

With the opinion of the Attorney-General that drunken drivers should receive the maximum sentence of 30 days and that those sentenced to anything under that time are "lucky," there will not be many who will disagree.

There is no place on the highways for anybody unfitted by drink to handle his car with reasonable regard for his own safety and that of others.

Under present traffic conditons sober judgment and the possession of all one's facilities are required to prevent accidents, and the drunken driver is a menace that cannot be put up with.

The inflicting of a seven-day sentence for such an offence is far too lenient treatment, for there is no logical defense in the case of a man who attempts to handle an automobile when he is not fit to attempt such a dangerous experiment.

The driver who knows that he is to be called upon in a short time to take the wheel has no right to drink, and if he does so and becomes intoxicated, he has no cause to complain if the law steps in and punishes him.

Every motorist knows what the law is, and if he prepared to stand the consequences.

A KINGSTON WARNING.

The City Poor Relief Association of Kingston has decided that henceforth it will decline to give relief in winter to citizens who are able during the summer months to own and drive automobiles.

That decision would seem to be based on sound common sense, and the principle involved is one that might be applied profitably in other cities besides Kingston.

People who can afford the upkeep of a motor car during the summer should surely be in a position to save enough to take care of them during the period of unemployment, but so long as they can count upon relief during the winter there are individuals who will make no effort to prepare for the time when they are not earning.

It is obvious that something drastic is necessary to make such citizens realize that it is their duty in the period when they are earning money to put something by for the slack season.

Perhaps the announcement from Kingston that those who buy automobiles and expensive radio outfits in the summer need not apply for help later on, will have the desired effect of making more people emulate the busy ant.

It is a farce—and a needlessly expensive one—that citizens who have money to spare for luxuries at one season of the year should have to be given relief at another.

AN IMPORTANT INVESTIGATION.

The Federal commission appointed to investigate the salaries of professional and technical men in the Civil Service and consisting of Edward Beatty, K.C., president of the C.P.R.; Sir George Garneau, of Quebec, and Prof. W. C. Murray, president of the University of Saskatchewan, is expected to hold its first session almost at once.

The personnel of the commission inspires confidence in its ability to do something toward the solution of this pressing problem, a successful handling of which should mean a great deal to this country.

It is well known to everybody that the present scale of remuneration for scientific workers and technical men in the Government service is far below that which these officials could command in outside positions.

The best proof of that is that within recent years some of the most useful employes of the department at Ottawa have foresaken the Government positions to accept posts elsewhere.

As an example of what is going on, it may be stated that from one department alone over sixty experts have departed to take positions in the United States Federal service, or with private business organizations.

It is not necessary to say that these men are being much more highly paid than when they were members of the Canadian Civil Service.

The commission will be expected to stop this drift by recommending fair and generous treatment for Government experts whose ability should be at the service of the people of this country.

It is decidedly poor business to let such men get away.

ROADS COST MONEY.

A writer in the Canadian Motorist corrects a widespread misunderstanding on the part of motorists in regard to the amount spent by the Ontario Government on roads in the Province.

The statement has been made that the Government is receiving in motor vehicle license fees, gasoline tax, operators' licenses and fines several times as much as it is expending on roads, and that the revenue derived from automobile owners should be ear-marked for road work and not be merged with the consolidated revenue of the Province.

Mistaking the amount spent on road maintenance for the total spent on roads has been responsible for this mistake.

As a matter of fact, the figures show that the Government last year expended on the roads of the Province nearly twice the amount received from all motor vehicle imports combined.

During the last fiscal year the revenue received by the Government from gasoline tax, license fees, motor permits of all kinds and fines amounted to $11,077,031.54.

In the same period it expended:

On provincial highways	$11,650,000.00
On county roads	3,740,443.99
On township roads	1,602,547.95
On connecting links	1,022.20
On Indian reserve roads	13,459.92
On colonization roads	4,085,884.30
A total of	$21,093,318.36

OLD-MODEL DRIVERS.

Surveys of traffic accidents in this country and the United States, have revealed that few are caused by defective mechanisms. Not more than 10 per cent., it is said, can be blamed on physical and mechanical causes, including defects in the road or inclement weather. The other 90 per cent. are laid at the door of the motorist himself. Automobiles have improved marvelously in the last decade, but the driver, it seems, has remained stationary. The modern automobile is a marvel of mechanical perfection. It will travel at almost any pace, from a mile an hour to a mile a minute; it will stop quickly, if handled right, and its intricate parts seldom give way to stress and strain. It's the human equation that keeps the coroners of the country busy. The man who, because his car is equipped with brakes that are effective, exacts a higher speed from his motor than he otherwise would, is running the risk of getting into a jam, from which the efficacy of his braking equipment will not be able to extract him. Motors respond to their controls, but drivers of motor cars do not. The controlling law says," Such and such is the speed limit," but the reckless driver twiddles his finger at the law that was designed for the protection of him and his fellows and fixes his speed limit according to the maximum revolution of the internal combustion engine under the hood. There doesn't seem to be any solution in sight, either. Until the dangerous drivers are denied the use of the road, whenever and wherever they identify themselves as such, terrific toll of human life will continue to be taken. The careful motorist assuredly is entitled to more protection from the nit-wits of the highways than he is being accorded now.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE PRIDE OF THE OCEAN.

For a country that is persistently mourned by others as decadent, if not effete, Britain has an irritating way of confounding the croakers. Bearing burdens and facing problems that would overwhelm many another nation, she not only carries on cheerfully but, from time to time, displays a reserve of strength that is positively illogical. Upsetting calculations, indeed, has become one of her favorite "stunts."

Just to show how "slow" she is, her representatives go out, more or less casually, to smash two of the world's records for speed, one in the air, the other on the motor track. In sport, her cricketers unmistakably assert their supremacy by retaining with ease the "ashes" that symbolize championship honors, while her professional golfers emerge from a period of slump to wrest from their American rivals the Ryder Cup. And as if these achievements were not enough to indicate that there is life in the supposedly sick John Bull yet, we heard of expansion of trade, of steady war debt reduction, of lighter taxation and of plans for industrial development that spell anything but decreptitude.

Particularly significant is the announcement that in spite of all handicaps, and notwithstanding all the talk about naval disarmament, Britain has no intention of surrendering her position as "mistress of the seas." To the German and American challenge for the blue ribbon of the Atlantic trade, she is about to respond with a plan of construction that is bound to shake, if it does not shatter, the maritime pretensions of her rivals, who, presuming upon her alleged instability, had begun to cherish hopes of capturing the passenger service between Europe and this continent.

According to a report, which comes from a reliable source, the passenger ships carrying the British ensign on the Atlantic will soon be augmented by two giant liners of between 70,000 and 80,000 tons, each capable of accommodating 5,000 passengers and a crew of 2,000, and possessing the most luxurious appointments. Among other innovations under consideration by the company planning to build the new vessels is the installation of a wireless telephonic system by which passengers will be enabled to call up their homes or offices.

Some conception of the mammoth proportions of the proposed liners may be gathered from the description of a London shipping expert who claims to know something of the plans. The size of the vessels, he states, will necessitate alterations to the pier and dock accommodation at Southampton. Standing out against the background of that seaport, with their funnels towering above the public buildings, they will furnish a picture dwarfing everything in the vicinity, while the victualling for the double trip across the Atlantic will be on a scale almost equivalent to that of providing for an army.

Apart from what it will mean to ocean travellers and to British prestige, the proposal to build two ships of such magnitude is of importance in several respects. It may be accepted as a definite confirmation of the shipping doctrine that in the construction of liners size is more than ever a controlling factor. For a time there was a disposition in some quarters to question this view. It was held that the day of the ocean leviathan had passed, and the vessels of considerably smaller tonnage would supersede the giant types. But the latest order would seem to point emphatically in a contrary direction.

It is also indicative of a feeling of confidence on the part of the leading shipping companies that they have nothing to fear, at all events in the near future, from the competition of an air service. And it may be regarded as even a stronger proof of the upward movement of British trade, for it is an established fact that activity in the shipyards of the Old Country is almost automatically reflected in other branches of industry. Whatever may be done about the "freedom of the seas," it looks as if Britannia will continue to be the pride of the ocean.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The appointment of special weed inspectors for the Province of Ontario has nothing to do with the cigar business, it should be understood.

A New York man, who had his head bumped in Baltimore, had his injuries dressed in Toronto. They don't usually knock them so far as that.

The tariff slap at Canada from across the border, says the Toronto Globe, may prove a blessing in disguise if it stimulates Empire trade.

Port Hope merchants are demanding daylight saving now. The system seems to be rapidly growing in popularity.

Fort William citizens have asked the Radio Commission to see that more Canadian patriotic programs are broadcast. Such programs would undoubtedly be popular throughout the whole country.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1929

(C. McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Benefic aspects rule strongly on today's horoscope, according to astrology. It is an auspicious date for finishing important business.

Women as well as men should benefit from this configuration which is stimulating to the energies and helpful in making the most of opportunities.

This a read as happy wedding day since those who marry under this direction of the stars usually understand each other and live harmoniously.

Engagements to be made today should be lucky inasmuch as they are likely to last and to lead to prosperous partnership

Theatres again are subject to signs of great promise for the future, but they will go through serious vicissitudes this year, if the stars are rightly read.

Those who start on ocean voyages today should enjoy safe and pleasant journeyings. Russia is under a rule of the stars making for hospitality that attracts many tourists.

Discoveries of oil will be surprising in number in the coming summer, it is forecast, and there will be many contentions regarding business policies.

The sign that is supposed to affect prohibition is said to presage strict enforcement that will be attended by sensational events.

According to ancient lore fishing will be extraordinarily popular sport this year, for good catches will be easily attained.

One of the effects of the planetary government through the summer will be the rise of power among the people in various European countries, it is foretold.

Democracy in its broadest sense is to become popular with all classes and perils may attend its misinterpretation, the seers warn.

Austria and Hungary are subject to adverse planetary influences which may cause serious trouble, astrologers declare.

At this time cities are enjoined by the seers to use all possible precautions regarding proper sanitary conditions.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a lucky year, especially where courtship or marriage are concerned.

Children born on this day probably will be inventive as well as artistic. The subjects of this sign are usually industrious as well as talented.

Ottmar Mergenthaler, inventor was born on this date, 1854. Others who claimed it as a birthday were A. R. Jacques Turgot, 1727, French statesman, and Robert C. Sands, 1799, author.

Why We Do What We Do.

Why Cloud Pictures Seem Real

Have you ever indulged in the weird and fascinating pastime of gazing into the clouds and painting cloud pictures? As the great white billowy clouds pass in review before you there is presented a panorama of marching soldiers, a camel with a perfect hump, an elephant, a house, a tree, anything that your imagination can concoct.

How is this possible? And why is it that we sometimes see one thing and think we see something else? The answer will also explain why we so often mistake a stranger for someone we know well and vice versa.

What we see depends upon the particular combination of cells in the sight centers of the brain through which the impulse goes. Here, for example, is a post. But if the impulse started by the post is carried through a man center in the brain we see a man and not a post.

We are likely to see the thing we habitually see, the thing we expect to see or that which we are thinking about. It is easy for the impulse to run into the nervous pathways corresponding to these.

This experience is called an illusion. We can by a process of attention direct the impulse so as to see almost anything we want to see.

Cloud pictures are illusions of this sort. The merest suggestion is exaggerated into a perfect specimen of man or dog or other creature we are painting with cloud dust in the sky.

In painting cloud pictures, mistaking a stranger for a friend, or a post for a man, you have merely exaggerated and misinterpreted a visual stimulus.

However there is a type of experience in which we see ghosts and other things that are not real. This is known as hallucination. The difference between an illusion and an hallucination is that in the illusion you experience a real objective fact but misinterpret it, while in hallucination you see things that are not there at all.

The impulses that react upon our sensory brain centers may come from within or from without. Those that come from without are more vivid and intense. Those which are prompted by memory and the association of ideas are less vivid. This is how we tell the difference and ordinarily do not make the mistake of takng our own ideas for outside, objective realities.

But it sometimes happens that these inner impulses and memory images, say of ghosts, come to us with such intensity that they have the force of objective reality and we think we see ghosts. We mistake the image as coming to us from a sense organ instead of a memory image and hence it seems perfectly real—as real as though we were actually looking at a ghost.

Dreams seem real for the same reason.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Life Steps In

By RUBY M. AYRES

CHAPTER XXXVI

Ana went up to London two days later.

The auction sale was over, Martha had gone home to her mother carefully carrying Miss Sawyer's aspidistra, and the little house looked crestfallen and deserted when Ana leaned forward out of the taxicab window for a last look at it.

She tried to feel sorry that this was indeed the end of her old life, but she knew she was not sorry.

It had been a dull book, and she closed it with relief. She had taken nothing with her but her own few possessions; she had a feeling that she wanted to be quite free to start her new life unhampered by the past.

She had made no plans for the future. For the moment it did not seem to matter what she did; she comforted herself with the feeling that something was sure to turn up. It had been a favourite axiom of Miss Sawyer's that when one door in life closed, another opened.

Ana had very little money, but she did not care, she had enough for her immediate wants, and there would be something to come from the sale of the furniture.

A little reminiscent shiver passed through her as she stood again in the lounge of the quiet hotel where she had waited so many fruitless hours for Anthony.

She was glad that there was a new girl at the desk: she almost wished now that she had chosen some fresh place. Surely it was a mistake to go back to scenes which had only brought one unhappiness, she told herself as she followed the porter up to her room.

It was a bed-sitting room with nothing very exciting about it. Clean, and comfortable, but uninspiring, with the bed screened off in one corner by curtains. Ana wondered which room she and Anthony would have been given had life gone as they had intended it to go. This room had a portrait of the late King over the mantelshelf, and an engraving of a man with very curly hair killing a stag over the chest of drawers.

The window looked out over a side street where an old woman stood rather helplessly at a corner offering matches for sale.

Ana shivered and went back to unpack her boxes.

She felt curiously detached, almost as if she were looking on at the actions of a stranger.

She hung her few clothes in a wardrobe which smelt strongly of camphor, laid her brushes on the dressing table, and then rang for some tea.

The chambermaid was young and had sympathetic eyes.

"It's cold, miss," she said. "Shall I make you a bit of fire?"

Ana had not felt the cold, but she agreed to the suggestion gratefully.

Miss Sawyer had never allowed a fire in any bedroom—she said it was extravagant and unhealthy.

When the fire was lit and the tea brought Ana drew up the one easy chair the room contained and sat down.

She felt very tired—too tired to think, and yet her brain was going round and round like a wheel, dragging into it the one thought that mattered in all the world.

Would Anthony come? Would Mollie have told him? Would she see him again before he left England? She felt that until she had seen him she could settle to nothing, and yet what was the use of another meeting? They had said all they had to say to one another.

"You must go back to your life—I must go back to mine." She had quoted those words to Anthony herself once, only half seriously, little guessing how bitterly true they would be. What years ago it all seemed now.

"I must get some work to do," Ana thought. 'It's the only thing. Work won't let me down like life has."

She had not told Tom Drake where she would be staying, but she had promised to write and let him know.

The First Prayer had called to see her while the auction was in progress.

"You're not a sport," she accused Ana almost angrily. 'You might come along and dig in with me for a bit, at all events. I hate to think of you being alone. Try it if you're so obstinate, but you'll soon have had enough of your own company, anyway. Come along to me when your independence fails you."

Ana was grateful to her, but for the present, at least, she wished to be alone. Although she was afraid to admit it even to herself, the whole of life seemed to hang on the next few days and Anthony Hambledon. She went to sleep that night with him in her thoughts, and she woke in the morning with a fast-beating heart and an unanswered question in her mind. 'Shall I see him to-day? Will he come? Will Mollie have told him?" She felt ashamed because nothing else seemed to matter; she was afraid to leave the hotel all day lest he should come and she would not be there. But the morning and afternoon slipped uneventfully by, and when it grew dark pride came to her rescue.

'Why shou'd I wait for him, anyway? I don't care if I never see him again. If he had wanted to see me he would have come."

She put on her hat and went out to the cinema.

Miss Sawyer would have been horribly shocked, she knew; Miss Sawyer would have read her a homily on disrespect to the dead, but Ana did not care. She felt she must have distraction or she would go mad. She sat in a two-and-threepenny seat in the dark hall and tried to keep her attention on the picture before her, but it was difficult.

It was a love story, full of tria's and tribulations, of tears and separation, but Ana knew quite well that it would all come r ght before the lights fl'ckered out on the screen.

'But it wi'l never come right for me," she told herself tragically as she stumbled out into the co'd street. 'I've never had any real happiness yet, and I suppose I never shall. There must be lots of people in life who are not meant to be happy and I'm one of them."

She walked back to the hotel to kill time. She dreaded the long night before her.

She had had no dinner, but she did not care. She was lonely, desperately lonely, although as yet her new independence was but a day old. She thought of the First Prayer's prophecy:

"You'll soon have had enough of your own company." She had enough of it already. Even Miss Sawyer or Martha would have been welcome.

"What will become of me? What can I do with the rest of my life?" Ana asked herself, panic-stricken.

There was Drake, of course, and he was a good, kind man—but he was not the man she wanted, and that made all the difference.

What was the use of tying oneself up to a husband when all one's heart and soul longed for someone else?

"Look here, my girl, you're a fool."—So Ana upbraided herself fiercely as she walked back to the hotel. "You're like a baby, crying for the moon — for somebody else's moon, too. Stop it now! you're old enough to know better

Jessica had once told her that it was possible to get over anything if one only lived long enough. Not in a month perhaps, or even a year, but some day.

Some day! Every hour was an eternity; and how many hours were there in that vague "some day"?

It was only in books and in the pictures that things came right in the end—never in real life. Perhaps that was why books and pictures were so popular, Ana thought hopelessly; people liked life depicted as they wished it could be, not as they knew it was.

"Life is hateful, hateful," she thought fiercely, and her eyes were burning with tears as she walked into the hotel lounge and found herself face to face with Anthony Hambledon.

Ana stood quite still, her hand still on the swing door. She was conscious of such relief that it was almost agony; wild, incoherent words rushed to her lips but none of them found utterance, and it was he who spoke first.

"I've been waiting nearly two hours," he said.

Ana heard someone laugh, and later on she remembered it and supposed it must have been herself; then she heard someone say:

"Only two hours! I once waited all day for you."

That must have been herself speaking, too, she thought dully; then all at once she seemed to wake up to reality.

"Oh—Anthony!" she said in a broken whisper. There was such a tragic note in her voice, something that sent the blood beating dully into Hambledon's face.

"Is there anywhere we can talk—be alone?" he asked.

"I don't know. There's my room. It's not a very nice room."

Addition to Robin Hood Flour Mill Decided Upon

SASKATOON, May 10. — Robin Hood Flour Mills have awarded the contract for the erection of additional storage buildings here involving an expenditure of approximately $200,000

This will mean increasing the storage capacity of the Saskatoon Mills by approximately 5 per cent or between eight and nine hundred thousand bushels.

Carter, Halls, Aldinger, Limited, of Winnipeg, have been awarded the contract for construction of the additional buildings.

A permit has also been issued to the Robin Hood Mills for the erection of offices and warehouse extensions, involving a total of $38,240.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TOOTER'S TWISTING.

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis)

Uncle Wiggily smiled and twinkled his pink nose as he looked around the table at the happy faces of his forty sixteen little rabbit girls and boys. Baby Bunty smiled back at Uncle Wiggily for she was sitting there also, though she really wasn't one of Uncle Wiggily's children. Bunty was a little orphan rabbit but Uncle Wiggily took care of her.

"I certainly am a happy rabbit!" said Uncle Wiggily. 'Here I am in my cozy hollow stump bungalow. Here are all my dear little bunnies safe and sound doing their school home work so they can recite good lessons for the Lady Mouse Teacher tomorrow. Yes, I certainly am happy!"

For it was evening and all the little rabbit boys and girls were gathered around the table to study their lessons. Uncle Wiggily had been hopping around all day, looking for an adventure, but had not found any.

"Still, that doesn't make me unhappy," said Mr. Longears as he started to do the cross- word puzzle in the evening newspaper. "There is yet time for an adventure before I have to go to bed."

So he went on reading and the Tooter had to grind a lot of coffee.

children studied their home work and all was happiness, peace and quiet until, all of a sudden, Baby Bunty cried out:

"Stop it!"

Uncle Wiggily looked up from his cross-word puzzle.

"What's the matter, Baby Bunty?" he asked. "Did you think you saw any of the Bad Chaps looking in the window?"

"No," answered Bunty, "only Tooter twisted my tail!"

"Did you, Tooter?" asked Mr. Longears looking at his little boy rabbit who sat next to Baby Bunty.

"Aw, I only twisted it a little bit," said Tooter as he pretended to be studying his tomorrow's reading lesson very hard. "Her tail stuck out the back of her chair and I only twisted it a little."

Uncle Wiggily walked around the table and stood behind the chair in which the orphan rabbit was sitting. Her cute little tail stuck down between the seat and the back, and was within such easy reach of Tooter's paw that any boy rabbit might be excused for giving at least one twist.

"Don't tease Bunty any more." said Uncle Wiggily to Tooter.

"All right, Daddicums," answered Tooter and he really meant to study hard and not bother Bunty's tail any more. As for Bunty, she pulled her tail in and tucked it behind her as best she could.

But pretty soon, after a while, Bunty forgot and let her tail slip out at the crack of the chair where the seat and back almost meet. And then Tooter forgot his promise and, slyly reaching out his paw he gave the little orphan rabbit's tail another twist.

"Ouch!" cried Bunty.

"What's the matter now?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who had almost finished his cross-word puzzle.

"Tooter twisted my tail again!" said Bunty.

"Did you?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I—er—now—I gues so,' 'stammered Tooter. "I—I—now—just couldn't help it."

"You are very fond of twisting things,' 'said his father. "Very well, I shall give you some useful twisting to do. Come with me."

"Oh, is Daddicums going to punish Tooter?" whispered Baby Bunty to Jingle and Jangle who sat near her.

"We'll see," said the other two little rabbit girls.

Tooter, himself, did not know what was going to happen. He followed his father out to the kitchen and Uncle Wiggily pointed to the coffee grinder which had a handle like a monkey's organ.

"There," said Mr. Longears. "Since you are so fond of twisting poor Bunty's tail, Tooter, just twist that handle and grind the coffee for breakfast. It will save Nurse Jane some work."

"Oh, I don't mind grinding the coffee!" said the muskrate lady housekeeper who had just finished washing the dishes."

"No, Tooter must twist the handle." said Uncle Wiggily. "He is such a good coffee grinder."

So Tooter had to grind a lot of coffee. His paw ached and he grew tired but Uncle Wiggily would only let him rest a little and then he had to keep on twisting until all the coffee was ground.

"Do you think you can let Bunty's tail alone after this?" asked Uncle Wiggily, when the last coffee bean was made into powder.

"Yes, Daddicums," sighed Tooter. "Thank you!"

"Then you may go back to your studying," said Mr. Longears, "I will forgive you and so will Bunty. But don't do it any more."

Ticket money started coming in in earnest last night, and the Carnival now appears to be in splendid shape.

The following members have sold their quota of tickets, and most have taken new supplies:—C. L. Armstrong, F. Biddle, E. J. Graham, E. Heasman, H. C. Jay, W. J. Johnston, R. E. Layfield, J. Parsons, H. W. Smith, P. Walton, E. J. Waterman, G. J. Wyatt.

The ladies' draw tickets are also going well, and most of the ladies have taken extra books are Mrs. J. F. H. Wallace (2 extra); Mrs. C. E. Harte-Maxwell (2 extra); Mrs. M. H. Sargeant (3 extra). Those who have turned in the cash for books sold are: Mrs. J. Bacon, Mrs. C. E. Harte-Maxwell, Mrs. R. E. Layfield, Mrs. F. C. Riddell, Mrs. G. J. Wyatt, and Mrs. J. R. Heron.

It has been decided to build the booths at the Carnival to represent streets in shell-ruined France. One side of the Carnival hall will represent a street in Ypres, while the other will be a nearly as possible like a street in Arras.

• • •

The visit of the head of the Toronto police department will add considerably to the Carnival. General Draper will open the Carnival on Wednesday evening. Mayor Denne and other civic representatives are being invited to attend.

SOCIAL EVENING.

Good Program Provided By Members of Warsaw Young People's Society.

WARSAW, May 9. — (Examiner Correspondence.)—The Warsaw Community Young People's Society met for its social evening in the United Church Sunday school room on Monday evening. The president, Ivan Drain, was in the chair. There was some discussion about carrying on the meetings any longer until fall. It was voted upon and carried, to continue. The next meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. George Taylor took charge of the social part of the program. Gerald Crowe gave an excellent paper on literature in general, telling what it includes, and the benefits obtained from good reading. He named some of the great writers, and stressed the fact that Canada is already rich in literature and named many of Canada's authors, among them Bliss Carmen, Archibald Lampman, Dr. Watson, Pauline Johnston, and gave short but interesting histories of their lives. Books are companions of inestimable values.

Gerald Payne gave his maiden speech, a paper on 'My Favorite Poet, Sir Walter Scott,' and did it exceedingly well. He gave a short history of his life, and of some of his principal works. Harold Payne gave the story of Charles Dickens. Ivan Payne gave a mouth organ selection and Mrs. and Miss Lucile Herrington sang a duet, "Jesus Take Me In.' Tom Davis' contribution was a violin solo, and Archie Crowe's a recitation, "Mother's Fool."

Then followed an interesting contest, in which every one was given or lent a copper and asked to find the answers to nineteen questions on either side of the copper.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Is Now Doing Business.

Charles Calder is doing business in his new store. He is carrying hardware, paints and paint supplies, and has two gas tanks. He will have an ice cream counter and after a time the full general store supplies. The new building is very pretty. The walls are covered with gyproc, painted buff and the woodwork is finished in the natural grain.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

By Douglas Malloch

A LITTLE LOVE

A little love, and feet can climb
The hill a little at a time,
A little love, and hearts can bear
The darkest valley, deepest care,
A little love will make the road
An easy one to love's abode,
A little love, and through the raining
The feet can trave, uncomplaining.

A little love, and wealth may wing,
But love is still the richest thing,
A little love, and one may wait,
But love is not disconsolate.
A little love, the dreams may die,
But love leaves something in the sky,
A star in starless nights a-glitter,
A sweeter world, however bitter.

A little love, and one can smile,
Work on, hope on, a little while,
A little love, and one can lose,
Yet win, for love will not refuse,
A little love, and hurt may touch
The heart and never hurt it much
A little love, and one is given,
Even on earth, a little heaven.

GOODYEAR TIRE REGISTERS LOSS OF TEN POINTS

Score of Issues Drop To Lower Levels in Morning Issue.

ON TORONTO EXCHANGE.

Canada Steamship Lines and Cockshutt Plow Also Sufefr Setbacks.

TORONTO, May 10. (C.P.)—While most of the leaders continued their recovery of yesterday there was still a goodly number of active issues affected by liquidation which caused the noon prices to sell down from their earlier high levels, on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Goodyear Tire was one of these, showing a net loss of 10.00 at 360.00. Canada Steamship Lines lost 1 1-2 to 45, and Cockshutt Plow was off 1 1-4 at 42 1-4. Canada Bread reacted after its hurried climb of the past few days, breaking five points to 190. Rogers lost 2 points to 5. Hiram Walkers was selling ex-rights to-day with the old stock at 67, the new at 22 1-2 and the right at 7.00. Ford continued to soar upwards, followed by rumors of increased earnings, the noon price at the morning's high of 2 1-4 showing a net gain of 2 3-4 points. De Forest-Crossley, too, gained a further 2 1-2 points to 70, while McColl, the only oil stock to indicate any change, moved up 1 3-4 points to 39.

Wheat Prices Drop After Irregular Start

CHICAGO, Ills., May 10 (Canadian Press).—Wheat prices turned downward afresh to-day after an irregular start. Something of an upward trend shown at the outset was ascribed largely to the fact that the United States Government crop report indicated less of a big yield than was generally expected, but the curtailment was asserted here to be due to a change in the official basis of computing, rather than to an altered crop outlook. Opening 1-8c off to 1 1-8c up, wheat later declined all around. Corn, oats and provisions were easy, with corn starting unchanged to 7-8c higher, but subsequently showing set-backs.

AJAX OIL DROPS TO LOWER MARK ACTIVE TRADING

Uneven Movement in Mining Section One of Features On Standard Exchange.

OIL ISSUES WEAKER.

Newbec and Noranda Suffer Slight Setbacks After Strong Opening.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10 (Canadian Press).—An uneven movement in the mining section, a weaker tone in the oils and a slight increase in trading volume, were features of the morning session on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The increase in trading was supplied by Ajax Oil and Newbec. Ajax was freely offered and dropped to a low mark of 70, a loss of 14 points, while Newbec was uneasy under the strain, and after reaching a high of 60, dipped to 56½, off 3 points.

Noranda ran up to a high of 58.50, and then re-acted to 58.00, a loss of 25 cents. McIntyre advanced 85 cents to 18.00, and Lake Shore improved 20 to 26.20. Falconbridge gained 30 to 11.55.

Home Oil was quiet and slid back 60 cents to 32.75, while Associated lost 25 to 4.75. Baltac, Wainwell and Commonwealth were all lower.

MINING BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner

In reporting progress, Mr. Cohen states that the geology of the property is identical with that of its next-door neighbor, the Richardson, from which several million dollars in gold have been mined. The formation is in the shape of saddle veins and if the downward trend of these saddle veins maintains the Richardson formation, greater enrichment should exist at depth. The company's plans for the summer call for a continuation of the shaft to depth, the establishment of stations and an energetic drifting and cross-cutting campaign, which engineers believe should definitely establish or disprove the company's possibilities.

Further reports from Sudbury state that Consolidated Smelters during the last few weeks have been quietly acquiring options on likely looking nickel-copper lands in the Sudbury district, particularly on the southwestern rim of the basin. The company has erected an assay office in Sudbury for ore-testing and a permanent staff has been installed for this work.

EMPTY CANOE IS FOUND ON LAKE

Two Prospectors Have Been Missing in Northern Manitoba For Six Months.

WELL KNOWN FIGURE.

THE PAS, Man., May 10 (C.P.).—An empty canoe, lying to-day on the bank of Schist Lake n Noirthern Manitoba, is the only clue to the disappearance of two prospectors last seen six months ago. Search for Scotty Dawson and George Peters, the two missing men, is regarded as almost hopeless.

A war veteran, Scotty Dawson is about 60 years of age. His native home is Scotland, but a brother, Charles Alexander Dawson, is said to reside in Vancouver. Years in Manitoba's mining lands have made Peters a well-known figure.

The discovery of the canoe recalls another unsolved mystery of last November. No trace has yet been found of William Anderson and Joe Hjalmarson, of Clear Water Lake, who have been missing since they left Hjalmarson's little boy at his shack and went out to take up the fishing nets.

STRIKERS ARE IMPRISONED

Organized Movement Against Men Lawfully Employed in Australia Disclosed.

ASK FOR ASSISTANCE.

SYDNEY, Australia, May 9—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—An organized movement to use violence against men lawfully employed had been disclosed, asserted the Magistrate of Sydney who to-day sentenced five men to six months' imprisonment in this connection. The accused were involved in an assault a few days ago against the Managing Director of a large timber firm, whose motorcar, as well as others, was stoned while he was taking volunteer workers to the timber mills. Timber mill workers have been on strike for many weeks.

Premier Sir William McPherson of the State of Victoria to-day received a deputation of striking mill workers who requested sustenance from the state government and he advised them to "get back to work."

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

Substantial Increase

While the securities of Building Products have lapsed into comparative obscurity in the market, it is known that the company is enjoying a substantially increased volume of business, as compared with this time a year ago. Operations in the various departments have been speeded up to meet the growing demand for the company's products. As a result, it is stated that earnings are running at a rate which would indicate net profits for the current year will be materially higher than in the previous period, when they amounted to around $3 per share on the combined Class "A" and "B" shares outstanding. At the present time a dividend of $1.60 is being paid on the Class "A" stock, having been raised from $1.20 a share at the beginning of the year.

Several undertakings now under way are expected to provide important additions to revenue and earnings. The new plant for the production of fibre board boxes has been practically completed and will be turning out finished goods in about ten days. Already a good volume of orders are on hand, and a steady run of business is in prospect, which will keep the shop fully occupied for some time to come.

Experiments which have been carried out for time past to improve the quality of insul board have met with success. It is now stated that the company is turning out a product free from any tendency to warp, which was a problem faced by all manufacturers of this particular commodity. Already the new board is meeting an exceptionally good reception in the building trade, and sales have shown a decided improvement.

Corrugated Paper Moving Into Their New Plant

As the new plant of The Corrugated Paper Box Company Limited is practically ready for occupation operations will be transferred from the factory at Geary Avenue to Leaside during the course of the present month. Arrangements have been completed so that interference with production schedules will be reduced to a minimum and output will thus be only temporarily affected.

It is understood the Company is experiencing a steadily increasing demand for its products and that sales volume is solely being governed by limitations of exisiting manufacturing facilities and could be very largely increased if production was accelerated. The new plant, which will have double the floor area of Geary Avenue factory, will be equipped with most up-to-date corrugating machinery and should readily enable tonnage to be immediately increased fully a hundred per cent.

Orders in hand continue to be maintained on a very satisfactory basis and indications are that the company's earnings during the present year should considerably exceed those of the last fiscal period ending December 31st, 1928, when profits equivalent to $3 per share were earned on the common stock then outstanding. The new Leaside factory besides enabling much greater production volume to be secured will reduce proportional overhead costs to an appreciable degree through lower taxation and by eliminating the necessity for costly night operation.

Dominion Oil

Business of the Crown Dominion Oil Company for the month of April, reached the highest point in the company's history, both from a standpoint of gallonage and sales of Veedol Motor fuels.

The demand for Tydol gasoline has been so great that the company has not been able to fill its orders and it is expected that the number of pumps handling this gas will be very greatly increased during the month of May.

Several very important locations were recently secured in Toronto that will greatly increase the volume of business in this territory. This company should be in an enviable position to secure a major portion of the tourist trade that enters Canada via the Niagara Peninsula. They are the only company handling a nationally known motor fuel with the exception of the "Shell" and the American motorists who are well acquainted with Tidewater in every state in the Union, will likely give their preference to a product that they know.

Dividends on General Steel Wares Common in the Near Future?

Back of the recent revival of buying interest in General Steel Wares has been the belief expressd in some quarters that later on in the year, directors would find themselves in a position to inaugurate dividends on the common stock. That they would be justified in doing so is the opinion held by a number of interests close to the stock, due to the steady progress the company is making from an earnings standpoint.

On the other hand, the knitting together of the various units of what is relatively a new organization has necessitated the maintaining of a stronger financial position than would be the case with a company which had been operating for a number of years. For this reason, while it is believed the company could readily take care of a distribution before the end of the year, it is thought likely that action in this connection will be deferred until 1930. It is understood that directors have taken the view that it would be advisable to wait until they are able to pay a fairly substantial dividend, rather than to begin disbursements at a low rate. In this connection, it is generally thought that when the initial declaration is made it will be at a rate of at least 3 per share.

Production of Soda Started Near Clinton

Most recent of the industries to be established in British Columbia is a plant for the manufacture of soda, at a point near Clinton.

Crude carbonate of soda exists in large bodies in the neighborhood of Clinton. This is being reduced to soda ash, and for this article and its by-products there is a large British Columbia and foreign market.

Substantial interests are behind the company, and in its creation it has been encouraged by W. J. Blake Wilson, Chris. Spencer and Willard Kitchen, directors of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. These men assisted the company to get started, believing that ultimate solution of the worries of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway would be removed if industries could be launched throughout the territory served by the road for the development of the natural wealth of the country.

Formation of the soda plant will result in shipments going over the Pacific Great Eastern calculated to bring in a further revenue of $75,000 annually to the railway. Successful operation of the soda plant will mean development of a community at Chasm, 11 miles from Clinton, where the deposits are being worked. An extensive payroll has already been created by the enterprise.

YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAY

Affairs Given Under Auspices of King's Workers' Mission Band.

TAKE PARTS WELL.

ROSENEATH, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The play, "Mary's Castle in the Air", given in the Orange Hall by the young people of Centreton excelled anything that has been given in Roseneath for some time. Each actor played his or her part perfectly, their expresions and movements were real and original. It was held under the auspices of the King's Workers Mission Band of Roseneath. The proceeds amounted to about fifty dollars.

figure in international life, rather than in a centripetal manner likely to make her a country apart, such as the United States.

Bishop Seager concluded by urging his listeners to get behind whatever church organization they had been connected with, in the great movement toward a better realization of Canada's mission. For Canada, he predicted a growth to fifty millions of people ere the 20th century had closed, with a resultant important position among the nations, and particularly as a link between the Old World and the newly awakened Orient.

The musical numbers at to-day's luncheon were supplied by Bert Cutmore, whose pleasing voice was well accompanied by G. F. Liddle through two numbers, "Friend o' Mine" and "I Passed By Your Window." Bob Haddow's booster prizes were won by John R. Heron, Charles Cook and Arthur Moffatt.

GIRLS READY TO HELP OUT LEGION SHOW

Twenty Volunteers Enlist To Sell Tickets and Assist in Booths.

SUPPER MEETING.

President Tells of Good Work Done By Returned Soldiers' Organization.

Twenty girls who volunteered their services in connection with the Canadian Legion Carnival were guests last night at a supper meeting, when plans were made for an intensive campaign. They are: Misses Lily and Mabel Bacon, Minnie Ebbs, Beatrice Gash, Florence Hatley, Dorothy Peace, Doris Wagstaffe, Audrey Sanderson, Margaret Dainton, Marion Ralston, Eileen Biddle, K. Buckley, Phyllis Simons, Agnes Weir, F. Simons, E. Watson, M. McCormick, H. Howden, Doris Sharman, and Margaret Aymotte. There were also present C. E. Jamieson, chairman of the girls' committee; Dr. J. J. Craig, who, as master of ceremonies, started the girls off by buying a ticket from each; Miss Isabel Scott; and the Legion president, John R. Heron.

In telling the reason for the Legion Carnival, to be held on Wednesday Thursday, and Frida y of next week the president disclaimed any idea on the part of the Legionnaires that the people owe them anything. "But," he said, "we do believe that our wounded and disabled comrades should be looked after, and that is the work the Canadian Legion is endeavoring to do in behalf of the people of Canada." The Legion takes up pension claims with the Government and endeavors to see that every man with a just claim is given aid. It sees that every veteran is given a respectable funeral, whatever his financial situation may be at the time of his death, and it gives relief to those who have not become re-established after the disruption of war days.

All of this work, the president remarked, is very necessary, and there is no other organization to carry it on. "We believe we are doing what the people of Canada would like to see done for the veterans who are disabled and in need, and so we don't feel as badly about asking for money as if our cause were less worthy."

To carry the Legion through until the end of the year, $2.000 is needed and it is hoped to raise this amount through the carnival. This will be spent in prosecuting claims of Peterborough veterans, many of whom are now finding themselves suffering from war injuries and exposure after ten years of peace, and in giving relief pending settlement of claims. The cause is well worth working for, Mr. Heron said, in appealing to every girl volunteer to do her utmost to sell tickets and assist at the carnival during its three nights.

Captain Jamieson asked the girls to report not later than Tuesday evening next, at the Legion Hall, and in the meantime to sell all their tickets and obtain more from Miss Scott, at The Examiner Office. He will endeavor to obtain V.A.D. uniforms for several of the girls who will sell tickets during the Carnival, and others who will be in charge of booths.

Dr. Craig, so well known through his management of the Kiwanis Club Produced-in-Canada Exhibition during three years past, told of achievements of the girls who sold tickets for that affair last year. One girl disposed of $576 worth of tickets, and the appeal, he said, was not any stronger than that now presented by the Legion. "I hope that you girls will have every success, and that your carnival will go over the top in a real way," he concluded.

During the course of the evening, the president announced that he had succeeded in obtaining Brig.-General D. C. Draper, C.M.G., D.S.O., head of the Toronto Police Force, to open the Carnival. The Provincial Secretary of the Legion, A. Shields, will also be present.

ISSUES SOAR WHEN MONEY RATE DROPS

Call Money At 6 Per Cent. For First Time in More Than a Month.

POOL ACTIVITIES RESUMED.

Nearly Two Score Issues Elevated To New High Levels For Year.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 10.—A sharp revival of bullish activity was Wall Street's response to-day to a series of favorable overnight credit developments, and a drop in the call money rate to 6 per cent. for the first time in more than a month.

Buying orders poured into the market in tremendous volume, lifting scores of issues up 2 to 10 points, with nearly two score elevated to new high levels for the year. Pool activities were resumed on a broad scale and the rapid advance in some of the specialties indicated the urgent retreat of an overcrowded short interest.

Retention of the 5 per cent. rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve bank and the unexpectedly small increase of $19,000,000 in brokers' loans started the upward movement at the opening gong. The rally gained impetus when the call money renewal rate was lowered to 10 per cent. and dropped successively to 8, then to 6 per cent. President Simmons' speech, before the Chicago Stock Exchange, attacking the Federal Reserve Board policy on brokers' loans, also heartened "bull" traders.

FINAL MEETING "LIT" SOCIETY

Good Program Provided Under Auspices of Springville Society.

DISTRICT NEWS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, May 10 — The Springville Literary Society season was brought to a triumphant close on Friday evening, when a delightful vocal and dramatic recital was given under the auspices of the society by Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, contralto soloist, and Miss Helen MacKenzie Ross, elocutionist, with Miss Constance Lewis as accompanist.

The executive of the society planned this recital as a real treat for the members and friends.

Mrs. McKee Bingham, in full rich contralto voice, sang the following numbers:

"Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty," (Handel's Redemption); "Who'll Buy my Lavendar?" (German); "Dawn," (Curran); "Rain," (Curran); and "Songs of Long Ago," (in costume); "Spring, Spring, Gentle Spring;" "The Mocking Bird," and "Sweet Genevieve," also "Folk Songs of the British Isles," (England), "Barbara Allen," (Ireland), "The Meeting of the Waters," (Scotland), "Will ye Gang to the Highlands?" She concluded her recital by "The Lost Chord," (Sullivan.)

Miss Helen MacKenzie Ross delighted the audience with her dramatic number, "A Movie Fan," by Parker, "The Wedding Feast" (in Indian costume) by Longfellow, "The Fairies of Caldon Low," (a midsummer legend), Mary Howitt and "The Passing of the King." Both artists responded to numerous encores.

Miss Constance Lewis, accompanist for the evening, gave also a beautiful piano solo, Il Trovatore (Dorn.)

GYPSIES DEFENDED AGAINST EPSOM BAN

Many Notables Aid in Fight Against Decision To Stop Encampments.

LONDON, May 10 (C.P.) — Some stout cudgels are being wielded on behalf of the gipsies who, if the Epsom Grand Stand Association have their way, will be denied any opportunity of making their encampment on Epsom Downs on Derby Day. The gipsies and their camp have hitherto been a prominent and—to the mere day visitor to Epsom at least—a popular feature of the Downs on Derby Day for almost as many years as the Derby has been run. But the Epsom Grand Stand Association appears to possess the legal right to ban the gipsies, and they declare the encampment is a menace to the health of the district and a nuisance to the residents in other respects.

Among those who are ardently advocating the cause of the gipsies is Lady Eleanor Smith, daughter of Lord Birkenhead. Lady Eleanor is proving as facile with her pen as her eminent father. Lord Birkenhead himself had a good deal to do with the passing of the Law of Property Act, under which the gipsies are being excluded, so naturally he does not share his daughter's enthusiasm.

The gipsies have another and still more romantic champion in Augustus John. It was only to be expected this laughing cavalier of art would strike a few stout blows for the picturesque nomads of the countryside, and the expectation has not been disappointed. Mr. John has taken up the pen, as the most potent weapon to hand, and is writing in condemnation of the "bureaucratic bumbledom" which would rob life of all its color. The gipsies, who once rescued Mr. John from a gang of racecourse thieves on Epsom Downs now see their bread returning on the waters, after many days. Mr. John declares that it is always worth half a crown to see a good gipsy, and his Romany friends may be expected to agree with this prima facie assessment of their worth.

DEGREES CONFERRED.

Impressive Service Conducted At Tanner L.O.L. Lodge By Marmora Brethren.

MARMORA, May 9.— (Examiner Correspondence).—Tanner L.O.L. 509 Harold received visits on Monday night, the occasion of its monthly meeting from James L. Nickle, County Master, of Centre Hastings, and W. J. Cottrell, District Master of District No. 1. A good representation from Marmora L.O.L. 319 were present. The initiatory degree was mainly conferred by the visiting brethren to be well responded to by members of the lodge visited. An enjoyable luncheon was served at the close.

Safety Committee Meets

The monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee was held at the Hub on Monday evening under presidency of R. A. Elliott. Eleven suggestions were reported as having been received in April and four of these were judged worthy of award. The flag and star went to the Oxide. It was mentioned that the number of lost days thus far this year had been only six against sixty-eight over the corresponding period of last year. F. Gray, E. Hewitt and H. Loveless, delegates to the recent Safety Convention in Windsor, gave interesting reports. Floyd Gray brought in the report of the Inspection Committee and A. McCallum was appointed floating member for May.

H. Smith reported practices with the prone method and J. Kelly was asked to undertake the same during this month.

Under general business, F. A. Bapty complimented the organization on having passed through a year without a compensatable accident and suggested that some attention be paid to the instilling of the safety idea into the minds of the children.

COUNCIL REACHES DECISION ON STREET PARKING QUESTION

Campbellford Councillors Make First Hand Observations On Main Street.

ANGLE PARKING.

Discuss the Installation of New Police Telephone System.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Just as the councillors of the town were collecting on the corner of Front and Bridge Streets about eight o'clock last night, some one asked if the Old Boys' Re-union had started ahead of schedule. Another wanted to know if the councillors were out to sponsor golf on the main streets. Before long quite a spectators' gallery had collected to watch the proceedings.

Armed with a fifty-foot tape, a piece of chalk and some carpenter's tools and draftsmen's instruments, the Council proceeded to make mysterious marks in the middle of the street. They also measured the length and width of some of the cars and trucks parked at the curb. Then they went to the west side of the river and repeated the performance. During the entire operation there was plenty of advice from the spectators.

What was really going on, was the Council was making some first-hand observations regarding the parking question. It has been claimed by some that the town's streets are too narrow for angle parking on both sides. Various remedies have been suggested. Last night the Council went out to see exactly what could and should be done. They found that with a car parked on each side of the street at an angle of 33½ degrees, there was still eighteen feet of driveway left. This seemed to be enough for two lines of traffic. The car on which the measurements were taken measured fifteen feet long and six feet wide. This was parked at the 33½ degree angle. A truck standing nearby was measured and found to be much shorter than the passenger car. After a general consultation the road and bridge committee arrived at the decision as to how the parking and driving lines should be painted on the pavement and the work will be proceeded with at once.

The Police Question.

Unofficially, the question of police offices and jail were discussed as the councillors moved about with their investigation last night. It was stated that a police telephone system could be installed for a very small cost which would, it was believed, prove more effective and efficient than the present system. It was suggested that a police phone be installed in each of the four wards of the town, wired in series so that the officer on the beat could answer a call from the nearest one of the four. It was understood that this suggestion would be brought up at the next Council meeting.

SOIL IMPROVEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

These surveys, said Mr. Martin, have produced such valuable information that this work will be extended. Soils will be mapped and a chemical and physical analysis made. Colored maps of counties, with comments on the various types of soil soil will be published and every farmer in the country will be given one. Copies will also be distributed to agricultural representatives, bankers, real estate men and others.

Three permanent experimental fields have been established—one in the clay soil in Welland, one in the sandy soil of Norfolk, and one on the clay loam soil of the Ontario Agricultural College experimental farm. "Through these experimental fields," Mr. Martin said, "a study is made of the influence of manures, fertilizers and rotations over a period of years. Already some valuable and helpful information has been secured on the need of phosphorus, potash and nitrates," Mr. Martin continued.

Additional fertility fields, he said, would be established at once on the special types of soil in Eastern, Western and Northern Ontario

COMMISSION TO SUBMIT REPORT

Few Items of Business Discussed at Meeting of Campbellford Commissioners.

POWER FOR CARNIVAL.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)—After considering the resolution forwarded to them by the town council, and consulting the statutes, Campbellford's water and Light Commissioners decided to submit a report to the council as requested by the resolution. The commissioner met in the clerk's office at five o'clock yesterday afternoon and although there was not a large number of items of business to be attended to, there were some matters which called for lengthy discussion. It was well after six o'clock before the accounts and paysheets were passed and the meeting adjourned.

The minutes, which were considered of sufficient importance to await the arrival of the mayor before being passed, were accepted as correct on the motion of his worship. The first request was for power for the Legion to operate the Joyland Shows during Gala Week. The request was granted on the same terms as last year, and the engineer reported that the power was connected and he was only waiting to know on what terms it was to be delivered. A citizen of the town advised the commission that during the recent flushing of the sewers, the pressure, so he claimed, had burst the water front of a new stove and done certain damage to his residence. He did not ask any remuneration other than for the wrecked stove, which he claimed was brand new. The engineer was ordered to investigate and report. The commission promised that the matter would be fairly adjusted. There was only one communication to be read. That was a letter from Toronto, advising the commission that a waterworks convention was being held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto during the month of June and suggesting that a local representative be present. The letter was filed for future consideration.

The Council's Resolution.

Mayor Davidson opened the subject regarding the report requested by the Council to be forwarded to them quarterly. Then the written resolution was produced by the chairman and read to the others present. It called for a statement of the affairs of the Board of Commissioners as required by the Public Utilities Act. There was considerable discussion of the matter, and S. J. Abernethy was of the opinion that the resolution had been the outcome of the belief that had got around that the commission would not give the town any money this year. In the discussion which followed, the idea seemed to be generally accepted that the board was not required to make any statement at the call of the Council, but was required to turn over any cash surplus at the end of each quarter. Then the governing statute was consulted and interpreted to mean that a statement was required every three months if the Council so desired, or even oftener. This brought the matter to a head, and a resolution was passed calling a special meeting for Tuesday, May 14, at five o'clock, to prepare the statement as required by the Council. F. W. Wood, town treasurer, will be invited to either attend the meeting or supply the written information required for the report.

Collections.

Mr. Scott, the commission engineer, asked for the opinion of the board with regard to certain accounts that were overdue. He had, he claimed, sent out several final notices, and in one particular case, had discontinued the service. The account was not large, but the person whom he was certain was the correct debtor, had refused to pay it. Mr. Scott did not know how far the matter would go, but said he would not be surprised if a lawsuit came of it. It was a bill disputed by both a property owner and the tenant of the property. The board were of the opinion that the tenant was the debtor, and after consulting the statutes, assured the engineer that he had done the proper thing and that they would uphold his action. If the matter came to court, it might be a good test case, they believed.

When the paysheets and accounts had been presented and passed the board adjourned at 6.35 p.m.

MAYOR'S RIGHT TO VOTE UPHELD

Campbellford Solicitor Gives His Ruling On Much Debated Question.

VOTE QUESTIONED.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Things came to a standstill at the council meeting last Monday night, when Mayor Davidson cast the vote which tied the issue. Councillor Wiggins was absent from that part of the meeting which left only eight in place of the regular nine votes which could be taken. The question at issue was whether or not the police committee's recommendation to repair the old jail and put it into use again would be acted upon. The Mayor had expressed his disapproval of the action and when he called for the vote, the question stood four to three in favor of the action. Seeing an opportunity to use his vote to the best interests of his convictions, the mayor voted with the three and tied the issue. His right to do so was questioned, and since no one present was able to state with final authority what was the proper ruling, the matter was left over till another vote could be taken.

Mayor Davidson was right in his action, according to the Revised Statutes of Ontario as interpreted by the town solicitor, D. J. Lynch. Some years ago the mayor or head of a council was only allowed to vote in cases where a deciding vote was necessary. Then it was his duty to decide the issue. According to chapter 233, section 212, R.S.O. 1927, the mayor or leader of any council is entitled to vote on all questions if he so desires with the exception of those specifically mentioned elsewhere in the Municipal Act. He is not, however, required to vote on any question unless the vote of the council is a tie. In that case, he is required to cast the deciding vote. Should a tie vote result on any question, the matter is negatived.

In the local municipal council at least, it has not been customary for the mayor to vote on the motions of the council unless the years and nays are called for. He has been in the habit of allow the issue to be decided by the majority of the council. His action at the last council meeting therefore, appeared to some to be out of order. It was left with the solicitor to investigate and the solicitor, D. J. Lynch, has ruled that the mayor was within the bounds of his office according to the authority of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1927.

NO PARDON RECORD

TOPEKA, Kan., May 10.—For the first time in more than 30 years a Kansas governor has failed to grant a single pardon during an entire administration. The record is held by Governor Ben S. Paulen, who took office following the scandals over paroles and pardons in the administration of Jonathan M. Davis.

LEGION MEETS.

Final Arrangements Made For Social Evening To Be Held To-night.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Last night at nine o'clock the local branch of the Legion met in the Armories to make final, last minute arrangements for the euchre and dance to be held in the High School Auditorium to-night. The stage is to be decorated in a suitable manner for an ex-service men's affair, with flags and banners and small ordnance. A working party was organized to transport chairs, tables and other necessities this afternoon. P. C. Denyes' offer of the loan of a churn for the draw was accepted. Comrade Dickson was left with the responsibility for securing a caller for the quadrilles. Just before closing the meeting, Comrade Morgan advised the branch that Mrs. George Smith had presented them with a three-burner oil stove, and the appreciation of the members was at once unanimously expressed.

STERLING LODGES ATTEND WORSHIP

Rev. E. W. Rowland Delivers Address—110th Oddfellow Anniversary Celebrated.

STIRLING, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Stirling Lodge No. 239, Encampment No. 80 and Laurel Rebekah Lodge attended a service in St Paul's church to celebrate the 110th anniversary of the founding of Oddfellowship. Rev. E. W. Rowland was the preacher for the occasion. An anthem was sung by the choir, James Bamforth taking the solo part. After announcements and the taking of the collection were made a portion of scripture was read from John 15, followed by the sermon taken from the text John 17-19: "For their sakes I sanctify myself." Rev. Mr. Rowland spoke of the evils of to-day and stated that it was because of such organizations as were assembled before use made the world a better place to live in. Miss Bessie Conley contributed a solo at this service.

Takes Charge.

The Christian Endeavor Department took charge of St. Paul's Y.P.S. meeting on Monday night with Mrs. E. Rowland in charge of the service. James Bamforth gave a very pleasing solo. Rev. F. Joblin was the speaker of the evening and gave an excellent address which should never be forgotten by the young eople. Miss Laurina Scott delighted the audience with a piano solo; Miss Bessie Conley gave a very approoriate solo, and G. Clute put on a "City" contest.

Sacrament Observed.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed in St. Andrew's Church Sunday morning.

ART STUDY CLUB HEARS ADDRESS BY MRS. ALLAN

Stained Glass and Famous Windows Is Subject of Interesting Paper.

METHOD EXPLAINED.

Miss Geraldine Collins Delights Audience With Two Vocal Numbers.

An open meeting of the Art Study Club was held in Trinity United Church on Tuesday afternoon, with a good attendance. Mrs. R. U. Kidd presided.

Before the opening of the meeting Miss Mabel Clarry gave a short organ recital, demonstrating great ability of feeling and expression in the following numbers: "Poco Largo," from the 12th Sonata of Purcell, Chopin's Nocturne in E flat, "Vision," by Rheinberger and "Evensong," by Easthope Martin.

Miss Geraldine Collins delighted the audience with two vocal numbers, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," in which her clear, sweet soprano was heard to good advantage, and "Trees," a very expressive, melodious song.

Mrs. J. Forbes Allan gave a very comprehensive and interesting paper on "Stained Glass and Famous Windows." The introduction gave an idea of the best methods and processes followed in the making of a stained glass window, the uses made of these windows, and the words of Moore, Scott and other writers with regard to celebrated windows.

"Stained glass," said Mrs. Allan, "simply means pieces of colored glass put together with strips of lead into the form of a window It is not a picture painted on glass with colored paints.

Made into Sheets.

"Glass is made into sheets by being blown into bubbles. The blowpipe is dipped into the colored oxides that are required. The bubble is blown open at the ends and manipulated with tools white hot until it is in the shape of a drain pipe. Then it is cut down on one side and spread upon a flattening stone, producing a dimpled surface. Some glasses are 'flashed,' that is to say, a bubble is blown which is mainly composed of white glass which is dipped into another colored glass and the two are blown together so that the color streaks out into a thin film. Most ruby glass is made in this way

"The method of procedure for making a stained glass window is as follows: First, a small colored sketch is made, showing the proposed design and colors. On approval, exceedingly accurate measurements are taken of the window, opening with patterns or tin plates cut to the right size in stiff paper. Then a full-sized drawing is made with all lead lines indicated. This is taken into the workshop, where a tracing is made of the lead lines only. Then all the shapes of the pieces of glass are cut from this pattern. The glass is next selected and cut in the desired shapes. These are attached to a large sheet of plain glass with colored wax to judge the effect of the colors. The subject is then traced with a brown pigment on the glass and the shading is put in and painted until the required effect is obtained. The pieces of glass are assembled by means of strips of lead, and soldered. The last process is that of cementing the crevices between the lead and the glass, by rubbing with cement to hold the glass firmly in position an dto make the window weatherproof. Saddle bars of iron stretch across the window to strengthen it, and prevent it from bulging."

English Windows.

Mrs. Allan spoke of many of the famous windows of England, of Salisbury Cathedral, with its rare 13th century glass, of Lincoln Cathedral, and of Wells, with its Cathedral dating back to the tenth century. Here is a window with a Tree of Jesse, showing the Judgment Day.

In France there is Chartres Cathedral with its 13th century windows, 174 in number, and the wonderful Rose window donated to the church in which he had been baptized, by St. Louis.

Coming back to Canada, Mrs. Allan mentioned St. Paul's Anglican Church in Toronto, with the Vogt Memorial Window, whose subject is the "Te Deum," that great hymn of triumphant praise of the Christian Church since the 15th century.

Coming to Peterborough, and the windows of Trinity Church which formed a portion of the subject matter of the paper, Mrs. Allan said the two transept windows were the first to be placed in the church. On the south side, Christ is represented among the children and on the north side is represented Christ as the Good Shepherd. These depict the beautiful relationship of Our Lord with the family and with the individual, the latter window suggesting the larger community relationship.

David and his mighty men are depicted in the third window on the southern side, and this was erected in memory of those who gave their lives in the Great War.

The fourth window, placed in honor of those from Trinity who gave their lives in the Great War, depicts the call of the disciples for men to leave their work and follow them; and the second window on the northern side shows Dorcas doing good work, and dispensing charity.

The next window shows the walk to Emmaus, and pictures Christ walking to the city with His disciples. The Nativity is the subject of the fourth window on the north, and the beautiful window at the front, over the gallery, deals with the Ascension.

Youth Is Rescued From Rideau Canal

OTTAWA, Ont., May 10 (C.P.)—Without so much as removing her gloves or overcoat, Miss Gladys Smirle dived into the chilly waters of the Rideau Canal to save five-year-old Jack MacDonnell from drowning yesterday. Miss Smirle formerly was a star members of the Ottawa Glebe acquatic team. It took her less than a minute to dive from the Bronson bridge, clutch the child as he was sinking and safely bring him to shore.

The boy fell into the water from a pier of the bridge on which he was playing.

OVERTURE SENT TO ASSEMBLY

Opposition Develops at Synod Meeting Over Appointment of Treasurer.

RIGHTS QUESTIONED.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10.—(Canadian Press).—Strenuous opposition developed in the Toronto-Kingston Synod here yesterday to the method of appointment of Rev. G. M. Dunn as treasurer of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The points at issue were the right of the Board of Administration to make the appointment and also its right to accept the resignation of the former treasurer, E. W. McNeill. Several delegates contended these powers were vested in the General Assembly. Finally, on the motion of Rev. Taylor Munro, Kitchener, Ont., and Rev. Walter Patterson, Preston, Ontario, an overture was ordered to be sent forward to the General Assembly at Ottawa next month, requesting a ruling on the matter, in view of the great confusion created in the church.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

ROSENEATH UNITED CHURCH.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, May 10. — Rev. M. R. Brown continued his series of sermons in United Church on Sunday morning, taking his words from the Lord's Prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread."

The order of the phases of the Lord's Prayer is very illuminating.

It begins with God, as everything should—Thy name, Thy kingdom, Thy will; then our bread, our sins, our temptations, our deliverance; and then swinging back again to Thy kingdom, Thy power, Thy glory.

It is the order of perfect life, and in it the next thing after God, is bread.

Christ's real problem was His people's bread.

The temptations bear this out, for Jesus refused to change the stones to bread, for bread alone will never satisfy—man must have God.

The hunger in man's heart is infinite and craves infinity for food. The beast within him thrives on bread, and starves the soul. His bread must be to him the spirit of his God and the sacrament of a fuller life.

To feed man is to starve him. He must try to feed himself. We can never satisfy the hunger of men's bodies until bread becomes more than bread, and we learn to see it as God sees it, as the sacrament of the brotherhood of mankind in Him.

My neighbors may sen dme bread, but if with this they do not send their warmest friendship, I starve.

Ye who are in love and charity with your neighbors draw near and take this Holy Sacrament of the Broken Bread to your comfort.

The truly friendly life is the sacramental life which consecrates to the service of God our daily bread, and every means by which we win it.

God is the true meaning of bread, the staff of that life of beauty, goodness, truth and infinite love.

It is with our eyes fixed on the future that we pray "Give us this day our daily bread, not that our bodies may be fed, but that the Father's name may be hallowed. "His Kingdom come ,His will may be done on earth as it is in Heaven."

It being communion service this sermon was most appropriate, and Rev. Mr. Brown delivered it in words sincere that even a little child might understand the meaning of those three words, "Our Daily Bread," taken from the Lord's prayer.

SOCIETY MEETS AT ROSENEATH

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of Women's Institute.

DISTRICT NEWS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, May 10— In spite of the heavy rain on Thursday it did not prevent a large attendance of the Women's Institute members to meet for their annual meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Delbert Brisbin. The secretary's report was read, and showed a balance on hand of $182.44.

The officers for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Mrs. (Dr.) Hershey; vice-president, Miss Irene Brown; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Marcena Davey; district director, Mrs. George Mouncey; program committee for the year booklets, Mrs. Lottie Nichol, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. (Rev.) Brown, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe; auditors, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin and Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite; organist, Miss Doris Mouncey; assistant organist, Miss Mary Mouncey; Good Cheer Committee, Miss Annie Brown, Mrs. Ezekiel Brisbin and Mrs. Albert Halstead.

Mrs. Lottie Nichol, the retiring president, spoke briefly in a few well-chosen words, thanking the members for their co-operation in assisting her in her work, and making the institute successful. During the 22 years of the organization, Mrs. Nichol has been president for ten years at different intervals, and during each term has been most efficient and an enthusiastic worker.

Mrs. Halstead, retiring vice-president, made a few remarks, saying she would do all possible to help in the work of the Institute and hoped the same spirit of co-operation with the members and officers would continue as it had been in the two past years she was in office.

An instrumental duet was given by Misses Bessie Turner and Irene Brown after which a vote of thanks was give nto the retiring officers and a cordial welcome given the new ones.

The June meeting will be held at Mrs. John Baxter's, when Mrs. B. Thackeray and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe will be responsible for the program. Mrs. James Webb was appointed to give a paper.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames E. and D. Brisbin and the young members of the Institute.

SUCKER HUNT AT WESTWOOD

Hundreds of Fishermen Take Part in Annual Affair.

CATCH SCARCE.

WESTWOOD, May 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual Westwood sucker hunt was held on Saturday, May 9, at Welbeck. The weather, which was cold and windy, with occasional snowflurries, did not seem to effect the number or enthusiasm of the fishermen.

The suckers, on the whole, were scarcer and of smaller size than last year, thus increasing the efforts and ardor of those in the water, and the watchful eye of friends, who held the sacks on the land.

The notorious "Westwood Sucker Hunt," which has drawn large crowds for many years, is a day of ever increasing popularity for both profit and pleasure.

Personals.

Miss Ella Comstock has returned from a visit with friends at Apsley.

Mrs. John Carter, of Peterborough, spent a few days recently with her son, Harry Carter.

Mrs. Fred Armstrong, of Peterborough, is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. John Hope.

Miss Bessie Sargent is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Miss Ella Cameron, of Otonabee, is visiting friends in the village.

PETERBORO RESIDENTS REPORTING BENEFIT FROM THE "HUSKY" TREATMENT

Although Introduced Here Only a Few Days Ago, This Marvelous Medicine, Which is Being Praised by Thousands in Every Province of the Dominion, Is Now Helping the Sick of This City — Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatic Pains, Chronic Headaches, Catarrhal Troubles and Kidney Ailments Among Ills Responding.

Husky Expert Is Meeting Crowds Each Day At Bond's Drug Store, Explaining How Best and Quickest Results Are Obtained From This Wonderful Preparation.

"Husky," the medicine which has amazed the whole Dominion by its health-giving powers, is now receiving the unsolicited praise of the many Peterborough people who are using it.

Food tastes better, indigestion and constipation are disappearing, weak and aching backs are feeling easy, stiff limbs are supple, catarrhal troubles are going away, sleep is sound and strength is increasing. These are the reports made by Peterborough people who are using Husky.

"I expected to hear a good many local people praising Husky by tomorrow or the first of next week," said the Husky expert at Bond's Drug Store to-day, "but this morning many of my new friends here came into the store to report that Husky is already doing marvelous things for them. Husky often helps right away, but I want to tell my friends who have suffered for some time that they may not receive lasting benefits until they take their third or fourth bottle. You will feel better after a few doses, but the treatment should be continued for three or four more bottles in order that lasting health may be obtained.

"Husky relieves chronic acidity (too much acid in your system) and it is natural for local people to have gotten such quick relief. As Husky frees your stomach of these ravaging acids, your food tastes better, gas disappears and stomach pains, heartburn, suffocating feelings and bloating don't afflict you after eating. As your food is properly digested it supplies your blood with the red corpuscles which you must always have plenty of to keep from getting thin, weak and achy.

"Husky helps the bowels carry off the starch and sugar wastes from your food, which cause acidity, and then the poisons cannot get into your blood and give you headaches, rheumatic pains and nervous, rundown feelings.

"I have explained Husky to many residents of Peterborough and vicinity but if there are any others who suffer from the troubles which Husky is recommended to relieve, I wish they would call on me at Bond's Drug Store I want to explain to everyone how the best and quickest results are obtained from the use of Husky for I know that this medicine will help the people of Peterborough just as it is helping the people of Toronto and other cities."

GEORGE TAYLOR

C.P.R. Man Praises "Husky"

George Taylor, inspector for the Canadian Pacific Railway, who lives at 842 Widermere Ave., Toronto, writes the following about Husky:

"After suffering two years from an aching back, which pained me every time I moved, I've found relief for my trouble and it is the regular use of this medicine, Husky.

"I felt tired all the time before I started Husky and had indigestion and constipation which bothered me almost as much as my back. I had gas on my stomach and it swelled me up and gave me the worst kind of pains. My kidneys were bad and I was so nervous I could hardly keep on working. I would get home at night and think well I'm going to feel better in the morning. But I would be just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed the night before.

"Now, that I've been using Husky regularly I have no pain in my back at all, my food is agreeing and, actually, I am not constipated. I have real energy again and, as my back don't hurt me, I can do the hardest kind of work without tiring."

Call on the Husky Expert at Bond's Drug store to-morrow and let him explain how the best and quickest results are obtained from this medicine, which is restoring health for so many thousands everywhere." I am in Peterborough to give free information about Husky and I want everyone to know that they place themselves under no obligation by calling on me," says the Husky Expert. Go to see him, it may mean new health for you just as it has for thousands of others.

REGISTER

Of Social and Business Meetings

The Register is published to enable organizations planning major meetings to know in advance, and reserve, evenings on which there are no rival attractions. It will pay Peterborough organizations to consult the Register prior to settling dates. Responsible officers should mail notices well in advance.

Before deciding a date for any event, consult the Register to ascertain that there is no conflict with other events—and then send in YOUR date quickly so that other organizations will not use it.

MISSION BAND HOLDS CONCERT

Program Presented By Members of Lakefield United Church Society.

MUSICAL NUMBERS.

LAKEFIELD, May 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — A successful and well-attended entertainment took place on Monday evening in the school room of Knox United Church under the auspices of the Mission Band, with Rev. T. M. Wesley in the chair. The following is the program: Recitation, "Jack Horner," Charlton; missionary exercise, Eve Charlton; missionary exercise, Evelyn Grant and several little girls, "A Bag of Wishes"; recitation, Doris Charlton; exhibition of boxing, Kenneth Morris; dialogue, "Miss Japan and Miss Canada," Dorthy Sutton and Ethel Blakeley; solo, Georgie Tanner; piano solo, Donald Yale; "Our Chinese Cousins," four little girls; dialogue, Reba Preston and Margaret Tanner.

Two cases of curios from Angola, Africa, were shown and explained, and included quaintly carved combs, weapons, pipes, etc. The program was excellent, the boxing of Kenneth Morris and the piano solo by Donald Yale being especially good, the first was a unique performance by a very small boy and Donald Yale showed genuine musical talent in his selection.

A sale of home-made candy took place, and the net proceeds amounted to more than $12.00. Mrs. T. M. Wesley is the superintendent of the Mission Band.

Personals.

Miss E. Gray, of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gray, Nassau Street.

Miss Shields was a visitor to Peterborough on Monday.

CONDITIONS IMPROVED

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 10.—Murray Walca, Waterford, shot by a playmate while both were pointing rifles at each other is reported today to be resting comfortably. His life is not in danger.

G. S. Slee, Glenmorris, with both legs, an arm and his skull fractured, as a result of being hit by a car driven by Charles Thomson, Toronto is slightly improved but still in a most serious condition. Both are in the local hospital.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Will Your Family's "Carry On" Income Cover These?

THINK of life insurance in terms of income. Year after year, until the children are grown up, your family will need an income. Their mother, too, should be independent. Income is the problem.

K. C. S. solved a similar problem by means of Mutual Life policy No. 235,767. The premium deposits during the five years the policy was in force were reduced fifteen per cent. by cash dividends. His widow, Mabel E. S., is guaranteed a monthly income for life. Special Mutual policies guarantee the education of their children also.

It may be that one of our representatives can help you arrange your affairs in the same way. Ask him about it, or write to this office.

MANY TAKE PART AT W.M.S. MEETING

Interesting Papers and Reports Are Heard At Millbrook Meeting.

MILLBROOK, May 10.— (Examiner Correspondence)—The 'Watch Tower' was taken up, for the first time in some months, at the May meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church, and many items of interest from the various fields were given, those taking part being: Mrs. H. E. Smith, Temperance; Mrs. H. Wynne, World Peace; Mrs. Moore, Africa; Mrs. W. Armstrong, Korea; Mrs John Rowland, China; Mrs. (Dr.) Rae, India.

The meeting on Wednesday was held in the church parlors, and was preceded by a quilting when a number of the workers gathered at one o'clock, and the two quilts asked from the Auxiliary by the Supply Secretary were practically completed. Mrs. Thomas Luxon generously offered another quilt top, which is already pieced, as a personal contribution, and extended an invitation to meet at her home and do the necessary quilting in the near future. The supplies asked for the annual bale have to be finished and sent to the Presbyterial Secretary by September first.

Arrangements for the succeeding meeting of the year were requested from the various leaders, the following list being the result: June, Mrs. J. Albert Brown's group; August, Mrs. William West's group; September, Mrs. H. E. Smith's group; October, Miss Mary Widdis' group; November, Mrs. T. H. Aiken's group; December, Mrs. P. Stinson's group; July to be arranged.

The treasurer, Miss M. E. Hetherington, reported the Easter thankoffering as totalling $100, the largest yet received in the Auxiliary's history. A fall thankoffering is also taken when a further generous response may be confidently expected.

Raised $65,000.

The delegates to the recent "School of Instruction for Leaders of Baby Band, and Mission Bands", Mrs. M. McDowell, and Mrs. V. C. Lambert, gave an interesting report. This "school" is a new departure, and was held at Cobourg, with Mrs. Chant, of Dominion Board, as the chief speaker. It was attended by over forty delegates, and proved so successful it will be made an annual affair. Last year the Mission Bands of the Dominion raised $65,000, so the work is important, educationally and financially.

Mrs. J. H. George, Presbyterial Secretary for Associate Helpers, gave an interesting report of the proceedings at the Bay of Quinte Branch Meeting which she attended last week at Kingston, and this will be completed at the June gathering.

The members of the Sunshine Mission Band, under the joint leadership of Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. Lambert, served dainty refreshments at the close of the meeting, the silver offering going toward their funds.

Four new members were enrolled on the Auxiliary list on Wednesday; approximately twelve dollars was received in collection and a number paid their fees or gave donations. A decided effort is being made to have the fees in as early in the year as possible.

Norwood Organizations Honor Mrs. (Rev.) Philpott.

NORWOOD, May 10.—The Mission Band, Y.W.A., and W.M.S. held their thankoffering and regular meeting on May 7 in the S.S. rooms with Mrs. Howard Ford presiding. Miss Cora Clysdale read the scripture lesson and prayers were offered by Mrs. H. Ford, Mrs. Rork, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Robson. Mrs. Rork gave an account of the Provincial Presbyterial held at Hamilton. Miss Calder gave a paper on the study from the "Royal Road." Mrs. J. Rogers rendered a beautiful solo. A letter from China from Miss Greta Clarke on "Consecreation of Bishop Cheng" was read by Mrs. H. J. Ford and very much appreciated by all. Mrs. Philpott addressed the meeting in her splendid manner after which Mrs. H. J. Ford spoke on the value of her inspired messages and prayers, her cheerful manner and her wide leadership in the various women activities. This was followed by the presentation of a life membership certificate to Mrs. (Rev.) Philpott from the Mission Band, Y.W.A. and W.M.S. Mrs. Philpott replied in very appropriate terms. The meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Belmont Township Superintendent is Instructed To See That Wagon Boxes Hold Yard and Quarter.

HAVELOCK, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—At the meeting of the Belmont and Methuen Council held at Armstrong House recently, the road superintendent was authorized to see that all wagon boxes, working on township roads, will carry one yard and a quarter of gravel.

A by-law was read, arranging to borrow certain sums of money to meet current expenses.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

Charles Hull, payment for returning grader, $5; Gilbert Steenburgh, pay list, $258.88; Gilbert Stenburgh, pay list, $617.88; Robert Crawford, rental of Orange Hall, $60; Mrs. A. Young, banking rock culverts, $37.25; Charles Spencer, hauling and putting in culverts, $4; David McQuaid, work on crusher, $2.50; W. J. Peoples, grading, $10. Previously voted, $799.51. Total $1,795.02.

The council adjourned to meet on May 25, at 10 a.m.

Personals.

Mr. H. S. Martin, of the Bank of Toronto at Colborne, has been transferred to the Havelock branch, as teller and accountant.

Rev. J. Lennox is attending the Senate, held at Hamilton.

OBITUARY

EDWARD CURRY.

WOOLER, May 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred on Tuesday morning of Edward Curry, son of Mrs. Gertrude Curry and the late Henry Curry, of Wooler, in his nineteenth year.

During the last five months, Mrs. Curry has been called upon to mourn the loss of her sister-in-law, her mother and her son.

The late Edward Curry had just recently gone to Toronto to work and on April 28 came to Wooler to visit his mother, returning to the city soon after. He developed a cold and in a few days was taken to the hospital suffering from plural pneumonia. His relatives in Wooler received word of his condition and his brother and uncle immediately left for the city, where they found him in an unconscious condition, and from which he did not recover.

THOMAS MACINTOSH ODDIE

(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10. —Early this morning death removed an aged and highly respected citizen of Seymour East, and the last member of his generation of one of the pioneer families of that district, in the person of Thomas MacIntosh Oddie, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Oddie. Mr. Oddie had been in his usual good health till about one month ago. For some time he has been staying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Rannie, near Burnbrae, where his death occurred.

The late Thomas Oddie was in his eighty-seventh year. He was born in Seymour township, and spent practically his entire lifetime there, following the agricultural profession as a means of livelihood, and at which he achieved success in a marked degree. Although not inclined to military affairs he was a direct descendant of the Captain MacIntosh who fought with such distinction under the Duke of Wellington, at the Battle of Waterloo.

He was a member of the United Church and until failing health prevented it, was a regular attendant at the United church at Hoards. He held no offices in the church and did not belong to any fraternal societies. His chief interests in life were his home and the welfare of his family.

The late Mr. Oddie is survived by a family of five sons and five daughters. Mrs. Oddie predeceased him two years ago. The surviving members of his family are William of Cleveland, Ohio; Bert, of Delora, Manitoba; Melville of Portland, Oregon; John and Percy, of Seymour Township; Mrs. W. A. Ingram, Fernie, B.C., Mrs. Varcoe, St. Catharines; Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. A. T. Donald and Mrs. John Rannie of Seymour Township. The remains will be interred in the Burnbrae cemetery. The date of the funeral has not yet been arranged.

Madoc

MADOC, May 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. Adam Yearwood, of Belleville, who is visiting at the home of her father, E. C. Tufts, of Madoc, was agreeably surprised by a group of her old associates of the girls' softball team and of the High School on Friday evening.

A very happy and sociable time was spent in games and dancing until a late hour, when the group was called to order, and a brief address was read by Miss Edna Petit, and Miss Dorothy Nickle presented Mrs. Yearwood with a beautiful case of silverware in triumph pattern, on behalf of her former associates and school fellows, accompanied by an appropriate address.

Mrs. Yearwood replied briefly, thanking the girls and boys for their beautiful gift, saying she would treasure it as a reminder of her friends and as a souvenir of Madoc and old days. She invited them one and all to visit her in Belleville, and hoped not to lose sight of any of them in the days to come.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close.

SUES SELF

FRESNO, Cal., May 10—In a suit for divorce, filed against his wife, Aileen, Harold Ridley petitioned the court to order him to pay her $25 a month for the support of their minor child.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS ASSESSOR'S ROLL

Alnwick Board Will Hold Court of Revision On May 25.

ROSENEATH, May 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—At the meeting of the Alnwick Township Council, held recently in the Town Hall, communications were read from the Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Company, and J. A. Carroll re weed control. Each were received and filed.

Albert Halstead and William Arnold were appointed to look over the old road grader and get it repaired.

The assessor's roll was accepted from Austin Lean, assessor.

The council will meet on May 25 at 10 o'clock a.m. for court of revision.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

DELORO BOY SCOUTS.

MARMORA, May 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — One step in the selection of the Scout for overseas was taken last Tuesday night when Patrol Leader William Simmons was chosen to represent Deloro in the local district which covers about ten troops, and from which one Scout will be selected. The troop wishes him every success in this nal eiimination. The even matching of the Scouts eligible from Deloro required that the decision be made by drawing lots, and as one of the Scouts remarked, "The competition was worth it anyways."

On Saturday, May 18, a midnight hike will be held, when the troop will see if they are able to do their scouting in the dark as well as in the daytime. Cooking and other tests will be held and the troop will reach home shortly after midnight. This should be good practice in outdoor observation and direction finding at night.

The prospects of a Marmora troop are gradually shaping into something possible in the near future, and Deloro troop awaits with friendly interest the attempts being made. Needless to say, a troop in Marmora will prove a real addition to Scouting activities in the district, and will stimulate Deloro Boy Scouts to greater efforts.

It was with regret that the trip to Peterborough last week had to be called off on account of inclement weather, but it is hoped that a similar occasion will be availabe in the near future. As a suggestion Deloro would mention Belleville, which would be very easy to reach from a number of points interested in scouting.

OLD SHOE FIRM BOUGHT OUT

Agnew-Surpass Buys Waterbury and Rising Firm of St. John's, N.B.

37 CHAIN STORES.

More shoe trade history was made when, on April 22, a business deal was consummated whereby the Agnew-Surpass Shoe Stores, Limited, Canada's greatest chain stores, head office Brantford, Ont., took over the interests of Waterbury and Rising, Ltd., shoe retailers of St. John, N.B.

Waterbury and Rising is one of the oldest and best known retail shoe firms in Canada, and has carried on very successfully for over half a century, having last year observed its golden jubilee. This merger with Agnew-Surpass means another link in the chain of shoe stores operated by Agnew-Surpass, Ltd., as Waterbury and Rising have operated three large retail shoe stores in St. John, one on King street, another on Union street, and the third on Main street.

Agnew-Surpass now have thirty-seven shoe stores, starting at St. John, N.B. in the east and extending west through Ontario to Windsor.

chairman, made known the fact that there would be a special parade for the children on Wednesday afternoon instead of having the youngsters take the long tedious tramp with the main parade. They will start in the vicinity of the King Edward Park where there is ample room for them to form their lines.

Mr. Mason reported progress on the Calathumpian parade while the armories had been applied for as a suitable place to erect the floats for the main parade. However, it was suggested during the meeting, that the old street car barns be procured for this purpose, which suggestion will be acted upon if possible' A special man may be engaged to supervise the building and decorating of the floats, while Mr. Mason suggested that the entertainment committee might be able to hire a man residing near Ottawa who is a particularly entertaining clown.

Lt. Col. W. G. Hall of the military committee, was present and told of the tentative program worked out for the entertainment of the visiting regiments. His request for an increase in his committee's allowance was not entirely approved but the matter will be worked out in due course. The executive looks to the military events as features of the week.

Announces Dancing

In addition to his interesting announcement regarding the broadcast Chairman Costello of the Community dancing would be carried on from 10.30 p.m to 1.00 a.m. on the Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of the Old Home Week, while the feature dance would be held on Wednesday evening. He expected that a particularly clever dance band from one of the larger cities would be present.

Chairman R. M. Glover of the Publicity committee stated that already between $400 and $500 worth of advertising for the official program, had been sold while it would be necessary to send out a greater number of programs than had been anticipated. Mr. Glover also told of the intense advertising campaign that will be carried on in the surrounding district within a radius of 50 miles by means of special posters.

Alderman McDonald of the reception committee gave further information regarding the selection of officials' badges and it was decided to have them sufficiently varied as to designate an official by the committee of which he is a member.

Ald. McDonald also announced that through the courtesy of Mr. Mitchell, of the Border Transit company, two busses had been placed at the disposal of the committee for transportation of visitors who have no motor cars.

THREE-CORNERED CONTESTS GENERAL

ten Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary in West Birmingham, where he had a majority of 7,600 in 1924; Lord Eustace Percy, Minister of Education, in Hastings, which gave him a formidable majority over a Labor woman in 1924; and Sir John Gilmour, Secretary for Scotland, who in the Pollok division of Glasgow in the last elections, had three times as many votes as his Labor rival. All of these ministers are expected to be safely returned.

Faces Three Opponents

Hon. Neville Chamberlain, brother of Sir Austen and Minister of Health, meets three opponents in Edbaston, Birmingham, but the Chamberlain tradition around Birmingham is not likely to be uprooted to any great degree. One of Neville's opponents is a Laborite but another styles himself a "left wing Laborite."

Rt. Hon. L. C. S. Amery, Secretary for the Dominions, despite two opponents, is considered by political writers pretty safe in Sparkbrook, Birmingham. The Conservative position in the neighboring Erdington divisions, where Hon. Arthur Steel-Maitland, Minister of Labor, is resisting Liberal and Labor opponents, is however considered "rocky."

An especially interesting contest will be that in Bury St. Edmunds, where Hon. Walter Guiness, Minister of Agriculture, seeks re-election after receiving substantial majorities in 1924 and on his appointment to the cabinet. He has two opponents and decision of the riding, an agricultural constituency, will constitute a decisive verdict on the attitude of the agricultural interests to the Conservative party to which agriculture is alleged to have become antipathetic of late.

OBITUARY

WEBSTER BLEWETT

An old resident of this district passed away yesterday in the person of Webster Blewett, aged 63, at his home in the Township of Smith. Death came very suddenly. He was the son of the late Coleman Blewett.

He is survived by his sorrowing wife, also two brothers, James of Smith, and Josiah of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. Davis of Toronto and Miss Edna of Smith.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, on the Port Hope highway, on Sunday at 2.30 p.m., to the Lakefield cemetery. Rev. J. H. Dudgeon will be the officiating clergymen.

NORTON ANSON KINSMAN

There passed away, Norton Anson Kinsman, aged 38 years, in Buffalo, on Wednesday, after a lingering illness. The deceased was the son of the late Anson Kinsman, and was born in Kalamazoo, Michigan. During his life he was educated in Buffualo, graduating from the high school there, and was a faithful member of the Lafayette Presbyterian Church in that city. He was employed as a commercial traveller.

Mr. Kinsman was loved by all who knew him and was patient and cheerful during his long illness. There is left to mourn his loss, his sorrowing wife, Maud Kinsman, George Lamb, a cousin, and E. H. Lamb, of Rochester, also a cousin, Douglas Carlisle Kinsman, a brother residing in Buffalo, N. Y., and an uncle, Fred Kinsman, resident of Fonthill.

The funeral will take place in this city, from the home of Mrs. Kinsman's parents, James Hanna, at 302 Elias avenue, on May 11, at three o'clock. The officiating clergymen will be the Rev. David McKee and Rev. Mr. Mills.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

Getting the Daily Supply of Oxygen

I spoke recently about meeting a gentleman 88 years of age, whom I had known for many years and who appeared to be getting about anywhere and everywhere he pleased.

His mental and physical ability he attributed to his fondness for walking which, as I pointed out, enabled him to use his mental faculties as well as the physical.

Just the other Sunday I met another gentleman whom I never even classed as old, who happened to be walking in the same direction as myself.

As I caught up to him I remarked "Are you working off your Sunday dinner or are you getting an appetite for it?"

His remark was "Neither, I'm simply out getting my daily supply of oxygen." I've always tried to get out a part of every day."

What was the idea behind his desire to get a supply of oxygen? Isn't there oxygen indoors?

If there were no oxygen, or if the amount were low, wouldn't we live just the same?

Yes, every home, every office, every factory has oxygen in the air, and the amount is usually sufficient to keep us alive because there are the doors, windows, and ventilating systems which permit a certain amount of fresh air, with its goodly proportion of oxygen, to enter.

Why then was it necessary for this chap to get outdoors for his supply of oxygen?

Because the air of a room contains a smaller percentage of oxygen than the outdoor air, and with folks breathing and rebreathing this same air the percentage gets quite low.

Now it is the oxygen in the air that enables all the body processes to work. As they work they need oxygen in which to burn, and if there isn't sufficient oxygen then they do not burn completely.

This means not only less or poorer work done by the tissues, but material that could be of use is thrown out of the body as waste, sometimes stored in the body as fat.

This chap was 74 years of age, looked 10 or 15 years younger, and as his work keeps him at his desk he gets outdoors a part of every day to get the extra supply of oxygen to enable his processes to make a complete job.

Walking is an excellent way to get this extra oxygen. Motoring is another way, and even sitting out doors for a part of the day should be helpful.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"Seeking Brother Jack"

Two bums at east were eating in a grand hotel one day,
While dining they were chatting, and joking all the way
There came a pretty waitress, who brang a tray of food.
They spoke to her familarly in a manner rather rude.
At first she did not notice or make the least reply.
Till one remark was made to her, brought tear drops to her eyes.
She turned on her tormentors; her cheeks were blushing red,
And broaching as a picture this is what she said:

Chorus

My mother was a lady and you she would allow.
And you may have a sister who needs protection now.
I came to this great city to find my brother dear
And you wouldn't dare insult me sir, if brother Jack were here.

The two sat there in silence; their heads hung down in shame,
Forgive me miss we meant no harm, pray tell me whats your name.
She told him and he cried aloud. I know your brother too,
We've been friends for many, many years and he often speaks of you.
I'll go and see when I go back and if you'll only wait
I'll take you to him as my bride for I loved you since you said:

Chorus

The Whatnot

A Column for Little Bits of Everything of Interest to Women Readers

Conducted by Marion (Copyright)

During a walk into the county on Sunday, I saw some marshmarigolds—recalled in the May Queen poem I gave you yesterday—their bright yellow flowers making the ditches gay.

* * * * * * *

It was my first stroll this spring, and I thoroughly enjoyed it. There were white violets, and everlastings (not yet in bloom, of course), and moss in many gay colors.

* * * * * * *

It was discouraging, though, to see the water lying in great pools on the fields, hindering the spring work. There is more now than at any time this spring, one woman I met on my ramble told me.

* * * * * * *

I saw something else, not so pleasant as the flowers and budding trees.

* * * * * * *

One does not, somehow, associate the need for a clean-up campaign with the country. We in the city are accustomed to think of the country as a very tidy place, altogether different from our somewhat mussy back yards.

* * * * * * *

And it must be admitted that most farms ARE tidy. The gardens are usually well-kept, and clean of litter.

* * * * * * *

But I was shocked, on Sunday, while walking along a by-road three miles south of the city, to come upon pile after pile of tins, bottles, and old stoves—all the litter usually found at the city incinerator dump.

* * * * * * *

Surely the roadside is no place to dump such rubbish! Couldn't a hole be dug to hold the rubbish.

* * * * * * *

For the sake of the reputation of this section, the township authorities should arrange to have the ditches cleared of the rubbish that is now there, and then take steps to prohibit similar littering in future.

* * * * * * *

This is the first time in my tramping around Peterorough that I have come on sights like this, and I was disappointed.

* * * * * * *

Talking with someone after my return, I was regarded as something of a curiosity because I admitted liking a five- or six-mile walk.

* * * * * * *

I'd rather, anytime, walk for pleasure than drive. There's a thrill in being able to stop and poke around old stumps looking for moss and wild flowers, or standing watching the little creeks where they gurgle under the road. One misses so much from a car!

* * * * * * *

One of the advantages claimed for the car is that one can go so much farther—but who wants to? Right around Peterborough here I have found some real beauty spots, far off the highways and county roads.

* * * * * * *

It is nice, of course, to run down to Hiawatha, or up to South Beach for an evening picnic, but for real honest-to-goodness quiet enjoyment, give me a stroll out past Jackson Park, or beyond Crawford's Grove, or across the locks bridge and toward Wallace's Point (where is there a prettier road than that?), or along the east bank of the canal from the lift lock.

* * * * * * *

Motorists seem to keep to the paved roads, preferring running comfort to the beauty they profess to be seeking. This has the advantage of leaving the real beauty spots free for the leisurely pleasure of the hiker.

* * * * * * *

Why lure me from these pale retreats?
Why rob me of these pensive sweets?
Can Music's voice, can Beauty's eye,
Can Painting's glowing hand supply,
A charm so suited to my mind,
As blows this hololw gust of wind,
As drops this little weeping rill,
Soft-tinkling down the moss-grown hill,
While through the west, where sinks the crimson day,
Meek Twilight slowly sails, and waves her banners gray?

* * * * * * *

Talking the other day with a mother of a boy who is an omnivorous reader, I learned something of the difficulty of keeping books in good condition.

* * * * * * *

This mother complained that her young son has developed a habit of pencilling-in all the "o's" in his books, and drawing diamonds and whatnot around the figures.

* * * * * * *

Well, I have always had a very healthy respect for books, since I arrived at years of discretion, but I can remember doing similar tricks myself.

* * * * * * *

Now, one of my books obtained since I was—say—sixteen, has a mark in it. I detest seeing marks in the margins, or underscores, or anything added to the book. I'm not speaking now, of course, about text books. Translations may very well be interlined.

* * * * * * *

But don't be too hard on the children. The principal thing is to encourage reading. If you teach them that books are terrible things, which must be saved from mark at all cost, they will be driven from them.

* * * * * * *

Bend all your efforts to teaching the value of reading good books—and, later on, bring in the subject of caring for books.

* * * * * * *

Most certainly, at 15 or 16 a child should have learned to respect books; to refrain from marking them in any way; to avoid turning down corners.

* * * * * * *

And if the child progresses in age past that time without learning, then it is the fault of the parent who allows destruction of precious pieces of literature.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

Personally I am a staunch believer in budgets. It has been my experience that women who do keep more or less strictly to a budget always make their money go much further than those who do not, and the people who keep a budget have a sense of security in financial matters which makes all their efforts worth while.

But I do believe that life is more interesting and profitable for most people if they indulge in some sort of extravagance. It wouldn't be a bad idea if budget planners frankly admitted this fact and after allowing so much for food and clothing, rent and savings, and the rest of the things that budget planners always think of—if after all that they provided a certain amount per income for extravagance. Because after all most people do have some sort of extravagance or another and time is wasted if you try to decide whether you can fairly consider your type of extravagance as an investment — and therefor to be charged up against savings—or as being in the nature of food or rent or something to wear.

The important thing is to spend your extravagance money in a way that really gives you lasting pleasure, not to have the pleasure dimmed by the feeling of guilt and self-reproach that so often comes with this sort of thing. You may like to buy books, or to spend lavishly when you entertain your friends for dinner, or to buy more lampshades than most people consider necessary, or to have your face massaged or your hair waved or to buy gifts for some favorite child. Decide what sort of spending gives you the most fun—and then be extravagant gaily.

The Anglican clergymen of the city were in Lakefield to-day for the ruri-Decanal Chapter meeting of the Deanery of Peterborough, held in the Church of St. John the Baptist, with the Rural Dean, the Rev C. A. G. Spence, of Apsley, presiding, and the Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly of Young's Point, acting as secretary. The Rev. W. J. Creighton of Lakefield, looked after the visitors. The session opened with Holy Communion at ten o'clock, followed by a Greek Testament study, conducted by the Rev. T. J. O'Conor-Fenton of Norwood. After lunch, a discussion on "Readjusting Allottments," was opened by the Rev. J. D. Paterson, and one on "Institutions' Chaplain," was opened by the Rev. G. J. Bousfield. A paper by the Right Rev. C. A. Seager, D. D., Lord Bishop of Ontario, was followed by Vespers at The Grove School. Evensong to-night at eight o'clock, with the Lord Bishop of Ontario giving the sermon, will conclude the day's sessions in Lakefield. Those attending from the city were the Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave of St. John's church, the Rev. G. J. Bousfield of St. Luke's, the Rev. J. D. Paterson of All Saints, and the Rev. J. L. Hughes of St. George's church. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Seager, Lord Bishop of Ontario, who celebrated Confirmation services last night in All Saints' church, went up with the Rev. Mr. Paterson, and the Rt. Rev. J. F. Sweeny, Bishop of Toronto, accompanied the Rev. Mr. Bousfield. The Rev. H. F. Battersby of Hastings, was among the clergymen from the district who attended the meeting.

A very enjoyable party at Austin's Dining Rooms was held on Wednesday evening by several ladies' bowling teams. The local Columbian ladies' bowling team and a ladies' team from the Brinton Carpet Works entertained two visiting ladies' teams from Belleville, also a number of friends, at Austin's after several games of bowls had been played at Duffus' Bowling Academy. Dancing was enjoyed, with excellent music provided by Mowry-Steer and their Silver Collegians, and a midnight supper was served. During the evening, the presentation of a silver cup to the Columbian team, who were winners of the City League championship, was made to the captain, Mrs. J. Coursey. Other players on the winning team were the Misses Geraldine Foley, Teresa O'Heron, Marie Milloy, Madeline Asta, Olive Weese, Gertrude McCarthy and Mrs. Frank Asta. Presentations of boxes of chocolates were also made to two of the visiting bowlers from Belleville, to Miss E. Whalen, high scorer of the evening, and to Miss P. ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

By Mary Marshall

The brown suede oxford above is cut out at the front and fastened with two ribbon bows. The walking oxford just below is of brown suede and leather with wooden heel. The side-laced oxford of beige buckskin and brown patent leather trimming is suitable for resort wear. The black and tan watersnake oxford below is suitable for town as well as resort wear.

Nothing so surely spoils the effect of an otherwise smart ensemble as inappropriate shoes and this is especially true this season when well-dressed women generally are paying particularly keen attention to this question of appropriateness in footwear and when shoemakers and shoe dealers have such a wide variety of shoes for various occasions to offer us.

Fashions in shoes change from season to season but they do not change so radically that one cannot find a number of different types of shoes at the same time and still wear them to the discarding point before they have become out-modeled. Some women follow the policy of getting only two or three pairs of shoes at a time—and then wear them for every and all occasions so that they may be ready within a few months to buy new shoes of a later design. My own experience has been that it is wiser and more economical to select shoes of a less extreme model and to have enough sorts to satisfy the requirements of every occasion.

The low, broad-heeled sports shoes designed for actual sports are really not appropriate for the so-called semi-sports dress or suit. There are oxfords or strap pumps of medium heels that are much more in keeping. Usually the really high-heeled shoe does not look right with the semi-sports ensemble. At present many well-dressed women reserve really high-heeled shoes for evening wear and for wear with the lighter, more flaring sort of afternoon dress.

Oxfords are favored by many women for street wear this spring, not only because they relly are smart at the present time but because a shoe that is held in place by lacings at the instep is usually much more comfortable in warm weather than a strap pump or an opera pump.

MARION'S MAIL

Address correspondence to Marion at The Examiner Office.

Dear Marion:

Well, I suppose it is about time I was sending you another letter. I intended writing you sooner, but have been busy house cleaning like all the neighbors, and had to take a rest between times to brace up.

You will no doubt be surprised to hear what I have been doing lately. I have actually attempted to do some upholstering; it chanced to be my three piece bedroom suite with walnut frames, and I re-covered them with a very pretty chintz which harmonizes with my curtains, drapes and other furnishings. After finishing them, I must confess I am amply repaid for doing them, as they look like a new suite of furniture now, although I found them a very tedious task to undertake.

I am pleased to notice in our pages several of the neighbors have appreciated some of my letters on certain subjects I have written. I therefore wish to thank you all for your kindly thoughts and expressions. I also wish to thank the lady, 'F.W.B.' for sending me the words of one of the songs I asked for, and hope I may be able to return a similar favor to her some time.

I also like Ella May's idea, asking us the reason we choose our pen-names. I will ,therefore, tell you all the reason I have adopted mine.

It appears at the time of my birth, two of my brothers were living in Virginia City, U.S.A. They were asked to name the baby. They both sent as a second Christian name Virginia. As mother liked it so well, she therefore selected it. I had an idea it was rather long for a pen-name so I decided to choose 'Virgie' instead. I would like to know the meaning of it. Could you tell me, Marion?

I am sending a recipe of 'Ice Cream Cake,' and hope the neighbors will try it. I find it keeps moist quite a long time if made by directions.

By the way, 'Marion,' your Whatnot of April 23rd was one of the best to my mind you have written for some time. The subject being on Gossipers. It was wonderful. How well you dressed them down, so to speak; by the excellent description you gave us regarding them. Also the poem included was, without doubt, the truest ever written that I have ever heard.

I think it strange, Marion, those Gossipers most generally attack a person who is superior to themselves: an innocent creature who lives a blameless life, on account of some revenge or petty jealousy.

I have known of such people actually imagining a great many harmful things and tell them to other listeners for the candid truth. That is one type I consider a dangerous person; don't you?

I hear there are a great many tourists returning from Sunny Florida this month, where they no doubt have been spending a delightful winter. I am enclosing a poem giving a description of this wonderful state. It is as follows:

IN FLORIDA

The sky is ever bluest, and friendship the truest,
And enemies the fewest
In Florida.
Sunshine is the brightest, merry hearts are the lightest
And moonbeams are whitest
In Florida.
Blue lakes are the clearest, home-hearts are the dearest
And heaven is the nearest
In Florida.
Maidens are the sweetest, sailboats are the fleetest
And bungalows are the neatest
In Florida.
Sea-bathing here is funny, the beach is fine and sunny
And it's worth your money
In Florida.
Evergreen are greenest, beach-sand is the cleanest
And "Yankees" are the leanest
In Florida.
Widows are the tamest, bachelors the lamest
And tarpons the gamest
In Florida.
Lovers are the boldest, oranges are the goldest
And people live the longest
In Florida.

Before I close this lengthy letter, I wish to tell you how I enjoyed that delightful Whatnot you gave us all, April 12, on "Friendship," the greatest thing in life. I was so pleased with the remarks and advise you described I am therefore keeping it for future reference.

As I chance to have a poem on the same subject, I thought perhaps you and others might like to read it. So I am also sending it along. Hoping you will find space in our page to insert this big budget. I must now conclude.

Sending you all my best wishes.

Yours very sincerely,
Virgie."

WHAT IS FRIENDSHIP?

Helping each other our sorrows to bear;
Willing each other's distress to share;
Always be ready in trouble or pain
With never a thought of our personal gain.
If slanderous tongues do our friends abuse
Then ours be the pleasure kind words to infuse.
Like salve to the cut, they will not fail to cheer
And make him forget the cruel words he did hear.
Sometimes we will promise to be a true friend,
When little we know to what it may tend.
Sometimes will be stumbling blocks laid in our track
But that's not the time for a friend to turn back.
We all have friends while we're happy and gay,
But when sorrow appears, they will all turn away.
If once a man trusts you with faith strong and true,
Oh, never betray him, whatever you do;
For if you betray him you are guilty of crime;
For you've stolen his faith! 'Twill be lost for all time.
It is hard to be a real, true, faithful friend,
And unless you are sure you must never pretend.
I would rather be stranger to all I come near
Than a friend who is timid and shaken with fear.
Cast your bread on the waters, forget what you do;
When you least will expect, it will return unto you.

—Sincerely, Virgie.

Thank you for your nice long letter, "Virgie." You certainly must be a handy person to do upholstery. That's something most of us think beyond our powers!

Your name, "Virginia," was given that State in honor of Elizabeth, the "Virgin Queen."

It is true that the inferiority complex causes a lot of gossip—and both the complex and the impulse to gossip must be fought by all of us.

Thank you for all your enclosures; I hope you come soon again.

"Dear Marion:

Although I'm very young, only eleven years, I enjoy your pages wonderfully; also the funny page. We surely would be lonely without The Examiner now. Mother received the patterns all O.K. and was very much pleased with them.

I was wondering if some of the neighbors would send me a few house plant slips.

Mother always has lovely ones, but during the winter she lost them all.

I am very fond of foliages or anything at all.

Thanking you for all trouble. And wishing you every success, dear Marion.

Madge"

I'm delighted to hear from a neighbor so young "Madge." I'm glad to learn that your mother found the patterns good. Come again.

PERSONAL ATTENTION BY MODERN SYSTEMS

Is Given Each Individual Order —Accurate Sorting Insures Against Loss.

Since establishing our plant in Peterborough we have endeavoured to put over the idea of the family wash as one that was of distinct advantage to the women of Peterborough. Eliminating as it does all fuss and bother in the home. It is also economical and has the following special features that should appeal to every woman.

As a matter of sanitation, every family's bundle is as separately and individually washed as in your own home. Furthermore the white goods are separated from the colored goods and each separately washed. Such personal attention insures against loss of clothes, assures the utmost in cleanliness and the security of fabric and color.

This particular branch of our business has grown rapidly but if you have not as yet taken advantage of this service we would like you to call us at 3040 and we will explain fully all its features. Modern Systems; Launderers, Cleaners, Dyers.

DOING HIS DUTY

NEW YORK, May 10.—Mortimer Sanderson, 17-year-old Boy Scout died here in the act of doing his daily good turn. At a subway station, young Sanderson stepped aside to let a woman alight from a crowded car. In doing so he brushed against an intoxicated man, Charles Eckert, who struck him and knocked him onto the platform, fracturing his skull. Sanderson died later.

LEAFS TALLY THREE-RUNS IN FIRST INNING TO WIN OUT 4-1

Toronto Club Winners of First Game of Series Over Reading Keys.

CANTRELL ON MOUND.

Bears Gain Sixth Place in League Standings By Defeating Bisons 6-5.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10 (Canadian Press). — The departure of Tris Speaker and his Bruins from our midst took place on Wednesday seventh place in the race, allowing able advice behind. Anyway, the Leafs tried out the stunt of winning a ball game in the first inning yesterday, and were highly successful.

They whacked Nick Harrison, the Reading righthander, for three runs in the opening chukker, singles by Webb and Ruble and a four-base drive to the left centre fence by Sweeney being the bows that blasted the hopes of Harry Hinchman, pilot of the Pennsylvanians.

After that outburst it did not require much mental and physical energy on the part of Guy Cantrell to keep the visitors in check.

The game ended 4 to 1 for the Leafs.

ORIOLES LOSE OUT.

ROCHESTER, May 10 (Canadian Press). — Rochester turned loose with 13 hits yesterday to score its sixth home victory and drive back the bid of Baltimore for first honors.

The final score was 8 to 3, with Paul Florence, catcher, leading the attack with four safe hits two singles, a triple, and double.

FOURTH STRAIGHT DEFEAT.

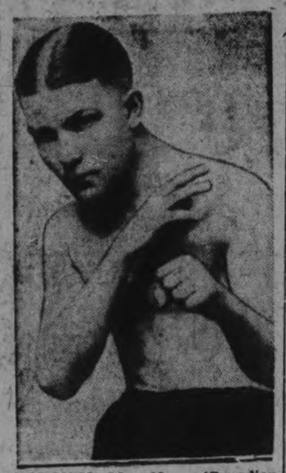
BUFFALO, N.Y., May 10 (Canadian Press). — The Buffalo Bisons suffered their fourth straight reverse when they lost the opening game of the series to the Newark Bears here yesterday afternoon, 6 to 5. The defeat sent the Bisons hurtling to the seventh place in the race, allowing the Bears to move up a peg to sixth pace. The Bears drove Art Mills from the box in the seventh inning after clicking 12 hits.

ROYALS WIN OPENER.

MONTREAL, Que., May 10 (Canadian Press). — A holiday crowd of 10,000 fans saw the Royals snap out of their batting slump and pound two Jersey City hurlers for 10 hits to win the opening contest of the four-game series here yesterday afternoon, 6-3.

Joe Maley started on the mound for the Cats, and was removed in the sixth for a pinch-hitter, and Bill Henderson, who finished the game, was rapped for three hits and as many runs in the first inning he twirled, to get credit for the loss.

Belanger May Fight Pladner



TORONTO, May 10. — (Canadian Press).—Emil Pladner, of Paris, outstanding European flyweight boxer, will arrive in the United States June 25 and shortly after will box in Toronto Matchmaker Playfair Brown of the Shamrock Athletic Club, was advised by cable to-day.

It is proposed to match the Parisian against "Frenchy" Belanger, of Toronto, at 114 pounds if the former Canadian champion is successful in regaining his Canadian championship here next Monday from Harry Hill, of Montreal.

WOODSTOCK PLATE HAS FORTY ENTRIES

Many Owners Represented in Three-Year Old Feature at Woodbine.

TORONTO, May 10.—Half a dozen winners this year are among the O. J. C. nominations for the 45th renewal of the Woodstock plate, the $5,000 feature at one and a sixteenth miles for three-year-olds which is to be run at Woodbine on Monday, May 20, the second day of the meeting. This year's race has attracted 40 entries and the winners this year include the Arden farm's Sun Worship, Gifford A. Cochran's Xylophone, H. C. Hatch's French Lass, Jacques stable's Essare, Rancocas stable' Leucite and E. F. Sanford's Brown Wizard.

Essare is one of the choices for the Preakness stakes at Pimlico today and is a double winner at Japolis ran second to Essare in the napolis ran second t Essare in the Wood Memorial stakes. Brown Wizzard won a handicap on Tuesday of this week at the same track, one mile and 0 yards in 43 1.5.

Leucite captured the Harbord purse, one and a sixteenth miles in 1.48 at Pimlico in May 2 while Friar Cliff, another Woodstock candidate, was third. Sun Worship's winning effort was at Jamaica on May 3 on a muddy track, six furlongs in 1.15. French Lass carried H. C. Hatch's colors on several occasions at Havana. Xylophone was one of the favorites for the Tijuana derby.

R. T. Wilson's African ran fourth to Minotaur, May 1 at Pimlico and Mrs. Clyde Phillip's Letalone was third to Indian Scout and Cheers at Jamaica, finishing fast in a six fulong race won in 1.12 4.5.

Athletics Pound Sox Hurlers For 15 Hits

CHICAGO, Ills., May 10.—(Canadian Press).—The Athletics pounded their way to a 9-to-2 victory over the White Sox in the final of the series yesterday. They blasted three Chicago pitchers for 15 blows one of which was a home run by Jimmy Foxx.

HUGMEN WINNERS SEVENTH STRAIGHT

Defeat St. Louis Browns 7-3 To Make Clean Sweep of Series.

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—(C.P.)—The here yesterday, defeating the Browns Yankees won their seventh straight by 7 to 3 to sweep the three-game series. Henry Johnson outpitched Sammy Gray, giving the home team but five hits.

Four straight hits, the last Tony Lazzeri's home run, broke up the game in the sixth.

SENATORS WIN OUT.

DETROIT, Mich., May 10.—(C.P.)—With four errors casting a shadow over their play, and four pitchers as wild as the proverbial man of Borneo, the Detroit Tigers yesterday presented a 6 to 3 victory to the Washington Senators.

The Senators nicked lefty Barnes for five hits and profited by Schubie's error to score four runs in the first inning.

Cardinals Win Out In Boston Series

BOSON, Mass., May 10.—(C.P.)—Effective pitching of Grover Cleveland Alexander enabled th St. Louis Cardinals to defeat the Braves 5 to 1, in the third game of their series yesterday. The victory gave the visitors the series, two games to one.

Merritton Replaces Niagara Falls Team

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 10.—Owing to the fact that the only local playing field suitable for baseball, has at the expiration of a lease, been returned by the city to the Canadian National Railways, the Niagara Falls Cataracts will be found missing when the Niagara District Senior League opens at Merritton next Saturday. At least the old habitual group champions will not be seen in Falls' uniforms.

Practically the entire roster of last year's Cataracts, Manager Bill Gaynor included, will be found with the Merritton club. The opening game on Saturday will find Port Colborne at Merritton and it is expected that a large local following will journey to the near-by town to root for the revamped Merritton team.

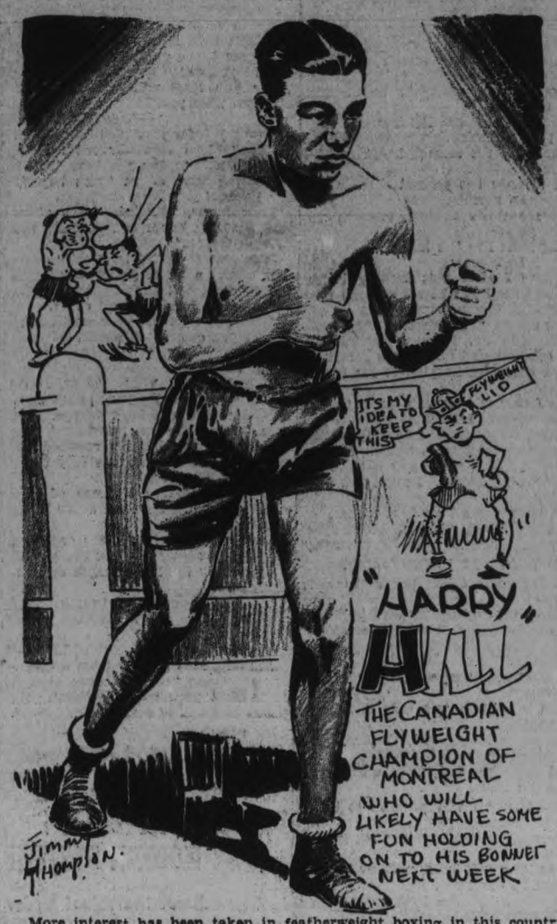
PLUCKY FLYWEIGHT



More interest has been taken in featherweight boxing in this country than ever before.

Bobby Ebber is one of these plucky little fellows who recently jumped into the limelight. He has been leaving a trail of black eyes and winning bouts all season. Ebber used to have the reputation of being a fast fancy boxer, but since his trip to the Pacific Coast he has developed into a real slugging fighter.

His fighting style has changed altogether, and he has become a very popular boy. He opens up with a two-handed attack that certainly inflicts plenty of punishment and keeps his opponent guessing over the whole route.

TITLE BOUT FOR MONTREAL

Dempsey-Fugazy Interests To Stage Championship Fight in Royal Baseball Park.

ON JULY 4TH.

MONTREAL, Que., May 10.—The Montreal Gazette to-day publishes the following:

"Montreal boxing fans will see a championship fight at the Montreal baseball stadium on July 4. In a long distance telephone call from New York last night, J. Ernest Savard told the Gazette that the Dempsey-Fugazy interests had promised him that on July 4 they would stage a titular bout in the Royal's Baseball Park. Director Savard will draw up his contract to-day, and, providing the terms are satisfactory, the final plans for the fight will be made. It is understood that Dempsey will referee the main bout on the July 4 card."

OUTSIDERS SWEEP PIMLICO PROGRAM

Mint Olga Captures Feature At Better Than 17 to 1.

PIMLICO, Md., May 10. — Mint Olga, sporting the silks of W. S. Kilmer, the Binghamton medicine king, was the surprise package handed the talent yesterday afternoon in the Spring Juvenile stakes, which topped the program at the Hilltop course. It was a day of upsets, and the favorites were blasted by a bustling barrage of long shots. The public choices fell in every race, and the high price peak was touched by Sam Slick, fourth-race winner, which scored at 30 to one.

The daughter of Mint Friar, with Georgie Fields in the saddle, raced cleverly to accomplish her score over E. B. McLean's Uptown Lad and Wild Apple, which followed her closest at the finish in the feature. The race was by no means a true test, and there was much crowding and buffeting, which was responsible for dull efforts from many.

Mint Olga was alertly handled and left the gate quickly. She followed Wild Apple for a furlong and then was sent on to take command. She had plenty of speed to open up a length on her field in the stretch, but was ridden out sharply in the final drive to maintain a short advantage.

SEEK REDUCTION IN FLOUR RATES

Canadian Roads To Hold Business Must Meet U. S. Schedule Says C. B. Watts.

MILLERS WANT PROTECTION.

TORONTO, Ont., May 10 (Canadian Press).—Commenting on the situation existing at grain export ports, Charles B. Watts, secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association, said last night that if Canadian railroads wish to retain grain and flour tonnage to the Atlantic seaboard through the port of Montreal, a revision of freight rates will be necessary. He thought the cut on wheat flour rates announced by United States railroads would be reflected immediately on the Canadian industry. In addition, he stated his belief that "now is the logical time to bring into effect a new rate basis which will give greater protection to Canadian millers."

He pointed out that in the United States the rate on flour has only been "a very small amount" greater than the rate on grain, while in Canada the rate has been "higher, anywhere from one cent to five cents." As a result, Buffalo had prospered to a greater extent than Canadian ports as far as milling is concerned, he asserted.

J. J. Page, manager of the Western Canada Flour Mills, said the lowering of the United States rates would undoubtedly create a greater flow of Canadian wheat through the port of Buffalo. He thought that rates should be reduced to hold the traffic in grain and that these reductions should also affect flour rates, in view of the United States reductions.

Winner For Fourth Time

United States' Golfer Has a Total of 292 For 72 Holes.

FARREL SECOND.

Hagen Winner By Same Score in Which He Won Last Year.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 10 (C.P.).—Walter Hagen to-day won the open golf championship of Great Britain for the fourth time with a score of 292 for the 72 holes of championship play.

Johnny Farrel, open champion of the United States, finished with a sparkling round of 15, and with a 72 hole score of 298 went into second place.

Jim Barnes, playing the last round in a spectacular 74, made his total 303, and went into a tie with Al. Watrous for fourth place.

For a time after the champion finished there was some confusion as to his score, a question of doubt arising as to whether his total should be 292 or 293. It had been reported that his ball moved as he addressed it on the third hole of his last round and a penalty stroke was tentatively added. Later is was officially announced that the championship committee found no evidence that the ball had moved, so his final round was scored 75, for a grand total of 292, the same score by which he won the title last year at Sandwich.

Only Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel had an outside chance to catch Hagen as he finished. When Farrell took 39 strokes for the first nine holes of his last round he was eliminated and Diegel with a score of 41 for the first nine soon after removed himself as a possibility.

Bobby Cruickshank finished with a score of 301, Watrous 303, Armour 305, Jimmie Thompson 308.

The Loyal Order of Moose Juveniles will hold a workout to-morrow afternoon at 1.30 o'clock at the King Edward school grounds.

PLAYERS READY FOR CUP MATCHES

Mount Royal Tennis Club Courts in Good Conidtion.

MONTREAL, Que., May 10 (C.P.).—A fine day yesterday found the courts at the Mount Royal tennis club in much faster condition, according to Dr. Jack Wright and Marcel Rainville, two of the members of Canada's Davis Cup team, who were out for a hard practice. Willard Crocker, the third Montrealer on the team, was nursing a bruised arm and decided not to play any tennis during the day. Dr. Art Ham of Toronto will shortly arrive to join his teammates.

John Hennesey, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison will arrive here on Sunday, and their first appearance on the courts on Monday will be looked to with more than usual interest. These are the younger players on whom the United States will have to reply in the very near future. In fact there are many who consider that even at the present time they are the equals of Tilden and Hunter in speed and ability, if not in experience.

CIRCUIT BLOW REWARDS.

Players on the City League ball teams are wondering if certain of the barbers are going to come this year in the same handsome manner as they did last year. For every home run knocked out last season the lucky batsman was given a haircut and shampoo as a reward by these barbers, who took this way to encourage the boys with their willow practise. As yet there has been no notice of the same offer, although the players are anxiously hoping for it.

In this connection, Lou Lebarr, Jr., is offering a real big league bat to the player who slams out the first homer in any of the three leagues.

TENNIS COURTS READY FOR PLAY.

The "Y" tennis courts are ready for play. The "Y" has had a man working on their courts for the past two weeks, and they are now in first class shape, nicely rolled, hard and smooth. These are cinder courts an dthe rainy weather has not affected them at all.

BELANGER IN ANOTHER TITLE BOUT.

"Frenchy" Belanger will try another come-back against Harry Hill of England for the championship, which he lost to the little Englishman in Montreal last month. Belanger seems to be always staging come-backs, and it is in these bouts that he generally shows his best form.

It is said that he is on his mettle now,and has been training most seriously since he lost to Hill by a close margin in his last fight. He is said to have abandoned his acquired style of "boxing" and returned to his natural hammer-and-tong fighting methods, that earned for him the nickname of "Little Dempsey."

Belanger has a good many followers here and they will likely await the result of the fight with interest.

FIGHT BATTLES IN DAVIS CUP COMPETITION.

Vincent Richards, one of the leading tennis players of the United States, who deserted the amateur ranks to share in the pot of gold which C. C. Pyle divided among some of the stars at the time he was featuring Suzanne Lenglen in exhibition games, expects Canada to give the American team close battle when the title for this zone is played for at Montreal.

He figures that Jack Wright and Willard Crocker are two players capable of holding their own in any company, but thinks that the Yankee players are just a little better. In a signed article Richards says in part:

"While the prospect is that the United States' team will meet serious opposition in every match at Montreal, I do not believe that there is any danger of the United States losing the tie so long as the players are not over-confident Hennessey and Van Ryn should both defeat Wright and Crocker on past performances, although the fact that they will be playing on the Canadians' own courts may work to some disadvantage against them. The fact that the Canadian ball is a trifle heavier than the one used in the United States, also must be taken into consideration. In spite of these considerations the United States should come through."

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE HEADS MEET TO-MORROW.

National Hockey League magnates and managers will assemble here to-morrow when some important matters will be discussed. The application by Paddy Harmon and Frank Patrick for a new franchise in Chicago will receive consideration, but a bitter battle looms before it will be granted. Harmon and Major McLaughlin, leader of the Black Hawks, are not exactly on the best of terms and, according to National League rules, McLaughlin must give his consent before the Chicago territory can be invaded by any other club either in the National League or affiliated with the National League. If Major McLaughlin surrenders he will cause a near-sensation. The Hawks have not made good in their three years' campaigning. They have had more managers and players than have any other three clubs in the league combined, but always with the same results. Much money has been spent and the returns have been small both in a winning and a financial way. The question of altering the playing code will also be introduced, but final action will hardly be taken until the fall when the Rules Commission officers make their report. All in all, it promises to be an interesting session here.—Toronto Globe.

Cricket Club Opens Season To-Morrow

The Peterborough Cricket Club will open their playing season to-morrow afternoon with a game at Lakefield against The Grove School. Every player is urged to be out for this game. They will meet at the Paragon Tea Rooms at 1.30.

Players that have cars are asked to bring them.

In Police Court

In police court this morning, a young wife decided to give her spouse a second chance, withdrew a charge of assault and the two left court to begin all over again—or at at least where they left off before hostilities opened.

A young Indian girl, on a remand charge of vagrancy, was taken home by her father who promised the magistrate that he would personally supervise her conduct. That left the girl's companion, a Hamilton Miss alone and forlorn in the prisoner's docket. A further remand was granted in her case.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

BUSTER KEATON IN "SPITE MARRIAGE"

The frozen faced fish who does everything wrong but seems to be able to come out all right, eventually, is the hero of "Spite Marriage." Comedy lovers are familiar with Buster Keaton and his method of getting laughs by means of an absolutely grave, sad countenance and a fashion of doing the wrong things at every turn He is an infatuated tailor who places his affections on the star of a Broadway show and attends exactly thirty-five performances sitting in the front row and wearing an immaculate dress suit and spotless white gloves. He tells the infuriated gentleman who has the misfortune to sit next him, all about the action of the piece, and otherwise distinguishes himself in his own peculiar way.

But it is when he lands himself in the company by means of a curious circumstance, that things begin to happen. No one could imagine that any human being could involve himself, the actors, and the audience in so many unfortunate episodes, as does this sad goof when he takes the place of one of the actors in a minor part. And even then, when the triumphant moment comes and he holds the leading lady in his arms, ready to press a kiss upon her marble countenance, he lingers too long and the wished-for moment ends in ignominy and the ribald laughter of the audience.

But Buster keeps on and the lady marries him, through spite, after her jealousy has been aroused by the actions of her former lover and a vamping blonde. Then she discards Buster and makes him more melancholy than ever. An the Puck-like god of chance who rules the sorrowful gink's actions sends him aboard a yacht, via a rum-runners' boat, and allows him to rescue the lady of his heart. But not in the normal fashion. Buster involves his inamorata and himself in many curious happenings, before the curtain falls on what is really a screaming farce and full of many delightful chuckles.

Frank and Cecile Eldrie are the members of this week's vaudeville team, a pair of Australian novelty dancers and singers and stunt performers who have a zippy and attractive act.

Frank Eldrie has the spotlight throughout and does some clever work with his big toy balloon. He can make it take him all over the stage, propelled by his toes, as he stands on top of it and dances and delivers a speech.

One of his cleverest bits is to skip the rope while standing on top of this balloon, a performance that is skilful and entertaining. Then he winds himself through a small hoop and sits on a chair also placed on top of the big balloon.

The lady does some pretty dance bits, one of them being very attractive, with a huge floral pink hoop to match her snappy pink outfit.

It's a Sensation, the
New Ford Town Sedan
Now on Display in our Showrooms

THE New Ford Town Sedan is designed for those who desire the convenience of moderate size and the distinction of fine car construction. . . . It makes a modern and most convenient kind of family conveyance—powered to meet present day requirements. The body is longer than other Ford passenger cars, thus affording an unusually roomy interior. . . . In appearance The Town Sedan is quite imposing. It is of the three-window, four-door type. . . . The lines are low, long and straight. And this suggestion is emphasized by the smart French roof quarters and the belted moulding which runs sharply back from the radiator and circles the entire body. . . . The Town Sedan is offered in a number of attractive color harmonies. Nickeled headlamps, radiator and door handles provide attractive touches of brightness.

Elaborate Roominess

The plan of the body affords the utmost room and comfort. Wide doors give easy access to both front and rear compartments. There is exceptional head room. . . . The driver's seat is wide and deep and completely cushioned. It is adjustable to the convenience of the driver—an appreciable feature on sustained trips. It is instantly and easily moved by means of a small, inconspicuous handle in the front center of the rear seat just above the floor. . . . The rear seat is particularly roomy. Five persons may be comfortably accommodated in The Ford Town Sedan.

Come and See It!

We are keeping open house for the next few days, and want as many people to see this triumph of the Ford Factory as possibly can. All who have seen it are enthusiastic over its big car luxury, at moderate car price. Make a date with yourself, set a time to see the New Ford Town Sedan, and keep the appointment.

OLD FAITHFUL

UDINE, Italy, May 10.—Antonio Valvasori, 100, claims that he has equaled or broken the world's record for fidelity. Valvasori, on his birthday, vowed that he never had loved any woman but his lawful spouse, whom he married when he was 25. He also is faithful in remaining "on the wagon." He hasn't taken a drink since his early youth, when one or two drunken carousals nearly cost him his life.

GARRISON NOTES

The best turn-out of the season marked last night's parade of the Peterborough Rangers, and only a few vacancies are now left in the Battalion. Men desiring to join are warned that recruiting will end next week.

The troops are looking forward to the trip to Toronto on May 25, to witness the greatest display of military maneuvers ever given in Canada. While principally for the militia, the excursion is open to any citizen. Tickets may be obtained from officers and non-commissioned officers of the garrison, costing $3.05 for the round trip. The train will leave the C.P.R. station at 2.30, giving ample time for a visit in Toronto, returning after the display at the Coliseum.

Marched Out

On Tuesday night the Peterborough Rangers will enjoy a route march around the city. A bugle band is being organized, and will be in good shape for the first of July parade. From the enthusiasm shown by all ranks, it is evident that the Rangers will be ready to take an important part in the Old Home Week celebration. The class of men received into the ranks this year delights the officers, and one onlooker was head to say a few evenings ago that the parade was as good as that of a veteran battalion.

Machine Gunners Busy

No. 3 Company, 4th Battalion, Canadian Machine Gun Corps, is also busy, the training season having opened a few weeks ago with the ranks filled. The new men are progressing rapidly with the technical studies, and section gun drill on Wednesday evening was well carried out.

This unit, also, will participate in the Toronto visit, and, with the Ranger, Cavalry and Artillery units, should make a good showing for Peterborough garrison. Camp has been announced for the machine gunners starting on July 15, at Barriefield.

CIVIL SERVICE POSITIONS. EXAMINATIONS FOR CLERKS, MEN and women, Grades 1 and 2, will be held in Peterborough on July 16 and 17, 1929. No shorthand or typing required. Application forms to reach Ottawa by May 27th. Age limit 18 to 35. No previous experience or high school necessary for Grade 1 positions. You can be ready for examination by starting to prepare at once. We are the only Canadian School preparing for Civil Service examinations by mail. You are as near to us as your letter box. You need our specialized help, no matter what other courses you have taken. Fees for full course by mail, including all subjects and texts — Grade 1, $20.00; Grade 2, $24.00. ($5.00 only on enrolment.) We hold no attendance classes, as we consider you save time and money by studying at home, and we get BETTER results, because there are no oral lectures, etc. to forget. Send for full information at once. You will be under no obligation and no agent will call on you. The M.C.C. Service School, Dept. P, 401 Kensington Bldg., Winnipeg, Manitoba. 6d-116-6731H

TRIBUTE IS PAID GENERAL OTTER

Col. J. Keiller MacKay represented General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander of the Canadian Corps in the World War.

The troops, with the exception of the bands, were in full khaki dress. The Royal Canadian Dragoons occupied the place of honor in the funeral procession, followed by the leading infantry detachment—the firing party. The brass and bugle bands of the Q.O.R. preceded the flower carriage and the gun carriage, on which Sir William's casket reposed. Behind the gun carriage was Sir William's black charger, with boots reversed in the stirrups, in the traditional military manifestation of reverence to a departed warrior.

Chief mourners, representatives of the Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governor Ross came next, followed by officers who were not with their units and who were in uniform. Units in order of their seniority, other ranks not with their units and who were in uniform, and mourners not in uniform brought up the rear of the cortege.

SPRING FASHIONS

Our new book contains the most popular New York and Paris dresses, some lingerie and styles for women who are no longer slender, and cute styles for children.

Also an article by Percy Westmore, the beauty expert of First National Pictures, telling about his work among the stars of the screen and giving some make-up hints of value to you.

And a most interesting article by Johanna Mathieson, the costume designer of Universal Pictures. Miss Mathieson points out the great influence of the screen on American dress and offers valuable suggestions regarding lines most suitable for individual figures.

Send 15 cents today for your copy of this book. It may easily save you 15 dollars in the preparation of your Spring wardrobe. The price of the book is only 10 cents if a pattern is ordered at the same time. Address Pattern Dept..

The choir of St Paul's Presbyterian Church held the usual practice last night There was a splendid turnout of members, inasmuch as one of the choristers was being honored. At an interval in the proceedings, after a few introductory and congratulatory remarks, Alberta Hunter, on behalf of the choir, presented Hazel McWilliams Stevenson with a pair of beautiful paintings (in oils), the scenes depicting the peaceful calling of fishermen preparing the nets on the "fishing smacks." Mrs. Stevenson, a bride of but a few days, appreciatively replied, accompanied by the best wishes and the plaudits of the choir.

Missing Guardsman Returns to his Home

Educational Reform Announced

NEWS IN BRIEF
(By Canadian Press)

SIX PER CENT. WINTER KILLED.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11.—Canada's fall wheat estimated last November as having been sown over an area of 951,000 acres has been winter-killed to the extent of six per cent., or 53,300 acres. This leaves the area to be harvested for all Canada at 897,700 acres. The estimate is contained in the first crop report of the present season issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

CREWS BEING DISCHARGED.

PORT COLBORNE, May 11.—Upper Lake boats are discharging their crews as soon as they reach port here. Fifteen grain boats from the Upper Lakes are now tied up here, lying in the harbor with no prospects of unloading. As fast as the boats dock their crews are discharged and the captains prepare for a tie-up of from two weeks to a month.

WELCOME PLANNED FOR CALLES

MEXICO CITY, May 11.—A Republic's joyous welcome awaits General Plutarco Elias Calles when he arrives in Mexico City, possibly to-morrow, from his victorious campaign against the rebels in Northern Mexico.

"TIPS" JAIL ATTENDANTS.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 11. — Major Wm. L. Peak, superintendent of the Washington Jail, to-day said he had advised his wealthy prisoner, Harry F. Sinclair, that tipping of jail attendants was not permitted and that from now on the "no tipping" rule would be enforced.

MISSING GIRL FOUND.

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 11. — Missing from her home here since April 22, Lorna Duval, 17, was located at Shawinigan Falls, near Three Rivers, last night. She returned to her home to-day. The girl had secured a position and was working at Shawinigan Falls.

FURTHER TROUBLE EXPECTED

LONDON, May 11.—The possibility of extension of trouble in the province of Khuzistan, which the Persian authorities attributed to Communistic agitation, was indicated in private messages received in London from Persia to-day.

The messages said that foreign agitators were still active at Abadan, where riots took place early this week, but added that the Persian government had the matter well in hand.

AGREE OVER DEBT

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 11.—An agreement funding the Greek debt and advancing $12,167,000 to Greece, finally settling all disagreements between the United States and Greece as the result of the tripartite loan agreement, has been signed by Secretary Mellon and Charalambos Simopoulos, the Greek minister.

QUESTION ACTRESS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 11.—William A. Byrne, investigator for the state board of medical examiners, announced here last night that he would again question Mildred Harris, former wife of Charles Chaplin, in an attempt to learn more about the associates of Miss Delphine Walsh, dancer, who died recently as the result of an alleged illegal operation.

FOUR KILLED IN FIRE

AMARILLO, Texas, May 11.—Four men were killed and a woman was believed fatally injured and more than a score of guests were hurt in a fire that destroyed the Tourist Hotel here to-day.

Change To Be Made In 1930

Premier Ferguson's Long-Discussed Change in Educational System Coming Next Year.

LEGISLATION COMING.

One Year of University Work Is To Be Placed in the High Schools.

LONDON, May 11 (Canadian Press). — Important legislation is being considered by the Ontario Government for introduction at the next session of the Legislature, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister, told the Western Ontario Conservative convention here yesterday. Mr. Ferguson's long discussed change in the educational system of the province will be laid before the House, and if the finances of the province continue as favorable as they are at present, there will be a reduction in the automobile license fee and in other taxation. He referred particularly to the amusement tax, and indicated it would likely be eliminated.

Complete Re-organization.

Mr. Ferguson said his educational policy involved "a complete re-organization of the educational system of the province and will be a reform comparable to those introduced half a century ago by Dr. Egerton Ryerson." The first two years of the university course will be transferred to the High Schools and the first two years of the High School course to the Primary School. It is in line with his policy of bringing education to the people, he asserted.

It will enable, he pointed out, the farmer on the back concession to give his children the benefit of more advanced education without sending them away from home, where risk of failure and detachment from home ties is heavy. Similarly it will enable students to receive their first years of what is now university education near home. They will be less expense to parents during the years when failures are the heaviest. He denied the contention that the plan would involve a great increase in the cost of education to the province.

Teach Intermediate Course

Explaining the change that would be necessary, the Premier said that the primary school of to-day would teach also an intermediate course to children up to 16 years og age. In effect, the present lower school work of the high schools would be done in the primary schools.

One of the chief arguments in favor of this change, he said was the "casualty list" at the end of public school work. There were ever so many boys and girls who quit school after passing the entrance examinations. One of the reasons for many of them quitting was that they had to be sent away from home to continue their schooling.

There was another tremendous "casualty list" at the end of the first year of university work back to the High Schools as similar saving would be effected in this field. At the same time, nothing would be lost at far as local autonomy of schools was concerned. The whole administration would remain as it was to-day in spite of all changes of classes.

TO YOU—MY MOTHER

There are so many lovely things,
That I wish this day to you brings,—
I hardly know just where I ought
To start a-wishing, for they're wrought
Of Heart, of Spirit and of Mind,
The fairest gifts these three may find.
And yet—this wish I send to you,
It seems to me is selfish, too.

My Mother—may you always see,
The same clean, fine and honest youth,
Who at your knee learned love of Truth.
May always you see mirrored there,
That which has kept him clean and fair,—
That which inspires him anew
Each day for—Mother—that is you.

My Mother—may God in His love,
Withhold completing Heav'n above,
A little longer that I may,
A little better learn the way,
To live my life, that eventide
May once more find me by your side,—
At peace, clear-eyed and unafraid,
My debt to you honestly paid.

—GRADY.

FISCAL POLICY OF GOVERNMENT ASSAILED BY HON. R. B. BENNETT AT CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

Too Little Attention Being Paid To Welfare of Canada, Says Opposition Leader.

COUNTRY REQUIRES VISION.

Mrs. Howard Fallis Tells of the Part Women Can Play in Party Advancement.

LONDON, Ont., May 11. — Canadian Press.) — Graced by the presence of the leaders of the party in both the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature, Conservatives of Western Ontario held their annual convention here yesterday. Hon. R. B Bennett, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, together with Hon G Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, were the chief speakrs

Mr Bennett assailed the fiscal policy of the Liberal Government at Ottawa, and contended they were paying too much attention to avoiding annoying the United States and too little attention to the welfare of Canada Referring to the proposed increase in the tariff of the United States, affecting farm products, the Conservative leader declared Canada could take no objection to it. It was brought about because Congress was legislating for the benefit of the people of the United States.

Follow Example of U.S.

He urged that Canada should follow the example of the country to the south and impose a tariff for the benefit of Canada. "Unless we have a government in Canada," he said, "whose chief concern is for the Canadian people the government has failed. Our business is not reprisals or recriminations but the development of Canada, the giving of employment to Canadians, and keeping our people in this country."

Mr. Bennett quoted from a speech of Premier King dealing with the United States tariff policy, in which Mr. King had said the policy of his government was to deal with problems as they should arise in the light of conditions. He contended it was the duty of a government to look to the future and make preparations.

Canada Requires Vision.

"Is this country so bankrupt in statescraft," he said, "that we have no vision, that its government can only wait for a situation to arise? This country requires a vision that will deal with problems before they are upon us. Statesmanship is looking to the future—not drifting blindly along."

Declaring that the Conservative party believed the British Empire could be made a self sustaining economic unit, Mr. Bennett announced that if he were called upon to form a government he would summon an empire economic conference to discuss the development of trade in the empire. Had this policy been pursued by the present government, he said, we would now have a market for our products to replace that taken away by the United States tariff.

Sir John Simon Guarded By Scotland Yard Men

LONDON, May 11.—(C.P.)—A fresh election sensation was given to the public this afternoon when it was understood that special Scotland Yard men are closely guarding Sir John Simon on his campaign tour for re-election as a Liberal to the House of Commons. Fears for his safety are an outgrowth of recent demonstrations against him as head of the Parliamentary Commission to India to study conditions there.

LOUIS AUGER REFUSED BAIL

Justice Hodgins Rules Against Allowing Former M.P. Out of Jail.

NEW TRIAL IN OCTOBER..

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11 (C.P.).—On the ground that the new trial of Louis M. Auger, former M.P. for Prescott, had been secured on a technicality, Mr. Justice Hodgins in the Supreme Court of Ontario to-day refused application for bail. His Lordship, in giving his decision, declared he could not accede to the request as the offence on which Auger was tried, drew the same maximum penalty as conviction for murder, in which cases, when new trials were ordered, no bail was granted.

The new trial which was recently granted by the Appellate Court of Ontario, will be held next October.

The basis of the appeal by Auger was on the ground of alleged misdirection and non-direction of the jury by the trial judge.

Two Judges Dissented

The judgment granting the new trial was written by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, Justices Grant and Middleton; while Justices Hodgins and Magee dissented as the minority, upholding the nine years' imprisonment imposed by Justice Wright at the trial.

Auger was convicted here several weeks ago of having committed a grave offence against Miss Laurence Martel, 17-year-old Hawkesbury girl.

Auger has been confined in the Carleton County jail here since he was first arrested. When informed of the success of his appeal on Monday, Auger expressed renewed confidence that the courts will yet free him of the charge against him.

In finding a new trial, Chief Justice Mulock summed up the case in which the vital issue was consent or non-consent, and the only evidence of consent was that of the prosecutrix "which was uncorroborated."

Grand Opera House Filled To Capacity To See First Presentation of Pageant.

INTERPRETIVE DANCES.

Novelty Ballet Forms Second Portion of Most Delightful Program.

The first performance of the Gymnasium Pageant of the Young Women's Christian Association, for this year, was an extremely successful event of last night. Over seven hundred people filled the Grand Opera House almost to capacity in the lower and balcony floors and the program, which ended at about half past ten o'clock, received their most enthusiastic approval, from the snappy Grand March which ushered it in, to the beautiful floral finale.

The Old Fashioned Garden Novelty Ballet which formed the closing of the big Pageant, taking up the entire second half of the performance, was one of the loveliest things of its kind ever presented here. The beauty of the costumes in the flowers that composed the ballet, and grace and agility of the dancers made it extraordinarily attractive.

The program opened, as usual, with the Grand Procession March which brings every one of the performers, from the tiniest tot to the tall seniors, out in front of the audience. They make their way from the stage out through the side, to the front of the house, retracing their steps down the aisle and up a runway which brings them to the stage again, weaving back and forth in an orderly maze of twinkling black legs and trim middy blouses and bloomers.

British Traditions Receive Big Shock When Sentry Leaves

Young Scots Guardsman Who Deserted Post Outside of Buckingham Palace Arrives At His Home in Aberdeen in An Exhausted Condition.

WALKS TO POLICE HEADQUARTERS AND ANNOUNCES TO DESK SERGEANT, "I AM THE MISSING GUARDSMAN"

Sivewright Says His Companions in the Guard Were Jealous of His Rapid Promotion and When He Was Reprimanded He Simply Walked Away.

ABERDEEN, Scotland, May 11 (Canadian Press). — Sig-naller Sivewright, young Scots Guardsman, who gave British traditions a terrific shock a fortnight ago by disappearing from his sentry post outside of Buckingham Palace, turned up at his home here to-day. He was in an exhausted condition.

The young sentry, who left his rifle, his awe-inspiring busby, his bandoliers and his pouch under a bush near the Palace, told his parents that he had walked most of the way, a stretch of nearly 500 miles, from London, in order to see his father and mother before "facing the music."

After bathing his blistered feet and eating a bite of breakfast he walked into police headquarters and announced:

"I am the missing guardsman."

He will be detained pending the arrival of an escort from the London barracks. Thus far he has not given any public explanation for his disappearance.

Sivewright was quoted as saying that his companions in the guards were jealous of his rapid promotion and that when he was reprimanded for wearing a fellow guardsman's coat, he simply walked away. He denied that he tried to evade a wedding with a London girl which had been arranged shortly before his disappearance.

MURDERER LEFT AT DOOR OF JAIL BY PENITENTIARY GUARDSMAN

Alberta Protests Action To Federal Department of Justice.

PRISONER RECAPTURED.

Hitch Occurs in Transfer From Federal To Provincial Custody.

EDMONTON, May 11 (Canadian Press).—Left "on the doorstep of the Provincial Jail" by a Dominion Penitentiary guard, who claimed he was following his instructions, George Edmond Jackson, convicted murderer, wandered at large for a few minutes Thursday because there was no hindrance to his errant strolling.

Thereby hangs an amazing tale, disclosing circumstances that Attorney-General J. F. Lymburn characterizes as "extraordinary and absolutely unheard of heretofore." The man was ultimately apprehended through the quick action of John McLean, warden, of the Provincial Jail at Fort Saskatchewan.

A protest from the Alberta Government has been made to Ottawa, but no reply has yet been received.

"Thursday evening about 8 o'clock," says Hon. J. F. Lymburn, the Attorney-General, "a guard from the Dominion Penitentiary at Prince Albert turned loose in the grounds of the Provincial Jail at Fort Saskatchewan George Edmond Jackson, murderer of Mrs. Nellie Pendleton at Waskatenau in February, 1928, one of the most revolting murders in the history of criminal jurisprudence in Canada. He was sentenced on June 6, 1928, to death; the sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

"The circumstances are unprecedented," the Attorney-General went on to say. "The guard appeared at the jail with Jackson and was observed at the jail buildings by Warden McLean, to whom he stated that he had instructions to leave Jackson there, even though he should have to leave him on the doorstep.

Warden Goes To Telephone.

"Warden McLean said he would telephone to Edmonton for instructions in the matter and proceeded at once to a telephone booth in the town adjoining the jail grounds. When he stepped out of the booth, after phoning, he met the Dominion guard and asked him where his prisoner was. The guard answered that he had

Parks Is Recovering From Nine Day Strike

WINDSOR, Ont., May 11. — (Canadian Press).—The status of Jack Parks remained unchanged to-day in the Essex County jail at Sandwich. While he has recovered his normal appetite after a nine day hunger strike he refused again to-day to sign a release waiver so that he could be removed to Portsmouth for a five year term imposed here Thursday for the theft of an automobile.

TWO AVIATORS ARE EXECUTED

Cantonese Army Fliers Accused of Being in Sympathy With Rebel Forces.

MARINES GUARD COSULATE.

CANTON, China, May 11 (C.P.).—Two Cantonese army aviators, suspected of Kwangsi sympathies, were executed to-day. They were accused of deliberately forcing their planes into a ground collison yesterday when ordered to take the air to bomb the disaffected Cantonese naval units which revolted Thursday.

Both planes were smashed although the flyers themselves were not hurt. Their names were withheld but they were believed to be two of those who were trained in America.

Seeking to block the Kwangsi advance from the east, the Cantonese yesterday blew up the principal bridge on the Canton-Kowloo Railway.

Twenty American Marines to-day guarded the American Consulate in Shameen, foreign concession quarter of Canton. The men were landed from the United States warship Tulsa yesterday when Cantonese bombardment of four rebel ships in the harbor threatened danger to those ashore.

British guards also were landed. A check-up revealed that only a few persons were killed when machine gun bullets from Honam Island and shells from the Macao Island batteries peppered part of the concession yesterday. Residences and business houses, however, for a while were hard hit by the fire.

Accompanied by Provincial policemen, and with an order from the Attorney-General's department as their authority, the Oshawa Coroner's jury which will investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Helen Wright of Peterborough last April 5, paid a flying visit to this city on Friday afternoon for the purpose of viewing the remains, now resting in the vault at Little Lake cemetery. The sealed casket was opened by a member of a local undertaking staff, white paper to the pamphlet of Rt. ously been made beyond the securing of authority from the Attorney-General's department, the jury, under Coroner Dr. Rundle was able to carry out its mission, and it is expected that the formal inquest will be held in Harmony Public school one night next week, though the date has not as yet been set.

MAN WANTED IN IRELAND.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11 (Canadian Press). — John Massey, 40, of Toronto, was arrested here yesterday on a warrant issued by the Irish Free State. Massey is wanted in Belfast, Ireland, on a charge of obtaining $2,000 by fraud. He was an auctioneer, and while disposing of livestock and farm implements at a sale, is alleged to have secured the $2,000 by false pretences.

Police are taking proceedings to have the man deported.

LIBERAL POLICY IS ANSWERED IN TORY PAMPHLET

Unemployment Scheme is Characterized As "Impracticable" By Leaders.

FORCE INADEQUATE.

Several Cabinet Ministers Contribute to Pamphlet of Policy Denunciation.

LONDON, May 11 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The British election campaign got into full swing to-day when the government replied in a While no arrangements had previ-Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, that the Liberals can "conquer unemployment." The Liberal scheme was characterized as "impracticable" and based on a misunderstanding of the unemployment problems.

Referring to the two-year program of road and other work that the Liberal plan contemplates. Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, Minister of Labor, in a foreward, declared that even if a program of such magnitude could be put into operation "the proper conditions of work could not be maintained during its performance and the program would simply create a problem of demobilization at the end of the period."

Force Inadequate

The labor force of unemployed capable and available for the work proposed in the Liberal pamphlet, is "quite inadequate," Sir Arthur said.

STRIKE RUMOR GIVEN DENIAL

Six or Eight Men Become Dissatisfied at the Auburn and Walk Out.

LOOMS NEVER STOPPED.

The rumor of a strike and the calling of police to settle differences arising among strikers at the Auburn plant of the Canadian Woollens is practically unfounded. The plant is running normally and has experienced no delay from the slight friction that has arisen during the past twenty-four hours.

J. J. Southern, manager of the plant, told The Examiner, when interviewed this morning, that there was no strike among the plush weavers, the department in question. The rumor probably started, he said, when six or eight of the beginners became dissatisfied through some misunderstanding about hours, and walked out. The looms never stopped running, as their places were taken by other employees. Some of the dissatisfied members have returned and those who have not returned have had their places filled and arrangements to continue the work without interruption are completed.

"The plush weaving is only a side line, and there are only a few looms as compared with the other looms in the plant so the situation could not be acute," he said.

Italy Exhibits Early Century Inventions; Marvels Of All Periods Shown in Florence

FLORENCE, May 11. — King Victor Emmanuel opened the National Italian Exhibition of History and Science yesterday, which within the small space of a few rooms, is presented a collection of rare and scientific curios bearing witness to the important part played by Italy in the development of science, particularly in preceding centuries.

Though space has been dedicated to modern times, numerous exhibits showing the share Italian inventors have had in telephony, the wireless, electrical engineering, aviation, civil engineering, aviation, civil engineering, and the like, the chief interest of the exhibition lies in the collection of ancient machines invented and built when science was yet in its infancy.

It would probably be difficult to match this exhibition in any other country of the world. The exhibits, for instance, include the most ancient telescope extant. It was constructed by Galileo in 1600. Then there is the first condensation hydrometer to measure the humidity of the atmosphere. This was invented by the Grand Duke Ferdinand. The first pendulum clock, invented by Galileo and constructed by Vincenzo, is shown, as are the first thermometers made by Accademia Del Cimento of Florence. Interest centres also on the first barometer, a discovery by Torricelli, and the first immersion microscope made by Amici of Florence.

In addition, the exhibition includes models made on designs left by Leonardo Da Vinci of the first flying machines conceived by the human brain, this centuries before the Wright brothers translated the bold dream into actual fact. There also are models of a parachute, of the helicopter and of a lathe for the construction of the screws of a submarine, all made on designs left by Da

Choir Boys Bumped On Parish Markers; London Church Observes Age Old Custom

LONDON, May 11.. — Most passers-by at midday on the Thames embankment were astonished when they beheld out in midstream a boat laden with men and boys, arrayed in cassocks, surplices and "mortar-boards."

The river excursion was the culmination in the ceremony of the marking of the parish bounds which for several centuries has been carried out by those connected with the Church of St Clement Danes of the Strand. Every Ascension Day a party of "substantial men," as the admonition addressed by Queen Elizabeth has it, encircled the bounds of the parish, accompanied by the boys of the church choir, to whom the boundaries are pointed out.

They do more than that, for seizing one of the youngsters, the men bump him vigorously against the mark to impress it on the youthful mind. When the victim becomes elderly himself he will remember that bumping, and probably bump one of the rising generation with much gusto.

The ceremony opened with a servive in the church, a service arranged by Queen Elizabeth in 1559, in which stress is laid on the text, "Cursed be he that translateth the bounds and doles of his neighbor." Then the boundary patrol started, the rector leading the procession.

Several blocks of offices were invaded to the entertainment of the workers, and at length the procession reached the brink of the Thames. A boundary mark is supposed to lie in the deep bottom of the river. The party was towed to the middle of the river and landed again at Cleopatra's Needle. Then all went to

ESTIMATES FOR PUBLIC WORKS PASSES COMMITTEE OF HOUSE

Appropriations Amounting to $7,560,620 Are Endorsed By Members.

ONTARIO LEADS.

$1,826,970 Goes to Quebec, $77,600 to Manitoba, and $1,037,300 To British Columbia.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11.—(By the Canadian Press.) — The House of Commons buckled down to business yesterday and passed appropriations amounting to $7,560,620 between three o'clock in the afternoon and eleven o'clock adjournment. Appropriations for the Department of Public Works were under consideration, and the majority of votes approved, dealt with harbors and rivers construction in various provisions of the Dominion The largest total for his work covered construction in the Province of Ontario. It amounted to $2,633,300, and approval was given on the understanding that Ontario members who were not present would be given an opportunity to discuss any item comprised in this amount, should they desire to do so.

The Quebec appropriation for harbors and rivers which passed the House, amounted to $1,826,970. A vote of $77,600 for Manitoba was put through and an amount of $132,800 for harbors and rivers in Saskatchewan and Alberta was also approved. The British Columbia appropriation of $1,037,300 passed with little discussion.

A large vote of $1,750,000 for dredging in various parts of the Dominion was also approved. Smaller items covering telegraph and telephone lines in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, passed the committee.

STUDENT COMMITS SUICIDE.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 11.—Ora McLaughlin, 20 year old student at Trenton High school, yesterday committed suicide by shooting himself. The boy was obsessed with the idea he was a victim of cancer. He was found by his father in the barn of his home. In a note to his father he expressed gratitude for all that had been done for him and went on to say he despaired of getting any relief.

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN WEST

Scores of Blazes in Northern Manitoba Are Beyond Control.

RAIN IS WANTED.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 11 (Canadian Press).—Devastating columns of fires, scattered throughout Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, last night were sweeping through large areas of timber land unabated and fanned by a stiff breeze that made fire-fighting almost impossible. Variously estimated as the number, it was believed that more than a score of separate blazes were beyond control in the northland. Reports stated the ferocity of the flames was accentuated by absence of rainfall, which is badly needed in the crisis.

Wending its way steadily northward from the Flin Flon Mines in Northern Manitoba, a five-mile wide forest fire last night was destroying everything in its path, while fully a dozen other flaming assaults were levelling far more valuable property to the east of the mines.

Ten conflagrations in Saskatchewan, the most serious being in Basque and Porcupine Forest reserves, 80 miles east of Prince Albert, were quickly consuming valuable stands of timber yesterday. Only a considerable rainfall will relieve the situation in that district, it was believed, existing dry weather conditions being against the heroic efforts of fire-fighters.

PORT COLBORNE, May 11.—One month's tie-up, with no canal boats in sight and Upper Lakes freighters discharging crews, is the only outlook at this port.

LAWYER COMMITS SUICIDE.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 11.—Lieutenant Walter H. Thompson, prominent young lawyer of the Capital died in the hospital last night of a bullet wound in the head, which the authorities believe was self inflicted. He was subject to periods of nervous depression, attributable to wounds suffered while serving with the Fourth Battalion of the Canadian forces during the Great War.

CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., May 11.—Reports here last night from Pelee Island indicate that all danger of the lake flooding several sections is past. While the river continues high it is not rising and is expected gradualy to regain its former level.

APPEAL IS FILED.

COBALT, Ont. May 11.—New evidence, stated to have been found since the trial was held in Cochrane last month, will be one ground of appeal from the sentence of death passed upon John Ivenchuk, convicted by an assizes jury of the murder of License Inspector Harry Constable. Notice of appeal was served yesterday, M. Harry Fine, prisoner's counsel at Cochrane said. It is alleged a witness has been located who can testify that he was with Ivanchuk at the time the murder was said to have been committed, and that the condemned man was elsewhere at that time.

A "SQUARE DEMOCRAT"

ALBANY, N.Y., May 11.—A guilty conscience has been eased and the State Income Tax Bureau is $10 ahead. This particular contribution was offered by "Another Square Democrat," at Dunkirk, to State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine with the request that it be turned over to the Income Tax Bureau.

CHIEF WITNESS SHOT.

DENVER, May 10.— The body of Joe Clark, Denver police character and chief witness for the government against Walter Johnson, sheriff of Jefferson county, recently indicted for conspiracy to violate the law, was found in a field six miles north of Denver yesterday. He had been shot to death.

The Weather

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Ont., May 11.—(C.P.—Pressure is low over Hudson Bay and a trough of low extends from Lake Superior to the Southwest States, while high pressure prevails off the Atlantic coast. Local showers have occurred in South-western and North-eastern Ontario, also in Manitoba, while elsewhere the weather has been fair. It is a little warmer in Eastern Canada.

Good Citizenship Outlined By Leader

LONDON, Ont., May 11 (Canadian Press). — Respect for law, radiation of a beneficient influence in one's community, and the giving of what talents one has to the nation's welfare are the three chief constituents of good citizenship, Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, declared to London Kiwanians at a luncheon in a local hotel last night. Mr. Bennett in a brief address made a plea for a wider vision, for abandonment of parochial and sectional outlooks that they might be swallowed up in the larger vision of a great united Dominion in a great Empire. Mr. Bennett left for the east by train last night.

Police Take Pity On 'Rail Rider'

ST. THOMAS, Ont., May 11.—(C.P.)— Stating he wanted to see his mother, who was seriously ill in Buffalo, William H. Miller, Detroit, was released on suspended sentence by Magistrate Maxwell here yesterday. He was charged with trespassing on the Michigan Central Railway.

Miller told the Magistrate he was notified of his mother's illness and not having enough money to take himself and his wife to Buffalo he bought his wife a ticket while he attempted to make the trip by "riding the rails." Police, impressed with the young man's story, arranged for his transportation.

"Vag" Becomes Drunk In Police Station Cell

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 11 (C.P.)—To get drunk in his cell in Brighton police station was the experience of a vagrant who was arrested there yesterday. He was accidentally put in a cell where the police had stored some seized liquor. He made himself right at home and proceeded to drink his trouble away. When found by a constable a few hours after being admitted the prisoner was in an inebriated condition.

NO CHANGE IN FLOOD CONDITION.

CHATHAM, Ont., May 11.—(Canadian Press)—No noticeable change was reported yesterday in the flood situation in Dover township where almost 20,000 acres have been inundated through the backing up of the high water in Lake St. Clair.

Although the water in the lake has risen a few inches this morning, the flood situation appeared no worse, stated a township official. He attributed the rise in the lake level to the southerly wind. It was also stated the pumping schemes were to-day working and appeared to be holding their own.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

NEWMARKET, Ont., May 11. — Captain and Mrs. E. Clark, of Newmarket had a narrow escape from death yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Lake Simcoe radial train at the Millard and Raglan street crossing here.

The automobile was completely smashed but its occupants escaped with head and body injuries. Mrs. Clark was taken to a hospital where her condition was said to be satisfactory.

CONVALESCENCE, when the long slow road to health is beset with weakness, loss of appetite and sleeplessness, is often the most dangerous time of sickness. Body tissues are unable to resist the onslaughts of disease germs, vitality is so sapped that recovery seems impossible.

At just such a time, Mrs. M. L. Franklin, of Owen Sound, found health again through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

She wrote: "Terrible disease and bereavement left me in such a weakened condition that my friends considered recovery impossible. My arms and legs were always cold and numb; I could not sleep; I had no appetite. On my sister's advice, I started to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I at once gained in weight, my appetite returned, my sleep was restful and now I feel like a new woman."

History of Peterborough

Written by Thomas W. Poole M.D., and Published in Peterborough 1867

CHAPTER IV—Continued
A GOVERNOR'S VISIT

During the brief stay of Governor Maitland on "the plains" he and a number of the gentlemen who accompanied him, drove out to see the settlement in Ennismore The Hon. Peter Robinson and Col. McDonnell acted as their guides on this occasion. Mud Lake was crossed on the ice; and the party put up at the shanty of Mr. Eugene McCarthy, father of Jeremiah McCarthy, Esq., Reeve of Ennismore, where they partook of such refreshments as their entertainers could procure.

During the same season, other addresses, numerously signed from the various townships in which the immigrants were settled, and breathing a similar spirit of gratitude, loyalty and devotion, were forwarded to the Right Hon. Earl Barthurst, Colonial Secretary, to whom they were addressed.

The infant settlements around Peterborough were greatly cheered and encouraged by this visit of the Governor General, proving as it did, the paternal care of the government, and the interest felt in the success and well-being of these hardy settlers Not only was the moral effect beneficial, in increased confidence and hope, but its practical and material results were of the most gratifying character, as the sequel will show.

It was soon after, that at a meeting of a few gentlemen residing in the vicinity, the name of "Peterborough" was selected for the future town, in compliment to the Hon. Peter Robinson, to whose exertions in promoting the settlement of the neighboring townships they felt so much indebted. The selection was at once ratified by geenral consent, and "Scott's plains" ere long ceased to be associated with the prosperous town. Before the opening of the next season, (the spring of 1826) it was announced that the government had undertaken the cost of the erection of a mill within the limits of the town, and tenders were asked for this work as well as for the construction of necessary mill dam. Mr. Thomas Harper was among those who tendered on this occasion, but the contract was awarded to Mr. Horace Perry, and the work immediately commenced. The site chosen was the site of the mill recently burned, on the property of Samuel Dickson, Esq., and the building of late years known as Dickson's mill the one then erected, with additions and improvements. The dam was built in the autumn of 1826, and the saw and grist mill in the Spring followed.

To erect so large a frame as that of the grist mill, was at that time, a matter of much difficulty. The settlers within an area of twenty miles were called upon to lend their aid, and several of them gave a week's hard labor gratuitously, to assist in furthering so desirable a work. The sawmill, adjoining the larger structure, was first put in operation, in order to supply the necessary lumber, and was also a great boon to the new settlements.

The grist mill, which contained two run of stones, was completed in 1827, and was immediately offered for sale by the government and purchased by John Hall, Esq., (now of Buckhorn) and Mr. Moore Lee, who continued to run it in parternship for several years.

While this great work was in progress, a bridge was built across the Otonabee chiefly by government aid, which was completed about the same time as the mill, and by the same contractor, Mr. Horace Perry. A plan of this bridge may still be seen in the Town Clerk's office. It was supported by three piers, triangular in shape, with the apex pointing up the stream, and occupied very nearly the site of the present structure. After the destruction of this bridge, the Otonabee was crossed at this point by means of a large scow, sustained in the current by a long rope or cable, to one end of which it was attached, while the other was secured to a point on the bank at some distance above. By a proper application of the helm, the current was made to transport the scow from one bank to the other, a reversal of its position after each crossing, being all that was required. A second bridge was soon after built chiefly by public subscription.

At this period, and before the erection of a dam at the lock below the Little Lake, the river was shallow, and easily fordable during the summer season, by persons on foot, opposite the old steamboat landing, contiguous to the old stream mill of Messrs. Shaw and Fortune before referred to.

From the date of the erection of the mill, the prosperity of the town and the success of the adjoining settlement were fully assured. "The plains" were rapidly converted into a busy and prosperous village while rapidly increasing produce of the harvest, raised the new settlers from the struggles of a precarious existence to one of comparative affluence

He Remembers!

Cannington, The Editor, Daily Examiner, Peterborough,
Dear sir:

The literature of your city's centennial reached me last night. I was a citizen of Peterborough from 1852 to 1857, then in Otonabee, lot 30, concession 9, 3 miles east for 5 years, after which I moved to Brock Township and have lived here since. Left your vicinity, practically 66 years ago, after having lived there May, 1852, until 23 February, 1863, about 10½ years. Am now half way through my 82nd year. First day's school 1853 in Union School opposite the old Hofman Hotel when the Gordon Bros. and Moss Green and Jim Barman ran the school. Knew all the boys, Benson's Dixon's, Boswell's, Lundy's, Mowry's Brownlee's, and the business men as well, Dan Hopkins, Charles Fisher and his sporting horses, Henthorn's, Nichols', and Hall, and many more, Deniston's Burnham's, Langton's, Dunsford's. Now I will be there, and amongst your oldest out-of-town boys.

Send me your paper two months. I used to call at the old Examiner Printing Office on Friday night, near the old school, and carry the Weekly Examiner home to my mother. Are any of the Stratton family still in Peterborough? Enclosed find 50 cents in stamps for 2 months' Centennial Examiner.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT C. BRANDON.

You Bet! Toronto's Coming!

"Charles Lacheur, Esq.,
Postmaster,
Peterborough, Ontario.
Dear Charlie:

Mr. Frank O'Connor's Luncheon to a Committee of some twenty prominent Old Peterborough Boys was held to-day at the Ontario Club and it went off with a bang. Mr. O'Connor explained the purposes of the Toronto Committee and sub-committees were formed to attend the various problems from the Toronto end.

It was decided to request the main committee in Peterborough to designate Tuesday, July the 2nd, as Toronto Day. The Toronto Committee will engage the best concert band available for duty in Peterborough for Tuesday and Wednesday, July the 2nd and 3rd.

The Committee also decided to request the Peterborough main Committee to make the following arrangements:

(a) Issue a special Toronto supplement of The Examiner for Wednesday, June the 26th. This supplement to be mailed to all Toronto Old Boys so that it may reach them not later than Saturday morning, June the 29th. It will be contributed to by the newspaper men in Toronto under Mr. Vanblaricom, Chairman of the Publicity and Propaganda Sub-Committee.

(b) Mr. Vanblaricom is to take steps in connection with Mr. Heron of Peterborough to having a special edition of the newspaper for Toronto Day, July 2nd. The old reporters will help to get out the paper on this date.

Mr. Vanblaricom is writing personally to Mr. Heron of The Peterborough Examiner and I am only giving you these details as a matter of record.

We propose engaging the Band for Tuesday and Wednesday. We will try to arrange for the Band to leave here about 8.30 in the morning at the head of a motor cavalcade which will stop and line up on the outskirts of Peterborough. Some kind of luncheon will be held for thirty or forty of the prominent Toronto folks and your Peterborough officials and in the evening we would like to have a band concert in the Central Park and fireworks. On Wednesday, the band will be yours.

The officers of the Toronto Committee are as follows:

Chairman—Mr. Frank P. O'Connor, 60 Bathurst St., Toronto.

Secretary—Mr. J. W. O'Brien, 34 King street W., Toronto.

Treasurer—Mr. C. E. Sisson, 310 Kennedy Avenue, Toronto.

The sub-committees appointed are as follows:

Band Committee—W. J. O'Brien, Convenor; W. S. Campbell, Allan Rae.

Fire works and entertainment committee—Wilfred Stratton, Convenor; Meredith Huycke, Douglas Huycke.

Transportation Committee—W. S. Campbell, Convenor; J. R. Eastwood, C. E. Sisson, Gordon Lee.

Publicity and Propaganda Committee—G. V. Vanblaricom, Convenor; Mel. Hutchinson, Percy Crane, Bert Huston, O. B. Shortley.

Contact or Liaison Officer—A. E. Dawson.

The Committee and sub-Committees will meet again at the call of the President and we will do our best to get things pepped up for the big event. If to-day's enthusiasm is any criterion of the success of Toronto Day, everything should go over very well.

Regarding the Band—The only responsibility you will have in Peterborough, of course, on Wednesday night. Will you keep this in mind? Probably they can fit into the quarters vacated by the Toronto Scottish Band if these are suitable quarters.

With best wishes, I remain,
Yours truly,
WILLIAM J. O'BRIEN."

Lindsay Is Coming Strong

LINDSAY, May 10.—"Billy" Carlisle, president of the local Kiwanis Club, and manager of the Neill shoe store, has been appointed convenor of the Peterborough old boys and girls residing in Lindsay and district. There is quite a colony of ex-Peterboroughites around these parts and it will not be Mr. Carlisle's fault if they are not all rounded up for Old Home Week. Charley Davidson, who used to play a trombone in the Peterborough band when it was led by Finch Miller, is polishing up his instrument and will be found in the ranks of the Old Boys' Band. Fred Edmonds, who will be remembered by the old timers, has assured your correspondent that he will revisit the old haunts during Old Home Week. Fred was quite a ventriloquist and delineator of black art in Peterborough's early days, appearing very often on the market square. Wesley Lyons, C.N.R. despatcher, is another live member of the local committee, as is also T. J. Tilly, former local manager of the Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. Carlisle is calling a meeting of the old boys and girls in the town hall shortly and a great rally is expected.

From Saskatchewan.

Jean Bean, Alameda, Sask., left this district on March 15, 1892. His wife was formerly Louise Emerson. He is engaged in farming.

From Hamilton.

James Lilley, 184 Weir street, Hamilton east, left his home at 521 Murray street in 1928. His wife was formerly Helen Anderson.

Hard to Beat Peterborough.

Miss Agnes Duncan and William J. Duncan, 1004 Bathurst street, Toronto, left Peterborough forty years ago. They formerly resided at 20 Queen street. Miss Duncan remarks that it is "hard to beat Peterborough."

From B. C.

A letter comes in from Earl W. A. Barrie, son of a former resident of Peterborough. The writer is in business at Prince Rupert, B.C., in home furnishings.

He thanks the committee for the invitation and adds: "You are making wonderful preparations to entertain all those who may have the pleasure of spending a week, or even a few days in our delightful Peterborough. Although we are living here in Prince Rupert, B.C., our thoughts often travel back to the many happy years spent in Peterborough. And it will always have a huge place in our hearts.

Sorry our business will not permit our leaving here at the time but may you all have wonderful success in your plans for Old Home Week, A. and E. Barrie."

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THE wise men are supposed to come out of the East, and when they go anywhere they are supposed to show their wisdom by going West. If that be true then there is one in the West who must at one time have come out of the East. He is writing for ministers, making certain suggestions for Mother's Day. Reminding them that many strange things are being said in our time concerning motherhood, he points out that, except in a few rare cases, these things are not being said from the pulpit. In the pulpit we hear motherhood exalted; in the magazines the chief topic of discussion seems to be how to escape it. "Ephraim is a cake unturned." We are too much one-sided messengers of the truth. In the pulpit there should be room for argument concerning motherhood as well as room for appreciation. Should the pulpit be silent on the crime of abortion? What have we to say concerning birth-control? Is there deep-seated hypocrisy in a nation where divorce ruptures the rightful relationship of parent and child? If these things are not proper for discreet discussion on Mother's Day, when should they be discussed? Continuing, he says, I raise the question. For myself I have answered it. In my Mother's Day sermons I have, on occasion, dealt somewhat with all these things. It is my conviction that in these sermons we have added need in our time to exercise discrimination in our praise. By all means let us give emphasis to the poetry and potency of motherhood, but not to the overlooking of the problems connected with motherhood. Advice rightly given is better than admiration excessively expressed. Our sermons on Mother's Day should quicken the consciences of our hearers as well as tickle their sentimental urge.

Now, that is splendid advice; but how many ministers would be able to follow it? And how many congregations would be tolerant enough to permit such preaching? There is no intolerance like that of supposedly religious people. Many of the chief-pew-holders in our modern sanctuaries only want to hear things that are pleasant. Anything that probes the conscience and disturbs the feelings is tabooed. The result is that only a small proportion of the truth is being proclaimed in many of our pulpits, and even that has to be treated to a sugar-coating of sentiment which is often as silly as it is stupid.

Who Dare Preach Such Preaching?

Sitting at Imagination's window, I seemed to see and hear a Canadian preacher, and this is what he was saying: "My first word is to us all: with pain and travail, at awful cost, I have this gift of life. She went down into the valley of the shadow that I might live." In "The White Monkey," by John Galsworthy, there is a touch which has gripped my imagination. The book gets its name, as you may know, from a painting which the heroine's father, Soames Forsyte, has bought for his daughter, Fleur. The painting is of a large whitish monkey, which holds in its outstretched paw the rind of a squeezed fruit, as though he had squeezed out the juice and was about to throw the rind away, while his eyes ask if that is all. A painter-friend admiring the picture, interpreted it for Fleur: "It is," he said, "a satire on modern life. Men, women, now—since the war—eat up life and throw the rind away. Nothing matters; the old sanctions are gone; do what you like; the older generation had too much of whalebone and buckram; too much of conventionality; the old traditions no longer hold. Enjoy life to the full; squeeze out the juice and throw the rind away."

What I Owe To My Mother.

Those who have read this novel will have noticed how the writer in a subtle way challenges that attitude to life which "The White Monkey" portrays. Fleur is about to give birth to a child, and into that struggle and pain which seems to be inevitable at such a time the husband, Michael Mont, is introduced. Through the long anxious hours he waits outside, but not too far removed to be unconscious of the travail through which his wife is passing. This is the question which he addresses to himself: "Why should birth be like this?" "Is that what it cost to make me a son? To have the creed that nothing mattered and then run into it like this! Something born at such a cost must matter."

What It Costs To Be Born.

The physician assures him that everything is natural, normal; but that helps but little; isn't it Fleur, lithe, sensitive Fleur, who is in pain? In this anxiety the father, Soames, hurried to his daughter's home. He had already provided generously for the expected child. In the study the son-in-law asks: "Have a peg, sir? I've got brandy here." "Yes," said Soames, "anything." And after what seems interminable waiting with nothing to do but listen, the father and the son-in-law are relieved by the coming of the nurse, who announces: "It's all right; a son."

The Mother And Baby.

A little later the mother is playing with her baby boy, and as he plays with her finger she says with inexpressible joy to his father: "Isn't he a monkey!" And the author comments: "A monkey, clearly, but whether white, that was the question." The part that mother plays is far more important than most of us realize. In her hands, to a large extent, lies the influences which will make the child a white monkey or something else. Susanna Wesley was the mother of nineteen children, and she held them all for God. When asked how she managed to do it she replied, "By getting hold of their hearts in their youth, and never losing my grip." The tremendous possibilities of those tender years should move every mother to make the most of them for God and the child. When Napoleon Bonaparts was asked, "What do you regard as the greatest need of France?" he replied, "Mothers, mothers, mothers." Billy Sunday once said in my hearing, "This talk about the land of the free is discounted when the children look like a rummage sale in a second-hand store; with uncombed hair, ripped pants, buttons off, stockings hanging down." It is too bad when any mother permits herself to be so busy with social duties, her games of golf, card parties, etc., that she neglects her children and gives the white monkey a chance to develop.

It Pays To Know.

It is a pity when prudishness prevents us from knowing that with pain and travail, at a great risk and with awful cost, we have this gift of life. Our ignorance of these facts is often the reason why we hold this gift so lightly. Let us ponder the words of Michael Mont, "Something born at such a cost must matter." Speaking once more of Mr. Sunday, I have heard him say, "When God throws a child out into the world He is mighty anxious that it gets a good start. The Catholics are right when they say: 'Give us the children until they are ten years old and we don't care who has got them after that.' The Catholics are not losing any sleep about losing men and women from their church membership. It is the only church that has ever shown us the only sensible way to reach the masses—that is, by getting hold of the children."

Bless The Dear Heart Of Her.

At an awful cost we are born, and at an exhausting expenditure of nervous anxiety do we grow up. The marks of those years can be seen on those who gave us birth and guarded us as we grew up under watchful eyes. The weight of the accumulating years has told upon that body which was once so lithe, erect and comely. Furrows are on the forehead, and the hair is growing grey. That stooping body, the wrinkled brow, the toil-worn hands are the price of our care-free youth. Can we ever forget her? Can we ever fail to love her? Is there anything we can do to add to the joy of her heart as she approaches the land of eternal youth? Then, as Mother's Day draws nigh let us get beyond thinking to acting. Let us give her some added evidence of the growing extent of our love.

"Hundreds of stars in the pretty sky;
Hundreds of shells on the shore together;
Hundreds of birds that go singing by,
Hundreds of bees in the sunny weather.

Hundreds of dewdrops to greet the dawn;
Hundreds of lambs in the purple clover;
Hundreds of butterflies out on the lawn;
But only one mother the wide world over."

—Allan Fairbairn.

No love like mother-love ever existed except in the bosom of the Great Giver of life who planted the mother-love in the heart of every good woman.

The Minister Remarks--

—Go ahead and be radical if you will, but be sure you are radically right.

—It would be a joy to most church treasurers if, instead of looking upon the offering as a break in the worship, more people recognized that it is a vital part of the worship.

—Christianity at its best is a natural life upon a supernatural basis.

—By the way so many church members live you would think that Christ had undertaken to be half in half instead of all in all.

—One glimpse of the loveliness of truth as personified in Christ opens the gate into a new world.

—I have met folks, in the church and out of it, who gave great promise of setting things on fire, but have ended up by warming a chair. —A. F.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

A Bible class teacher was telling the class of the various translations of the Bible and their different excellences. The class was much interested and one of the young men that evening was talking to a friend about it.

"I think I prefer the King James version for my part," he said, "though of course, the revised is more scholarly."

His friend smiled. "I prefer my mother's translation of the Bible myself to any other version," he said.

"Your mother's?" said the first young man, thinking his companion had suddenly gone crazy. "What do you mean, Fred?"

"I mean that my mother has translated the Bible into the language of daily life for me since I was old enough to understand it."

A Mother's Love

A young man on board a steamer was taken seriously ill. They asked him what message they should cable to his people. He said, "Tell mother I am very sick." They said, "Is that all?" Shall we not ask her to meet the steamer?" He quickly answered. "No need to send those words. Nothing could keep mother from coming to meet me the moment she hears of my serious illness. Mother loves me. She'll be there."

Prayer For the Week

O LORD, of blessing great and good we turn our grateful hearts to Thee to-day in thanksgiving. We thank Thee for the birds and their songs of spring, for the trees whose whisperings are heard throughout the land, for the blossoms that soon will have laden the air with their fragrance, for the budding and abounding promise of life that nature gives. Help us to-day to be glad. May we, too, be pulsating with new life and love. Give us to be grateful for books and food and refreshing showers. Teach us the music of Heaven and give us voice to express it and grace to carry it and sympathy to teach it every day. Our Father, may we put away the grudge and the selfishness of greed and the ugliness of hate and the shame of niggardliness toward Thee and our fellowmen. Thy work is wondrous in all the earth. Help us to make ours worthy so great a heritage as has fallen to our lot. To Thee be praises — Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Amen.

Be content with what you have but not with what you are.

BEWARE OF PLATITUDES.

AS Mother's Day comes round again much sentiment will be let loose in singing the praises of that woman concerning whom nothing too good can be said. But, had I the ability and power to do it, I should set up a warning before the eyes of all who will be endeavoring to extol the excellencies of our mothers, which would read something like this: "Beware of Platitudes!" When platitudes prevail we are in danger of giving ourselves to reverie and mistaking it for religion. What a transformation would be effected if the world would only be as good as it seems to feel on Mother's Day. —A. F.

Burning Out For God

OH, for determined men and women, who will rise early and really burn out for God. Oh, for a faith that will sweep into heaven with the early dawning of the morning and have ships from a shoreless sea loaded in the soul's harbor ere the ordinary laborer has knocked the dew from his scythe or the huckster has turned from his pallet of straw to spread nature's treasures of fruit before the early buyers.

1. In the light of Mark 16:17-18, does the modern Church not seem to be practically failing to do what Christ intended it to do?
2. Why is it that so many hazy ideas are abroad regarding the future and life after death? Is it because the Bible is silent on these matters?
3. If Christ is able to save all men how can you explain the sad fact that so many men are not only unsaved but seem to have no interest in the Church?

GOD'S MIRACLE IN WOMAN

IT has been said that motherhood is God's miracle in woman. Practically every pulpit in the land will be giving some place to the consideration of this miracle on the approaching Lord's Day. Pulpits where little or nothing is heard about the miracle of the Virgin Birth, and pulpits where that miracle is often denied, will let loose a flood of sentiment to sweep over the souls of the people and send them away in the glow of a fine feeling. If good feelings could improve our civilization enough of them are stirred on Mother's Day to cover and cleanse the whole earth.

Without the slightest desire to hold back this tidal wave of sentimental eloquence, I should like to point out that, in the over-praise of an exalted ideal, we run the risk of overlooking particular facts.

A minister friend of mine says that if as ministers we desire to feel a cool breeze blowing from the north, we should just try speaking to our people on the fact of motherhood scientifically rather than sentimentally; eugenically rather than estatically.

How true it is that motherhood is not all of a piece. There are times when it presents us with the makings of a poem; but don't let it be lost sight of that it can also present us with one of our most perplexing problems. Other people, as well as ministers, know that all mothers are not madonnas. We never can over-appreciate our mothers, but it is not well that we over-praise them. In becoming over-sentimental we often cease to be sensible. When you take time to think of it you can easily see that the holiest things of life may be shadowed by its deepest hypocrises.

"The bravest battle that was ever fought,
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you'll find it not—
'Twas fought by the mothers of men." —A. F.

The Sunday School

BLESSED is the church which believes in the Sunday school, for it will compel the Sunday school to believe in itself.

Blessed is the Sunday school that knows why it exists, for it can hold its head up and look everybody in the eye.

Blessed is the Sunday School that is properly organized for its work, for it knows where it is going and knows when it gets there.

Blessed is the Sunday School that is managed like a bank, for it will have no ragged edges and will command respect.

Blessed is the Sunday school that is in right relationship to the church with which it is connected, for there will be no gravel in the wheels.

Blessed is the Sunday school that recognizes the place of helpful worship, for deep breathing of devotional atmosphere gives poise to the heart.

Blessed is the Sunday school that carries out an adequate, well-balanced program of biblical and religious education, for this is the diet that makes for permanency and strength.

Blessed is the Sunday school whose teachers and officers are properly trained for their task, and whose passion is to bring young life to Christ, for they will get results and have great joy in their work.

SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1929

OLD HOME WEEK.

The enthusiasm with which former residents of Peterborough have welcomed the Old Home Week idea and the interest shown in the affair by the citizens generally are reasons for confidently predicting that the event will be one of the most successful in the history of this community.

The program is rapidly taking form, details are being attended to be the committees, every day brings words from old boys and girls that they are coming back for the re-union, and the people of Peterborough are preparing for a week full of interest and solid enjoyment—a gala week surpassing anything in the annals of this city.

With co-operation such as was in evidence on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee celebration, and there is every reason to count upon that in full measure, Old Home Week will be a memorable event.

Every citizen can find something to do to assist in the success of the affair, and The Examiner hopes that there will be no slackers anywhere when there is work to be done to put this great event over the top.

NOT THE RIGHT WAY.

The Middlesex Presbytery of the United States recently rejected a resolution asking that all holders of motor vehicle operators' permits be required to sign a pledge of total abstinence from intoxicating liquors.

The Presbytery showed good judgment in refusing to pass such an absurd resolution.

The Examiner's views in regard to men who, while they are under the influence of liquor undertake to drive automobiles, have been frequently stated.

We believe that these individuals are a menace to the public safety, and that all drivers convicted of such an offense should have their driving license cancelled for at least a year.

But this pledge business is something else again.

In the first place, many car-owners who are not total abstainers would not think of drinking when they know that they are to be called upon to drive.

And the other fellows who do mix alcohol and driving would not hesitate to take the pledge if they had to do so to secure a driver's license.

The drunken driver cannot be eliminated in that way—but there is reason to believe that the danger of losing for a year their right to drive would have a very helpful effect on many motorists who are not careful as to when and how they drink.

A REVOLUTIONARY CHANGE.

Premier Ferguson has made the definite announcement that at the next session of the Ontario Legislature a bill will be introduced by which the first year of university education will be given in the high schools and collegiate institutes of the Province, while two years of high school teaching will be transferred to the public schools.

This is the most revolutionary change in Ontario's system of education that has been mooted in many years, and is likely to have far-reaching effects.

On behalf of the plan it can be said that it will reduce the cost of university education, give ambitious students a chance to enjoy the benefits of a year of such training in their own district, save a large amount of the money now wasted by students who give up a university career after a year or two, and open the door of higher education to many who are now denied such advantages.

On the other hand, while lessening the cost of education so far as the individual student—or his parents—are concerned, the plan may result in greater municipal expenditure on education, and there is the additional objection that the atmosphere of university training cannot be supplied in the high schools.

Great interest among educationists and generally will be occasioned by the Premier's announcement.

THE Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN.

A financial campaign on behalf of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association will be carried on for five days next week, beginning with Monday.

The campaign committee make a happy choice of words in describing it as an effort to interest the people of Peterborough in a community investment that offers choice securities and guarantees permanent returns.

In the training of boys and young men, in character, mind and body, the Y.M.C.A. makes a notable contribution to the welfare of the community.

It is a hackneyed but nevertheless perfectly true statement that its boys and girls are the best asset any city possesses.

Necessarily it follows then that anything that serves to develop this asset on sound lines should be supported and encouraged.

In the case of Peterborough's boys, the Y.M.C.A. is of primary importance as an auxiliary to the home, the school and the church in the training of boys to become normal, healthy and useful citizens.

For many years it has demonstrated its ability in this direction until the community generally realizes the extent and value of the work that is being done, and appreciates, too, the fact that the boys and young men themselves pay 70 per cent. of the maintenance cost of the institution.

In view of what is contributed in the way of community service, there is nothing unreasonable in asking that the other 30 per cent. should be contributed by the community.

The Y.M.C.A. has won itself many friends in Peterborough, and its campaign should be crowned with success.

THE BATTLE'S ON AGAIN.

Well, well! Here's one battle that must be fought all over again. Just a few weeks ago Washington was puzzled with what to do with Mrs. Edward Gann, sister of the Vice-President of United States. When there were social functions going on Mrs. Gann had to be seated, of course. In these affairs it is customary to place folk according to rank. It's different from asking a lot of neighbors in and telling them to come along and just be seated.

Foreign diplomats had a gathering and agreed that Mrs. Gann could have a fairly exalted seat as far as they were concerned, so that is the way the matter was smoothed over, and apparently all was well.

One never can tell, though, when a number of social climbers are busy just when the thing is going to break out in another place. That's just what has happened. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the Speaker in the House of Representatives, was asked to attend some social function where Mrs. Gann was going to have her place of preferment. Did she go, and take a place lower than Mrs. Gann? Not a bit of it. Her father was a President and her husband the Speaker, so why should she sit on a kitchen chair while Mrs. Gann had a plush seat?

So Washington's social war is on again, this time in earnest. Mrs. Gann has not a group of courteous foreign diplomats to deal with this time, but a woman, and when woman fights woman on the social ladder some one is very apt to get a nasty fall to the hard ground down below.—The Stratford Beacon-Herald.

WHAT OF OUR HALL OF FAME?

The thought which occurs to most visitors to the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa, to strangers no less than to native-born, is that in the Memorial Chamber of the Peace Tower, and in the Hall of Fame, Canada can boast of two national shrines that in conception, design, character and dignity are not surpassed by those of many older countries. The former is a sanctuary, now in form complete, where in sculpture nobly graven and in symbols artistically shaped and grouped, our people may reverentially read the story of Canada's war effort and sacrifice, of "How free men throughout this land kept faith in the hour of trial and in the day of battle."

The Hall of Fame is also a place of remembrance, designed to give expression to a nation's homage to the great men linked with its history; a Valhalla wherein shall be preserved in marble or bronze, for the edification and inspiration of future generations, the figures of those who have played distinguished parts in the development of the Dominion. It is a worthy conception, which in its initial stages has been fittingly executed. Architecturally, the chamber dedicated to the mighty dead is an achievement beyond all praise. There is a spaciousness, a dignity, an atmosphere within its walls completely in harmony with the purpose in view, and solemnly expressive of the spirit of veneration.

But it is one thing to create and consecrate a Hall of Fame; it is quite another to fill it with immortals worthy of the name, and truly representative of the nation whose homage they invite. An eminent American writer once said of his own countrymen that they had acquired the habit of "estimating greatness by the square mile and the hundredweight," and, as an illustration of the kind of patriotism which measures character and achievement by scale or avoirdupois, he cited the case of the Kentuckian who boasted: "I scale one hundred and eighty pounds, but when I'm mad I weigh two ton."

Now and again one hears a whisper of inquiry as to why a beginning has not been made with the erection of statues and other memorials to eminent Canadians in the Hall of Fame on Parliament Hill. There may be some ground for criticism in the fact that, so far as known, no authoritative action has been taken in the direction of evolving a plan for the filling of the niches now standing empty. Canadian history is not lacking in heroes, or in men of thought and action, whose figures might fittingly find a place in the national Valhalla. But in view of the difficulties of distinguishing between true greatness and its semblance, between contemporary eminence and enduring fame, between national celebrity and provincial notoriety, it is perhaps as well that in the task of selecting immortals we should go slowly.

A striking illustration of how not to do it is afforded by the miscellaneous and incongruous collection of effigies installed in the Hall of Statuary, commonly styled the Hall of Fame, in the Capitol at Washington. There the plan adopted many years ago was that of selecting as national deities two, and two only, of the most distinguished citizens of each state, the choice as to who should be thus honored being left to the individual States Such a scheme was bound to have curious results It not only put a premium upon the recognition of celebrities of national significance, but effectually obstructed any possible approach to a standard of uniformity.

The consequence is a gallery of fame which, because of its indiscriminate representation of types, many Americans themselves admit is calculated to excite derision rather than to inspire reverence. It was Russell Lowell who wrote: "We fancy even native tourists pausing before the greater part of the effigies, and after reading the names asking desperately 'Who was he?' Nay, if they should say, 'Who the devil was he?' it were a pardonable invocation, for none so fit as the Prince of Darkness to act as cicerone among such palpable obscurities."

Nor has American appreciation of the "martyrdom in marble" at Washington changed its note since the author of "The Biglow Papers" expressed his disgust. Apropos of certain recent additions to the gallery of America's great men, a Boston newspaper remarks that "the Hall of Statuary in the Capitol has long been a joke," and then proceeds to demonstrate by an analysis of some of the figures introduced that the joke had become a tragedy, since what had been designed as a Hall of Fame had "degenerated into a Chamber of Horrors."

Before embarking upon the assemblage of statues in our own Hall of Fame, it would be well for those entrusted with the task of selecting Canadian immortals to take heed of the fate that has overtaken the Valhalla at Washington. Nothing could be less inspiring than a beautiful Hall of Fame transformed into a museum of mediocrities.—Ottawa Journal.

News of Our Own Village

The merry rattle of coal down the chute has been giving a summer-like touch to the village all this week. The coal dealers is trying hard to grin and bear it.

The villagers aint figgering on getting sick or dirty in the near future. They voted down the hospital and beach by-laws here last week.

The village is going ahead by leaps and bounds. Some fellows in the tailor business in Toronto, west of here, is fixing up a store on the west side of Main St., while several storekeepers has had their windows washed lately.

Roy Parsons, the village engineer, has put a temporary filling in the Main street paving cavities so the Boy Scouts won't be needed after all, it would seem, if the stuff stays put until Old Home Week.

The village councillors aint been able to agree where the women's rest room should go so it's gone on the shelf, your scribe notes.

Martin Chenhall is planning to take the men's choir over to the porridge factory next week so they'll get used to tall buildings before they go to New York, southeast of here.

"The councillors is getting sensitive to public opinion", sez the Hall of Wisdom philosopher, "but so far none of them has got killed in the rush to refund the salaries they have took."

Sam Newhall, our vigilant Chief of Police, may have to detail one of the constabulary for duty at town meetings henceforth if Rolly Denne, our worthy mayor and Jack McNabb, councillor, get in any more jams.

"Anyway if they don't fix up Inverlea Park," sez the Market Square critic, "it'll look more familiar to some of the old boys when they come home this summer."

They aint no truth in the rumor that Art Blade has been asked for permission to tell the Old Home Week visitors that the Confederation Sq. gas station is a new village hall.

Local boys is making good. Carl McLean has left for Ottawa, east of here, to run a pork-packing mill down in those parts.

A choir from Toronto, west of here, sing in St. Andrew's kirk Monday note, and some of the citizens feel they oughta send the Harmonica Band from here up to the Queen City some evening to reciprocate, so to speak.

The village councillors got a shock the other nite when they thought some client of Vin McElderry's was figgering starting a cabaret here. Seems the village fathers musta thought it was Helen Morgan or Tex Guinan what was going to open the new eating house.

"On with the dance, let joy be unrefined", sez Councillor Jim Hamilton. And a lotta of the villagers is with him on that.

WORKING FOR A FIGHT

KENOSHA, Wis., May 11.—A young negro walked into police headquarters recently and inquired of the desk sergeant, "How much fo' beatin' up a fella?" The officer replied that it would cost $25 and asked what the other "fella" had done to the negro. "He done resulted me," the darky remarked. "He cast despersions on mah ancestrals." The officer, thinking the negro had come to confess assault and battery, started to book him for such. "Not yet, bos!" the negro said. "Ah done got to wait'll payday to beat that fella up! Ah only got eight bucks."

Life Steps In

By RUBY M. AYRES

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Ana felt that she was talking in a dream. She supposed it was the wrong thing to ask Anthony up to her room, and yet it seemed to matter so little—nothing mattered except that he was with her again. She felt as if someone had given her a drug that for a time had assuaged deadly pain.

"Did Mollie tell you?" she asked with stiff lips.

He shook his head.

"Mollie? No! I went down to Wimbledon to find you and the people next door knew where you had gone. Have you seen Mollie?"

"The day before yesterday. She came to Wimbledon to see me. She asked me to go back and live with her while you are away. She said you wished it," Ana said defiantly.

She no longer wanted to protect Mollie; she felt that she hated her.

Anthony said nothing, but his lips were set in a hardline as he followed Ana upstairs.

The little chambermaid with the sympathetic eyes had lit the fire and left coffee on a tray and a kettle simmering on the hob.

"There's only one cup," Ana said stupidly. "But I don't want any, you can have it."

"Have you had any dinner?"

"No—yes. I forget." She looked up at him with the tears brimming in her eyes. "Oh, I can't remember anything except that you are here with me," she said in a broken whisper.

"Ana!" Hambledon held out his arms. "Come here."

She shook her head.

"No; it wouldn't be right. You know what you said—oh, very well." She gave in suddenly like a child wearied beyond all power of resistance, and went to his arms and laid her head on his shoulder. And then for a long time neither of them spoke. What was the use of words? It was enough to be together.

It was Anthony who broke the silence at last.

"I want to talk to you. No, don't move. You know I am going away next week?"

"Yes."

"Mollie and the boy are staying behind."

"Yes."

"Ana, it was not by my wish that Mollie asked you to live with them."

"No? . . . I'm glad. It seemed cruel."

"What will you do alone?"

"I don't know. I try not to think. Tom Drake asked me to marry him." Her voice was muffled against his shoulder.

Hambledon's arms tightened their hold.

"But you won't?" he asked sharply; then with sudden change of mood: "I ought not to have said that. I've no right——"

"You have every right, and I shan't marry him. I couldn't."

"Oh, my dear."

She looked up at him, trying to smile. "There'll never be anyone but you. Isn't it humiliating?"

"It's wonderful. It makes me so humble that you love me, Ana."

He bent and kissed her.

"You ought not to kiss me," Ana said. "I thought we'd said good-bye."

"I had to come again. I went back to the house the other night but you were out."

"No; I knew. I saw you, but I was afraid."

His face flamed with sudden passion.

"If I'd only known!"

"I didn't mean you to know. You were quite right to go, Anthony——"

"Yes."

They were talking in whispers, her cheek against his.

"Will you tell me something—just this once. I'll never ask you again."

"What is it?"

"That you love me best?—better than—anyone else!"

"I love only you in all the world."

She began to sob.

"I've been so jealous. She said—Mollie said—everything was just as it used to be with you—when you gave her the new coat——"

"What coat? I never gave her a coat."

"Oh, but Mollie said——" Ana broke off. "I expect I misunderstood what she said," she tried to explain stumblingly. "I was so jealous. Don't mind what I say. It's all right now you are here with me. It's when I'm alone——"

"It nearly kills me to think you will be alone when I have gone, my dear."

She clung closer to him.

"You can't help it; it's just life. You're doing the right thing to leave me."

"Am I? I wonder. Is it the right thing to go on living with a woman who is nothing to me?"

"Don't say that, Anthony!" And yet Ana loved to hear him say it; loved to feel that in spite of life, or fate, or whatever power was making helpless puppets of them, nothing could alter the fact that they loved one another and belonged to each other, and always would.

"What made you come here tonight?" she asked presently.

He raised her gently, holding her by the shoulders and looking down into her face.

"It was a dream I had about you last night. I was coming up to town tomorrow anyway, but this dream—I'm not superstitious, but it gave me no rest."

"Tell me about it?"

"It's difficult to explain. I felt that you were in danger, great danger, and I was trying to reach you and I couldn't; I was trying to run, and I felt as if I had got leaden weights on my feet that wouldn't let me move. And the sea was there—great mountainous waves—then I saw you—on the shore, between me and the sea. I can't explain it any better, Ana, but it was real enough to me. And at last I made a great effort and flung myself toward you. Somehow I knew if I could just get you into my arms it would be all right—and then——"

His hands fell from her shoulders and he caught his breath on a hard sound.

"And then?" Ana asked.

He shook his head.

"I don't know. It was all sort of blank after that, but I seemed to hear someone say 'Life steps in'—I've heard you say that, Ana; haven't I? Things get so mixed in a dream. Then I woke up and I was shaking from head to foot as if it had all been real, and I knew that I must see you once again to make sure you were safe, no matter what happened."

He drew her close to his heart again.

"Are you glad I am here, Ana?"

"Am I glad?—I think I should have killed myself if you had gone away without seein me againg."

He laid his hand over her lips.

"You must not say that. We've got to go on—there's always a hope that some day——"

"Don't! I hate those words 'some day'—it's like to-mo row, it never comes."

"I believe that our 'some day' will. I believe that you and I will be together some day, for always."

"It's too beautiful to believe, Anthony."

He kissed her passionately.

"It's what we've got to believe, or life will be impossible. When I've gone——"

"Don't say it. Let's try and forget it," she broke in harshly. She put her arms round his neck, drawing him down to her.

"I don't want you to say anything except that you love me and that you always will. That nothing will ever make any difference, no matter how far apart we are."

"There is no need for me to say it."

"But I love to hear it, dear."

"I love you—I love you," Hambledon said.

Ana closed her eyes and listened, and yet she knew that the present was only a sweet delusion, and that presently quite soon, he would be gone from her again and that her arms would be empty, and that life would be empty.

There were so many things she wanted to ask him and to say to him, and yet now they were together there seemed no need. Their very silence was perfect understanding. Why mind what Mollie said, or what the world said? She could afford to smile proudly and say to herself, "He is mine." No matter how many other people were in his life or in hers it made no difference.

"We haven't had the coffee," Ana said presently. She felt young again and almost light-hearted. To-morrow—well, God alone knew what she would feel to-morrow, but for the moment she had not a care in the world.

"We'll make a loving-cup of it," Hambledon said. He did his best to fall in with her mood. He put the kettle on to boil, and teased her because she liked three lumps of sugar and he like none at all.

"I'm sweet enough as it is, you see," he said.

"I'm rather sweet, too, sometimes," Ana challenged him. And then the kettle boiled over while they talked nonsense and kissed.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

SUNDAY, MAY 12, 1929

(C. McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

According to astrology this is rather an uncertain day in planetary direction, making for mental weariness and physical restlessness.

It is a sway most propitious for outdoor recreations, a time to find books in the running brooks.

In the early morning it may be easy to find fault with one's work and then to nourish discontent. Destructive thoughts should be denied admittance to the conscious mind.

Under this sway the clergy may discover that congregations are inattentive to preaching and difficult to reach.

While the seers prophesy an awakening of general religious interest, as the year advances, indifference and apathy may appear prevalent as spring fever becomes epidemic.

Women probably will feel much interest in trivial things while this configuration prevails. Dress will be of extra-ordinary importance to them.

The wise will engage in restful occupations, but visiting should not be counted as a means of relaxation, for even one's best friends may be extremely critical.

Warning is given against the danger of egotism and selfishness, for the stars encourage the sort of individualism that demands material advantages.

There is an aspect that should encourage writing. Letters are subject to the best planetary influences, although love missives may be hazardous.

There is a lucky aspect for those who plan owning their own homes and go forth to seek the right location.

Much western travel is prognosticated and the southwest should benefit. Arkansas is subject to a promising direction of the stars.

Under this sway the appreciation of color may be keen. It is favorable to the enjoyment of art as well as nature. This is an auspicious day for sketching.

Aviation is not so favorably accidents appear to be foreshadowed. pected as usual and again serious ac-

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which perplexing problems arise. Writers of every class should benefit.

Children born on this day may be exceedingly avid for change and excitement. They probably will be talented, imaginative and generally altruistic.

George W. Childs, philanthropist, was born on this date, 1829.

MONDAY, MAY 13, 1929

(C. McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Kindly stars rule today, according to astrology, which finds the configuration favorable to most matters of moment on the planet Earth.

Women are well directed today which presages for them success in business and professional work as well as in home-making.

Domestic affairs should be satisfactory under this sway which makes for the acquirement of coveted possessions and improvement in living conditions.

This should be a lucky day for shopping. Those who buy new clothing should be lucky in finding just what they want at reasonable prices.

Hostesses probably will find this an auspicious day for entertaining since the rule of the stars is believed to impart gayety and a desire for companionship.

The stars foreshadow many meetings and conventions that will agitate important problems, among them methods of reducing crime.

Reformers will be numerous for the remainder of the year which will be marked by many revelations of civic corruption.

This is read as a favorable day for seeking employment. Even though it is the thirteenth of the month the date is lucky this year.

All who have laid firm professional or business foundations are assured of record-breaking financial returns in the next few months, it is asserted by the seers.

New millionaires are to multiply and among them women will be counted in unusual numbers, it is forecast.

Again astrologers warn agaist speculation in any form. The stock market will be especially unreliable for amateur investors and will eliminate many foolish dabblers.

This should be a lucky day for starting on a journey. The summer is to be notable for its tremendous volume of travel at home and abroad.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of bright promise. The temptation to indulge in pleasure and to spend money foolishly may be strong.

Children born on this day probably will be blessed with sunny natures and great personal charm. Both boys and girls have the possibilities of success in life and they should be very happy in marriage.

Alphonse Daudet, celebrated French author was born on this date, 1840.

Why We Do What We Do.

Why the Top of 8 and S are Made Smaller Than the Bottom

By Mehran K. Thomson, Ph. D. Author of The Springs of Human Action

8 and S are so made that the top and bottom appear the same size. But if you turn the page upside down, you will see plainly that the bottom part is larger.

If the two parts were actually the same size the top would appear to be larger and hence out of proportion. The tops of 8 and S are made smaller to compensate for a peculiarity of the eye. It takes more muscular effort to turn the eye from the middle of the 8 and the S to the top than than it does to turn the eye from the middle to the bottom. And it is by this muscular effort that we judge distance.

Similarly, a square looks longer from top to bottom than from side to side. Try it. Take a perfect square by actual measurement and look at it. You will find it to resemble a rectangle placed on end more than a perfect square. The reason is that it takes more muscular effort to move the eyeball in a given vertical distance than it does to move it in a horizontal distance. Consequently we judge the vertical distance to be the greater.

These and other peculiarities are of very great importance in the field of architecture. If such facts as the above are not taken into account the building or parts of the building will seem out of proportion for the very reason that actually they are in true proportion.

You will recall that the columns of the great Parthenon appear to be quite symmetrical. But by actual measurement they are found to bulge out considerably at the middle. This compensates for the greater eye strain necessary to look across the thickness of the column than to look at the height. If the columns were made actually proportionate and tapered evenly they would appear to be concave and hence out of proportion.

There are numerous other tricks in architecture calculated to make good the inaccuracy of the eye. The real art consists in not only knowing what these are but in being able to make the corrections in due proportions so as not to go to the other extreme.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

PROTECT BRITISH SUBJECTS.

BASRA, Irak, May 11 (C.P.) —The British sloop Cyclamen has left Basra to protect British subjects at Abadan, Persia, where mobs, believed of communist background, have got beyond control of police. Persian troops have been called out to restore order.

Stones were thrown at the Anglo-Persian oil refinery during the rioting. Police suggested the disturbances were caused by communist propaganda from outside the State.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BUSY BEE.

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Hopping across the fields and meadows one day, Uncle Wiggily passed a little dingly dell in which grew many bright, yellow dandelion flowers.

"Oh, what a pretty place!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman and he rolled over and over in the grass and even on some of the dandelion flowers until his fur was quite yellow with the dust, or pollen, of the blossoms. The dandelions did not mind being rolled over by Uncle Wiggily for they liked the old rabbit gentleman.

"This is a lovely dingly dell!" went on Mr. Longears as he got up and looked carefully around to notice if any one had seen him rolling in the grass. For his wife had told him not to be a giddy goat and act like a kid. And certainly for an old rabbit gentleman to roll in the green grass and on yellow dandelions was not what you could call dignified. Not exactly.

"But I guess no one saw me," chuckled Mr. Longears giving himself a shake as he had nothing else to give himself just then. "So it's all right. Now I'll hop along and have an adventure."

It wasn't long after that before, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily heard a voice asking:

"Where did you get it?"

"Get what?" the rabbit wanted to know, looking quickly around to see who was speaking.

"Where did you get all that yellow pollen dust?" asked the voice. "I can't find any this morning and I need some to make wax."

Then Uncle Wiggily saw the Busy Bee crawling around in the grass near him. There was one yellow dandelion and the bee was on it.

"There are hundreds of dandelions over in the dingly dell," said the rabbit, pointing to the little hollow between hills back of him. That's what a dingly dell is—a tiny valley between green hills.

"Oh, then I'm going there right away!" buzzed the Busy Bee. "I have been looking for dandelions all morning, but I could only find this lonely one which has hardly any pollen on. I guess other bees took most of it."

"Well, you'll find plenty of dandelions in the dingly dell," said Mr. Longears. "But I never thought those blossoms had much honey in them."

"They haven't—not nearly as much as clover blossoms," said the Busy Bee as it sailed into the air and headed for the dingly dell. "But we bees need wax, as well as flower juice, out of which we make honey. And to make wax we need pollen or the yellow dust on flowers. Thank you for telling me where I can find lots of dandelions which have so much pollen. I'll call some of my friends and we'll make lots of wax. You did me a great favor. I wish I could do one for you."

"Pray, don't mention it," said Uncle Wiggily politely.

So he hopped along to look for an adventure and the Busy Bee buzzed along toward the dingly dell to find the dandelions. On the way she met the Wolf who asked:

"To whom were you speaking just now."

"Oh, to Uncle Wiggily," answered the Mee before it thought. "I just left him."

"All right, I'll catch up to him!" growled the Wolf, running along. And it wasn't until the Wolf was far away that the Busy Bee thought:

"How silly of me! I shouldn't have told that Bad Chap about Uncle Wiggily. The Wolf will catch that nice rabbit! I was thinking so much about getting dandelion pollen for wax that I didn't know what I was doing. Oh, how stupid of me! But I'll save Uncle Wiggily. I'll get a lot of my friends and we'll drive that Wolf back to his den."

So the Busy Bee zoomed up into the air until it saw may of its friends also buzzing along and the Bee hummed:

"Come with me and drive the Wolf away from Uncle Wiggily! That kind rabbit told me of a dingly dell where we can get lots of pollen!"

"Hurray! We're with you!" buzzed the other bees.

Straight as arrows they flew with the Busy Bee leading them until they saw where the Wolf was sneaking after Uncle Wiggily to bite him.

"Ready now! Out with your stingers! At the Wolf!" buzzed the Busy Bee and a moment later that Bad Chap was being stung all over his soft and tender nose. For on account of his thick fur his nose was the only place the bees could sting him.

"Wow! Scow! Dow!" howled the Bad Chap and, tucking his tail between his legs away to his den he ran.

"Ah, ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I knew I'd have an adventure! Thank you, Busy Bee!" Then the bees buzzed off to get dandelion pollen and everybody was happy except the Woozie Wolf.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

Toronto House to Sponsor Mining and Oil Investment Trust in the Near Future

In view of the slow but steadily increasing interest on the part of American and European investors in Canadian mining and oil stocks and European investors in Canadian mining and oil stocks, a Canadian investment brokerage house is bringing out an investment trust to purchase selected Canadian mining and oil securities. Two hundred thousand shares of common stock will be issued at $11 per share. An Advisory Council madeup of men experienced in the financing, development and operation of mining and oil corporations will be available from varies parts of Canada as well as expert consulting engineers to advise the board of directors. It is believed that the issue will be well received in Canada as well as abroad as most people have found that the loss made on one ill considered investment has frequently absorbed most of the profits on their other investments.

Increased Earnings for Standard Chemical

An increase in sales for the fiscal year ending March 31 last of more than $400,000 as compared with the total for the previous operating year is expected to be revealed in the annual report of the Standard Chemical Company which will be presented to shareholders at the annual meeting next week. It is also understood that an increase in the common stock dividend of from $2 to $3 per share is probable.

If such an increase is shown it will bring the sales' total to close upon 2,200,000, and earnings available for dividend distribution to approximately $5 per share. If this is found to be the case, a declaration of 75 cents per share for the first quarter would be quite feasible. The company paid $2 per share in 1928.

The four factories of the company, as well as the refinery, have been in constant operation throughout the past year, and there has been a general demand for all the products, including charcoal alcohol and other derivatives. Prospects for the current year are reported to be equally promising.

Increased Earnings, E. L. Ruddy Company

Earnings of the E. L. Ruddy Company are now said to be running at the rate of $4.45 per common share, a considerable increase over the per share earnings for 1928. The 1928 net operating profit of $273,834 ws drawn from a full year's operation of the parent company but only six months' operations of the western Canada units. With the subsidiary additions for the whole of 1929, earnings will likely show a striking advance.

Abana Progress

A supplementary report, covering operations at the Abana Mine during the period from January 1 to April 30, issued in conjunction with the company's annual report, have added greatly to the management's knowledge of the various ore bodies and work has shown material increases in the width of the ore at depth.

"Costs have been greatly reduced since first of the year," says president A. Savard. "A new three-compartment shaft is being sunk to the 500-foot level. It is the intention of the directors to present a supplementary report at the annual meeting in which it is hoped to give an estimate of ore reserves developed."

Since Jan. 1, says A. J. Keast, resident manager, there has been completed 2,736 feet of drifting and crosscutting, 475 feet of raising, 4,850 feet of diamond drilling and 24,420 cubic feet of slashing (which converted into drifting and crosscutting equals 698 feet of advance).

The program outlined entailed considerable rearrangement of the plant and personnal, and included the installation of the compressors and power plant in one building under one control, eliminating the steam plant, providing ample water storage underground in case of repairs or breakdown of the power plant, installing an assay office and store house, erecting summer oil storage tanks to hold 100,000 gallons of fuel oil, bringing in logs to supply timber for the new shaft, erecting a saw mill and putting in supplies to carry on operations to November 1. Cash on hand at present is estimated to be sufficient to carry on work on a large scale up to that time.

PRICES DROP UNDER HEAVY PROFIT-TAKING

Selling Pressure Most Effective in Aviation, Motor and Merchandising Groups.

SOME ISSUES ADVANCE.

Heavy Bond Offerings Suggest Possibility of Larger Increase in Bond Offerings.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil—Associated Press Financial Editor).

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 11.—Heavy week-end profit-taking turned the course of prices irregular to-day after an early display of strength. Selling pressure was most effective in the aviation, communications, motor and merchandising groups, while the public utilities, chemicals, amusements, oils and rails presented several points of strength.

Inasmuch as Friday's closing rate of 6 per cent. for call money carried over the week-end, the credit situation was not a direct factor in today's market. Wall Street was still somewhat puzzled over the source of the new funds which came into the market yesterday, and whether a plentiful supply would still be available next week. Unusually heavy new stock and bond offerings this week suggested the possibility of a large increase in brokers' loans next week.

United Corporation was again one of the most active features in today's market, crossing 75 to a new high record. American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power, North American, and Public Service of New Jersey all sold 2 to nearly 4 points above yesterday's final quotations, but the gains were not fully maintained.

Cardinals Tally Four Runs Off Dazzy Vance

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 11 (C.P.)—The Cardinals defeated Dazzy Vance by 4 to 0 in the first game of the series here yesterday, and so kept the pace set by the league-leading Cubs, who downed the Giants in Manhattan. Sylvester Johnson let the Robins down with seven hits, well scattered.

LOVE AND LOCKSMITH

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., May 11.—Thomas J. Sutton, 79, local locksmith, has had no occasion for laughing at love since Mrs. Secela MacDonald, 65, filed suit for $10,000 to cover alleged breach of promise. Sutton denies the charge and says he was persuaded to marry at some definite date "by exertion and undue influence and intrigue." But Mrs. McDonald says she has ample evidence to prove the gentleman proposed to her.

FAVORABLE WEATHER AIDS SEEDING IN WESTERN CANADA

Moisture Is Sufficient For Germination, Although Rains Would Be Beneficial.

ONTARIO IS BACKWARD.

The Bank of Montreal in its current crop survey, says seeding is well advanced in the Prairie Provinces and is proceeding satisfactorily under favorable weather conditions, the seed bed is in good condition and there is sufficient moisture for germination, although the reserve is low and rains would be beneficial. Growth has been retarded by cold backward weather, but early seeded wheat is showing through the ground. The acreage will be about the same as last year. In Quebec little seeding or ploughing has been done owing to the cold weather, and seeding operations are at least a fortnight later than the average in Ontario. In the Maritime Provinces the winter was moderate, but conditions are backward owing to a cold spring. In British Columbia, spring is from three to four weeks late, but crop prospects are generally favourable.

Prairie Provinces

Alberta Western Area—Wheat seeding is well advanced, with about 50 per cent seeded. The sugar beet acreage will probably be 9,000 acres as compared with 7,000 last year. About 30 per cent has been planted, as compared with 80 per cent at this time last year. Albert Northeastern Area—Wheat seeding is about 50 per cent completed, and is well ahead of last year. Alberta Southeastern Area—40 per cent of the seeding has been done under favorable weather conditions. Saskatchewan Northern Area—In most sections wheat seeding is well advanced, with weather satisfactory, although some localities are backwards. Saskatchewan Southern Area—Under favourable conditions good progress has been made, with wheat seeding from 50 per cent to 100 per cent completed. Some headway has been made in seeding other grains. Manitoba—More than the usual fall ploughing was done, and soil is in good condition. Wheat seeding is 80 per cent to 90 per cent completed. Owing to cold weather germination has been slow. There is ample moisture for the present. Seeding of coarse grains is under way.

Province of uebec

Heavy rains and continued cold weather have hampered farm operations and no seeding and little spring ploughing has yet been done except on the higher lands. It will take a period of warm dry weather before work becomes general. Grass pastures and fruit trees wintered well. The season's production of maple syrup was above the average.

Province of Ontario

Some work has been done on high light land but low lying ground is still too wet to be worked. Reports indicate that fall wheat has wintered well especially on lighter well-drained land but is spotty on some low wet ground and is in need of warmer weather. Several thousand acres of good land bordering on Lake Erie are now flooded and will be under water until too late for seeding. Hay is of unusual growth for this time of the year. Clover and alfalfa fields wintered well and conditions are promising. Tobacco has been sown in green houses and plants are now showing through. There will be a 50 per cent reduction in ac reage of burley and black tobacco this year. Fruit wintered in good condition.

Maritime Provinces

Apple trees are reported to be making a very favourable start and there has been little winter kill in the grass pastures. It is thought the seeding and planting of potatoes will be completed by the usual time. The potato acreage will be 25 per cent below the five year average according to present estimates.

Due to cold wet weather there is still much seeding and planting to be done. An average acreage of grain is being sown and a good hay crop seems assured. No serious frost damage to fruit trees has been reported although indications point to a lighter yield than last year. Small fruits wintered well and hops are in good condition. Pasturage is fairly good but there is a shortage of irrigation water.

Wet Weather Sends Wheat Prices Higher

CHICAGO, Ills., May 11 (Canadian Press).—Rainy weather south-west and west, emphasizing complaints of excessive moisture in some districts did much to turn wheat prices upward to-day after a hesitating start. Liverpool wheat quotations lower than expected had only a transient effect here. Opening at ½c decline to 1-8c advance, Chicago wheat later showed gains all around. Corn and oats also developed a rising trend, with corn starting 1-8c off to 3-8c up, and subsequently scoring a general advance. Provisions held steady.

CREW FACES TRIAL TUESDAY.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., May 11.—The spring assizes will open here May 14 before Mr. Justice Raney, and an unusually lengthy list of cases await trial.

Four men will be tried on manslaughter charges, three of them as a result of the railway wreck at Drocourt. Engineer Alexander, Fireman Riley and Brakeman Gorrie of Canadian National Train No. 3, face trial on manslaughter charges. Anthony Tucker, Trout Creek, will go on trial for the fatal shooting of his father May 5 last.

Second Standard Royalties Limited

One of the most attractive investments of the year are the Units of Second Standard Royalties, Limited, which are being offered by the Mid-Continent Bond Corporation, Limited, of Toronto. The Preferred Shares give a yield of 12% and are being sold at $1.00 per share, and the Common at 25c.

The Charter granted to this company is unique as it contains many remarkable provisions of safety and protection for the investor. For instance, it provided that the Royalty Income received by the Company MUST BE DISTRIBUTED four ways, as follows: 1st, the Preferred Dividends of 1% monthly; 2nd, a definite amount is deposited each month in a Sinking Fund to be held by The Imperial Trusts Company to Canada to redeem the Preferred Shares in fifteen years with a premium of 10%; 3rd, two-thirds of the balance to be re-invested in New Producing Royalties; 4th, the remaining one-third is applicable for Dividends on the Common Stock, and cannot be used for any other purpose.

The Company's investments are confined to Producing Oil Royalties in proven Oil Fields, and no funds are invested in Non-Producing Royalties or Drilling Operations, or any other kind of business whatsoever.

Second Standard Royalties is organized on sound principles, and its shares are considered as a safe and profitable investment. The Company receives its income entirely free of cost, which makes it possible to pay much larger Dividends to its shareholders than is usual with companies having heavy overhead and operating expenses.

This issue has been well received, and a large block of Units has been taken up by investors. The Company has already acquired some thirty-five Diversified Producing Oil Royalties in the Mid-Continent field, the returns from which are ample to take care of all requirements as provided for in the Company's Charter.

The Dividend cheques are issued monthly by The Imperial Trusts Company of Canada, and are payable at par at any chartered bank in Canada.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, May 11.—Cattle offered for sale at the Union stock yards this week proved about equal in number with the week previous, but there was an additional 200 head on through billing; an indication of strong outside markets, though levels here were strong as compared with near-by American points. Monday brought a fairly heavy offering for one day, but supply was well cleaned up at steady prices, and a fair share of Tuesday's receipts were held over for Wednesday, on which day the offering sold 15 to 25 cents per cwt. higher. Quality of the bulk was good, and the cattle showed generally signs of having been well groomed for market.

At the week's advance the odd prime heavy steer made a top of 12¾ cents per pound and a full load of weighty butchers sold at 12½ cents per pound. Most butcher steers, good to choice, brought from 11 to 11¾ cents and 9¾ cents per pound was the practical low for steers and heifers. Butcher cows shared in the advance, choice kind selling from 9¼ to an extreme 10 cents per pound, with plain cutters downward to 6 cents. Butcher bulls closed at 8½ to 9¼ cents per pound, and bologna bulls were active at 7½ to 8¼ cents per pound. Baby beef supply was some 50 head lighter than in the week previous and prices were a shade higher at 10 to 13½ cents per pound for the bulk, with odd tops showing 14 and 15 cents.

Store cattle prices were unchanged on continued light supply. Stockers in small lots moved at from 8½ to 9¾ cents per pound, and a few good feeders sold up to 10¼ cents. There was some improvement in inquiry for milkers and springers to go to the United States and Quebec, but prices were just steady with $130 each the practical top for forward springers.

Calf receipts were down some 400 head from last week, but values failed to show recovery. Demond for export was lighter than in the previous week.

Shippers to the United States took 800 head as against 1,600 a week ago. Choice veal calves in the bulk sold from 14 to 14½ cents per pound with a few of the best at 15 cents.

Sheep and lamb supply also was right at under 500 as against 700 in the week previous. Only the odd fancy yearling lamb offered and the 16 cent top for this was outstanding, other average quality lambs selling at 13 cents per pound. Good spring lambs sold a dollar lower at the top than last week, making from $12 to $14 each for good to choice, while plain lambs sold downward to $7.40 each, with thin culls unsaleable. Sheep were firm at 8½ to 9¼ cents for good light ewes, with the odd top making 10 cents per pound. Culls sold downward to 5 cents.

Hog receipts for sale locally were some 600 head heavier last week, and there were 250 hogs received on through billing. Feeling was stronger, and prices were unsettled up to late on Wednesday, when selects sold at $13.85 to 14 cents per pound, w.o.c., and advance of 10 to 15 cents for the week.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 11.—Wheat prices held firm yesterday in a very quiet and dull market. Closing quotations were 1 1-8c to 1⅛c higher for the day. Offerings were well absorbed. A fair amount of export business was reported overnight, but it had little effect on the market. Trading was mostly local in character.

Grades No. 3 Northern and lower were in good demand on the cash grain section and values moved forward 1-8c to ⅛c above Thursday's close.

Oats were well bought Thursday at firm prices and a little rye was in demand for export. Barley and flax held firm in a quiet trade.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 11—Butter prices to the retail trade were a cent cheaper yesterday, wholesale jobbing houses announcing a reduction to 37c per lb. for solids and 38c per lb. for prints. In a wholesale car lot way, prices were mostly steady, with Quebec-made butter a little easier. New Zealand butter, both finest and first-grade, was 35c to 34¼c, while Eastern Townships, No. 1, pasteurized, was 34¾c to 35c per lb. Receipts were 1,283 boxes.

The cheese market was practically inactive. Receipts were 466 boxes.

Eggs Firm.

A firmer tone was evident on the local egg market, but no price changes were marked up. Receipts were 3,980 cases.

The potato market was steady with a fairly active demand in evidence and receipts just about sufficient for requirements. New Brunswick Green Mountains were 75c for 90 lbs. in bulk, while Prince Edward Island potatoes were 80c to 85c for whites, and 90c to 95c for Green Mountains, per 90 lbs. in bags.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 11. — Although steady prices were paid for fresh eggs in this week's trading, on Thursday large dealers reduced their prices 1 cent per dozen on all grades. The new prices are to go into effect at country points on Monday at the following scale: Fresh extras, 27c per dozen; firsts, 26c, and seconds, 22c per dozen. Quotations are for ungraded eggs, delivered Toronto, and cases returned.

Heavy Receipts.

Wholesale dealers have been operating during the last week on supplies that they had been previously committed to, and, notwithstanding the fact that they were not reaching out for additional supplies, receipts were exceptionally heavy. The report of storage holdings in Canada, published one week ago, has had a dampening effect on storing activity in large Canadian centres. Dealers have been assuming that storage supplies would show a decline from one year ago, particularly in view of the fact that they lost money on storage eggs last winter

Peak Production.

Reports from throughout Ontario indicate that production is at its peak, and heavy consignments of eggs are expected to pass into packers' hands during the next fortnight. Country buyers have shipped numerous carlots to the market this week, and with the favorable weather and condition of the roads this is expected to continue next week. In some cases eggs that were purchased at the country points earlier in the season with the intntion of placing them in storage, to be sold to the trade next winter, have been loaded on the local market, due to the unsettled feeling toward prices.

Butter Lower.

Buter prices were reduced about 2 cents per pound, and No. 1 finest creamery is now quoted at 36c per pound, with No. 2 grade 1c cheaper. Trading was draggy for the most of the week, and a slightly steadier feeling existed in the market at the close.

Churning Cream Easier.

The large shipment of New Zealand stock is now in the hands of the dealers and they are concentrating their efforts in depleting the imported supplies before they are loaded with domestic butter. Reports from the country indicate that grass-made butter is steadily increasing, and a weaker feeling has developed in the wholesale churning cream market.

Quotations on cream have been barely steady this week, and dealers stated that they are lowering their prices substantially at the beginning of the week. At the present time approximate quotations, f.o.b. shipping points, are as follows: Special, 38c; No. 1 grade, 37c; and No. 2 grade, 34c per pound fat

Receipts of Ontario and Western butter have been heavy this week, and prices are stated to be barely steady at the present levels. The retail trade are operating in hand-to-mouth fashion in expectancy of fresh supplies and lower prices.

Cheese Is Reduced.

The opening of several of the Dairy Boards throughout the country gave the cheese market an easier feeling, and the price of No. 1 large, colored, paraffined and Government graded supplies were reduced 2c per pound to the range of from 17½c to 18 c per pound.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 11. — Comparative poise returned to the grain market yesterday but only after wheat had touched depreciated values almost never surpassed heretofore at this time of year. The chief steadying influence was United States government crop figures, indicating that 1929 domestic winter wheat production will be 23,000,000 bushels less than has of late been generally expected.

Wheat closed nervous and irregular at net decline to half cent advance, with corn 1-8c to 7-8c up, oats 1-8c to 3-8c off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

Record Low Levels.

According to statements circulated here and ascribed to a leading authority the wheat market at this stage of the crop season has never before in many years descended to so low a point as was reached to-day, except at a time when huge Russian, Indian and Argentine exports had put world wheat values down to an abnormal degree. Yesterday's bottom prices here came shortly after the market opened and were closely associated with talk which was current that the curtailed official estimates of the probable yield of winter wheat were a result of a change in the government basis of computing rather than because of an altered crop outlook.

Advance follows Decline.

After fresh bottom prices for wheat had been reached yesterday however, buying enlarged to a noticeable extent, and in the rapid fluctuations that ensued the market at times ran up to well above yesterday's finish. In this connection European advices were cited implying that extensive abandonment of wheat acreage had taken place abroad, Germany, Rumania and Hungary in particular, and that the general European wheat crop prospect is poor on account of late spring and consequent delays to seeding.

Assertions were also made in various quarters here that the wheat market had discounted all bearish factors in sight, Moreover taking the day as a whole selling pressure showed a decided let up as compared with what has been the rule of late. On the other hand offerings increased when prices turned and the market at the finish was practically a draw between the bulls and the bears.

Corn weakened with wheat temporarily but liberal purchases on the part of shippers which brought about quick upturns in price. Besides a forecast of unsettled weather likely to hinder field work tended to lift values. Oats were bearishly affected by favorable crop comments and the market declined to below the season's bottom price record for July and September. Provisions were easier on account of scattered liquidation.

WILL NOT CONTINUE I NOFFICE

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—The City Planning Commission appreciates the vote of confidence given it on Monday last by the City Council, but politely declined to accept the council's request to continue in office, according to a letter sent yesterday to Mayor Sam McBride and the council by H. H. Williams, chairman of the Commission.

AGED WOMAN DIES IN FIRE

Farm House Is Destroyed While Owners Are in Kingston.

HEROIC EFFORT MADE.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 11.—(C.P.)—Mrs. Emily MacDonald, over 80 years of age, died from burns received in a fire which yesterday destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Emberley, about two miles from the village of Ernesttown. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Emberley were in Kingston at the time of the fire and their daughter, Miss Thora Emberly, was at home with her grandmother, Mrs. MacDonald.

With heroic effort Miss Emberly succeeded in rescuing her grandmother from the burning building, but Mrs. MacDonald died a few hours later. The building was completely dstroyed. No estimate of the damage could be made.

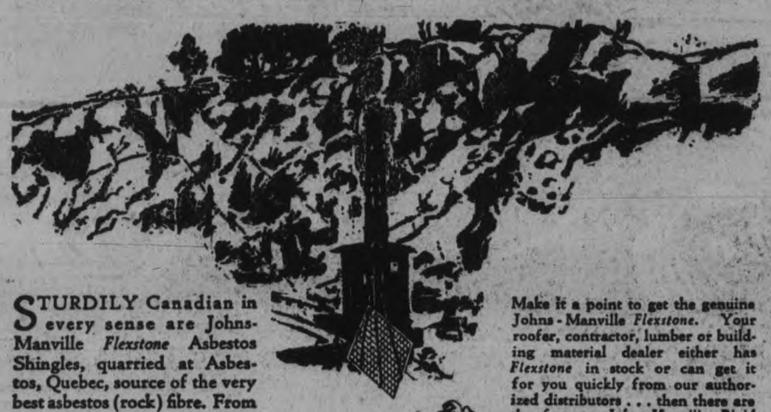
FOR OVER 100 YEARS MAKING SHOES FOR MEN

CENSORS FAT REDUCERS.

NEW YORK, May 11.—If you have a plump figure, it's better to leave it that way than to take some fat reducing agent and lose your youth, according to Prof. L. Kofler of Innsbruck, Austria. These agents, he says, contain cathartics, Fuscus vesiculosos and iodine. These constituents break down the youth of persons using the reducing agent.

From Rock to Roof—all Canadian



STURDILY Canadian in every sense are Johns-Manville Flexstone Asbestos Shingles, quarried at Asbestos, Quebec, source of the very best asbestos (rock) fibre. From this start, every succeeding operation is carried through in Canada.

This is the roofing for your home. In addition to being Fireproof and Timeproof, Flexstone colourings, this year, are, without a single doubt, exceptionally smart . . . you won't find anything lovelier in all Canada.

Yet with all these advantages, Flexstone's first cost is exactly the same as that of any "fairly good" roofing. Economical for any size house . . . for business or farm buildings, too, as shingles or in rolls.

Blended Romany Reds, Brittany Blends of copper, moss, bronze and purple. Tile Red, Deep Green, Blue-Black, Red and Green. All these are offered you in Flexstone this year.

Make it a point to get the genuine Johns-Manville Flexstone. Your roofer, contractor, lumber or building material dealer either has Flexstone in stock or can get it for you quickly from our authorized distributors . . . then there are the famous Johns-Manville Rigid Asbestos Shingles, slightly higher in price, but beautiful beyond words and guaranteed everlasting.

Cut Down Your Fuel-Bill

Cover your furnace and pipes with Johns-Manville Improved Asbestocel. Keep the heat where it belongs. You'll save many a dollar. Usually one season's saving pays the cost.

Make YOUR Brakes Safe

Police inspection daily becomes stricter. Better be sure than sorry. Have a KEYSTONE STATION reline your brakes with J-M Asbestos Brake Lining. It grips 100% in any weather and lasts longer.

More Actual Money's Worth

You hear the word "value" proclaimed freely and loudly in automobile talk these days. Every motor car has value, to be sure—but it is value-plus-value that gives the lead to Whippet in money's worth and popularity.

In every major feature, one by one, or altogether, Whippet is several lengths in the lead when it comes to sound, satisfying value.

First, there is the supreme beauty of design that makes the new Whippet the style authority in its class. You are quick to admire the graceful lines, the longer bodies, the higher radiator and hood, the smart but harmonious colors, the one-piece full crown fenders.

Then, when you enter the car, you are gratified with its spacious, tastefully appointed interior. The longer wheelbase gives several inches of added leg room. Seats are considerably wider and have form-fitting contours, assuring restful, comfortable positions for all passengers. Exceptionally wide doors afford easy entrance and exit.

Yet with all these improvements, the new Whippet's prices are amazingly low. An inspection and a demonstration will surprise you with how much fine car value you can buy for very little money.

"FINGER-TIP CONTROL"

The greatest advance in driving convenience since the self-starter. A single button, located in the center of the steering wheel, controls all functions of starting the motor, operating the lights and sounding the horn. No wires in steering post.

WEDDING BELLS

TUCKER—REYNOLDS

APSLEY, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—A wedding of local interest took place on Saturday afternoon at the United Church Parsonage, when Miss Hazel Reynolds was married to Harold Tucker the Rev. Mr. Wesley of Lakefield performing the ceremony.

DAVIS—RUSSELL.

HAVELOCK, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Rev. Hugh and Mrs. Brown on Thursday afternoon, when Lillian, daughter of Mrs. Russell and the late George Russell, of Douro, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Robert P. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, of Warsaw. Rev. Mr. Brown, who is a former pastor of the bride, officiated.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dainty gown of beige silk lace, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The drawing room where the ceremony was performed was atttractively decorated with flowers. A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Brown, after which the happy couple motored to the home of the bride's mother in Douro, where a reception and wedding supper was held.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Davis left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and points West.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. E. BEST.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Mrs. A. E. Best took place from the home of Mrs. Thomas Best, on Tuesday at two o'clock, Rev. Mr. Carpenter officiating.

The late Mrs. Best is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Finley, of Emily, and is survived by two brothers and three sisters—Harry A. of Emily, W. and Lena of Emily, and Mrs. John Fowler of Peterborough, and Mrs. C. B. Furry of Detroit.

MRS. JOHN WILLAN.

On Saturday morning, May 4, there passed away after a lingering illness of several years, Mrs. John Willan of South Monaghan, at the age of 44 years.

She leaves, besides her husband and mother, one sister, living at Cobalt, Mrs. Albert Wilcox, and two brothers, Samuel and William, in South Monaghan township; she was predeceased by her father six years, and a sister, Lila, eight years ago.

The funeral, which took place from her late residence on Monday, was one of the largest attended that has ever been known in the vicinity.

The service was conducted by the Rev. P. W. Roberts, of whose congregation in Bailieboro, she was a member and earnest worker, a regular attendant at church and a sincere communicant.

The brief address before the burial service was upon the words of Christ, "I will not leave you comfortless," and the choir of her church led in singing two of her favorite hymns, "There is no grief in Heaven" and "Peace, Perfect Peace." Very handsome floral tributes were sent in kind sympathy and fond remembrance Interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery.

LAKEFIELD SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Many Matters Discussed at Annual Meeting of Women's Institute.

LAKEFIELD, May 11.—(Examiner Correspondence) —The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. J. H. Payne in the chair.. The ladies answered the roll call by paying their fees for the coming year. The secretary, Mrs. C. L. Harris, read a letter from George Putman the superintendent of Women's Institutes and there will be a three day course of instruction in home economics, judging, nutrition and home furnishinng and housing on June 24, 25, and 26. The district meeting will be held here early in June and the Lakefield branch will provide a noon-day meal for the delegates, a committee consisting of Mrs. N. S. Higgins, Miss Edna Blewett, Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. A. E. Higgins, and Mrs. Blakeley were appointed to make the arrangements of the time and place of the lunch and also to arrange for the supplies. This committee was empowered to call for such help as was needed.

Mrs. A. Davis read the treasurer's statement which showed total receipts for the year of $118.05 and expenditures of 85.81 leaving a balance on hand of $34.24.

The secretary gave a report which covered the year's activities, the membership was 68 until the short course in March when 25 new members were added. Eleven regular meetings were held with an average attendance of 40. A pie social was held in July which was the only money making enterprise of the year. Road signs were put up in August last and in September the branch became federated. A program was drawn up and printed and copies given to the members and a shower was held for the Apsley hospital.

A shower was held last spring for the Northey family who lost their home and household effects by fire and in the autumn a cash donation of $10 was sent to the Earnshaw family at Apsley who also had suffered severe loss by fire. In January a relief committee was appointed with Mrs. Ridpath as convenor. Addresses have been given during the year by Mr. Nelson, Mrs. Yates, Mrs. Cameron, Dr. Sutton and Mrs. Graham.

In December, Mrs. Ridpath gave an excellent report of the Annual Convention held in Toronto during the last week in November. In February Dr. Sutton of Peterborough addressed a joint meeting of the junior and senior Institute on health and in March a short course in home economics was held under the direction of Miss Hopkins. In April two excellent papers were given on poultry by Mrs. A. Higgins and Mrs. W. Preston, which had been prepared by Bruce Charlton and Russell Little.

Mrs. J. W. Ridpath presented a brief but comprehensive report of the work of the relief committee which was formed in January. On February 27 a shower was held for the Calvert family and during the afternoon a quilt was made and added to the parcel. The committee is in debt to Mr. Shearer who kindly took the parcel up to Buckhorn on his truck. At this shower R. J. Webster made an appeal on behalf of the James Dunford family and on March 5 a quilt was made for them and glasses were bought for the little girl which enabled her to go to school.

In March a third case was discussed and investigated.

Mrs. Ridpath urged that sewing meetings should be held once or twice a month to make articles for emergency work. This would mean a slate of preparedness for appeals which would be very desirable. Miss B. Graham gave the report of the flower found which showed total receipts of $28.69 and expenditure of $21 leaving a balance on hand of $7.69. A wreath for the cenotaph was purchased and sixteen ladies were remembered with flowers.

A letter was read for the Canadian Institute for the Blind and on motion a donation of $10 was sent to them.

Mrs. Thomas Cooper, of Warsaw, a member of the Federated Board of directors took the chair for the election of officers and heartily commended the progress made since organization less than two years ago. The reports were all especially good and the speaker expressed pleasure at the relief committee, its purpose, its progress and its aims.

On motion of Mrs. W. M. Graham was elected honorary president.

For the other officers, nominations were open and the voting was by ballot with Miss M. Sanderson and Mrs. Pugh acting as scrutineers. The following officers were elected:—

President—Mrs. A. Davis; 1st vice president—Mrs. J. W. Ridath; 2nd Leslie Harrison and Miss M. Ad. secretary—Miss Edna Blewett; treasurer—Miss W. W. Yale; secretary treasurer of the flower fund—Mrs. J. H. Payne; district director—Mrs. A. E. Higgins; directors—Mrs. Walter Preston, Mrs. Gilbert McIlmoyl, Mrs. Charles Frankish, Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Miss Mary Adams and Mrs. John Blakeley; relief committee (re-appointed)—Mrs. J. W. Ridpath, Mrs. F. Armstrong and Miss Ella Down; auditors—Mrs. would help to maintain a spirit of ams; organist—Mrs. J. A. Northey.

Mrs. Cooper, in vacating the chair, expressed good wishes for the coming year and gave this [illegible] to Mrs. Cooper for her kindness in unanimity—"We may disagree but we must love." Mrs. W. M. Graham moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring officers who had given such faithful service during the year, especially the president and secretary, on whom the weight fell.

Mr. A. Davis, the newly-elected president, took the chair and bespoke the co-operation of the members, carrying on the work of the branch. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Cooper fr her kindness in coming over and lending such able assistance to the election of officers. Mrs. Cooper smilingly said she appreciated the day off.

The following were appointed delegates to the district meeting in June: Mrs. A. Davis, Mrs. Ridpath, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Chittick and Miss Elliott and Graham.

Mrs. Stewart Sanderson aked if the meeting could be held at 2 o'clock which was more convenient for the country women. This suggestion was adopted and the members will bear in mind the change of time. Tea was served and a social half hour was spent.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Cruikshank Honored By Friends at Hastings Gathering.

HASTINGS, May 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Friday evening about fifty of the members and adherents of Trinity United Church gathered at the home of Mrs. E. Wilcox to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Cruikshank, who are to take up residence in Peterborough. The first part of the evening was spent in games, contests and singing. Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank, who were taken entirely by surprise, were then presented with a cabinet of silver by Mrs. John Oliver, while Mrs. A. V. German read an appropriate address.

Walter Dodd then presented Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank with a set of sherbet glasses and vases of cut glass on behalf of the choir, while Miss Grace Orr read a suitable address.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruikshank thanked their friends for the gifts, and expressed the wish to have each and all of them come and visit them in their new home, and they would always remember their friends in Hastings. After singing "For they are jolly good fellows" a dainty lunch was served.

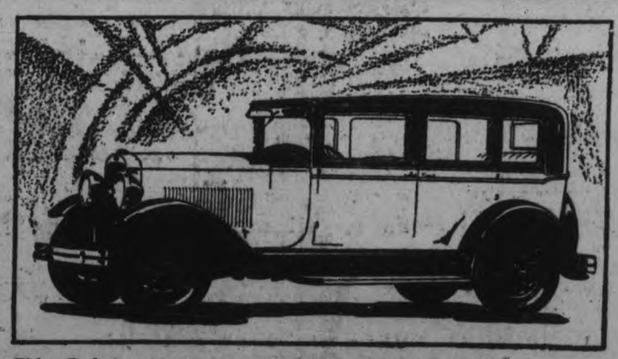
SMOOTH AND QUIET AT EVERY SPEED



TAKE Oldsmobile out and try it — in the swift press of traffic and on the open road. You'll find dazzling acceleration, as smooth and stageless as the pick-up of an electric motor. You'll find exhilarating speed, with freedom from noise or vibration throughout the entire range. You'll find a tireless, effortless flow of power, with a tremendous reserve for steep hills and hard pulling.

Oldsmobile's big 62-horsepower engine rests on sound-deadening, vibration-absorbing rubber mountings of special design. The chassis, too, is rubber-cushioned. Fabric beading eliminates annoying body squeaks. And a special sound-insulating material between the body and the chassis creates a silenced interior.

Controls are conveniently arranged. Both the front seat and the steering wheel are adjustable. Gears mesh easily and silently. Clutch action is light and smooth. Effortless steering provides handling ease in traffic and simplifies parking. And Oldsmobile's quick-acting four-wheel safety brakes respond to the slightest pressure.

The Fisher Body interiors are luxuriously comfortable, with wide, deep-cushioned seats. And four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers assure restful riding ease on any road.

Come, drive this finer Oldsmobile. Then . . compare its value!

RUSSIAN YOUTH WINS CONTEST

Oratorical Winner Was Unable to Speak English Six Years Ago.

SUFFERED HARDSHIPS

WINDSOR May 11.—(C.P.)—Leo Malania, 18-year-old student of the Walkerville collegiate institute and winner of the provincial oratorical finals at Toronto, could not speak a word of English when he landed in Canada with his parents six years ago.

Leo was born in Tiflis, Georgia, a state of old Russia. At the time of the boy's birth, his father, a graduate of the faculty of laws, Moscow University, was practising his profession in that ancient centre. His mother, a graduate of the Commercial school of Kiev, had taught, before her marriage, in the secondary schools of the same community.

But the happy Tiflis home came to an untimely end with the outbreak of the first Russian revolution, March 12, 1917, when Leo's father participated actively on the side of the revolution.

When Bolshevism reared its head in Russia, the state of Georgia declared its independence under a republican form of administration. Leo's father held an important official post under that regime and so when the Bolsheviki conquered Georgia after two unsuccessful campaigns, the Malania family fled the country.

Penniless in Constantinople

Leo and his parents next found themselves, penniless, in Constantinople. But despite their bitter struggle for a bare existence, the parents proved able to place their son, then 10 years old, in the French school of St. Michel, the only available European school in Turkey.

Leo, during his two years at this school, showed marked progress, acquiring an extensive knowledge of the French language. But after Kemal Pasha's victories, all aliens domiciled in Turkey were forced to leave and once again the Malanias were forced to seek a new country. They chose Canada, arriving in September, 1923. Leo, then 12 years old, did not know a word of English. He was placed in St. Patrick's Boys' Academy, Montreal.

The family was in very straitened circumstance in Montreal. The father found work only occasionally and to aid family finances, Mrs. Malania entered a sewing factory and Leo left school temporarily, obtaining employment in an office.

The father, in search of steady employment, moved into Western Ontario and ultimately obtained employment with a motor company in East Windsor where he has remained.

Leo entered the first form of the Walkerville high school, made rapid progress, and last summer obtained his junior matriculation with an excellent standing. Aside from his ability as a student and orator, he has displayed marked musical capabilities as a violinist. He is the student conductor of the Walkerville collegiate orchestra and has assisted the conductor employed by the school trustees.

GOVERNMENT'S FISCAL POLICY IS ASSAILED

been extended by order-in-council to New Zealand. It was, he declared, bringing about the ruination of the dairy industry in Canada. In 1924, the year before the treaty came into effect, he said, Canada exported more butter than she bought while last year she exported 1,889,000 pounds and imported 25,000,000 pounds.

"How long can our agriculture stand" he asked, "when the country did not produce within 23 million pounds enough butter to feed its own people and this an agricultural country." He also stressed the fact that copper was being exported to the United States in a raw state and brought back manufactured at a price $5.00 per ton more than was being paid for it by the American user.

Because of the fact that Canada was buying more from the United States than she was selling to that country. He maintained the government was mortgaging the country to the United States. "We are becoming a dependent country," said Mr. Bennett.

Gen. McRae Speaks

There must be some change in the economic structure of this country if our present prosperity is to continue, was the message of General A. D. McRae, of Vancouver Chief Whip and Dominion organizer. He deplored what he termed the "hush, hush policy" of the Dominion government with respect to the United States tariff.

Another prominent speaker was Hon. Charles McCrae, Minister of Mines, for Ontario, who spoke chiefly of the development of Northern Ontario. He referred to the evidences of Communism in the North Country and said it should be stampeded out at all costs.

"We are determined" he said, "to develop that North Country along the lines of old Ontario, with sound British traditions and laws that make for well being and order."

Mrs. Howard Fallis of Peterborough spoke of the part women could play in the advancement of the party and declared she was opposed to women working separately from the main party organization. Women should stand on an equal footing with men in all respects.

Arthur R. Ford, managing editor of the London Free Press, was elected by acclamation president of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Western Ontario. He succeeds A. A. Ingram of St. Thomas.

Apsley Girl Meets Wolf On Woods Path

APSLEY, May 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—Miss Amy Lean filled the role of a modern Red Riding Hood on Tuesday afternoon, when walking through a fallow close to the house, she came face to face with a huge wolf. Only a few yards separated them, but owing probably to the fact that the lady was accompanied by her dog, unlike the wolf of the fairy tale, it evinced no interest for a closer acquaintanceship but retreated to the woods, much to her relief.

ARMY MOTHERS TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Twenty Junior Soldiers Will Be Enrolled To-morrow Afternoon.

The Salvation Army all over the world will be celebrating a day which is undoubtedly becoming more significant every year, namely Mother's Day. The services this week-end will mainly be in charge of different Salvationist mothers. An English mother, Sister Mrs. Hayward being responsible for the morning service. The afternoon exercises will include the enrolment of twenty junior soldiers, boys and girls who have accepted Jesus Christ as their Saviour. It is worthy of note in this connection that three weeks ago Ensign E. H. Green enrolled over thirty young people who had signed a similar pledge which includes a promise to play, to read the Bible, and to abstain from all intoxicating drink. To live by His help as His loving and obedient child and be His faithful soldier, striving to help others and to follow Him. Each Boy and girls is handed at the conclusion a beautifully illuminated pledge. A Canadian mother, Sister Mrs. R. C. Braund, will pilot the evening meeting. These mothers will be assisted by others, including a mothers' choir. They are not a group of professional singers, but needless to say all mothers' voices are sweet more or less. On Monday night Sister Mrs. S. J. Richardson, with various selected characters, will present a living tableaux description, "Scenes in a Salvationist Mother's Life." The same depicts some of the most important events in a mother's career. The first tableaux characterises a Hallelujah wedding, and the last of the series is entitled "Honor Thy Mother." The entire service comprices thirteen scenes. The Temple Young People's Singing Company will render suitable songs during the same, whilst the Temple Band will contribute some appropriate selections. The service is an original production of Mrs Ensign E. H. Green. The Salvation Army is in the midst of its annual Self Denial Appeal in this country, and in view of this year being the centenary of the founder, William Booth, first General of the organization, the present General, Edward J. Higgins, is appealing for a five per cent increase in honor of the founder's life's work. The local objective for Peterborough is $2,551.00, as against 2,429.00 last year.

Ensign E. H. Green, the local commanding officer, report a very encouraging response thus far from the business men. Many of them making substantial increases over and above last year's contribution. The local corps ingathering has been set for Wednesday, June 5th, when complete reports will be announced and the total of this year's collection revealed. The Salvation Army's great mission is to make human sorrow less and to make human happiness more. It is a great society for the promotion of love throughout the world. Its gospel is a gospel of love. Its officers and soldiers are messengers of love. They have received the fire which burns but does not destroy—the fire of love.

carried out his instructions to leave him.

"McLean noticed Jackson making his way off the grounds. He gave chase, captured him, and arrested him for being unlawfully at large, placing him in the municipal jail where he still is."

The incident is the upshot of considerable correspondence by letter and wire between the Attorney-General's Department and the Federal Department of Justice. The Attorney-General received a letter on Tuesday from W. Stuart Edwards, Deputy Minister of Justice, to the effect that the surgeon of the jail at Prince Albert had previously reported that Jackson was insane when admitted and was therefore not a proper type to be retained at the penitentiary, the Minister of Justice had issued a warrant for Jackson's return to the Province of Alberta, it being stated that the Minister had no other course under the terms of the Penitentiaries Act but to transfer him to the jail from which he had been received. The warden at Prince Albert was instructed accordingly.

ALL OVER A RAT

BURLINGTON, Wis., May 11. — When Mike Scaffano climbed into his car and started down the town's busiest street, a rat crawled up his pants leg. Mike grabbed for the rat, and the rat grabbed for Mike, with the result that he received severe bites and ran his car into a telephone pole. Examination of the car revealed that a litter of six baby rats was in a nest built in the seat cushion of his car.

BROTHERLY LOVE

GRISWOLD, Ia., May 11.—Parker W. Reynolds was to marry Miss Frances Hall on a recent Saturday evening. He started out the day before to get the license. Mud marooned him outside of town, and on the morning of the wedding he called his brother, Malcolm, and asked him to go by train to Atlanta and get the license. The train had gone at the time so Malcolm, another brother and Stewart Forsyth started off in a car. The car balked, and refused to be started again. The three of them walked 11 miles, got the license, and walked back 18 miles to give it to Parker.

DOMINION BOARD POSTPONES HEARING

Railway Commissioners Will Hear Application For Lower Rates in July.

OTTAWA, May 11. (C.P.) — Application of the Maritime Board of Trade for a reduction in grain rates form Fort William to Saint John, N. B., and Halifax, will be heard at three sittings of the Board of Railway Commissioners. Chairman H. A. McKeown and his colleagues on the board, it was announced yesterday, will hold local sittings at Saint John and Halifax some time in July. Later a final hearing on the application will take place here.

A rate of 19.34 cents per hundred pounds on grain shipments from Fort William to the two ports in the Atlantic sea border is sought by the application, as against the prevailing rate of approximately 34 cents. The rate now effective from Fort William to the port of Quebec, under the general freight rate revision, is now 18.34 cents a hundred pounds.

Hearing of the application was scheduled for yesterday before the board here, but owing to the illness of Alistair Fraser, K. C. counsel for the Canadian National Railway, presentation of the case has been postponed until July.

INDIAN CHIEF NEAR ORILLIA 98 YEARS OLD

Charles Big Canoe Is Splendid Example of What Civilization Has Done For the Indians.

BECAME A SURVEYOR.

Lives With His Son and Grandchildren in Fine House on Georgina Island.

ORILLIA, May 11.—It was on Snake Island, ninety-eight years ago, that Charles Big Canoe, one of the greatest Indian chiefs in history, was born. At that date this island contained the greater portion of the Indians around Lake Simcoe; Georgina, the larger island being then inhabited by only a few families. It was only when the population on Snake Island became overcrowded that there was a general trek towards the larger island. Georgina at that time was covered by forests in which there was an abundance of wild game. Dogs were kept on the chain, and when fresh meat was required one of them was let loose. It immediately dashed into the woods, followed by the hunters, and within half an hour a deer was caught. Other smaller game was also abundant.

Big Canoe long before the arrival of a school teacher on Snake Island, had acquired a knowledge of the English language and could speak it fluently, so that at a very early age he accompanied his father, who spoke only Ojibway tongue, when the latter went to York, as Toronto was then known, to sell the season's catch of furs. His services on many occasions were sought as interpreter, but it was not until he was fairly well grown that he learned to read and write.

Like many other Indians on the island, Charles Big Canoe's father had a strong prejudice against the school, and when the boy expressed the desire to attend it the old man objected saying, "It will unfit you for hunting and trapping and you can not eat books.

Nevertheless young Big Canoe was determined to read, but even more so to write, as he did not then know that the two accomplishments went hand in hand. Although not enrolled as a pupil he went at odd times to the school and sat near the door, listening to the teacher instruct the class. His desire to read was intensified one day when he saw his cousin, Sampson Big Sail, write on a piece of paper, fold it up, and toss it to a girl sitting some distance away. She read the note, looked over to Big Sail, and began to laugh. Young Big Canoe looked on in silent wonder and when school was dismissed, asked his cousin to teach him how to "talk on paper." To this the latter readily agreed and came to Big Canoe's home almost nightly, and when once the alphabet was mastered the rest came rapidly. Young Big Canoe had a passion for study and all his spare money went for books, which he kept concealed in his room. He eventually went to school and astonished the teacher with his knowledge.

Became a Surveyor

As he approached manhood he sought and obtained employment as a surveyor's assistant, and was so adept at this profession that, when it was decided upon to open up Georgina Island for settlements, he surveyed the entire island into the required lots. When a Government surveyor afterwards came, he found young Big Canoe's survey absolutely correct.

Charles Big Canoe, while still in his twenties, was sent to represent his band at a church opening on Rama Reserve, on Lake Couchiching, bearing a substantial contributon of money to the new place of worship. But even though he held the utmost confidence of his people as a youth of strict integrity with a loftier outlook on life than the young men of his age, he had not yet become a Christian, although seeing its good effect upon the Indians in general, he had encouraged it in many ways.

When he beached his birch-bark canoe on the Rama shore he proceeded upon invitation previously extended to the home of Chief Joseph Benson, and there he met another guest, Elizabeth Benson, a young girl whom he had previously met while making a trip on the steamer to Bell Ewart. Young Big Canoe, energetic in all things, promptly proposed marriage. However, he was rebuked by the maiden. But undeterred he plied his troth on every occasion when they met and finally after becoming a Christian she accepted him. They were married by Rev. George McDougall, the well-known missionary who several years later lost his life during a blizzard on the western prairies.

From that day until God called her to be with Himself," said Chief Big Canoe, "there was nothing to mar our complete happiness, and since she was taken I am living in the joyful assurance that we will soon be reunited."

"For," said the Chief with a whimsical smile, "I'm getting to be an old man."

Chief Big Canoe has lived on Georgina Island for seventy-two years. First he built a small log cabin but this has given place to a comfortable frame house in which he now lives in company with his son Albert, and the latter's wife and family. Albert fills the position of postmaster on the island and is also constable, although his services in that capacity are seldom required. A son of Chief Big Canoe is John Big Canoe, who has held the chieftainship of the island since his father reliquished it after many years of efficient service. Charles Big Canoe presided over the destinies of his fellow tribesmen for thirty years, giving the reins of government to his son John in 1911.

As before stated, deer were formerly plentiful on the island, but the last one disappeared three years ago.

Family Has Not Deteriorated

It has often been said that civilization has a deteriorating effect upon the Indians. While this may be so in some cases, it does not apply to the Big Canoe family, as their fine home furnished with every modern convenience and their well-tilled farm, are emple evidence. The interior of the Big Canoe home would be a revelation to many who have no idea how the Indians have advanced in the way of culture. The old chief is a great reader and the walls of his home are lined with book cases carrying the works of many of the leading authors. He takes great pride in the scholastic attainments of his grandson, Lorenzo, who for some years has been a teacher on the Caughnawaga Reserve, near Montreal. Musical instruments of various kinds are in evidence, as the chief's two granddaughters, Elizabeth and Eleanor, are both accomplished musicians; both are high school girls preparing for a university career.

AFTER a good car is once "broken in" it may thrive fairly well on almost any kind of lubricating oil—for a while.

But, unless it has been properly lubricated, there soon comes a time when the engine begins to show signs of old age . . . lacks power . . . pumps oil . . . . slappy pistons . . . . noisy bearings . . . general disability.

You can do full justice to that wonderful, but complicated piece of machinery under the hood of your car, by using one of the 5 grades of Autolene Oil from the very beginning.

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Sidney Blewett Hostess To Members of Gilmour Church Society.

GOOD PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BRIDGENORTH, May 11. — The regular meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, was held at the home of Mrs. Sidney Blewett on Tuesday.

After the business session the topic on "Bolivia" was ably taken by Mrs. Haddow, a returned missionary from Bolivia.

Mrs. Haddow gave a very inspiring talk on her work as a Christian nurse among the Bolivians, and she described the condition of the Bolivians in their home life.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Haddow's address, Mrs. Young moved a hearty vote of thanks, seconded by Mrs. E. Archer.

A dainty lunch was served by the ladies in charge of the May meeting, Mrs. Blewett, Mrs. A. I. Edmison and Mrs. J. Archer.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brackenbridge and family of Westwood, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Archer of Smith.

Rev. Mr. Edgar of Gilmour Memorial church, was in Toronto, visiting his son Jim.

Miss Margaret Mann of Smith, spent the week-end with Miss Ethel Rae, Peterborough.

Mr McMillan of Port Perry, made a business trip through this district on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson and Miss Mildred Magee of Orange Corners, were recent guests of friends at Bridgenorth.

Mrs. Oliver of Smith, was called to Detroit, to be with her son, who is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Miss Mabel Darling of Wallace's Point, was a recent guest with friends in this district.

FRANCE TRAINS ALL HER YOUTH

Physical Education Commences at Six Years of Age With Educational Games.

PARIS, May 11. — (C.P.) — The Under Secretary of State for Education, H. Henry Pate, has outlined in a very clear way what France is doing for the physical education of her youth. Physical education commences in the primary schools for children of both sexes from six to 13 years of age. Before that age there are simple educational games for those in the kindergarten schools.

From six to 13 years of age there are two hours of physical education per week, in daily lessons of 30 minutes each. As the health of the weaker scholars has to be considered, the department is encouraging the multiplication of classes in the open air, special schools for recuperation and holiday camps.

For boys and girls above 13 years of age, there are also alloted two hours but with this difference. Those in the lower classes receive four lessons of thirty minutes each while those in the upper classes have two lessons each of one hour duration.

In order to qualify for the teaching of physical education, male and female pupil teachers receive in the primary normal schools two lessons of an hour each. These pupil teachers are drilled in the lessons by actually handling children in the adjoining schools. They also follow the courses in applied physiology given by the professors.

8,000 Teachers Graduate

Of course there was some difculty in adopting the present system. Facilities had to be granted to teachers who had received no training in physical education. But these brought no results until 1927 when they were obligatory. Eight thousand male and female teachers graduated last year.

Primary inspectors are now required to make notes on the lessons and such figure in the reports on the teachers.

Some statistics regarding the present situation are interesting. In 116 lycees for boys, 237 professors of physical education give lessons to 73,000 pupils. The average per professor is 303 pupils. In 200 boys colleges there are 60 professors giving lessons to 38,000 pupils. Theaverage is 633 pupils to a professor. in 192 secondary schols for young girls 85 professors give lessons to 50,000 pupils or an average per professor of 588 pupils. To make up the insufficiency in the number of qualified instructors, 55 new posts were created in 1928 and others are contemplated.

Passing from the secondary to the superior schools, one finds 450 establishments with 79,000 pupils of which 34,000 are young girls. The physical education lesson is given either by a male or female professor. Forty new posts have been created for teachers equipped with the necessary superior education given in a five week course at the Ecole Michelet. The course includes technical, medical and physical lectures and instruction in actual sports.

A DOZEN different things may cause a headache, but there's just one thing you need ever do to get immediate relief. Aspirin is an absolute antidote for such pain. Keep it at the office. Have it ready in the home. Those subject to frequent or sudden headaches should carry Aspirin in the handy pocket tin. Until you have used it for headaches, colds, neuralgia, etc., you've no idea how much Aspirin can help. It means quick, complete relief to millions of men and women who use it every year. And it does not depress the heart.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure s weet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

AT MILLBROOK.

A suggestion that the junior members of the local branch entertain the pioneer members has been successfully carried through in one Institute in Western Ontario, others of the older women of the community being also included in the invitations sent out, and a very happy gathering was held.

Among the delightful features of the program was the exchange of reminiscences by the special guests of the day, when much that was interesting in pioneer days in the community was recalled, and impressed thus happily upon the minds of the younger folk of the day. One lady, with white hair and well on in the eighties, told of walking to a neighbor's, four miles distant, on a cold winter's morning, to borrow a few coals to start the fire upon the family hearth, which had unfortunately gone out while the household was asleep. It was indeed amazing to hear more than one member tell of the wonderful changes witnessed within the span of a single lifetime—the coming of the first railway; the electric light; the fine highways; the automobile; the telephone and telegraph; the radio, and the airplane.

Old songs were sung, and one or two gave recitations learned in girlhood days; a display of fancy work done by the older women was also much enjoyed, as bead work; intricate crochet patterns in antimacassars, and trimmed pillow covers, etc.; fine knitting in doilies, and other articles; quaint quilt patterns; tatting and netting, being among the things shown.

A big birthday cake centred the guest table at the tea hour, the young hostesses making a bit of ceremony over its cutting. The cake was in honor of one of the pioneer ladies who had reached her ninetieth birthday the day the Institute 'party' was held, and to her fell the pleasant task of lighting the candles, in groups of three, each of which stood for ten years of the number being recorded, with which the cake was adorned. Although this member was in comparatively good health, considering her advanced age, yet her memory was not as clear as some of the others who were present, but her bright smile and evident enjoyment of the occasion made it a delight to have her as the special guest of the day.

Many Institutes of the province have put on plays as a means of raising funds, finding the gathering together for practices a pleasant way of promoting sociability, even though there was an amount of hard work involved to present successfully the entertainment. Locally, this has been a custom for two or three years, the play, in one instance at least, being repeated and the proceeds donated to the Agricultural Society, with which the husbands and sons of several of the members are connected. Thoughtful management is required to carry dramatics through with success, and this should be provided by some of those not in the cast of characters as these latter have enough to do without taking on the cares of the business end of the affair. Stage setting, good music between the acts, and proper costuming, are essential factors where dramatics are concerned; with these might be included experienced ticket sellers, and ushers, on the night the play is presented.

The world's oldest Institute, at Stoney Creek, Ontario, has a practical suggestion when it tells of taking one evening to specially entertain the staff of the High and Public Schools of the community. This was an entirely new venture, but was highly successful, and keenly appreciated. The guests gave some assistance with the program, and the Institute was wholly responsible for the supper.

WARSAW.

The official departmental notices of and instructions concerning the summer series of meetings have been received. Warsaw is to have Miss Emily Guest on Thursday, June 6.

Miss Guest was one of the girls who were at Mrs. Hoodless' home, after the death of her own daughter, when Mrs. Hoodless expressed the opinion that if the women in the homes only knew more of the care of the sick, of diet, and other needful things, there would not be so much sorrow. From the talk that afternoon, the idea of the Women's Institute grew. An Institute was formed, then others. Then the organization followed; the idea grew and spread throughout Ontario, Canada, and away to distant lands, until at the present time there is hardly a recognized country which has not the organization in some form or other. Miss Guest is especially interested in immigration work, and is on the immigration committee, not bringing migrants to Canada, but looking after those who have come. She is a very forceful speaker, and holds the attention of the hearers.

Miss Guest's life has been a busy one, first as a student, then a teacher, always active in girls' sports. During the Great War she was in hospital work, food conservation, and in the organization of Institutes, under the British Government, throughout England, Scotland, and Wales.

Her lecture subjects are interesting. Three of them are "Eating for Beauty and Efficiency," "Helping Boys and Girls to Find the Right Life Work," "Working Your Own Gold Mine."

Warsaw and other institutes in this district, where she speaks, will be sure not only to have a treat, but to get something fully worth while.

FAVORITE RECIPE.

String Beans

(Contributed by "Min")

Boil beans until tender.

Fry one slice of pork until brown, one small onion, remove meat, add half can of tomatoes. Cook until thick. Add three cups of water and let boil. Pepper and salt to taste.

Drain beans and pour over the gravy and serve.

ICE CREAM CAKE

(Contributed by "Virgie")

3 tablespoons of melted butter
¾ cup white sugar
2 eggs
½ cup of sweet milk
3 teaspoons of baking powder
1¼ cups of white flour.

Ice Cream Filling and Icing For Cake

1 cup of white sugar

Moisten with water boil till it hairs

Have white of egg beaten stiff and pour into the sugar

Then add a little cocoanut and citric acid to taste.

This is a delicious cake if properly made.

THE MOTHER TONGUE

A vaudeville artist was singing "Baby Face," only he pronounced it "Biby Fice."

This wasn't going at all well with his audience, so a brother performer told him to sing it in better English.

"Yes," he replied, "but, you see, 'Baby Face' doesn't rhyme with the next line—'Tike your plice.'"—Tit-Bits.

Always Safe

When your Children Cry for It

Here's relief and comfort for crying, fretful, feverish babies or children that you don't need to urge or command them to take. They love the delicious taste of Fletcher's Castoria. Your doctor will tell you it's absolutely safe, so you can give it as freely and as often as needed to keep your children happy and well. A few drops is all it takes to quiet fretful, feverish, colicky babies; relieve their biliousness, gas on stomach, constipation, etc.; soothe them to sleep in a jiffy. For like disorders in older children, you simply use a little larger dose of the same reliable Fletcher's Castoria. Don't use grown-folks' medicine; with babies or children, specialists say. Ninety per cent. of them recommend Fletcher's Castoria; and thirty years of steadily increasing popularity proves they're right. To protect you from imitations, the Fletcher signature is on every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

SUGGESTS PRINCESS LINES

THE STYLE sketched suggests princess lines with novel seaming at either side of center waistline at back, with inverted plaits below the waistline. Intricate diagonal lines at front reveal the modern trend, even to inset pockets with flap closing. The plaited section at front is stitched part way and then released to sway in motion. It is especially smart in sheer tweed, printed silk crepe, canton-faille crepe, wool crepe marocain. Prited pique is effective for summer, for Design No. 2640 worn with plain pique coat.

THE PATTERN is offered at cost price 15 cents as a service to readers who sew, and can be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 39, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. It contains a Picture Chart, a new quick method of showing how every part is joined to enable the beginner to make it in an unbelievably short time, and will also prove of great interest to a woman who makes all her clothes to obtain perfect fit.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

MARION'S MAIL

Address correspondence to Marion, at The Examiner Office.

"Dear Marion—

I notice the neighbors' letters are getting few and far between, probably they are all busy housecleaning. As I am practically through with mine I thought I would write a few lines telling you what happened the other day. I thought it too good to keep to myself. I happened to be in company with several friends, topic after topic was brought forward when conversation turned to 'Marion' and 'Marion's Mail.' Listening attentively, a letter written by 'White Wings' came up for criticism. Some favored pa helping with the chores, others differed; some thought the letter ridiculous and considered Orillia the home best suited for the writer. Imagine if you can my interest and determination to turn the tables, also the embarrassment depicted on their faces when I said I wrote the letter. Had a photographer been there to have taken a snapshot of the expressions portrayed, his fortune certainly would have been made. Of course, everything passed off as a good joke but I want to ask the neighbors when criticising other letters to be careful what they say and in whose company they say it, as they may be entertaining the writer unawares and what is distasteful to them may be enjoyment to others, for others read as well as themselves.

I recall to mind a story of two men, who saw a flower at different times; one saw it white while the other saw it when it had changed its color to black. Discussion arose and both were quite sure their own eyesight had not deceived them. A third party interested was asked to decide and end the argument; when he said "You are both correct," but in future take this advice:

"When next you talk of what you view,
Think others see as well as you,
Now wonder if you find that none
Prefers your eyesight to his own."

So with my letter. If it brought a smile to someone's face feeling downhearted and blue, or cheered from feeling discouraged with so many chores facing him after a hard day's work, I am amply repaid for all the criticism I received for we all know:

"It's the human touch in this world that counts,
The touch of your hand and mine,
That means far more to the wounded heart
Than shelter, or bread or wine.
For shelter is gone when the night is o'er
And bread lasts only a day,
But the sounds of the voice
And the touch of the hand,
Goes on in the soul always.

And as I am 'White Wings', I'll soar away to catch sunbeams, to return again some other day.

Mrs. H. C."

I, too have heard some funny things about our page, when listening unawares. So many people talked about it during the winter, at bridges and teas, that one couldn't very well miss hearing something! I heard one woman say, in all seriousness, that she had it "right from The Examiner office" that "Marion" is a man! That was about the richest!

If you have a sense of humor, "White Wings", you are O. K.!

"Dear Marion—

I am enclosing stamp and coupon for helps. As usual I am begging. Thanks very much for helps received previously.

I am not very well at present so I think I will just give the neighbors a few words of praise for the interesting letters which have been printed lately. 'Lucinda's' was excellent and very interesting to me. I hope to see more like it and your Whatnots—they are wonderful. With "Mother" I hope you write us a Whatnot on something concerning teen age girls. I will leave you to choose a title and hit the spot. I also hope to hear some opinions on watching over the teen age and slightly under, boys as I have two, ten and eleven. How is one to watch over all their activities when out of school? They are so full of energy.

The "Old Song" column is very interesting. I was very sorry to see the "Daily Readings" discontinued. I hope you will start them again soon, can't you, Marion? The readings were nearly always from books which I do not get a chance to read, but enjoy very much.

Yours Sincerely
Nellie Bly II"

Yours is a good argument for the Daily Readings "Nelly Bly II." and I will keep your request in mind. The subjects you suggest for letters are good and should bring an interesting discussion.

* * *

"Dear Marion—

I have been intending to write to you for some time, and as I see a shortage of letters the last week or so, I thought this would be a good time to write. I suppose most of the neighbors are busy housecleaning, but I myself am going to wait for warmer weather. Being of an optimistic turn of mind I expect it almost any day now.

I have been wondering if any of the neighbors ever got any recipes over the radio. I have several. Most of them from Betty Crocker. Her series were finished in April, and will start again in October. It is quite good fun if you have time, to take down the recipe, and then try it out in your own kitchen, and tell the family that it came over the air. If you would care to have some of these recipes for your page Marion, I will try and find time to copy them out. I am enclosing 15 cents and the coupon for a pattern which I would like to have. Thanking you in advance, I have chosen for my pen name.

Pamela".

You must be optimistic, "Pamela". Most of us are reconciled to the cold, though still hoping. Your idea about recipes is good, and I'll be glad to have some of these radio recipes.

* * *

"Dear Marion—

I will say thank you for the helps I received from you, they are lovely. I will send the recipe for banana pudding in this letter. I was sorry I forgot it in the other.

When housecleaning keep a large box or trunk handy and when you come to things you have always wanted to mend or make over, put them in the box. When the cleaning is done, then you may start on the box or leave it until the fall.

So often you say "some day" I will make that dress or suit over or cut down for a wee child ,and when you have the time you don't know just where to find it. So if they are handy you have no bother and it is surprising how many useful things you can make of them.

Some day I will tell you a few things I have made out of my box. I enjoy the What nots, also the Old Songs. In fact I enjoy the whole paper.

Mrs. Soft Voice".

Thank you for your hints, and for the recipe, "Mrs. Soft Voice". I'll be looking forward to receiving your story of making things. It's rather hard to reproduce patterns accurately, so I usually send away to have mine made for the helps. Perhaps you could TELL about the Bunny Bib, though.

* * *

"Dear Marion—

In last night's paper a neighbor told how to brighten old linoleum with glue water. When I went to clip it out this morning the paper was missing. Would it be too much trouble for you to tell me how it was done, or perhaps the neighbor would respond?

This housecleaning job keeps one busy these days. Several times I have thought of writing but always feel too tired at night. Perhaps next time I can send some helps.

Thanking you for your many kindness.

Sincerely Yours
Nilla"

Here is the hint again, "Nilla":

Here is another hint for housecleaning time: When oilcloth has been down a few months and is losing the shiny surface, it can be renewed easily and made to last twice as long if treated in the following way: Melt a little ordinary glue in a pint of water, letting it stand on the top of the oven until dissolved. Wash the oilcloth thoroughly and let it dry. Then at night, when the traffic of the day ceases, go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in the glue water, choose a fine day for this and by morning the glue will be hard and will have put a fine gloss as good as new on your oilcloth.

Carrie Lucinda."

CUT-JOCKJAW-DEATH

KINGSTON, Pa., May 11—A slight cut over the right eye brought jockjaw and death to three-year-old Elizabeth Sekel here recently. Lockjaw developed shortly after a fall in which she struck her head against a piece of wood.

THE SATURDAY MARKET BASKET

There have been many new arrivals on the fruit and vegetable markets during the past few weeks. Housewives now have a very great variety from which to choose.

Bananas range in price from 25 to 30 cents a dozen and 3 pounds for 25 cents. Apples are 50 and 60 cents a peck and McIntosh Reds are quoted at 6 for 25 cents. Grapefruit are 2, 3 and 4 for 25c, and oranges are priced from 18 to 50 cents a dozen. Blood oranges are 20 cents a dozen.

Potatoes are quoted at from 75 to 90 cents a bag, and sweet potatoes are 2 and 3 pounds for 25 cents. Turnips are 5 cents each. Cabbage, new, is 4 cents a pound, and cauliflower range in price from 25 to 35 cents a head.

Celery is 15 and 20 cents a bunch and celery hearts are 2 for 25 cents. Lettuce is quoted at 5 cents a bunch and head lettuce at 10 and 15 cents a head. Radishes are 5 cents a bunch.

Tomatoes are 20 and 25 cents a pound. Cucumbers are 10 cents each and 2 for 15 cents. Spinach is 15 cents a pound.

Asparagus is 20 and 25 cents a bunch. Pineapples, a comparatively new arrival on the Peterborough markets, are 25, 30 and 35 cents each.

Parsley is 5 cents a bunch and mushrooms are 90 cents a pound. Fresh beans are 30 cents a pound. New carrots are 10 cents a bunch, and new beets are also priced at this figure.

Strawberries are 20 and 25 cents a pint box. Dutch set onions are 20 cents a pound and Spanish onions are 2 and 3 pounds for 25 cents.

More cups to the pound, more flavor in the cup, more tang to the taste. That's what makes Red Rose Tea so popular. Every package guaranteed.

Under the auspices of the Caledonian Club a very enjoyable whist drive was held last night in the Woodmen of the World Hall. A record number of members turned out, and fourteen tables of cards were played. Mr. D. Anderson supervised the card tables, and the honors were carried off by the following: Ladies, first Mrs. J. Reid, with a score of 118, and Mrs. R. Veitch, with a score of 117. The gentleman's first prize was a tie between R. Hendry and W. McCracken, with a score of 124. In a draw, Mr. McCracken won first place. Consolation awards went to Miss Isabel Reid and Mr. A. Anderson. Dainty refreshments were served by the executive after the card party. Mr. R. Veitch, president, from the platform, voiced his appreciation of the great interest the members were taking in the club, and welcomed some new arrivals. Mr. R. Gilmour played a few dance tunes on his melodeon, and to these the members danced with much enjoyment, thus ending a pleasant evening. Next Friday evening is 'open night,' and the members, accompanied by their friends, are looking forward to an interesting evening at which Mr. F. L. Roy will give an illustrated talk on Scotland and other countries.

The Mirror of the Mode

By Mary Marshall

Italian quilting in a simple ladder design provides attractive trimming for this little jacket of beige flat crepe.

Every woman who is interested in new developments in so-called "art needlework" doubtless knows by this time the difference between Italian quilting and the usual sort of quilting. With the latter sort the padding is applied as a sort of interlining and the quilting stitches are taken through the outside piece of material and the thin lining, to form narrow channels or tubes through which the padding is run—the padding being wool yarn. If the lines of the padding are fairly wide, thick wool is used or two or three strands of medium thick wool. If the lines are close together then single strands of finer wool are used.

This sort of quilting has been used to decorate bedspreads, coverlets, and cushion tops for some time, and some of the important dressmakers and milliners have recently used it to ornament silk hats and wraps. There are little jackets of light-toned georgette with the padding done with colored wool which shows through the georgette just enough to produce a charming color contrast where the quilting is done.

Evening capes and short hip-length jackets are sometimes finished with straight bands of the quilting and sometimes with scroll design which gives an excellent opportunity for the display of fine hand quilting.

Negligees and lounging robes are also ornamented in this way and a very attractive pajama suit I saw the other day had rows of the quilting around the cuffs and edges of the jacket and along the lower edge of the pajamas—making them stand out a little at the ankles.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

It is always much, much easier to maintain good order with a group of your own or other people's children if you have some way of entertaining them. Interested children are almost always good children and the exertion required on your part to provide amusement is far less than the exertion needed to maintain order and harmony when children are restless.

You do not need elaborate equipment to provide entertainment for children. A pencil, a piece of paper and a pair of blunt scissors will offer endless means of amusement to the woman of ingenuity.

Old magazines and picture supplements of the Sunday papers may be turned to excellent account in entertaining children. Even little children can take part in this game. Provide each child with a pair of scissors, a photograph section of a Sunday paper or an illustrated magazine. The children should be allowed to select their paper or magazines for themselves so that they will be satisfied with what they have. The leader, also with a paper or magazine, then cuts out a picture of some object—a horse, an aeroplane, a baby, or something else not too unusual. Each player is then asked to cut as many similar objects from his or her page as he can find. The one having the largest number is then chosen to choose the next object.

From illustrated papers or magazines animals may be collected to form a zoo. Or from the advertisements may be cut various small objects with which to play store.

The Whatnot

A Column for Little Bits of Everything of Interest to Women Readers

Conducted by Marion (Copyright)

TO-DAY'S Whatnot is a splendid article by Parkes Cadman, noted education expert.

* * * * * *

When parents and children clash the trouble is often due to the fact that grown-ups fail to appreciate that priceless possession of childhood—imagination. Suppress it and their lives will be impoverished. Encourage it and it will lead them far towards happiness and success.

* * * * * *

Imagination is the vital factor in children, adolescents and adults. Their peace and welfare depend upon its functions.

* * * * * *

The fact that imagination is the sole intellectual faculty having direct contact with the bodily organs intensifies the meaning of what has been said. The eye, the ear, the face, the palate become the vehicle of its expression.

* * * * * *

Guilt or innocence, sorrow or joy, cowardice or courage are registered by it in our flesh and blood.

* * * * * *

Under its grasp they are as clay in the hands of the potter. Instances in proof of this could be quoted ranging from sudden restoration to health to complete paralysis, and even death itself.

* * * * * *

None can tell how much the totality of our thought and action is traceable to the images which stamp themselves upon memory and mould behaviour.

* * * * * *

Let us therefore dismiss, once and for all, the idle notion that imagination is by nature vague, chimerical and misleading. On the contrary, it is the precious possession of the priest, the poet, the orator, the musician, the actor, the statesman, and the child. It decrees the happiness or misery of courtship and wedlock. It presides over the destinies of the domestic hearth. It paves the way to paradise or to perdition.

* * * * * *

Children are its recipients at the prime. They live in the gorgeous palaces it constructs for them, and their imageries should not be violated by parental ignorance or unkindness.

* * * * * *

Adolescents move in its enchanted kingdom of possibilities, the exuberance of which should not be too sternly repressed by older people.

* * * * * *

Age, conduced by memory, loves to traverse the teeming fields of retrospect, and to link its infirmities with golden hours which are no more.

* * * * * *

In this constant procession of images, those come first which relate to the physical senses. A hungry lad staring at delicious food in a restaurant window conceives a luxurious feast. His conception so affects the glands of his mouth that the digestive saliva flow down its corners.

* * * * * *

Though imagination is a gift demanding serious attention from parents, pastors, teachers and friends of youth generally, it seldom receives this attention. Like the conscience, it is entirely too common to excite curiosity. Yet we have to live with both faculties and the standards of our living are closely articulated with them.

* * * * * *

To reemdy the neglect, begin with the child. Its lot is fixed by the time it is six years of age, and since from that age its imagination is in full flow, it should be intelligently guarded and nourished.

* * * * * *

The more I see of infancy and childhood, the more I respect their wonderful wisdom Every youngster has the right to be merry as a lark because he or she is more intimate with the eternal than we are. But the fatal superstition that children have to be terrorised into obedience has played the mischief with them and with society. One- half the trouble between parents and children is due to erroneous and even brutal treatment of youthful image.

* * * * * *

When my grandson solemnly informed me that he met a herd of elephants dancing down the street it is not for me to accuse him of lying. The lie, as adults practise it with intent to deceive or betray is not in him. He is only allowing me to get under his skin and glimpse the enchantments in which he revels.

* * * * * *

"But what is done to correct this exaggeration?" inquires an anxious mother. My good lady, soar with the child and outsoar him, until he is aware that you have passed the frontiers of the possible. Then gently bring him down to earth again. This is infinitely better than imputing to him a sin of which he is unconscous, and a guilt foreign to his feelings.

* * * * * *

Another example of overstrain and wrong direction of the child imagination is that false presentation of God as a sort of vengeful tyrant on the prowl to detect and torment the little transgressor.

* * * * * *

I write of this maltreatment with emphasis because I suffered from it in my childhood. At a later stage I found that goodness of the Deity as portrayed by Jesus was as grateful as sunshine after a tempest of thunder and lightning.

* * * * * *

This superstition poisoned many generations and bred much future scepticism for the churches to encounter. Children are entitled to know the pure, the lovely, the transcendent, and all which is of good report.

* * * * * *

In the light of the truth that every adult could dispense with one-half he knows, and be the better for it, we should observe a strict economy about cluttering up the child's mind and polluting its dreams with adult conceptions and offences. He will know the mundane world soon enough Therefore stimulate the imagination of children. and then harness it to the truths of everyday life which are more romantic than any fiction Give his imagination of children, and then harness it to the truths of everday life which are more romantic than any friction. Give his imagination every chance to grow.

* * * * * *

Day dreaming in youth is the next form of the imagination's processes. When day dreaming is mentioned to some sagacious people they condemn it outright as a waste of valuable energies. Yet when it is an incentive to action and not an opiate to restrain it, day dreaming is worth while.

* * * * * *

As a lad, Warren Hastings, the first Governor-General of India, lived near his ancestral home which had been lost by folly and extravagance. While wandering in its meadows and parks he foresaw its restoration to his family His dream persisted. It led him to India, where, after many years of arduous toil, it was finally realised. But for that youthful image in his heart, Hastings might not have been one of Britain's greatest viceroys. It was the vision which compelled St. Paul to make his body the living bridge between the east and west. Across that bridge marked the conquests of the Cross and the benefits accruing from it.

* * * * * *

If you can help the boy or girl to hitch his wagon to a star, by all means do so. The loftier the aim, the farther the arrow is sped. You will never know what you can do till you attempt the apparently impossible.

* * * * * *

But we should not forget to strike the balance between day dreaming's extremes. There are sanguine temperaments given to delusions in painting the future. The cure for these cases is action, and again action.

* * * * * *

Deliverance from futility, disappointment, rage and the cynicism which is the spirit's "sleeping sickness" lies in the task nearest at hand. The art of life consists for us all in translating the best we can conceive into what we are and what we do, expecting little from others and much more from ourselves

The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion is taking an active part in the Carnival which is planned for May 15th, 16th and 17th The ladies will have some characteristic activities in the way of looking after the resting parlor for tired women patrons, in telling fortunes for those who wish to consult the future to glean an idea of good or ill fortune, and in providing light refreshments in a dainty tea room. The "cup that cheers and does not inebriate" is a large factor in any festivity where women are concerned and with the tea will be served bread and butter, sandwiches and cake.

Mrs. J. Mills, who is president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion, will act as general convenor of the ladies' activities. Mrs. R. Lynch will supervise the fortune-telling, which will be done by means of the cards, the palm and the tea-up. And on the three days of the Carnival, ladies in charge of the tea-room will be Mrs. A. Clark, Mrs. W. Hughes and Mrs. J. Peace.

The men have planned a very ambitious and interesting program for the Carnival. There will be half hour concerts each evening, a wheel of fortune, a war trophies exhibit, a bingo game with fine prizes and a surprise dugout.

"If you are a woman, it is never wise to jump out of the frying-pan into the fire. A man may do it, get away, and even take the frying-pan with him. But a woman can not. Nature is against her. It is best to stay in the pan and cool it with your tears."—Corra Harris.

Activities at the Y.W.C.A. this week, besides the preparations for the big Pageant, included the opening of the swimming-pool on Wednesday This is never made a formal event, and the big pool is simply opened for the convenience of the public, to remain open all during the summer and fall months.

Another event of interest was the visit of several members of the Y.W.C.A. to the new Summer Camp at Stoney Lake.

Ladies who went up to see the Camp were Mrs. D. F. Drummond, Mrs E. Morrison, Mrs. T. Barrie, Mrs. James McDonald, Miss Margaret Hamilton and Miss Leta Brownscombe and they announced themselves as being delighted with the condition of the Camp and the very complete equipment of the new summer abode.

The grounds are described as being in first-class condition with plenty of signs of strawberries and huckleberries and the gardener has planted lettuce, onions and radishes which will be ready for the first campers.

A few repairs will be required and the verandan will be screened. There is some lovely furniture in the cottage and a good library of books. There is a fine bathing beach and bath house.

As now arranged, there is plenty of room for twenty-five campers.

The Y.W.C.A. Camp promises to be one of the attractions at Stoney Lake this summer.

Weak and Run Down Didn't Want to Eat Could Not Sleep

Mrs. D. Leone, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., writes:—"I was weak and run down; did not want to eat, and could not sleep. I felt tired of living and often longed for death to free me from my terrible misery as I felt I would never be strong again. I thought I would try

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"The Midnight Express"
(Contributed by "J. H.")

Jim Blake your wife is dying,
Came over the wires tonight.
The news brought to the station,
By a boy half dead with fright.
He bust in the office crying,
His face was very white;
Give this to dad on the engine
Mother is dying tonight.

Jim Blake is our oldest driver.
He runs on the midnight express.
The most of his life I guess,
And when I found this message
Was for my comrade Jim;
You bet I sent it flying
Over the wires to him.

In less than half an hour
Jim's answer came back from Clare;
Tell wife that I'll meet her at midnight.
And that I am praying for her;
I left the boy in the office.
Jim's answer took to his wife.
I found there a dying woman
With scarcely a breath of life.

And when I entered her chamber,
His wife mistook me for Jim;
She fell back again exhausted.
When she found that I wasn't him.
O'er hills and dells and valleys
Reared the express train that night
And Jim with his hand on the lever,
Guiding its eager flight.

In less than half an hour
The express train will be along,
But to her is a message,
Alas! there is a disaster,
The express train is in the ditch—
The engineer is dying—
Derailed by an open switch.

But lo! here is another,
From the engineer I guess:
"Tell wife that I'll meet her in heaven
Don't wait on the midnight express,
And now they are both a dying.
There troubles in life are near o'er;
May God take them home to heaven,
To meet where they'll part no more.

CHURCH SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Members of St. Paul's Society Heart Report On Hamilton W.M.S. Meeting.

GOOD PROGRAM.

Mrs. W. R. Turner, president of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, gave her report of the recent Provincial W.M.S. meeting at Hamilton, at the regular meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S., held yesterday afternoon in the Guild Room of the church. Mrs. Turner presided at the meeting, which was opened by remarks on the Scripture reading, given by Miss Simpson, and the minutes of the last meeting, read by Mrs. J. Craw. A very pretty vocal solo was rendered by Miss Daisy Davidson.

Mrs. Turner reported on the Provincial meeting in a very comprehensive manner. Delegates numbering 481 were in attendance and the meetings were presided over by Mrs. Rocheser of Toronto, Provincial president who was re-elected for the coming year.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Turner was moved by Mrs. Robert Hall and seconded by Mrs. R. Lees.

Miss Olive Cullen was appointed as delegate from St. Paul's church to the annual meeting of the W.M.S. Peterborough Presbyterial, which will be held in St. Andrews Presbyterian church at Cobourg on Wednesday and Thursday next, May 15th and 16th.

LINDSAY Y. P. HEAR CHOIR

Peterborough's Male Voice Choristers Render Fine Concert in Lindsay.

PROGRAM WELL RECEIVED.

Peterborough Male Voice Choir accepted an invitation, a few days ago, to render a program of music in First United Church, Lindsay.

Last evening, to the number of 44 the choristers assembled at the Y. M.C.A. at 6.30, and, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Burrows, of Lakefield, Mrs Grace Byers, Miss Jessie Pattison, and Martin Chenhall, Jr., as assisting artists, travelled by motor cars to Lindsay.

Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., the choir conductor, arranged a splendid program, and at 8.15, in the church, the choir appeared on the organ loft, and with Mrs. Harold Dawson (former accompanist of the Male Voice Choir), at the piano, the first number, "O Canada," was rendered.

The chairman of the evening was "Bud" Conley, and as interlocutor, kept the audience informed, item by item.

Choir Performed Creditably.

The program proper was carried through by the aggregation with a vim and attack, and splendid tone, which signified untiring study and rehearsal on the part of both conductor and choristers. Every number seemed to gain in popularity with the splendid and appreciative audience, which listened with closest attention, and demanded and received encores to such selections as "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Mulligan's Musketeers,' 'and others. Fine coloring and attack were strong features of the presentation, and the choir members were at their best in practically every item.

Two solos by Mrs. Arthur Burrows, of Lakefield, "Love's Coronation" and "Goin' Home," captured the audience, both solos being well suited to her robust, clear contralto voice.

In quartette work, Mrs. G. Byers, Miss Jessie Pattison, George East, and John Anderson were heard to fine effect in the test piece, "Brightly Dawns Our Wedding Day" and "Lulla-Bye."

This party also supported William H. Grieves in his well-rendered solo, "Sweet Belle Mahone."

A feature number was the appearance of Martin Chenhall, Jr., recently returned from a tour with the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, as 'cellist. This clever young musician played two numbers, "Liebstraume" (Lisst) and "Broken Melody" (Van Biene), with feeling and expression, which pleased his auditors, who showed appreciation of his masterly playing.

Last, but not least, the duties of the accompanists, Mrs. H. Dawson (piano) and Martin B. Chenhall (organ), who also conducted, went far towards the success which attended this visit of the choir to Lindsay.

The Program.

The selections were as follows:

Choruses—"Border Ballad," "Sandy McCluskey," and "Bird Songs at Eventide," The Choir.

Solos—"Love's Coronation" and "Goin' Home." Mrs. Arthur Burrows.

Choruses—"Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" (soloist, George Coleman, Jr.) and "Sweet Canaan." The Choir.

'Cello solos—Martin Chenhall, Jr. ('Cellist, D'Oyly Carte Opera Co).

Choruses—"Drums" and "The Reapers' Song." The Choir.

Quartette—"Bright Dawns Our Wedding Day' 'and "Lula-Bye," Mrs. Grace Byers, Miss Jessie Pattison, George East, and John Anderson.

Choruses—"Shenandoah," "Morning," The Choir.

Solo—"Sweet Belle Mahone," William H. Grieves, accompanied by the mixed quartette

Choruses—"A Lullaby of Love" (test piece for New York contest) and "The Lost Chord," The Choir.

Mixed Quartette—"What of the Night, O Watchman!"

Chorus—"Mulligan's Musketeers," The Choir.

"God Save the King."

The concert was under the auspices of the young people of the church, who invited the choir members and several "fans" from Peterborough to partake of splendid refreshments at the close of the concert. The pleasure of the listeners to the program (and hope and best wishes for its success in New York this month), and the appreciation of the choir for the kindness meted, weer voiced, respectively, by Rev. Dr. Holling, and Mr. White, president of the Male Voice Choir.

Following the lunch, and "Auld Lang Syne," cars were filled and the choir reached Peterborough shortly after midnight.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON GOING TO ENGLAND

Head of Liquor Commission Intends To Confer With English and Scotch Brewers.

TORONTO, May 11.—(C.P.)— Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of Ontario Liquor Control Board, will leave for England next week to get in touch with English and Scotch brewers and distillers who do business with the Ontario government. Asked if he meant to secure lower prices, so that prices to consumers might be cut, Sir Henry said he did not think they were too high. He had heard argument that prices should be lowered so that they would not be too much of a drain on the means of the ordinary man, but the Board did not wish to get prices so low as to encourage indiscriminate drinking.

Sir Henry Drayton added, however, that if the Board was to make any profits out of the business it might as well make handsome ones for the taxpayers of the province. If his trip increased these profits it would be pleasing, to him, he said.

GOVERNING BODY REFUSES DEMANDS

COLUMBUS, N.M., May 11 (Canadian Press).—The Federal Government of Mexico has refused to accede to the demands of Governor Marcelo Caraveo, rebel leader, conditional to the surrender of himself and 400 followers, according to advices received here from American ranchers in Chihuahua.

Caraveo demanded two hundred thousand pesos in cash, the return of his property which had been confiscated, and a guarantee that neither he nor any of his men would be executed.

The Federal representatives were reported to have guaranteed the safety of Caraveo and his followers but refused to entertain any other demands.

In Police Court

In Police Court this morning, it cost a local citizen $5.00 to gain his freedom from a charge of riding a bicycle on a sidewalk. However, the most severe penalty handed out by Magistrate Langley was that of two months in the County Jail, imposed upon William Laporte, when he appeared on a remand charge of taking and using a car without the owner's permission. The offence had been committed at Apsley.

Two other county cases were disposed of, one being that of a Codrington man charged with consuming liquor in a public place. A fine of $15.00 and costs was imposed upon him, while a Dartford resident, facing a similar charge, was fined a like amount. A local man, charged with being intoxicated, was fined $10.00 and costs.

Church Leader Will Address Annual Synod of Diocese of Huron.

WILL BE HELD IN LONDON.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 11 (Canadian Press).—Lewis B. Franklin, D.C.L., vice-president and treasurer of the Episcopal Church in the United States, will deliver an address at the annual Synod of the Diocese of Huron, of the Church of Canada, in Synod Hall, London, Ont., on Wednesday evening, May 15. This session of the Synod will be given over to the discussion of a laymen's program and interest attaches to the message which Dr. Franklin will carry to the Canadian Church from its sister body in the United States.

Mr. Franklin's visit to Canada is on the invitation of F. W. Sutherland of St. Thomas, chairman of the Laymen's Association in the Diocese of Huron.

Tragedy Unparalleled in History of Saskatoon Is Unfolded.

COMMITS SUICIDE.

SASKATOON, Sask., May 11.—(C.P.)— A tragedy unparalleled in the history of Saskatoon was unfolded to-day with the discovery that Mrs. Muriel Wilson, 35, took the lives of her four young children and then committed suicide on the west bank of the Saskatchewan river near Saskatooon. The bodies were discovered to-day after an al night search for the missing children. The time of death of the young ones is set at about noon yesterday. The children were Laura May, 9; Louis Singleton, 4½; Marjory, 2½; and Glen William, 5 months. Mrs. Wilson was the wife of W. A. Wilson, traveller for Prairie City Oil Company.

PLANTS NUMEROUS ON LOCAL MARKET

Butter Bring 43 Cents While Eggs Range Between 26 and 30.

There were plenty of plants and slips and cuttings on sale at the farmers' market this morning as well as boxed flowers and vegetables.

Pansies made their appearance in boxes this morning, at 25 cents and there was an indoor hydrangea in a pot that sold at half a dollar. The cuttings and slips included many different varieties, such as white and red climbing roses, tulips, hydrangea, bergamot and iris. Pretty Mayflowers sold at a nickel a bunch. Delphinium plants were 15 cents, while pinks and Canterbury bells sold at three roots for a quarter.

Raspberry canes were 25 and 30 cents a dozen and the red and Columbian varieties were 75 cents a dozen.

Dry butter beans were 15 cents a pint, potatoes were $1 a bag.

Little pigs were $12 a pair.

In the basket section, eggs sold from 26 to 30 cents a dozen, butter was 43 cents a pound and chickens 35 cents a pound.

CHICAGO PETITION IS KILLED BY N. H. L.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—(Canadian Press).—Paddy Hermon's application for a franchise to operate a second team in Chicago was killed before it got properly started before the spring meeting of the National Hockey League here to-day. When Major Frederic McLaughlin, president of Chicago Black Hawk club refused to give his consent to a second team operating in the loop. The meeting decided it could not under constituence consider application.

NICKLE MENTIONED AS NEW PRINCIPAL

Former Attorney General of Ontario May Be New Head of Queen's University.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11 (C.P.).—A special despatch from Kingston today, says W. F. Nickle, K.C., one-time Attorney-General of Ontario, is regarded here as likely to be the next Principal of Queen's University.

Mr. Nickle says he has not been approached in the matter, that he has not given it a thought, and that his interests have always been on the more practical side of university administration, the despatch says.

"I've always been interested more in the erection of new buildings and that sort of thing," he said.

Mr. Nickle, who is practising law at Kingston, is chairman of the committee appointed by the board to consider the selection of the next principal.

"We have no one in view," he said. "Dr. Taylor has consented to remain until we are able to find a man to fill his place. How long it will take, no one knows."

"No one in Kingston will be surprised if Mr. Nickle is the next head of Queen's," the despatch concludes.

GIBSON HOLDS READING TO SEVEN HITS

Pitches Toronto Club To Second Successive Win in Keys Series.

ORIOLES WIN OUT 4-3.

Jersey City Swamps Montreal Royals 12-2 To Even Series.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11 (C.P.).—Winding up the afternoon's task by whiffing two of the last three batsmen to toe the mark, and at the same time running his string of strike-outs for the game to 10, Sam "Hoot" Gibson righthanded the Leafs to a 2 to 0 victory over the Reading Keys at the Stadium yesterday.

Gibson's effort was a brilliant one and, in holding the Keys to seven hits and scoring a shut-out, the high point, North Carolina, citizen gave his team its second successive win, a feat unknown this season. That is, to the Leafs.

BLACK CATS WIN 12—2

MONTREAL, Que., May 11.—Milburn Shoffner, Jersey City southpaw, proved the usual Royal jinx here yesterday afternoon and the Black Cats slaughtered the Royals, 12—2, to even the series.

The Cats assaulted four Montreal hurlers—Buckalew, Pomorski, Dunagan and Miller—for 11 hits and 10 runs in the first two frames, and Shnoffner simply breezed through to victory.

BREAK WINNING STREAK

ROCHESTER, May 11 (C.P.).—"Lefty" Bolen of Baltimore stopped the six-game winning streak of the Rochester champions here yesterday, whipping the Red Wings 4 to 3.

Baltimore scored three runs in the first inning on a single, triple, base on balls and double to sew up the verdict. From that point on Littlejohn and Ford were masters of the situation.

DROP FIFTH STRAIGHT

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 11 (C.P.).—The Bisons approached the International league cellar position yesterday when they lost their second straight game to the Newark Bears, 8 to 2, and dropped their fifth straight on the home lot.

N.H.L. ANNUAL MEETING TO-DAY

Application For Second Franchise in Chicago Promises Excitement.

TORONTO, May 11.—The National Hockey League holds its annual meeting here to-day and there is likely to be considerable excitement over various matters before President Frank Calder finally announces the adjournment of the meeting of the governors, which will follow on after the conclusion of the general meeting. Just what business will be brought up at either or both the meetings is hard to say, as none of the out-of-town clubs' representatives had arrived last night but there were several of the minor league managers and owners hovering around, probably hoping to land a customer for a promising player so as to get close to an even break for the past season.

Last season was the best in the history of the major circuit and at least seven of the clubs, Ottawa, Pittsburgh and Chicago being the exceptions, experienced great years. These three clubs, along with the Montreal Maroons, did not do so well on the ice, but the others have reported banner seasons in all respects. At a meeting last year President Calder was re-elected for a term of years so there will not be even the excitement that is attached to an election as the president is secretary-treasurer and several other officers in one. The board of governors may see one or two changes in the personnel, but all in all the routine business promises little in the way of excitement.

Chicago After Second Franchise.

However, Chicago is in the league, and the Illinois city has gained quite a reputation as a city of battling, and judging from pre-meeting advices from Vancouver, Chicago and Montreal, there may be a bloodless but not the less deadly battle during the meeting regarding the anticipated action of Frank Patrick for a second franchise for the Windy City. Patrick has been secured by Paddy Harmon of Chicago to handle the hockey end of the new Chicago Coliseum, and they are determined to get a franchise in the N.H.L., either direct from the league or by purchase, and it is said that if they are unsuccessful that Harmon and the allied interests will start a hockey war which would be beneficial to the players but rather costly to those behind the clubs.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The Cubs remained in first place, one game ahead of the Cardinals, by defeating the Giants, 11 to 4 here yesterday in the first game of the series.

Browns Break Losing Streak By Beating Sox

ST. LOUIS, May 11 (C.P.).—The St. Louis Browns brought an end to a losing streak which had reached four games, and recorded their first victory of the present home stay by winning from the Boston Red Sox yesterday, 4 to 3.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, outside of the fact the Yanks has climbed out in front in the American League race and Mister Geo. Ruth is whanging the odd homer, they ain't much signs of summer, is they? Up in this neck of the woods the ball player what tries to work out in the great open spaces is likely to have his arm crack off at the shoulder, and so far the Petes has had but 1 outdoor canter, and the resta their training has consisted of the daily dozen in the Y gym. The opening of the league race is only 2 weeks away, and it is going to be a tough battle for the teams to get in shape by then, unless a heat wave sneaks in on us before long. Anyway, Manager Swanston has a score of players signed up, and he is better off in that respect than any pilot has been in a dog's age round this part of the world.

So daylight saving went over the top, Mac. It took a long time to wize up the citizenry to the fact that a extra hour after supper in the summer months is worth a lotta minor inconveniences. Even if the cold weather hangs on that extra 60 mins. will come in handy to get the fuel ready for next day's fires, or mebbe to shovel off the walks. And when some of our friends from the big otwn blows in we won't this yea hafta put up with them looking at their watch and saying kind of sympathetic like, "Oh, you're on slow time here, ain't you?" in a tone that kinda sounded like as if they thought they was something missing just under the place where hats used to be parked before this bare-headed mania grew on us. That kinda stuff nearly made me go native, so I for 1 am glad our Toronto visitors won't be able to pull none of that line on us this summer

The bathing beach by-law got a real hooking last week, eh Mac? Looks like the folks don't believe they's much in that cleanliness being next to godliness stuff, or else, mebbe, they figger on the cold wave lasting so long that they ain't no use spending money on a bathing beach when nobody but a Eskimo would want to go swimming anyway. Honest to goodness, Mac, I don't believe even the heads of the families what use Inverlea Park in the summer time voted for the improvements. They evidently don't want their kids pampered by having a decent bathing beach, probably counting on the youngsters kinda getting hardened by being bumped round on the roots, stones and chunks of concrete that serve for a bottom of the present beach, but, believe me, some of them things take a lotta getting used to it. Anyway the Board of Health oughta step in and order the installation of decent sanitary conveniences. Let a private citizen try to get away with that kinda thing on his own premises and they'd put a "unfit for habitation" card up in a hurry, but here in a public park, visited by half the town and hundreds of visitors, the conditions is worse than in a backwoods village.

Now that the C.N.E. is going to stage another Wrigley marathon, Mac, we mighta as well prepare ourselves for a summer diet of publicity items about the Black Shark, the Flying Fish, the Human Cork, and all the other acquatic freaks that is to be frozen to make a Ontario holiday. Much of it is pure blah, and a lotta folks is pretty well fed up on it, among which can be counted your humble servant. For the love of Mike, it's bad enough to hafta read that bunk during the week of the race, but if the press agents is going to keep it up all summer, they oughta be made to jump into the lake along with the swimmers

Well, old-timer, if we ever get the frost outta the air mebbe they'll be some baseball to talk about. Right now the only comfortable place to play it is in the Hot Stove League.

Essence of goose pimples, as Mister Lou Marsh puts it, I ain't no Sam McGee, but I would like to see 1 of them old-fashioned summers just for a change. Here's the flappers all dead anxious to get out in them backless sport outfits and the weather won't give them a brake.

Well, here's hoping, old scout.

Sportfully and shiveringly yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

Pirates Win Opener From Nationals 13-9

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (C.P.).—Pittsburg yesterday defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 13 to 9, in the opener of a two-game series marked by ineffective pitching.

Pittsburgh used Swetonic, Brame, Hill and French to halt the Phillies, and Brame, who once toiled here for the Aethletics, was the official winner.

Yankees Defeat Tigers 10-5 To Win Their Eighth Straight Game.

NEW YORKERS ON TOP.

DETROIT, Mich., May 11 (C.P.).—Aided by Babe Ruth's sixth home run, the Yankees won their eighth straight game in the opening of the series here yesterday, defeating the Tigers by 10 to 5 in a free-hitting contest.

The victory increased the lead of the champions to 1½ games, as Cleveland defeated the Atheltics.

BRAXTON HOLDS SOX

CHICAGO, Ills., May 11 (C.P.).—Garland Braxton held the White Sox to four hits yesterday and Washington took the opener of the series by 4 to 2.

Bob Welland, the youthful southpaw, baffled the Senators for five innings, during which they reached him for only one hit. He weakened in the sixth and seventh, however, and was removed with three runs against his record.

Athletics Blanked For the First Time

CLEVELAND, O., May 11 (C.P.).—The Indians handed the Athletics their first shutout of the season yesterday, driving Walberg from the box under a vicious attack in the early innings and piling up nine runs, while Walter Miller was limiting the Mackmen to six hits. It was Miller's second victory in a row.

Braves Drop Third Straight By 5-3 Score

BOSTON, May 11.—(C.P.)— The Reds defeated the Braves, 5 to 3, in the first game of their series here yesterday. The visitors scored three unearned runs in the sixth, after Rabbit Maranville, Tribal shortstop, had made his initial error of the season. It was the Braves' third straight loss.

FIDEL LA BARBA IS ILL, MAY ASK POSTPONEMENT

Congestion of Lungs Forces Him Out of Training For Chocolate Bout.

SCHEDULED FOR MAY 22.

Winner of Bout Will Be Recognized As Bantamweight Champion.

TORONTO, May 10. — With less than two weeks remaining before his big match with Kid Chocolate, Fidel La Bara has been forced to break training. The California college boy, who won the flyweight championship and who is well on his way toward the bantamweight title, was under the care of a physician at the Almanac Hotel last night.

LaBara is suffering from a heavy congestion of the lungs. He took sick Monday, and was forced to remain in his room all day Tuesday. He refused to call a doctor, declaring he would be all right with a night's rest.

George Blake, his manager, knew nothing of LaBaras illness. He was at Wilkesbarre, Pa., watching Chocolate defeat Steve Smith, and did not return until yesterday. He look one look at LaBara, and yelled for a doctor.

Unless LaBara is able to be back in the gymnasium by Saturday, Blake undoubtedly will ask for a postponement. The match is now scheduled for May 22 at the Metropolitan Coliseum. The Boxing Commission has assured both fighters that the winner will be recognized as bantamweight champion if the bout is satisfactory, and Blake wants LaBara to be at his best. LaBara really needs every minute of the time remaining in the gymnasium, as he has agreed to make 118 pounds under the weight at which he has been fighting.

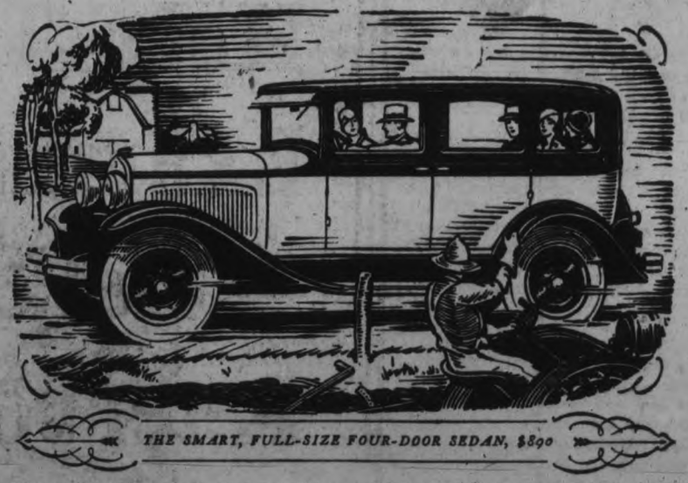
CHRYSLER MOTORS PRODUCT

Quality is the Keynote of what People Say about Plymouth

PLYMOUTH
CANADA'S LOWEST-PRICED FULL-SIZE CAR

FULL SIZE



THE SMART, FULL-SIZE FOUR-DOOR SEDAN, $890

WHEN people discuss Plymouth, quality is invariably the keynote of their conversation.

They say most complimentary things about its Chrysler smartness, its charm, its slender-profile radiator, its graceful "air-wing" fenders, its arched windows, its chromium-plate bowl-type lamps.

They comment highly on Plymouth's full-size dimensions, its richness and spaciousness, its wide, deep seats, its exceptional leg-room.

They refer glowingly to the powerful performance of Plymouth's 45 h. p. engine, of Chrysler "Silver-Dome" principle—its speed, its pick-up, its ability on hills, its smoothness, its quietness.

They speak of Plymouth's safety—of its full-size Chrysler weatherproof 4-wheel hydraulic brakes, its rugged full-size chassis, springs and axles. They praise Plymouth's amazing economy in fuel, oil and upkeep.

After all, it is only natural that people should talk more about Plymouth's fine qualities than they do about its low price—for Plymouth is, first and last, a motor car of intrinsic quality and value

THE Plymouth—product of Chrysler engineering and craftsmanship—has been so named because its endurance and strength, ruggedness and freedom from limitations so accurately typify that band of British people who braved the Atlantic three hundred years ago in pursuit of new high ideals.

VARSITY ATHLETE RESIDING HERE.

An outstanding University of Toronto athlete has come to Peterborough in the person of Harold Nimmo, who graduated with honors this week in civil engineering, and has accepted a position with the C.G.E. here.

Harold Nimmo was formerly one of the all-around running and swimming stars of the West End "Y," and a "T" holder at Varsity, where he won several firsts in running and swimming. He was a member of the West End "Y" swimming team five years ago, which cleaned up practically everything in this country and across the line. With him on that team were such stars as George Young, Tommy Walker, and Shier Mendelson. Harold was the flash of the team, besides being a member of the Canadian champion 160-yard relay team. On the same team five years ago was Harold's father, J. W. Nimmo.

He will most assuredly be given a warm welcome by the employees of the big plant and by all sportsmen as a whole.

BETHANY CLUB IN NEED OF PLAYERS.

The Bethany Club is in need of several players to keep their team up to its former high standard, and local players will be welcomed by the club. Bethany have lost Ray Staples, one of their best utility players, and his absence means a reorganization of the infield. They are holding out an invitation to unattached local players, and any wishing to join should communicate with Charlie Curtis, secretary of the East Peterborough League.

INDUSTRIAL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

The keen competition that existed between the Firemen and the Bus Drivers in hockey, their expressed intention to carry the merry strife to the baseball diamond, and the real kick the players got from their games, has suggested the possibility of a league to carry the sport into a wider sphere. Why couldn't a baseball league be formed consisting, say, of the two old rivals, Chief Gimblett's men and the Bus Drivers, the Utilities, and another team from the Gas Plant?

All these have sufficient men to form teams and despite the good-natured boasting that goes on between the Firemen and the Bus Drivers about their winning ability, they would be of about equal strength. A four-team league such as this would pack the park when they met in combat.

BOXING TOURNEY ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

The third big boxing tourney to be staged by members of the "Y" class in the gym next Friday evening is already taking shape. Word has been received from the Lindsay Monarch A.C., which is fostering a group of boxers, to the effect that they will send at least five boxers here to engage the locals in the tourney. They sent along the weights and specifications of the mitt artists and now all that remains is for Coach Wilf Jones to select suitable men to meet them.

The two previous tourneys have served to show the fans just what rapid strides the boxers have made since their beginning as raw youngsters some three months ago. Along with their boxing the boys have at all times shown the highest sportsmanship and fair play. The bouts with the Lindsay boxers should bring out the fans.

ITEMS FOR SPORTS REGISTER.

Those sporting organizations, who desire to get their games or practises, in the sports register, "On Tapis," at the top of this column, should send in their notices the morning of the day of the event, or better, the day before. All notices should be phoned or addressed to the Sports Department of The Examiner.

MAY ACCEPT BELLEVILLE'S INVITATION.

The invitation to the local club to send boxers to Belleville for the tournament there on May 24, will likely be accepted, depending upon the showing the boys make in their bouts with the Scugog invaders. Coach Jones is eager to accept the invitation, and then to have the Belleville contingent return the favor by coming here at some later date.

LEAFS IN THIRD POSITION.

With fine pitching by Guy Cantrell and "Hoot" Gibson, the Leafs have come through with two great wins over the Reading Keys. The Leafs are now over the .500 mark, and owing to Montreal's defeat by Jersey City, are occupying the third position. The Leafs have been swinging their clubs in a more effective manner, Bill Sweeney with two homers leading the way.

* * * * * *

The Leafs play the Keys a doubleheader to-day and "Lefty" Martin and Clarence Fisher have drawn the pitching assignment. Both these pitchers lost on their last appearance, but with the newly-awakened pep the Leafs have been showing, they should turn in victories to-day.

SECOND N.H.L. TEAM FOR CHICAGO.

The long-dreaded bolt to be fired into the calm of the National Hockey League plans by imperious Paddy Harmon, the freebooter hockey magnate of Chicago, has been landed just previous to the annual meeting to be held in Toronto this Saturday. The irrepressible Mr. Harmon has been threatening the league with what he intended to do since before the close of the season, and now he has lain his cards on the table.

Harmon owns a rink and he wants an N.H.L. team to play in it. This is the a b c of his actions. The only way he feels that he can manage this, with the Black Hawks having already completed arrangements to play in another arena, is to get a franchise for another team. McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, did not have easy sledding in the Windy City, as it was, and naturally he is opposed to a counter attraction in the shape of another team. Harmon says if his demand is not granted that he will start a hockey war by bringing east Frank Patrick's four-team league of the Pacific Coast. So which ever way the N.H.L. decides there promises to be ructions.

Kate Macrae, one of the most brilliant exponents of the basketball game in the feminine world, and also one of the real reasons why the Edmonton Grads are rated as champions of champions.

THRILLING OUTBOARD RACERS

The racing of tiny outboard-motored hydroplanes has become one of the most popular and exciting sports ever to take the Canadian public by storm.

A year ago there were only a few of these little racing craft, but when the National Yact Club of Toronto took up the game the surface of Lake Ontario was dotted with these "leaping Lenas."

This year every body of water in Canada threatens to harbor enough Sea Fleas to make a race.

These toys of the excitement lover last year did close to 40 miles an hour and this year it is expected that they will be able to do over 50 with the improvements that are out. Class B and C, the most popular types, will be able to travel at a speed of at least 45 miles an hour.

During the Canadan National Exhibition regetta over $10,000 in prize money and trophies will be offered for the Sea Flea races. Art Heaven last year won the Harry Lang trophy, emblemate of the Canadan inter-club championship, in his amateur built boat "Radio Bug." Lou E. Marsh was a consistent winner last season and Doug Farrow built and drove the famous "Flying Plank."

One of the most exciting performances of these little high-flyers is their ability to leap from a platform through a paper hoop driven at full speed and land a distance of 40 or 50 feet away.

JOHN SALO SETS PACE

New Jersey Policeman Winner of Longest Lap in Transcontinental Derby.

79 MILE HIKE.

DALLAS, Texas, May 11.—(C.P.)—The pavement pounders in C. C. Pyle's Transcontinental Derby, today had an easy jaunt of 35 miles to Fort Worth following yesterday's 79.9 mile run from Sherman, the longest lap of the race.

Johnny Salo, Passaic, N.J., cop, second in elapsed time, set a gruelling pace under a broiling Texas sun to win the Sherman-Dallas lap in 11:22:15 and cut the lead of Pete Gavuzzi of England to 1:29:45. Giusto Amek of Italy, finished second in 12:04:45 and Gavuzzi, leader in elapsed itme, was third in 12:14:30.

The leaders:

Pete Gavuzzi, England, 275:42:12.
John Salo, Passaic, N.J., 277:11:57.
Giusto Umek, Italy, 291:39:26.
Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., 303:51:23.
Sam Richman, New York, 308:47:55.
Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 312:37:20.
M. B. McNamara, Australia, 334:54:57.

TITLE MATCH AT TORONTO

Victory Over Hill Would Mean Much To Belanger.

KNOCKOUT PREDICTED.

TORONTO, May 11.—Next Monday's bout with Harry Hill at the Coliseum means a great deal to Frenchy Belanger. In fact so much depends on it that it ranks as his most important engagement, his world's championship matches, of course, excepted. In the first place he will, if he wins, again hold the Canadian flyweight championship, which went to Hill when the Englishman beat him at Montreal in one of the most exciting bouts, the papers stated, in the city's history.

But aside from the fact that the Canadian championship is at stake, Belanger has a great deal to battle for. He has for some time been the biggest drawing card of any of the Canadian boxers. He will be just as great a box office attraction as ever and will be able to earn some exceptional purses if he can beat Hill in decisive manner. The fact that Matchmaker Playfair Brown is planning to bring Emile Pladner, the French star, and Frank Genaro, the world's champion, here, gives Belanger very bright prospects, provided he beats Hill.

Belanger has been training so impressively that several critics have predicted a knockout victory for him. That, however, is asking a lot of any boxer when he is pitted against any kind of opposition.

Hill is an experienced boxer and very durable. He has met some of the best of the flywights and up to th time he met Belanger in Montreal had never been knocked off his feet. Belanger does not need a knockout to establish himself as a worthy opponent for Pladner and Genaro. A victory over Hill, won through a display of the aggressive, hard-hitting style that took Belanger to the top of the ladder a year and a half ago, will suffice. To continue to box the best in his division, however, he must be able to beat most of them.

ATHFORD WINS GREAT JUBILEE

Trelawny Was Second and Caballero Third in English Race.

SEVENTEEN STARTED.

KEMPTON Park, Eng., May 11.—Athford, by Blandford out of Athasia and owned by W. Barnett, won the Great Jubilee to-day.

Trelawny was second and Caballero was third.

Athford won by a length while there was a head between second and third. Seventeen ran.

The betting on Athford was 100 to 12, on Trelawny 100 to 7 and on Caballero 10 to 2.

AT THE CAPITOL

WALLACE BEERY AND FLORENCE VIDOR WILL BE SEEN AT THE CAPITOL MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY IN "CHINATOWN NIGHTS" FROM THE THRILLING STORY "TONG WAR." ALSO VAUDEVILLE. THE Y.M.C.A. BOYS WILL GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS IN PHYSICAL WORK.

In addition to the vaudeville and picture program at the Capitol the first three days of next week. The boys from the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. will give demonstrations of their physical work. The "Y" boys will appear at the evening performance only. The vaudeville will be furnished by a team of old timers, Keeffer and Alberts, in a comedy skit entitled "Golfing."

In the feature "Chinatown Nights" the thrilling story from "Tong War" there is more mystery in one Chinese standing in a shadowy Chinatown doorway, than all the mystery stories ever written. There are more than five hundred Chinese revealed in all the intriguing and little known business of their powerful tongs.

"Chinatown Nights" is a picture for everyone who loves drama, excitement and mystery. The suspense and action of the picture are excellently handled and the revelation of the inscrutable practices of Chinese tong life are surprising.

A superior cast of screen artists enact this superb drama. Wallace Beery, Florence Vidor, Warner Oland and Jack Oakie head the cast of noted screen players. The picture was directed by William A. Wellman, the man who made "Wings."

"Chinatown Nights" is the story of a white boss of Chinatown who wins the love of a white society woman. She sacrifices everything for him, but, not until she is dragged down into the mire of the Chinese underworld, does he awaken to his love for her.

Sour Stomach

Sweetened instantly

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes.

Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

CHURCH SOCIETY HOLDS BANQUET

Mothers and Daughters of George Street Church Gather At Affair.

GOOD PROGRAM.

The mother and daughter banquet held in George Street United Church assembly hall Thursday evening under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the church, was a decided success, with four hundred mothers and daughters seated at the beautiful rainbow decked tables.

The guests were received by Mrs. D. W. Coon, president of the society, assisted by Miss Eva Elliott, president of Y.W.A.; Mrs. W. H. Morton, leader of the Mission Circle, and Mrs. A. I. Brown, Superintendent of the Mission Band.

The dining room was very attractively decorated with crepe paper in the rainbow colors, seven shades being used. A rainbow arch over the platform, where the speakers' table was situated, and the huge pillars wound in corresponding colors, produced a very pleasing effect.

The tables were charmingly decorated with tulips in large, pretty crepe paper basket and smaller flower holders of the same shade holding catkins alternating with pale yellow candles. The serviettes were also in rainbow hue.

Members of the Men's Association made very capable and efficient waiters. Rev. J. E. Todd acted as chaairman and toastmaster. After some community singing with Miss Musa Cox presiding at the piano, Mr Todd proposed the toast to the King which was responded to by singing "God Save the King."

A beautiful solo was rendered by Mrs. Ford Turner accompanied by Mrs. Purdy. Mrs. Turner kindly responded to an encore. Mrs. E. E. Harvey proposed the toast to "Our Church," which was responded to by singing two verses of hymn number 193, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord, the House of Thine Abode."

A piano duet by Mrs. Purdy and daughter, Miss Marion, was much enjoyed. A toast to "Our Mothers" was beautifully proposed by Miss Stella Bennett, and responded to by Mrs. Knox.

Miss Margaret Walker gave a fine reading entitled "The Portrait."

The toast to Our Daughters was proposed by Mrs. R. Parnell and responded to by Miss Vera Squire.

Mrs. G. F. Liddle's solo was much enjoyed. Mr. Liddle acted as accompanist.

A toast to the Men's Association, who had so efficiently served at the banquet was proposed by Miss E. McKay and responded to by J. E. Smith.

The outstanding speaker of the evening was Mrs. Bamfield, a missionary for twenty-three years in Africa, who has been home on a furlough for the past two years, but is returning shortly to re-join her husband, who is laboring there. She gave a most inspiring address on missionary work in the dark continent, accompanied by lantern slides.

After a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Bamfield for her splendid address. The entertainment concluded by singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," and the Benediction pronounced by Rev. A. I. Brown.

Says that All Other Remedies Failed

She Then Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I was troubled with Backache for quite a long time," writes Miss G. M. Howells, Kenaston, Sask. "After trying several different kinds of pills and tablets and as my people used Dodd's Kidney Pills for years, I thought I would try some, too, with great results. After taking a few pills my Backache left me. I now feel all right, but always keep a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills on hand."

Backache is generally Kidney Ache. This pain usually indicates some affection of the Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve Backache by toning up the Kidneys to do their work of straining all the impurities, all the poisons, out of the blood.

Cut Driving Costs

Pick the concrete roads . . . and enjoy the comfort of their safe even traction surface . . . as well as the fuel economy and reduced car and tire depreciation they offer.

Advocate this modern paving at every opportunity . . . to enhance the value of your car and increase your pleasure . . . and safety . . . in motoring.

Concrete paving is permanent. Its upkeep costs . . . even where traffic is heaviest . . . are negligible. It saves the taxpayer's money. Where it predominates, budgets can be devoted almost entirely to needed new mileage.

More concrete paving . . . and wider highways . . . are the vital needs of modern traffic.

"It's the little it costs to maintain that makes concrete paving economical."

"Y" PAGEANT WELL RECEIVED BY BIG AUDIENCE

in the different exercises of the gymnasum classes of the Young Women's Christian Association, seemed to be intensified this year, in the fashion in which they went through their soldier-like drills and graceful dances. To the directress, Miss Caroline Littlefield, is due all the credit for such a fine performance as is given by the members of the various section of the work. Her thorough and splendid tuition and the way in which she trains her charges, with attention given to every little detail that makes for perfection, is wonderfully demonstrated in these yearly pageants.

A an introduction to the performance Dr. A. Moir spoke briefly, enumerating the work of the various sections of the Y' and speaking of the fine service given by those in charge.

One of the best of the many fine drills of the evening was the Junior Class' demonstration of Dumbell Exercises and this was followed by an exhibition by the Advanced Class of Gymnastics based on the Swedish System. These exercises are always difficult but the members of the class go through them in such a way as to make them look comparatively easy. They are elaborate and exacting tests of physical strength and swift action, with a great deal of muscular agility in their execution. They included among their exercises a speedy bit of vaulting by one girl in each line, over the outstretched bodies of other members, held by two girls, and there was also a living wheel that was made remarkably effective because of the skill displayed and the flickering giant shadows of the girls on the wall behind, cast by the soft lighting of the stage.

The Babies were as cunning as always in "The Little Love Birds," a dance in which their artless awkwardness and unconscious funniness makes them entertaining in the extreme. They were gowned in tight, bright green, bird costumes that had "feathers" of blue, yellow and red, and a monster purple cat (Miss Hazel Bradley) came in to frighten them all away with its antics.

The lithe, erect forms of the young girls of the Elementary and Intermediate classes were very attractive in the graceful, interesting drills which followed, the Reed and Wand exercises and Mimetic exercises, the latter out of the ordinary drills which stimulate the various actions used in sports, such as rowing and ballplaying.

Another very attractive drill which ended the purely physical demonstrations was the exercise in fancy club swinging by members of the Senior School Girls and Senior Advanced classes. In their blue middies and navy bloomers, their blue clubs swinging in and out, in perfect time, in a series of elaborate and intricate convolutions, the girls made a very attractive picture, and their skill received well-merited applause.

Interpretive Dances

Four very pretty dances were included in the first half of the program, all of different type and all extremely well presented. The first was a Kate Greenaway polka by the members of the Junior class, a gay, coquetting affair with the girls in frocks of rose and blue, and pantalettes, and the "boys" in green smocks.

The hit of the evening in the dancing line, was the number which followed, a distinctively Canadian rustic dance done by the Intermediate class and arranged by Miss Littlefield, who must have felt justified in her work for this number by the repeated and enthusiastic bursts of applause which followed its presentation, and would have resulted in an encore, if encores were allowed in "Y" pageants.

This dance was a jocund, robust, happy thing with rustic music beating out the jolly measures. Brisk, buoyant, carefree, the lads and lassies tripped to the merry music, flirting gaily through the mazes of a rustic pastime The girls wore chintz aprons and bonnets, with blue-topped shoes, a quaint conceit which was repeated in the red-topped shoes of their swains, who were in bright blue overalls, with white shirts, red patch pockets and red neck scarfs.

Following this, in distinctly contrasting mood, was a fragile dance by a sextette of graceful maidens, gowned in pure and dazzling white. They were the Skaters in an Ice dance, and their fairylike toework was done of the accompaniment of sleigh-bell music. They danced in the warm half light that brought out the pure whiteness of their outfits, and they had cunning little white muffs on either wrist. Member of the Senior dancing class did this lovely number.

"At the Country Fair" was the title of the Old English dance done by the Elementary class, a hoppy, light-hearted, vernal bit of happiness, with the men in brown pantaloons and green jerkins, and their sweethearts in prettily colored frocks, going through the figures of what resembled an old-time square dance.

A Novelty Ballet that "said it with flowers' was the Old Fashioned Garden presentation that formed the second portion of a delightful program and this was a quite out of the ordinary bit of beautiful color and movement.

It tells the story of "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," mistress of a delightful garden, in which butterflies and zephyr breezes disport themselves amidst many old fashioned flowers. There is a group of gardeners, but these unite with the flowers in neglecting their duties and having a gay time during the absence of their mistress. When she returns, she reproves the naughty flowers and their guardians, and then they all fall asleep. It is like a fairy tale told with flowers and sweet music and color and the whole effect is lovely and picturesque.

A living wall of green-clad maidens form the background of the garden, holding aloft large floral wreaths which sway later when the soft breeze comes their way.

In turn, the beautifully-clad flowers dance in a style that conforms to their types. There are the delicious little baby forget-me-nots in blue, with pink floral under-bands to their hats which are tied by long black streamers. These are members of the Babies' Dancing Class, and they are fascinating in their cunning sweetness.

The pansies (Junior Dancing Class) are modest creatures doing a demure little dance in gowns of yellow, green and purple, with saucy little flat hats perched over one eyebrow. The Advanced Class' members are the vivid red geraniums with flimy chiffon dresses of charming color, who step stiffly from their beds and do a jolly little polka, and the stately sunflower, in characteristic and very effective outfits that have pointed yellow and green petals and pointed yellow-petalled tiaras, are Senior School Girls, in a prim and orderly dancing number.

The Garden Wall which protects the flowers is composed of members of the Special Class, while the Gardeners are a temperamental group of happy girls of the Intermediate Dancing Class. They have snappy costumes of exotic, large-patterned chintz, with overalls and blue shoes and big straw "farmerette" hats. Their opening dance is a vivid piece of merry movement.

Mary (Sophia Yeotes) is a dainty little lady in a demure gown of orchid tulle, with orchid poke bonnet and long white pantalettes. She is accompanied by a big, wooly white dog, and she has a capricious, carefree, light-footed little dance that is very alluring. When she comes in later, she scolds in dainty pantomime and then falls asleep, with her flowers, under the soothing influence of the soft Zephyr Breeze, which is simulated by a group of soft-footed maidens in the loveliest gowns imaginable. They are filmy chiffon frocks of pastel tints and they do a weaving, fairy-like dance with long, light veils of colored chiffon. These are members of the Senior Dancing Class.

Graceful visitors to the garden are the golden, striped butterflies, with transparent, veil-like wings. They flit about among the flowers, sipping honey. Members of the Junior Dancing Class do the pretty dance by these dainty creatures.

The effect of this presentation of the Summer Garden and its flowers and visitors is indescribably lovely. Under the soft lights the pretty dancing figures come and go in their lovely costumes, like an animated fairy tale.

The lighting effects are well done this year and the stage presents an attractive appearance with its adornment of ferns and pink apple blossoms.

Last evening, several beautiful bouquets of flowers were presented to Miss Littlefield, and Sophia Yeotes also received a pretty bouquet after her solo dance in the garden.

The music of the evening was very satisfactory and well played by the Misses Musa Cox and Irene Foster, pianists, Arnold Spencer, violinist, and Wilson Dunlop, drums and traps.

The Pageant will be repeated this evening at the Opera House.

NO MEDICINE LIKE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a Mother Has Used Them She Will Use Nothing Else.

To once use Baby's Own Tablets is to use them continually—that is as long as there are young children in the home. That is the testimony given us by mothers from all parts of Canada. They all say that they know of nothing to equal the Tablets, that they find them safe and efficient and at the same time pleasant to take.

Mrs. John Hollinworth, Maidstone, Ont., writes:—"I have three children, the eldest fourteen and the youngest nine months old. I have always used Baby's Own Tablets for them and have found no other medicine to equal the Tablets as a relief for the many ailments of childhood."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. They drive out constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOST PEOPLE

Now-a-days are sufficiently informed in regard to osteopathy to know that it's the treatment par excellence in all such conditions as lame backs or stiff joints, and—

There are many who know from experience what it will do in such cases as headache, nervous diseases, or common colds, indigestion and such like ailments, but—

Out of all the millions who have come to accord to osteopathy some meed of credit, there are all too few who do really and truly appreciate that osteopathy is universal in application and unsurpassed in results. Who know—

That osteopathy is BEST for whatsoever may ail you!

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR

Obedience to the law, that governs Christian life, is not a slavish forced subordination, but is the highest form of free, filial, devoted obedience to love. "God is love." This walk in the freedom of the spirit is not of man's fallen nature, and therefore is a crossing or going contrary to that nature. Jesus said if any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me. No doubt there are many professed Christians who have not as yet come to an understanding of those words of Jesus. There is a secret connected with real Christian life, and those who would know that secret must seek for it, as for hidden treasure.

J. J. DUFFUS LIMITED SELL VERY MANY CARS

Willys-Knight With the Silent Knight Engine Takes a Big Run —Whippet Four Cylinder Sedan the Lowest Price of Any on the Market—Whippet Six Cylinder With Seven Bearing Crank Takes a Big Lead.

That the sale of these splendid new up-to-date automobiles has been beyond expectation is evidenced by the fact that this live firm of automobile dealers have sold 75 per cent. more cars to date this year than during the same period last year, notwithstanding the fact that last year's business was the largest in the history of this firm.

The wonderful Willys Knight with the Silent Knight engine, which was reduced in price this year from $2120 to $1695, is now beyond doubt the most permanent investment in motor car product, hence the reason for its unprecedented sale. One demonstration is sufficient to prove this contention.

The new Six cylinder Whippet with Seven Bearing Crank Shaft has become extremely popular amongst those who are critical in their desire to own a smooth running automobile at a very moderate price.

The Four cylinder Sedan being the Lowest Priced car on the market, has with the addition of the other body types, resulted in a tremendous volume of new business.

J. J. Duffus Limited report that their Repair Department, Paint Shop, Battery Service, Upholstering, Top Repairing, etc., has far exceeded that of any other year. The same applies to the wonderful sale of the famous Seiberling All-Tread Tires, for which they are exclusive dealers, and which, notwithstanding their marvellous construction, sell for the same price as ordinary tires.

This organization is very proud of its accomplishments, and indeed it is a great credit to this city and community, which has gone a long way in impressing tourists with the importance of Peterborough.

WEDDING BELLS

HILL—STARR.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at George Street United Parsonage on Wednesday, May 8th, by the Rev. Todd, when Florence Beatrice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Starr, Little Britain, became the bride of Richard Thomas Hill, son of the late C. Hill and Mrs. Riel of Lakefield.

They were attended by the sister and brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Booth. The bride looked lovely in a dress of powder blue satin, trimmed with grey, and wore shoes and stockings to match. Her coat was of navy and she wore a small blue hat.

After the ceremony they left for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Booth, Townsend Street, where supper was served. Later in the evening a shower and dance, with dainty refreshments, was held at the home of the groom in Lakefield.

They received many beautiful and costly presents, showing the esteem in which the young couple were held.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will reside in Lakefield.

BORN

LADY DRIVERS ARE IN CRASH

Two Automobiles Collide On Charlotte Street Near Clinic.

Two lady drivers figured in the somewhat serious motor car accident which occurred on Charlotte street, near the clinic at 4.10 Friday afternoon. One was just starting her car away from the south curb when the second, driving east noticed the first car turning out but too late, to avoid the crash. The faster travelling car suffered a damaged right front fender axle and bumper but the other fared not so well. It was damaged to the extent of a left front fender, running board, axle, skirting and stearing gear and was driven against a third car which suffered a damaged fender also.

PREVENTION

The tendency of modern times is to so order our lives that we avoid difficulties. However, many people make the grave mistake of giving little care to their physical well-being until sickness overtakes them. Most of the more serious diseases could be avoided if proper care were taken at their onset. It is well worth while trying to conserve health while you have it. A little daily thought and care of your body will do much towards helping you keep healthy.

ENERGY

from the brain distributed through the nervous system produces activity of the body. Upon this energy depend both the voluntary and involuntary functions. Any interruption in the flow of this vital force between the brain and tissue cells results in weakness and disease. Pain and discomfort are danger signals. You should heed them and strive to remove their cause.

CHIROPRACTIC

offers a scientific and logical means to aid you in keeping well. Spinal manipulative treatments relax constricted muscles, correct derangement of joints and free nerves of irritation and pressure, thus providing for a natural distribution of life-giving energy to all parts of the body.

ORVAL SHAW CAPTURED IN SKUNK'S MISERY

LIGHTING RATES ARE REDUCED

NEWS IN BRIEF
(By Canadian Press)

KILLED BY TRAIN.

WHITBY, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press).— Gerald B. Russell, son of J. E. Russell, Toronto, president of the Russell Construction Company, Limited, Toronto, was instantly killed yesterday when he was struck by a Canadian National Railway passenger train on the east-bound run from Toronto to Montreal.

DETACH PART OF DIOCESE.

LONDON, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press). — A proposal to detach Essex, Kent, and Lambton Counties from the Diocese of Huron to form New St. Clair Diocese, with a $1,500,000 cathedral in Windsor is mooted for consideration at the Anglican Synod of Huron this week.

CANON FLANAGAN DEAD.

MONTREAL, Que., May 13 (Canadian Press) — Rev. Canon James Luther Flanagan, rector of the Church of the Ascension, Park Avenue, and one of the most prominent clergymen of Montreal, died here yesterday. A daughter flew here from New York, but arrived after her father's death.

REFUSES TO MAKE STATEMENT

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14.—Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, declined this morning to comment on a published report of the alleged discovery at Petawawa Camp, Ont., of a new explosive, said to be more effective than any previously known to science. "I have no statement whatever to make," Col. Ralston declared when questioned as to the correctness of the report, the name of the new substance, the use to which the explosive might be put, and the name of the discoverer.

TWO BELIEVED DROWNED

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 13 —Harry Leigh, 40, station master at Desbarats, and his son Arthur, 18, are believed to have been drowned when their canoe overturned in the St. Mary's River yesterday. No trace has yet been found of the bodies, but a search party to-day found their canoe floating upside down near Dawson Island. A cap belonging to the younger Leigh was also found.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

LONDON, Ont., May 13.—Following injuries received when his automobile was struck by a Canadian Pacific freight at the crossing in the Ontario Hospital grounds last night, David Gibson, employee at the Ontario Hospital, died in the Victoria Hospital this morning. An inquest will be held.

WANTS PLAN DISCUSSED

TORONTO, Ont., May 13. — No definite plans have been arrived at by Premier Ferguson in connection with his proposed modification of two years' university training in the high schools of the province.

"We have merely the basis for the general scheme," said Premier Ferguson. "We want the public and the school boards to discuss it and express their views on the subject."

PLAYERS SOLD OUTRIGHT.

MONTREAL, Que., May 13. (C.P.) —It was announced at the offices of the Canadian Hockey Club to-day that Herb Gardiner, veteran defence man, Art Gagne, regular right winger, and George Patterson, sub right winger, had been sold outright to the Boston Bruins. The purchase price was not announced.

REFUSES TO REVIEW CASE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 13. — (C.P.) — The Supreme Court to-day refused to review its recent decision regulating the crossing of the border by quota aliens residing in Canada, who desire to enter without passport visas in search of work.

Power Cost To City Less

Commercial Lighting Rate Reduced 18 Per Cent. and Domestic 12½.

$25,000 SAVING.

Interim Cost To Commission Is Reduced From $32 to $30 Per H.P.

Attributable in a large measure to representations made by the local Utilities Commission to the Hydro, following a considerable reduction in the cost of power to the local body, the Ontario Commission has suggested reductions of 18 per cent. in commercial and 12½ per cent. in domestic lighting rates for the city of Peterborough. These suggestions will be adopted by the Utilities Commission at the next regular billing.

The above announcement was made at a special meeting of the local Commissioners this afternoon. To The Examiner it was explained that due to a change in the interim rate the city body now pays $30.00 a horse-power instead of $32.00 as in former years, so that the change in rates to the consumers of both commercial and domestic lighting has been made possible. This represents a decrease in revenue to the Peterborough Utilities Commission of approximately $25,000.00.

Following is a comparison of the old and new lighting rates:

Domestic Rate

Service Charge—New rate:33c for 2 wire and 66c for 3 wire. Old rate: 33c per month.

Consumption Charge—New rate: 2.5c

ROTARY HEARS OF CONFERENCE HELD AT ERIE

President Morris Gives Interesting Resume of Principal Features of Gathering.

AMUSING STORIES.

Rotarian Jim Juby Brings Back a Fund of Anecdotes From Convention.

An informative resume of the principal features at the recent Rotary district conference at Erie, Pa., by President W. R. Morris, and a repetition by Rotarian James Juby of some of the many funny stories told at that conference, featured to-day's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club.

Another feature was the presence of Eddie Otter of Toronto, who is here in connection with the Y.M.C.A. campaign, and made an eloquent appeal for Rotarians support for the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Otter stressed the fact that the institution had the equipment, program and leadership necessary to do good service in the four-fold development of Peterborough boys, and called especial attention to the financial report which showed that 70 per cent. of every dollar spent was raised within the Y.M.C.A.

Rotarian George A. Gillespie, member of the Y.M.C.A. Board, endorsed the appeal and declared that he had found citizens more willing each year to contribute to the support of the institution.

A new member was introduced to the Rotary Club to-day in the person of Elmer Metcalfe, the honor being done by Rotarian Jack Gillespie.

Visitors to-day included Rotarians ex-Mayor Charlie Clements of Chatham, William Ballantyne and Eddie

Jack Parks Wants To Face Local Charge Before Taken To Portsmouth To Serve Time

WINDSOR, Ont., May 13. (C.P.) — Jack Parks, 28, of Otterville, wants to go on trial for his Peterborough jail breaking enterprise, before he is sent to Portsmouth to start a five year term imposed here last week for the theft of an automobile.

This is the opinion to-day of the local authorities who suspect that Parks entertains a belief that a possible sentence for the Peterborough offense would run concurrently with the local term.

Meanwhile Parks, while not defiant, is maintaining a stolid silence, although he now is eating his meals regularly after his nine day hunger strike. He has not signed his release waiver, which would make his immediate transfer to Portsmouth necessary, but intimated on admittance to the Essex County jail at Sandwich that he would remain there for the thirty day period allowed any long term prisoner for registration of an appeal

INJUNCTION ISSUED BY COURT OPENING BAPTIST UNIVERSITY; ORDER OF BOARD IS SET ASIDE

Dr. Shields Says Marks Received By Students Will Not Be Recognized.

UNREST IN CHURCH.

Saturday Night Attack Claimed To Be Aftermath of Discord Among Students.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13. — (By the Canadian Press.) —Des Moines University is re-opening against the wishes of the trustees, Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said to-day when informed that the District Court had issued an injunction restraining the invocation of the order of the Board closing the university.

Dr. Shields said all marks received by the students who attend the classes in disobedience of the Board's order would not be recognized by the trustees.

"Under the circumstances, the Board of Trustees could do nothing else but close the university temporarily,' Dr. Shields said, "With the police standing by, the Board was called to meet and the order suspending classes duly promulgated and conveyed to Dr. H. C. Wayman, President of the University."

Asked what action the Board would take in view of the injunction, Dr. Shields said: "We just leave it at that, and await developments." He said he told Dr. Wayman before he left the Board was quite prepared to continue classes till June so that students could receive proper credits.

The whole matter would be discussed by the Board at Buffalo tomorrow, he said. The meeting would be informal, although all members would be present. Under the constitution of the University, he said the Board could not meet regularly outside the State of Iowa.

DES MOINES, May 13 (C.P.).—Des Moines University, its walls splashed by eggs hurled during a student outbreak Saturday, will remain closed, one trustee said to-day, until the students "experience a change of mind from their rotten egg and broken glass state."

Dr. T. T. Shields, Toronto, 61-year-old president of the board of trustees, left town under police protection following the outbreak, being hustled aboard an eastbound train even as students swarmed about the railroad station seeking him. Only a few hours before, the board in charge of the Baptist institution's affairs had ended a lengthy session, during which they listened to and found to be without foundation charges of alleged indiscretions on the part of Dr. Shields.

The demonstration revealed another cause of student unrest which previously had been variously attributed between fundamentalists and modernists, and to the rumors, found groundless by the board, concerning Dr. Shields. The Saturday night attack was seen by Dean Arthur E. Bennett of the College of education as the aftermath of discord that followed a Washington's birthday celebration in 1928.

Reflection on British

At that time, Dean Bennett said, "A gentleman from England was brought to the University to speak. Exception was taken by the Englishman, Dean Bennett said, to patriotic songs sung at the dinner, the Englishman regarding them as a reflection upon the British. The dean went on to say that some of the Canadian students had failed to stand at chapel last Friday during the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

A feeling has crept through the school, Bennett stated, that some Canadian students "didn't like our country and our flag."

Miss Edith Rebman, secretary of the board, stated: "The board hopes that the proposed complete reorgan-

CORONER'S JURY BLAMES FATHER

Child Dies in Hospital As a Result of Wounds Received On Head.

NO DIRECT EVIDENCE.

MONTREAL, Que., May 13.—(C.P.) —Henri Roy, Verdun baker, was today held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the death of his eight-months old daughter Laurisse, who died last night in hospital from the effects of wounds on her head said to have been inflicted by the father during a fit of dementia yesterday morning in the family home on Church Avenue, Verdun. At the inquest to-day, while there was no direct evidence against him, the jury adopted a verdict of criminal responsibility against the father.

The mother and four other children were also similarly attacked and two of the children are in serious condition in hospital.

Following the veredict, Coroner Prince called Roy to the stand to legally identify the body of his little daughter, at the conclusion of which Roy shouted, "You will have to prove I did it."

MAN IS RE-CAPTURED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 13. (C.P.)—Elias Wehanaski, 22, a Finn, who escaped from a police officer by jumping from a train window near Thessalon, while being brought from Blind River to this city to face a charge of attempted suicide, was recaptured by the provincial officers in the bush, ten miles east of the spot where he made his escape. He was brought to this city for mental observation.

Shrubs Planted In Confederation Square

The plans for a more beautiful Confederation Square are beginning to take form and show their effect. Neat rows of small Evergreen shrubs have been placed along the paths and in front of the war memorial. The green plants form a beautiful base and background for the memorial and have the effect of relieving its former austere appearance.

The new sod has been seeded and carefully rolled, with every expectation of having splendid lawns this summer.

The tulips and flower beds are already taking on the appearance of vigorous life. Everything in the Square is in spick-and-span

NINETY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED

Principal R. Bruce Taylor Preaches Special Services At St. Andrew's.

THREE VIEWS OF OLD AGE.

Large Congregations Hear Speaker at Both Services Yesterday.

The congregation of St. Andrew's United Church looked backward, on Sunday, and found inspiration to carry on into the 97th year of the church's history. It was the anniversary of its organization, and through beautifully planned and executed services of hymns, prayer and sermon, inspiringly large congregations in both morning and evening, profited.

In the morning, they heard Retiring Principal R. Bruce Taylor, M.A., D.D., LL.D., of Queen's University, take a phrase from the 20th chapter of Acts, 24th verse: "So that I might finish my course with joy," and weave about it a splendidly appropriate discourse, while in the evening, many who had been present at the first service joined the evening gathering in sharing the inspiration of an equally beneficial sermon by the same speaker. Principal Taylor's sermons were possessed of that rare touch of highland humor that cheered while he taught.

zThe music, too, was of a calibre quite in keeping with the other phases of both services, with the choir, under direction of John Crane, making most valuable contributions. Their morning anthems included Bruch's "Jubilante Amen," with solo by Mrs. H. F. Doig, while Mrs. Doig also contributed a particularly wellrendered solo, "The Earth is the Lord's" (Ward-Stephens). The hymns, too,

Elusive Bandit Stages Battle With Constables

Orval Shaw, Hermit of Skunk's Misery, Who Has Defied the Police For Months, Is Finally Captured in Midst of Swamp in Kent County.

OFFICERS WERE TRACING THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE FROM ALVINSTON WHEN SHAW IS SIGHTED

Man Held At Bay Threatens To Shoot, But Constables Call His Bluff and in Battle in Which Bricks Are Hurled, Shaw Is Placed Under Arrest.

LONDON, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press). — Orval Shaw, elusive hermit of Skunk's Misery, who has defied police for months, was captured at 10.15 o'clock last night in the midst of the swamp in which he hid in Kent County after a pitched battle with two constables.

In the melee, staged beside a brick pile in almost the exact centre of Skunk's Misery, Provincial Constable Thomas Riding of London, and County Constable Northcott of Alvinston were slightly injured by the notorious fugitive as he hurled half bricks in a futile effort to stave off capture.

Shaw, wanted in more than a score of Western Ontario centres for petty thievery and the object of a province-wide chase, was tracked down by the local division of the Provincial Police, headed by Inspector H. Gardiner. A recent theft at Alvinston, ascribed to Shaw, led directly to his capture.

At first there was some doubt whether the man was Shaw, but this was dissipated when Inspector Gardiner of the Provincial Police positively identified him.

Provincial Police, tipped off early last evening that food and an automobile had been stolen from the little town of Alvinston, and recognizing Shaw's handiwork, informed the Kent county police and with P.C. Northcott and Riding, acting as chauffeur they set off on the search in two cars.

Driving along the highway, they sigted the headlights of a car coming toward them. As they approached, however, the lights disappeared, and since there was no crossroad between, their suspicions were aroused.

One car proceeded along the road as though nothing had happened, while the other drew to one side and turned out its lights. They had not long to wait. From the darkness of the wooded roadside a car was seen to emerge. It sped past them and they were forced to turn quickly in pursuit.

Even when they finally came abreast and sent him into the ditch the Skunk's Misery hermit made one more attempt to make his getaway. He jumped from his still moving machine and made for the woods.

The chauffeur was the first in pursuit. He followed the fugitive through the woods to a clearing, where stood an old deserted barn. Shaw, at bay, turned on him.

"Don't come near or I'll shoot," he cried, but the constable saw by the light of his flashlight that the threat was a bluff. Shaw was not armed.

Neither was the policeman, but he ran forward and was met by a brick which the fugitive had picked up from a nearby pile and which struck him in the side. By this time P.C. Northcott was on the scene, but before they could close he, too, had been injured by the barrage of bricks. He received a nasty gash over his eye.

Diving forward, however, the two wounded men made a rush at the fugitive, and for several moments the three grappled. All were suffering severe injuries before the fray was at an end and Shaw finally subdued.

Holding him on the ground the two policemen succeeded in placing Northcott's handcuffs on him and led him back to the road.

In the meantime the other police car had returned. It was hailed in the darkness, and the victorious officers with Ontario's famous fugitive in their midst, returned to the Middlesex County Jail where Orval Shaw was placed in a carefully guarded cell.

SIXTEEN MEN OUT AT AUBURN

Strikers Issue Denial To Statements of J. J. Southern, Plant Manager.

QUESTION OF WAGES.

An emphatic denial of the statement made by J. J. Southern, manager of the Auburn plant of the Dominion Woolens and Worsteds, in regards to the strike of the plush weavers, was given to The Examiner this morning by two of the employees who are out. The men who gave this information were W. O. Pickering and W. O. Stead.

These two men were brought out from England, according to their

BODY OF MISSING YOUTH IS FOUND IN DETROIT RIVER

Police Abandon Search For Six Boys Who Disappeared April 5.

SECOND BODY FOUND.

Chief Constable of Amherstburg Claims Two Local Boys Are in Toledo.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 13.—(Canadian Press.—The body of 17 year old Robert Lothian, of Wyandotte, Mich., believed to have been one of six youthful campers who vanished in a small boat in Detroit River near the mouth of Lake Erie six weeks ago, has been recovered, it was reported to-day by American authorities. The body was taken from the river near the Michigan shore last night and identified today at Monroe.

Search for the missing sextet had been abandoned by police of both Ontario and Michigan after persisten reports had been received that the lads had not been lost in a storm as supposed but had reached safety on the American mainland. To-day Chief of Police Henry Timmins, of Amherstburg insisted that while one of the Lothian family had been drowned and the body found, he had not been with the missing party.

Two Boys in Toledo

Chief Timmins said "the two Amherstburg boys in the party are in Toledo. Captain Fraser of this port said they were aboard his tug when he docked at Toledo last Thursday and they said that the other four members of their party had reached Detroit safely. The boy found may be Robert Lothian all right and an associate of the other six boys, but I'm confident he had not been with them when they disappeared.

The six boys were seen last in a small boat, the afternoon of April 5, in a dangerous part of the eastern channel of the Detroit River off Hickory Island, heading toward Toledo. A storm blew up a few minutes later and it was supposed they had been swept out to Lake Lake Erie and drowned.

Second Body Found

Theory of both Canadian and American police was shattered further at noon to-day by the identification of the body of a second boy which was recovered, Saturday, on the Canadian shore three miles below Amherstburg. The body is that of David Yack, 17, of Wyandotte, Mich., Amherstburg authorities re-

HEAVY RAIN STORM SWEEP CITY DURING LATE SATURDAY NIGHT

Streets Are Flooded When Miniature Cloud Bursts Over District.

STREETS FLOODED.

Downpour Reaches Proportions of Small Cyclone in Barrie District.

LITTLE DAMAGE REPORTED.

An almost unprecendented deluge of rain swept the city and district Saturday evening. Preceded by loud thundering and bright fingers of lightning that lit the dark sky in bright flashes, the rain came in downpours, beginning about 8.30. The heavy storms continued intermittently until 11 o'clock. In all 1.01 inches of rain fell. A rain of such proportions rarely falls twice in the same year, but this season we have already had four storms that have each reached over one inch of fall.

The rain came down in such volume that the drains were taxed beyond capacity. The streets were turned into small rivers and all the low land was flooded. Even in the business district the water rose so high that it ran into store basements. This was true at Payne's drug store and at several other corner stores.

City Engineer Parsons reported this morning that the water had carried much gravel and earth from the hills and deposited it on the streets at the base. But as yet he had received no complaints of severe damages being done.

The rain will further delay the seeding operations of the farmers in the district, who are already several weeks behind because of the continuous wet weather. Several men who are well acquainted with local conditions fear that the acreage sown in grain this year will be only 75 per cent of last year.

It is likely that Saturday's heavy downpour will have a damaging effect on any spring gardens that have already been planted.

Cyclone at Barrie

BARRIE, Ont., May 13 (C.P.).—Considerable damage was done here on Saturday night by an electrical storm which for a few minutes developed the proportions of a cyclone A cottage at Minett's Point was struck by lightning and destroyed. A garage in the town was picked up and carried to the next yard without damaging the automobile it sheltered, beyond a few scratches. Several chimneys were blown down and several cars were damaged. No estimate of the damage could be given last night.

Secret Of New Explosive Closely Guarded By Department of National Defence Officials

TORONTO, Ont., May 13. — (C.P.) — The secret of a new explosive, said to be more effective than any previously known to science, is being zealously guarded by the Department of National Defence.

After extensive trials at Petawawa Camp, artillery officials here refused absolutely to disclose details of the discovery. "The matter is secret and confidential," they said.

The trials at the artillery camp were witnessed by experts from the Department of National Defence and experts in the manufacture of explosives.

The officials absolutely declined to give the name of the new substance. Nor would they say to what particular use it might be put. They refused to give the name of the discoverer. It was indicated that it was the work of a Canadian.

Hon. J. R. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, is absent from Ottawa and no other member of his Department would discuss the matter when an attempt was made to get information from the capital.

French Fliers Hope To Reach Paris In Thirty Hours From New York

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 13. (C.P.) — Setting themselves a schedule of 30 hours in which to reach Paris, three French flyers hope to soar away from Roosevelt Field, R. I., within ten days in a huge single motored monoplane. If successful, the air riders, Rene Lefevre, Armeno Lotti, Jr., and Jean Assallant, would better by three hours the standing record established in 1927 by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The contemplated schedule was made known here last night on the arrival of Lotti and Assallant, who joined Lefevre to-day at the field. Lotti, financial backer of the flight, said the venture would b attempted simply out of sportsmanship.

The monoplane, a Bernard, powered with a 600 horse-power Hispano-Suiza engine, has been at Roosevelt Field, undergoing a tuning up for the past week. All is now ready for the flight, Lotti said, the Gaility tests of the plane having been made in France prior to its being brought to this country on the Leviathan last week by Lefevre

Revolt May Wreck Tariff Revision

Control Of Senate Lost

President Hoover Attempts To Convert Insurgent in Party.

HOLD BALANCE OF POWER.

Entire Legislative Program Faced Defeat in U. S. Upper House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13. — (C.P.) — Facing the possibility of defeat of his entire legislative program as a result of constantly narrowing administration of strength in the Senate, president Hoover interrupted his day of rest with an effort to bring harmony among his supporters on the hill.

He had Borah, who dismayed the administration by espousing the farm bounty project after Mr. Hoover has declared against it, in to lunch and Fess, who arraigned Borah and 12 other senators as pseudo Republicans, in to dinner. The assumption is that he tried to convert Borah and rebuked Fess, for the administration is in no position to contemplate a permanent alienation of the progressive senators, who as was demonstrated by the vote to retain the debenture provision in the farm bill, hold the balance of power in the 72nd senate as completely as they did in Mr. Coolidge's period.

The President has lost control of the Senate. He is better situated in respect to the House, where Republicans have a majority of 100. Still, the reception given the new tariff bill indicates that the Houses will require careful handling in the parliamentary struggle between the two Houses, which already looms into view.

The Real Fight.

The real fight will be over the export bounty plan, which the Senate has already adopted, thirteen Republicans voting with the Democrats against the President. It is expected that the Senate will pass the farm relief bill with the export bounty provisions included and send it to the House in the near future, perhaps to-morrow. Republican leaders are planning to have the House refuse to receive the bill, upon the ground that the Senate has no power to originate legislation involving large payments of money out of the public Treasury. Should the House return the bill to the Senate in this way, the Senate may take no further action until the tariff bill comes up from the House. Then the majority in the Senate will take the stand that, if there is to be no bounty, no tariff law will be passed.

The Weather

Although we have had three heavy down-pours of rain this season already, another one occurred on Saturday evening. A fraction over an inch (1.01) fell. The excessive rain and cool nights are hindering the work of the farmer, and he is naturally becoming anxious to get in his crop. Judging by the progress of the budding and leafing of the trees, the season is undoubtedly later than usual, but a few days of bright warm weather would speedily overtake this handicap. This morning I was told by R. T. Hounsell that yesterday he saw a ruby-breasted hummingbird as well as a yellow bunting hovering around some hyacinths in his garden on Edinburgh street.—W. P.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, May 13. (C.P.) — Pressure is high over the Great Lakes and low over the Southwest States and over the Western Province. Showers have occurred in the west, while from Ontario eastward the weather is fair with a tendency towards a little lower temperature in Ontario and Quebec.

Forecasts.

Lower Lake Region — Moderate winds, fair, a little cooler to-night. Tuesday: Easterly winds; mostly cloudy, probably followed by showers in southern counties.

Georgian Bay: Moderate Easterly winds, fair and a little cooler. Tuesday: Moderate winds, fair with stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Northern Ontario: Light to moderate winds; fair to-day and most of Tuesday; becoming a little milder on Tuesday.

Lake Superior: Easterly winds; fair. Tuesday: Fresh winds; partly cloudy and a little warmer, probably local showers.

Manitoba: Partly cloudy with scattered shower to-day and Tuesday.

Saskatchewan and Alberta: Partly cloudy with scattered showers to-day and Tuesday, becoming a little cooler on Tuesday.

BAPTIST UNIVERSITY CLOSED WHEN STUDENTS STAGE RIOT

Board of Trustees Dismisses Entire Faculty At Des Moines.

DR. SHIELDS IS PRESENT.

Students Break Up Meeting of Board and Damage Building.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 13. — (Canadian Press)—The doors of Des Moins University Baptist institution, were barred yesterday following the student riot of Saturday night, which broke up a meeting of the Board of Trustees and damaged buildings, following the ousting of the entire faculty.

Dismissal of the faculty members and the subsequent disturbance was said to have been the outgrowth of a long standing fundamentalist-modernist controversy at the institution.

Dr. Harry Wayman, president of the school, recently refused to discharge a professor against whom charges of modernistic utterances were brought and called a meeting of the Board of Trustees to consider asking the resignation of tre complainants, including Dr. T. T. Shields, Toronto, president-elect of the board.

The board Saturday upheld the complainants, however, and ousted President Wayman and his faculty.

Given Police Escort

How long the school would remain inactive was undetermined. Dr. Shields said it would be closed indefinitely. The fate of the school is expected to be decided at the meeting. Dr. Shields, accompanied by E. A. Roberts of Cleveland and E. A. Brownlee of Toronto had a police escort to the railway station.

Dr. Wayman declared yesterday that he hoped to resume classes Tuesday. The condition of the University buildings, which were bombarded with eggs and stones, Saturday night by 150 students, was such as to prevent the re-opening today. Fifty students are due to receive diplomas June 4.

Max Schimpf of New York, a member of the Board of Trustees, remained here to confer with the ousted faculty members, whose dismissals take effect June 1.

Launch New School

It was said that the professors were sponsoring a movement to launch a new school here with the idea of drawing from the student body of the present institution.

Dr. Wayman said he was undecided whether or not to accept an invitation to join the undertaking.

A riot squad of policemen was necessary to disband the group of students that stormed the board meeting Saturday night, driving the trustees to cover in a closet, defacing the wall with eggs, breaking furniture and windows and scattering records. The student body, while backing president Wayman, was said to have another grievance, due to Dr. Shield's ban on fraternities and sororities.

Resignation Requested

The meeting of the board Saturday was called to consider a request for the resignation of Dr. Shields and Miss Edith Rebman as members of the board. The meeting was said to have been instigated by Dr. Wayman, who had previously refused to follow suggestions of Dr. Shields that seven members of the faculty be discharged.

Dr. Shields was said to have held that Dean A. E. Bennett of the College of Education and Professor E. L. Grimes were guilty of indiscreet modernistic utterances. The board, instead of requesting the resignations of Miss Rebman and Dr. Shields, vindicated them and ousted

LINDSAY, May 13. — Provincial officers Purvis and Cook, who were suspended from the service pending the outcome of the charges preferred against them at Lindsay in connection with the shooting of "Pete" Brennan, near Bolsoever, in March, have been restored to their positions. Officer Purvis is stationed at Collingwood, and Officer Cook at Orillia.

SHEEP FARMERS QUITTING JOB

Men Disgusted With Trying To Rear Flocks in Northern Ontario.

WOLF MENACE INCREASING.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 13.—(Canadian Press).—Three farmers of the Leeburn area have given up their sheep-raising farms because of the ravages of wolf packs. Clifford McLeod, whose flock was attacked by wolves last week, has sold his farm, and his example is being followed by his two cousins, Herbert and Neil McLeod, who are disposing of their flocks of about 40 each to quit for good.

"The wolves are increasing" Neil McLeod says, "until last fall we had only the timber wolf to contend with but the bush wolves have arrived in large numbers. We are not so badly off as the rest of the farmers of our area, as we live in the centre of the settled section."

Mr. McLeod suggested the only way to eliminate the wolves is for the government to place five experienced men on each square mile of land in Northern Ontario for three months. The plan, however, he said, would cost the government $750,000 to keep the men on salary for three months.

BARN BURNED NEAR MARMORA

Nine Cows, Two Horses and Flock of Poultry Perish in Flames.

PARTLY INSURED.

MARMORA, May 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — Lightning struck the straw barn on the property of James Jones, Marmora Township, about 8.00 on Saturday evening during the progress of the thunderstorm which passed over this district. The building was destroyed, as well as the main barn which adjoined it. Nine cows, two horses, and a number of hens perished, but four horses and a pig were saved. Hay and grain and some of the implements and vehicles housed in the barn were destroyed. One of the horses rescued was badly burned. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

The house, although close to the barn, was not threatened by the blaze, the wind blowing in the opposite direction. This is the third barn within four years to be destroyed by fire on property owned by members of the Jones family in that section.

Lightning also struck the house and barn belonging to Mrs. Charles Barrons, situated on Lot 25, in the 1st Concession of Belmont Township and adjacent to the village of Cordova. Fortunately nothing took fire, but the telephone was wrenched from the well of the dwelling as though by unseen hands.

SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS.

WOOLER, May 13. — (Examiner Correspondence.)—Gideon Way, ex-Reeve of Murray township, and residing about five miles east of Wooler, suffered a heavy loss during the storm on Saturday night when his barn, together with its contents, was destroyed by fire as a result of having been struck by lightning.

While the full loss is as yet unknown, it is roughly estimated at between $5,000 and $6,000. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Revolt in Congress threatens to wreck the new tariff bill; Hoover works Sunday in effort to re-establish unity; dines with opposing senators, after losing control of Senate.

ODDFELLOWS ATTEND CHURCH AT KNOX UNITED

One Hundred and Tenth Anniversary of Order Celebrated By Local Encampments.

LED BY ARMY BAND.

Rev. William McDonald Takes His Text From Parable of Good Samaritan.

The Independent Order of Oddfellows held their annual church parade last evening to Knox United Church in celebration of their 110th anniversary. The ladies of the Order, the Rebekahs, were also present at the service. The members filled the main body of the church to overflowing.

Both encampments of the Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges were present, namely the Hiawatha and Mount Hebron Camps. The members of the organization met at their rooms on George Street, marshalled by Col. J. W. Miller, Past Deputy Grand Master, and were escorted to the church by the Salvation Army Band, playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

With the Rev. William McDonald in the pulpit was J. Price, Past Noble Grand Master, who read the Scripture, taking the story of the Good Samaritan as his reading from the 10th chapter of Luke, starting at the 21st verse

Rev. Mr. McDonald spoke along the lines of this parable, comparing the organization of Oddfellows to the Good Samaritan. However, before starting into his sermon he welcomed the Order to the church, saying that he considered it an honor and a privilege to welcome the members of the Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges with the Rebekahs in their annual church parade to the church in public acknowledgment to God for every blessing, and designating that the Order received its inspiration from the same source that religion received its inspiration.

The men before him, he stated, were of sterling character, united in a fraternal bond for rendering service to humanity and to brothers and sisters in need.

"While I have not the privilege of belonging to your organization," continued the minister, "I well understands its principles. Fraternal societies have much in common, and I received twenty years ago a copy of your constitution that I have studied and so I have got to know your Order and its aims and teachings.

Benevolence Leading Factor.

"Benevolence is a word that is characteristic of your organization; there are many other qualities also, but looking at you from the outside, one decides that to be the characteristic feature of the Order. That disposition to look kindly on all human beings which may be developed and enlarged until it becomes very influential.

"The parable of the Good Samaritan is characteristic of your benevolence.

"The story is well told. His men, in this parable, knew the Jericho road, its dangers and disasters, they recognized the marks of each class of persons It was the exceptional that answered the question which was put to Him by a quibbling lawyer. The Great Master walks with us in this life, not passing us by or asking who is the robber, but renders us help. The Lord Jesus Christ is the perfect impersonator of the Good Samaritan, and He was the first Oddfellow. The exception of travellers along the road of ruin, one who counted not the cost unto Himself, but Who gave aid to the sufferer. Taking this example should we not follow the way of Christ and aid the poor unfortunate victims in this world?

Always Some Leaners.

"In your organization there are some leaners, not very energetic members, but such must ever be, but I take it for granted the majority belong to those who are seeking out the higher truths and not selfish gains.

"There is a new meaning of neighborhood in this parable, the meaning in common use is often too restricted, but here it has a large and liberal significance; it does not signify nearness, but rather opportunity of ability and humanity to render help. The word has been expanded to mean the whole world. Transportation and miners' relief in England and Wales are but examples of the nearness of the world in the one sense.

"A great significance of this age is the indifference and heartlessness which suffering can be looked on and passed by, the cure for this is benevolence, taking Jesus Christ for an example. Neighborhood, in a sense, is the breaking down of partitions overthrowing the citadel of misunderstanding This meaning of neigh-

DR. SHIELDS VINDICATED

Pastor of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto, Makes Statement Regarding Riot.

BOARD ASKED TO RESIGN.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13. (C.P.).—That the riot at the University of Des Moines, Iowa, and the rumors involving his name and that of Edith M. Rebman, secretary of the board of trustees of that institution, were the outcome of a "widespread plan," laid with "devilish ingenuity," to wreck his usefulness in Christian endeavor and ruin the university, was the declaration of Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields last night, on his arrival in Toronto from the Iowa city.

Dr. Shields, pastor of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, and president of the board of trustees of the Des Moines University, which is known as a fundamentalist religious educational institution, was the storm centre at Des Moines, and with other members of the board of trustees escaped from a rabble of students and others by hiding in a darkened room and passageways.

Enjoy Esteem of Board

The trustees, at a morning meeting repudiated the rumors which blackened his name, and declared that he and the secretary enjoyed the esteemed trust of the board to a higher degree than ever before. Meanwhile students of a certain element in the university were massing outside the building where the board meetings were being held.

According to Dr. Shields the mob was composed not only of students but of other people, and did not represent the general student body of the university. The board, dealing with statements of a trend of modernism in the university, declared that every position on the staff would be considered vacant as to after June 1st, the staff members, who would keep their position after that time, could apply within the next ten days.

In some mysterious manner word of what was going on in the board meeting reached the mob, and the storm broke.

Following the riots, the university was declared closed by the board, and now so stands.

Such is the situation, which, according to Dr. Shields, was the outcome of a far-flung project—a plan, it is suggested, which did not have its being alone in Des Moines.

Apparently the trouble at the university had been brewing for some time. "But," said Dr. Shields, "the first I heard of it was a week ago last Wednesday, when I was in California. I received a telegram telling me of the situation, and immediately went there."

FURTHER TROUBLE EXPECTED

LONDON, May 11.—The possiblity of extension of trouble in the province of Khuzistan, which the Persian authorities attributed to Communistic agitation, was indicated in private messages received in London from Persia to-day.

The messages said that foreign agitators were still active at Abadan, where riots took place early this week, but added that the Persian government had the matter well in hand.

Canadian National telegraph engineers crowned a series of experiments with success on May 5 when a telephone conversation was carried on between W. D. Robb, vice-president of the C.N.R., from a train travelling from Toronto to Allandale, and W. G. Barber, general manager of the C.N. telegraphs, who was in Toronto. The layout shows: left, W. D. Rabb using the telephone from the moving train; centre, G. T. Trowhill, superintendent of C. N. wire service, plugging in on the switchboard at Toronto for messages from the train; top left, the station where the messages were received; and lower left, the small telephone set needed for train reception—arrow marking push button which rings in train. The completion of the device was due to the efforts of J. C. Burkholder, chief engineer of the C. N. telegraphs.

OBITUARY

JOSHUA MULLIGAN

The death took place on May 1st at Frobisher, Saskatchewan of Joshua Mulligan, after a short illness of pneumonia. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife (formerly Miss Lily Cathcart of Springville), one daughter, Mrs. Albert Deyell of Frobisher and one sister, Mrs. David Fallis of Fallis line, Cavan. Mr. Mulligan was a former resident of Cavan township.

MRS. AUSTIN BEST.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 13.—(Examiner Correspondence..)—Death has claimed another well known and highly respected resident, in the person of Minnie Finley, beloved wife of Austin E. Best, who departed this life on Sunday, May 5th, at her home east of the village.

Five months ago the late Mrs. Best received a paralytic stroke, since which time she has had several partial strokes. She has been a patient sufferer and although all that medical skill could do, and the care of kind, loving hands, it was of little avail. She never fully recovered. She was always bright, never complaining, but bearing her affliction with true Christian fortitude.

Her passing was peaceful and triumpant, a release from suffering and a joyous entry into rest. The late Mrs. Best was of a quiet and kind disposition and was always ready to do a kindly act or help those who needed comfort.

Mrs. Best was born in Emily township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Finley and is survived by her sorrowing husband, one stepson, Mervyn at home; three sisters, Mrs. Ethel Furry, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. John Fowler, Peterborough, and Miss Lena Finley, Emily, and two sons, William John and Harry, both of Emily.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, May 7, from the residence of Mrs. Thomas Best, with the Rev. F. Carpenter, of the United church, officiating.

There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to one who had been held in high regard in the community.

The funeral cortege wended its way to Emily Presbyterian cemetery, where the remains were tenderly laid to rest, by Messrs. Ira Gardiner, Albert Finley, Ira Lowe, George Newman, Garnet and Harry Bland.

There were many beautiful floral tributes laid on and about the casket. The flower-bearers were Melville Jones, Reginald Tate, H. C. Argue, Bruce Scott, Harry Jamieson and Chester Best.

THOMAS MACINTOSH ODDIE.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 13.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence.)—Yesterday afternoon a host of relatives and friends paid their last respects to one of the oldest residents of Burnbrae, when the funeral of the late Thomas MacIntosh Oddie was held from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. John Rannie, lot 21, con. 4, Seymour East, at two o'clock. Interment was made in Burnbrae cemetery, with service in Burnbrae church following. The reverend F. G. MacTavish, of Seymour United Church, was the officiating clergyman. He was assisted at the grave and in the church by the Reverend D. A. McKenzie, minister of Burnbrae Presbyterian church. The choir of the church waspresent and assisted in the service. The pallbearers were Malcolm Totten, Alex Hume, James Williams, William Rannie, Edward Rannie and Charles Stephens. There were a number of beautiful floral tributes Six grandsons of the late Mr. Oddie acted as flower bearers.

The laet Thomas MacIntosh Oddie was in his eighty-seventh year. He was born in Seymour township and spent his lifetime there in the pursuit of agriculture. His death came as the termination of an illness of about one month. He is survived by five sons and five daughters, Mrs. Oddie having predeceased him about two years ago.

PENSION MEN ARE HONORED

Veteran Railroaders Given Banquet Under Auspices of C. P.R. Recreation Club.

ENTERTAINING PROGRAM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 13. — A banquet was given at the Armstrong Hotel on Thursday evening, by the C. P. R. Recreation Club of Havelock, in honor of the Canadian Pacific Railway men pensioned from active service.

The guests included Veterans Robert Anderson, Isaac Barlow, John Barlow, H. F. Faulkner, James Griffith, Oron Hubel, John Howe, Fireman Haig, Daniel Kelly, Alex. Smith, Thomas Wright, all of Havelock; Albert A. Brinkmn, of Toronto; F. and A. Madden, of Peterborough, and William B. Ritchie of Toronto. Officers present included Mr. McMillan, superintendent; Mr. Grout, general superintendent; Mr. Ronaldson, master mechanic; Mr. Burpee, district passenger agent; Mr. Saunders, chief clerk, of Toronto; P. Hearne, bridge and building master; Mr. Sprout, road master, Mr. Anderson, agent of Peterborough, Mr. Wanless and many others.

The following toasts were proposed under the chairmanship of Mr. McMillan: To the King; to "C.P.R.," proposed by H. W. Roche, Havelock agent, and responded to by H. C. Grout; to "Our Club," proposed by T. P. Lancaster, and responded to by H. W. Gordon, president of the club; to "Our Guests," proposed by R. Sanderson and responded to by G. B. Burpee and J. W. Anderson; the main toast of the evening, to "the Veterans," proposed by W. Saunders and responded to by John Howe, W. B. Ritchie and Isaac Barlow.

Following this toast, Mr. Grout, on behalf of the Recreation Club, presented each veteran with a cane, bearing a silver band, suitably engraved with name and years of service with the C. P. R.

The veterans gave some very interesting accounts of happenings in the early days of their careers. The program was interspersed with Scotch character songs by E. Leggett of the C.P.R. at Locust Hill. Vocal solos were given by Professor Edwards, who also acted as pianist for the evening.

HOME—

and a happy heart

BENEATH that roof lies all that he holds dear—his pride, and his responsibility—his challenge to fate and fortune.

Tonight he approaches it with a new buoyancy in his step . . . a new light in his eye.

A weight has rolled off his mind. For today he has taken the step which will forever banish from his home and loved ones the spectre of want and privation.

Today he has assured the fruition of his plans . . . the welfare of his wife, the education of his children . . . even if he should not be spared to see them through.

Today he has invested in Life Insurance sufficient to provide completely for those who make his home the most precious spot in the world to him.

So tonight he enters, to the welcome that awaits him, with a lighter heart and a care-free mind.

CONFEDERATION SQUARE.

The beautification of Confederation Square is making splendid progress and in a few weeks this fine park will be an outstanding attraction for visitors and citizens alike.

The lawns which were built up last autumn have been newly seeded, the planting of shrubs, the construction of flower-beds round the war memorial is under way, and Confederation Square will be completely transformed when the work is finished.

In the meanwhile The Examiner would point out to citizens generally the desirability of co-operating with the parks staff by keeping off the freshly sown lawns, and to parents the necessity of impressing upon their children that shrubs and trees must be respected.

With general co-operation along this line Confederation Square will soon be a thing of beauty and a joy for ever.

THE LEGION CARNIVAL.

The carnival under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion this week promises to attract popular attention and command a full share of public patronage.

As an event that offers many novel features and opportunities for amusement and entertainment, it is sufficient in itself to draw capacity attendances to the Legion Hall, but beyond the mere recreation side is the fact that support for the carnival means a helping hand for the Legion itself and for the splendid work it carries on on behalf of ex-service men and their families and the dependents of those comrades who did not come back.

The war has never been over so far as the Legion is concerned, for every day its officers find themselves engaged in solving problems that have arisen out of the conflict, helping men who offered themselves when the Empire was endangered, assisting in pension cases and in general fighting the cause of the ex-soldier.

In such work the public should have a consistent interest, for the Legion exists to see that the promises so lavishly made when the war drums were beating are as far as possible implemented, and that citizen-soldiers who risked everything in the time of national peril are given fair treatment.

A liberal patronage for this week's big event will be of invaluable assistance, and The Examiner commends the carnival as worthy of the enthusiastic support of the citizens generally.

CANADA'S NATIONAL PARKS.

That Canadians are to some extent at least beginning to make the slogan, "See Canada First," mean something is evidenced by the annual report of the Commissioner of National Parks, which shows a decided increase in the number of Canadian visitors to these beauty spots.

Foreign visitors have in the past frequently commented upon the fact that the people of Canada apparently did not realize the outstanding character of their own great possessions.

The conditions are changing, however, and the coming of the motor car and the building of suitable highways have given Canadians a chance to take possession of their own country.

The result is that the Commissioner's report for last year shows that motor registrations in the fine mountain parks accessible by highway consisted of 87 per cent Canadian cars and about 13 per cent. from foreign countries.

On the other hand, long distance travel by rail appears still to show a majority drawn from outside countries.

Thus in Jasper Park, where the railway still provides the only means of access travel, showed 42 per cent. Canadians, 52 per cent. United States citizens and 6 per cent. from other countries.

Altogether Canada's national parks last year attracted 359,582 visitors, of which 268,362 came by motor.

This widespread interest in national parks, the report truly points out, reveals the awakening of a new consciousness, the development of a national pride in the beauty of the country, and a recognition of the value of these great public reservations.

THE TENDENCY OF TAXATION.

In a study of taxation in Canada, Australia, Great Britain and the United States, the Citizens' Research Institute gives some unusual statistics that are of general interest.

While they are not intended as a comparison of the tax burdens of these countries, but rather to show the trend of taxation, it should be of some comfort to Canadians to know that their per capita taxation is less than that of the other three countries.

The combined federal, provincial and municipal per capita tax in Canada for 1927 was $70.67, as compared with $72.52 in Australia, $76.74 in the United States and $90.37 in Great Britain.

Comparing the figures for 1927 with those for 1925 and 1923, it is seen that the total taxation, both in amount and per capita, has increased considerably in Australia, Canada and the United States, while, on the other hand, Great Britain shows a decrease.

The largest indicate increase was in the United States and the second largest in Canada, and in both cases this increase was caused nearly altogether by greater state and municipal taxation.

Australia's increase, on the contrary, was due mainly to increased state and federal demands, while the decrease in Great Britain is attributed to decreased taxation by the national Government.

From this data it is the conclusion of the institute that taxation levied by the national Government in the countries under review should remain at or near the present level or recede somewhat, but that provincial, state and municipal taxation will continue to show an upward tendency.

If, however, the revenue of such increased taxation is spent on the development of the country and leads to increased production, that is if the Governments are efficient, no increased burden will be placed on the backs of the taxpayers thereby.

THE FINEST CAPITAL.

In a recent address, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King appealed for the co-operation of all parties and all classes in developing Ottawa as the world's finest capital.

Mr. King's appeal will meet with general appreciation. No capital has finer natural advantages than our own. Its situation is beautiful and unique. It possesses all the fundamentals necessary to the fashioning of a centre of government that will be without a peer in any country.

The subject to which Mr. King has referred is above and beyond all party considerations. It is a national matter and one in which every forward-looking Canadian who is proud of his country should be seriously concerned. It is not for the people of Ottawa that Mr. King is appealing; it is for and to the people of all Canada. Ottawa is the centre of all our federal activities. It is the heart of the Dominion. It is the symbol of our nationhood. It is the spot on which our laws are made, upon which our government functions and at which every decision of interest to the Canadian people must be made.

It is said of the present Prime Minister—not by himself, but by others—that he has taken a greater interest in the beautification and general improvement of the capital than was taken by any of his predecessors. There are many indications that this is the case, and the Star sincerely hopes that Mr. King's splendid efforts along this line will never slacken; rather that under his able leadership the Ottawa improvement program will go on to lengths never dreamed of. The opportunities are all there; it is merely a matter of taking advantage of them. The Premier wants to make of Ottawa a capital that will bring the greatest possible amount of credit to this country, a capital that will be the pride of every Canadian, a capital that every Canadian will desire to visit and examine. To that end he has given much time and thought to improvement plans and the efforts of the Government, assisted by the civic authorities, are now being directed along lines that must produce agreeable results.

Ottawa is not an industrial city, nor is it likely to be. It is essentially a seat of government and must be viewed in this way. This means, of course, that most of the money for its improvement will have to come from the federal treasury. The Star believes, in this connection, that the people of Canada will be genuinely behind their Governments in making suitable appropriations for capital work. Already much has been accomplished, but the big program Mr. King has in mind is only starting. A large and greatly-needed addition to the Chateau Laurier, a Government-owned hotel, is just being completed. The Chateau Laurier is one of the world's finest hostelries, a credit to the capital and to Canada. Rising some blocks west from the Chateau is the new Confederation building, a Government office structure named in honor of Canada's recent jubilee. It will follow, it is said, the architectural lines of the Chateau and will thus make a beautiful addition to the Parliament Hill area, including the magnificent new Parliament building. In the immediate vicinity, also, old and unsightly landmarks are coming down. Gradually they will be replaced by either new Government buildings of an appropriate type, or park spaces. Great Britain, the United States, France and Japan—to all of which we send accredited representatives—are expected to eventually erect buildings of their own in the parliamentary area, and it may be that Wellington street, which now fronts the Parliament buildings, may eventually be called Embassy Row. This has been suggested and the idea is rather a pleasing one.

The Star would like to see more Canadians visiting their capital. Such a visit is always an inspiration. It is worth while. It makes one more proud than ever to be a Canadian. It is interesting, it is instructive. Both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific, this paper believes, should run cheap excursions to Ottawa from all parts of the Dominion, some of them in the winter or spring months when Parliament is sitting, others in the summer when lawns are green and the Gatineau hills form a glorious background for one of the world's finest landscapes.

Particularly should children and young people be encouraged to see their capital, to explore its wonders and its mysteries, the Mint and the Victoria museum and the national art gallery, the experimental farms, the various Government departments, the halls of Parliament itself, the Rideau Canal, the Ottawa River, the falls of the Chaudiere, the great pulp and paper mills on the Quebec shore—these and countless other sights.

Every visitor will be a better Canadian for having seen his capital. He will be proud, he will be inspired, he will have a finer conception of the great country in which he must play his part.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Y.M.C.A. appeal for public support is based on public service and desires on that account to succeed. public service and deserves on that account to succeed.

A Thought

THE TONGUE.

Our expression of thought is spoken through the great mechanism of the human tongue. God gave to man the power of speech and the art of conversation with this same tongue.

It has been said, "We oft times talk twice as much as we think—whereas we should think twice as much as we talk." But the "untamed" tongue of an evil man, wagging hither and thither, with great outbursts of temper, makes a most vivid picture of an unharnessed tongue.

But the same "tamed" tongue, guarded by the vibrations from the soul of a Christian man or woman, exalting kind words of Love, comfort and compassion to those in sickness, trouble and distress makes another picture of the harnessed tongue.

Such a comparison! The "untamed" tongue, governed by the Satanic Power of the world—the "tamed" tongue, ruled by the great High Power from above—Singing Praises to God—Peace on Earth, Goodwill Towards Men.

Why We Do What We Do.

Why We Observe Mother's Day

By Mehran K. Thompson, Ph. D.
Author of the Springs of Human Action

Mother's Day has come to be quite an institution in this country. The fact that is has taken hold so effectively throughout the country shows that we have a high regard for our mothers.

Home and mother are two of the most sacred words in our language. No one dare speak disrespectfully of either. Every man is ready to fight the one who casts a slur on his mother. This speaks well for the motherhood of the land. The mothers have earned this exalted place by their own love and devotion and sacrifices.

So strong is our regard for home and mother that we vigorously applaud any effort to pay it a compliment. Vaudeville and stage artists have not been slow to capitalize this sentiment. Mammy songs and sketches are popular. This sentiment is in a class with patriotism. A song of home and mother is like waving the Canadian flag.

Mother's Day is not only a tribute to our love and respect for mother. It is also the occasion for doing something especially nice to show our appreciation. Mothers are so everlastingly patient that it is not the hardest thing to take them for granted and to forget to give them the many courtesies that we offer a stranger. If a boy has two letters to write he is likely to write to his sweetheart first. He may be slow in writing to his mother because he knows she won't quit him.

The really remarkable thing about our attitude towards mothers is that it is purely a sentiment and not an instinct. The love of a mother or father for the offspring is prompted by the parental instinct, the strongest in the whole list of instincts. A parent can't help loving his own child.

There is no instinct on the part of the child for loving his parents. Most children do love their parents. But it is purely a sentiment. This is why there is such variation. While some love their fathers and mothers intensely others love them not quite so intensely, and it is not at all uncommon to find children who actually hate their parents.

Everything depends on the type of sentiment the parents have built up. Custom, training, religion, social pressure are all on the side of home and mother. Mother's Day is popular because it appeals to the greatest sentiment of the human heart.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

AUSTRALIA MAKES PROTEST

LONDON, May 11 — A protest against the reparations compromise proposal of Owen D. Young has been cabled by Premier Bruce of Australia to Premier Baldwin in London.

Premier Bruce expressed vigorous opposition to any plan to exclude the Dominions from claims against Germany and approved the recent announcement of Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that the American's plan was inacceptable to Great Britain.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

But the moments were racing by; when Anthony glanced at his watch it was nearly midnight.

"Ana, I shall have to go."

It was as if someone had thrown a live bomb into Ana's Paradise. She disengaged herself from his arms and stood up stiffly, the colour dying from her face, her lips cold.

"Go?—it can't be very late."

"It's nearly twelve."

They looked at one another silently, the same thought in both their minds, then Ana said in a shaken voice:

"If this had been—that other night—you wouldn't have left me, Anthony."

She did not want to say it. She had made up her mind to be so strong and brave, and yet, now the moment had come for him to go, all her defences were down, leaving her shivering and terrified.

This was their good-bye—in a few days' time there would be miles of sea between them. How could one be happy and go on pretending?

She met his eyes, and, suddenly ashamed, she hid her burning face in her hands.

"Go away—please go now before I make a greater fool of myself and say something we shall both be sorry for," she whispered.

He knelt down beside her, gathering her closely to him.

"Ask me to stay, Ana—let me stay——"

"No, no——"

"We may never meet again, and we love each other."

It seemed to Ana that she argued out the whole of her life during the few seconds that followed. Why not? Nobody would know. And it would be a memory, a sweet, indestructible memory to take with her down the empty years. Just to belong to each other once—just to snatch at this last chance of happiness.

She drew a little away from him, looking into his face, white and broken up with passion. He looked so young—years younger than she had ever seen him, and strangely like the little General.

The General——

"He saves us every time," Ana thought desolately. "The General always seems to step in like the brave little soldier he wants to be, to save us."

"No, no, no!" she said, white-lipped.

Anthony answered, she hadly knew what—begging, imploring—there were moments of madness, of kisses and broken words, of his arms around her and of his lips upon hers.

"Things will never end happily for me," was the thought that went through and through Ana's mind like a jeering voice. "No happy ending—no happy ending——"

When he left her she was hardly conscious of it; she was blind and deaf to everything save her own unbearable anguish.

One moment he was with her, holding her to his heart, and the next she was alone.

"Did God know what loneliness was like?" Ana asked herself wildly, as she crumpled up and fell fainting to the floor.

The General shifted his lame leg a little on the warm sand and looked up at Ana.

"Was Canute a soldier?" he asked interestedly.

Ana glanced up from the magazine on her knee.

"He was a king," she answered.

The General sighed; sometimes he found even Ana curiously lacking in understanding.

"Can't a king be a soldier?" he asked patiently.

Ana smiled.

"I suppose so. Yes, of course. Why do you ask?"

"If he was a soldier," the General said scornfully, "I can't think why he didn't build a fort and keep the sea back if he wanted it back."

"Perhaps there wouldn't have been time," Ana explained rather helplessly. "The sea is one of the strongest things in the world, you know—nobody can keep it back if it doesn't wish to be kept back."

The General considered the question.

"What are the other strongest things in the world?" he asked.

Ana sighed.

"Oh, I don't know—Fate, I suppose, and storms——"

"What is Fate?"

Ana looked out over the sea.

"Fate is something which keeps you away from everything you want most in life," she said impulsively.

"Is it a soldier?" the General inquired anxiously. He thought that all the great powers must be soldiers.

"If it is, it's an enemy soldier," Ana told him.

"Oh!"

There was a little silence, then he said excitedly: "The tide's coming in. I knew it was." He dragged himself a little farther from her to a spot where he had built a weird-looking castle of sand and rock with an enormous trench around it into which the sea was now gently lapping.

He had brought his Seventh Hussars down to the sands with him and had arranged them in stiff lines facing the sea.

"They will keep the water back," he shouted excitedly to Ana. "Canute ought to have brought his soldiers down to keep the sea back."

Ana watched him with wistful amusement.

A lame boy and an army of tin soldiers trying to keep back one of the greatest forces in the world. It seemed somehow prophetic of what she herself had been trying to do for the past ten months since Anthony Hambledon went away.

Ten months! Looking back it seemed more like ten years, and yet—she had but to close her eyes and visualize his face for it to feel as if only yesterday he had held her in his arms.

So much had happened since then, and yet so little that really mattered.

She had not seen Anthony again before he sailed, but he had written to her once—a letter to which she had not replied.

What was the use? She had nothing to say to him except "I love you," and that she might not say.

She had stayed on at the hotel in London, trying in a half-hearted sort of way to get work.

The First Prayer had been kind to her—how kind Ana only realized afterward—and Drake and his sister had both done their best to help her make something out of a life which she knew quite well could never again really be anything unless—But beyond that she dared not go even in her thoughts.

Then one day Mollie came to see her; a Mollie full of distress.

Old Ellen had died, and there was nobody to look after the General. She had tried and tried to get someone suitable, she told Ana with floods of irritable tears, but it was no use. The General would take to none of them—he had even slapped one girl's face.

"Slapped it hard!" Mollie reiterated. "And she was quite a nice girl and was ever so kind to him. I never have any luck!" she sobbed. "I think it's most selfish of Anthony to have gone away.

and left me with all this worry."

Ana had to bite her lips to keep back the indignant retort that rose to them. Anthony selfish!

"If there is anything I can do for you," she said in a hard little voice.

Mollie's tears dried as if by magic.

"Will you? Oh, you are an angel. If you'll come and stay with me just for a little while till I'm suited. I'm bound to get someone sooner or later, and the General loves you. He's much better, too, and they say he will be able to drag himself about a little before long." This had been in January, and Ana had gone down to Lyme, and been there ever since.

After the first few days Mollie had given up all pretence of "looking for someone."

"You're wonderful, the way you manage him," she told Ana a dozen times a day. "And he's getting so much better. When I wrote to Anthony last week I told him you'd done more for the General than all the doctors and nurses put together."

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

TUESDAY, MAY, 14, 1929

Benefic aspects seem to dominate in planetary government today, according to astrology. Adverse influences are indicated.

The early hours are auspicious for dealings with banks and brokerage firms. Conservative policies should rule in all transactions.

Those who borrow and those who lend are well directed at this time when co-operative enterprises make strong appeal and steady progress.

It should be a lucky day for traveling by airplane and it is indicated that the summer will show record figures for aerial navigation.

Inventors are to achieve success in safeguarding life for all sorts of air navigation, it is foretold. An American will gain fame by a Yankee contraption that removes fear from all who would journey among the clouds.

Under this sway the mind should be keen and alert, creative and logical. It is an auspicious day for brainworkers.

Colleges and schools should benefit today which inclines persons to appreciate intellectual aspirations and to make the most of educational opportunities.

All the signs seem to presage for American youth such a preponderance of high attainment as the country has not produced in previous years.

Sons of millionaires are to use wealth wisely in aiding world progress, it is foretold, and few will waste their money in foolish waste.

As the pendulum turns back materialism will be succeeded by idealism of a practical sort, the seers prophesy.

The moon today is in a sign making courage, initiative and increase of physical energy.

Next month is to bring to England problems of moment. Communism will spread rapidly in the British Isles, if the stars are rightly interpreted.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of changes that will be beneficial. Good fortune is indicated.

Children born on this day probably will enjoy success in life. They are likely to be headstrong and determined, but generous, able to lead and fitted to attain authority.

G. D. Fahrenheit, physicst, was born on this date, 1686. Timothy Dwight, 1752, president of Yale University from 1795 to 1817 also claimed this as his birthday.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PICNIC

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Uncle Wiggily sat on a stump in the woods at a place where two roads met, and crossed in the shape of the letter X. The rabbit gentleman had a basket which he had set down on some green moss around the stump. Pretty soon along came walking Mr. Twistytail, a fat pig gentleman who, when he saw Uncle Wiggily, cried out:

"Hello! Where are you going?"

"I am going to a picnic," answered Mr. Longears.

"Going to a picnic!" grunted the pig. "Well, I should think you were already at a good place for a picnic, here in these lovely woods, with a stump for a table and also for a chair. And you have your basket of lunch with you, also, I see."

"Yes," answered Uncle Wiggily, looking down at the basket. "I have my lunch. But I am not going to have my picnic here. I am going to the city before I eat."

He called goodbye to his fat friend.

"To the city!" squealed Mr. Twistytail in surprise. "Whatever are you going there for? I thought you liked it here in our quiet woods."

"So I do," replied Mr. Longears. "But I must have adventures and see new things in life and so I decided that I would go to the nearest city and see what might happen there."

"Plenty will happen!" grunted the fat pig. "Plenty! Why, goodness sakes alive! I was in the city once, when noise and the smoke and everybody being in a hurry I was never so glad in all my life to get back to my quiet pen in the country."

"Yes, I've heard that the city is a busy place," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I am going there just the same. I may have some new and surprising adventures."

"Oh, you will!" cried Mr. Twistytail. "You will! No doubt of it. I only hope nothing bad happens to you."

"I'll take care of myself," said Uncle Wiggily with confident like calm. "I suppose I could find plenty to eat in the city for my picnic lunch, but my wife and Nurse Jane thought I had better take a basket along for the first day. So I did."

"Perhaps it will be best," agreed the pig. "But do you know anybody in the city, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, yes," answered Mr. Longears. "I have a sort of second cousin there who works in a pet shop. His name is Let—Cousin Let."

"Let," repeated Mr. Twistytail, "that seems a queer name."

"It's short for Lettuce," explained Mr. Longears. "You see in the city they're always in a hurry so they have short names."

"Oh, I see," grunted the pig. "Well, I'm sure I hope you have a good time on your city picnic when you go to visit your Cousin Lettuce. Tell me about it when you come back."

"I shall, thank you," answered Uncle Wiggily. And then, having rested himself on the stump at the crossroads, he took up his basket of lunch and hopped along toward the city, calling good-bye to his fat friend the pig.

After a while the trees of the woods became fewer and fewer, and there were not so many green fields. Houses became more plentiful, and Uncle Wiggily said to himself:

"I must be careful now. City children live in these houses and they don't know much about rabbits. They may try to catch me. I'll hop along near fences and go through the back streets so they won't see me. My cousin Let said the city was a dangerous place and I am beginning to believe it. But once I get to his pet shop, I shall be all right, I'm sure. Though I don't exactly know what a pet shop is."

By keeping close to fences and by going up and down back streets when he reached the city, Uncle Wiggily managed to keep out of sight of the many children and grown ups he saw going in and out of houses. But after a while he began to feel hungry for some of the good things his wife and Nurse Jane had put in the basket.

Then, all of a sudden, Mr. Longears saw a clump of trees and some green grass, right in the middle of the city. For a moment he thought perhaps he had turned around and had gone back to his own country. But after a moment he remembered that his cousin had said the city has a green park, where trees grew.

"This must be the park," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll have my picnic here." He found a little hollow in the grass near a big tree and there he sat down and opened his basket, for he was now very hungry.

All of a sudden, just as he was taking out a carrot sandwich, a voice cried:

"Hey! Keep off the grass!" and Uncle Wiggily heard some one rushing at him. But don't be worried. Nothing very serious happened.

LIGHT GAINS IN DULL SESSION

Three Stocks Only Issues To Register Definite Price Movement.

SMALL TURNOVERS.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13 (C.P.).—Even the usual market leaders were hesitant in a dull, uninteresting session on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning when City Dairy, McColl-Frontenac and Canadian Canners (second preferred) were the only stocks to make any definite price movement. Even these were of a comparatively minor character and were made in small turnovers.

International Nickel was the most active stock on the list, holding off ¼ point at 52¼. Brazilian was the other only stock to draw attention and weakened fraction to 52⅝, as did Ford to 61½, Cockshutt Plow to 43 and Massey Harris to 69.

City Dairy came out at 70, up 1¼ points, while a few shares of Canadian Canners (second preferred) changed hands 1½ points lower at 88¾. McColl-Frontenac appeared at 39½ and then broke to 37½, a loss of 1½ points.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

Solloway, Mills & Company Through

AMITY.

Amity Copper looks to be assured of at least a small rich mine. The 600-foot crosscut now beyond fault and well into similar grade ore to that on upper levels, which was shipped to Noranda and gave profit of $10.C0 per ton. Present developments warrant concentrator which would increase profit per ton. Market has not yet reflected successful development.

BALDWIN.

Additional 40 acres on strike of vein acquired by Baldwin. Drifting on two veins 5 to 7 feet wide, 300-foot level, which show much free gold. One vein on porphyry contact and other parallels short distance apart.

OIL GOSSIP

Through Solloway, Mills and Company.

HOME

Home No. 5 well to be located this week. Will be on same property as other Home wells.

HARGAL

G. S. Harrison, secretary Home Oils and director of Hargal, says drilling contract between Hargal and Imperial has been completed.

MAYLAND

Running casing at the Mayland Completed and drilling will be resumed immediately.

HOME

Important announcement regarding Home Oils expected to be made in Vancouver with next few days. Placing figure on Thursday's production of Home No. 1 at 856 barrels, this well will given revenue of $1,125,000 per year, not taking into account crude flow of about 20 barrels per day from Home No. 1 and a larger crude flow from Home No. 2. Revenue from Home No. 1 alone equivalent to about $1.45 per share on issued stock.

MERCURY

After making examination at 2,600 feet, present depth of Mercury well, geologists are delighted with prospects of well. Two Chicago financiers arrived Thursday to make personal investigation of oil situation.

UNITED—C. & E. CORP.

Two Alberta companies that seem to stand out because of their royalty possibilities in Turner Valley are United Oils and Calgary and Edmonton Corp., the latter a subsidiary of Calgary Edmonton Land. Latter has royalties on about 30,000 acres, and United will have royalties on some twenty or more wells in Home section. Some of these will pay eighth but majority a fifteenth.

HOME

Home Oil in strong position to earn and maintain dividends, suggests Montreal Financial Service. Incidentally No. 1 well is shattering all previous earnings estimates, as Calgary reports it flowed 856 barrels in recent 24-hour period. In April it produced 20,921 barrels naphtha and 268 barrels crude, which is only about 700 barrels daily.

Labor Government Defeated In Queensland

BRISBANE, Australia, May 13 (C.P.).—The Labor government, apparently in the belief of the electorate of the State of Queensland having failed to solve the pressing problems of unemployment and railway deficits in that state, sustained an overwhelming defeat in the elections decided on Saturday. The Nationalists were returned to power with 43 seats. Labor, under Premier W. MacCormack, being cut from 43 to 29 seats, and two Independents being elected. Three or four ministers and the Speaker were defeated.

LINDSLEY GROUP LEADS TRADING

Mayland Oil and Pend Oreille Also Register Gains On Standard.

GENERAL LIST STEADY.

TORONTO, May 13. (CP.) — Though Newbec, Wainwell and Ajax did much to swell the total sales, the main interest on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day was furnished by the Lindsley stocks. Mayland Oil and Pend Oreille, both moved forward in fairly active trading, Mayland selling up 1.00 to 13.00, and Pend Oreille recovering 75c to 6.25. The general list was steady with only minor changes being shown.

Falconbridge was the morning feature, when after coming out at 12.50 it climbed to a high of 14.50 with the noon quotation showing a net advance of 1.25. Sudbury was in good demand and after touching 9.45, held at 9.15, a gain of 35c, while Sherritt Gordon strengthened 5 to 8.10. Ventures had an appreciation of 50c at 10.00.

Noranda was lightly traded in and weakened 50c to 57.00 while Hollinger gained 20 to 6.90. Ajax broke to a low of 53 and at 56 indicated a net loss of 4 points, while Wainwell reacted 1 1-2c to 51 1-2c. Newbec got as high as 4 and at 61 1-2 showed a net advance of 3 1-2 points.

Grain Prices Higher On Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Ills., May 13.—(Canadian Press.)— Wheat scored early upturns in price here to-day, owing to continued unwelcome rains south-west and because of higher Liverpool quotations than expected. A decided falling off in the amount of wheat on ocean passage was shown. Starting at 3-8 to 1¼c advance, Chicago wheat later reacted from the intial top figures. Corn also was firmer, opening at ½c. off, and subsequently showing all around gains. Oats were easy. Provisions tended to advance.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 13.—(C.P.)—Foreign exchange steady; Demand rates (in cents): Great Britain 484 11-16; Canadian Dollars at 17-32 of one per cent. discount.

WHAT WILL STANDARD OF NEW JERSEY DIRECTORS DO?

NEW YORK. —Directors of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the country's largest petroleum enterprise, will meet on Wednesday for dividend action and there is much conjecture in financial circles as to what the board has in mind. Some brokerage houses have been convinced, apparently, that an increase in the rate is to be ordered. The directors have declined to discuss the subject but the interests which ordinarily are best informed on the company's affairs doubt that anything more than the regular dividend will be declared. The company's earning statement to be issued within a few days, is expected to show net earnings of close to $100,000,000.

FIRE UNDER CONTROL

WINNIPEG, Man., May 13.—After half a week of struggle against the fire-scourge in Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 700 weary flame-fighters reached out to grasp victory to-day. Forest blazes in Manitoba were either extinguished or under control, and Saskatchewan conflagrations were reported to have been balked in their progress through valuable stands of firefighters.

Shaw Is Remanded By London Magistrate

LONDON, Ont., May 13 (C.P.).—Orval Shaw, famous fugitive, captured last night by Provincial Police, appeared in County police court this morning before Magistrate Hawkshaw on a nominal charge of shop-breaking and theft. A charge of theft of a car from McCallum's garage at Glencoe on December 31, is being laid. The much wanted jail-breaker was remanded to Middlesex County jail for one week, pending the laying of various other charges against him.

FIREMEN HAVE BUSY WEEK-END

Four Alarms Were Rung In At the Fire Hall Yesterday.

NO SERIOUS DAMAGE.

The fire brigade had a busy session yesterday, being called out to attend four fires.

Fire broke out in a store room, at 155 Dublin Street, behind Fitzpatrick and Geraghty's store. The origin if the fire is unknown and the damage was slight. A boy first noticed the smoke coming from the window and rung in the alarm at 2:15 p.m.

A pail of grease was left burning behind S. Whatley's Fish and Chip store on Charlotte. The brigade was called out at 7.18 to attend this small but pungent, blaze.

At 1.59 p.m. a chimney fire at 276 William street received the attention of the firemen, chemicals being used to put out the fire.

To complete the day at 9.17 a call was answered at 62 Hunter street, east, to attend a chimney fire.

In connection with the fire at 155 Dublin street Chief Gimblett said that the alarm was pulled twice. He emphasized the fact that there was no necessity to pull the alarm a second time.

The fire hall was getting its spring cleaning this morning. Members of the day shift were busily engaged removing the old coat of whitewash from the walls of the apparatus room in preparation to putting on a fresh coat.

The clean up will likely continue on through the whole building and special care will be taken since Old Home Week is coming this year.

WILL GIVE ADDRESS.

J. W. Clarke Will Address Local Poultry Breeders At Association Meeting.

A treat is in store for the members of the local Poultry Association at their meeting to be held tomorrow evening in the Chamber of Commerce office. J. W. Clarke, one of Canada's leading poultry judges and breeders, will give the meeting a timely address on "The care of the growing chick." It can safely be expected that Mr. Clarke will have some very valuable tips to give the local poultry men.

A full turn out is expected to attend and all are advised to be on hand sharp at 8 o'clock.

MINSTREL TROUPE WILL GIVE CONCERT

Program Will Be Presented in Aid of Peterborough Male Voice Choir.

The C.G.E. Minstreals who staged a very successful entertainment a few weeks ago in the Legion Hall will again present their show to the public on Monday, May 20, in order to assist in sending the Peterborough Male Voice Choir to New York.

This splendid manifestation of a true community spirit is in keeping with the first class program which was presented by this troupe of artists for the benefit of the members of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club, and which delighted over 2,500 people in a four-night run at the Canadian Legion Hall.

The suggestion that this troupe repeat their show for the benefit of the choir met with the instant approval of every member of the cast, who feel that everything possible should be done in order to have musical competition in New York on May 24.

A feature of the minstrel show is an instrumental act in the oleo with a campfire scene as a setting which has drawn repeated applause at every showing. This number will precede the minstrel show proper at the next performance.

Tickets for this entertainment may be secured from any member of the Male Voice Choir, and is good for admission to the hall and a dance which will begin directly after the close of the performance and also for a draw on a $25 suit of clothes for men, and clothes to the value of the same amount for the women.

The music for the dance will be supplied by the C.G.E. orchestra.

CONSERVATIVES HOLD CAUCUS

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13.—Conservative Members and Senators foregathered this afternoon for an hour's caucus before the opening of the House. The new United States tariff bill is the chief matter under discussion. For the immediate present, it is improbable that the Opposition will decided to call upon the government for a declaration of the policy of the administration in view of the increases in tariff proposed by the United States against Canadian and other goods entering that country.

WEDDING BELLS

DAVIS—RUSSELL

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday afternoon, May 9th, in Havelock, when Lily Eliza Russell, daughter of Mrs. Eliza Russell and the late George Russell, of Locust Farm, Douro, was united in marriage to Robert John Franklin Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Dummer.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hugh Brown of Havelock, in the presence of the immediate friends.

The bride looked charming in a gown of rose biege georgette and French lace, with hat, shoes and hose to match and carried a bouquet of pink Columbia roses and maiden-hair fern.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party motored to the home of the bride, where supper was served to the immediate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Davis left later to spend a short honeymoon in Toronto and points West, the bride travelling in a sand and brown crepe romaine ensemble suit, and navy tricotine coat. On their return they will reside near Warsaw.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a white gold bar pin set with pearls. She also received many beautiful and useful gifts.

ROTARY HEARS OF CONFERENCE

Otter, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Speer of Dundas.

President W. R. Morris in reporting on the Erie Conference, which he had attended with Rotarian James Juby, Jack Gillespie and Elmer Metcalfe, regretted that more members of the club had not been able to get the inspiration provided by the gathering. President Morris went over the program of the Erie conference, giving a review of the remarks of the various speakers, and stressing the highlights of the different addresses in a manner that gave the club an opportunity to visualize the important features of the session. His report was thoroughly enjoyed by the members.

Rotarian James Juby amused the gathering with a recital of some of the amusing stories told by the convention speakers and urged a full attendance for the next conference, which is to be held at Niagara Falls.

Rotarian Jack Gillespie declared that his chief ojcetion to the trip was that he could never drive fast enough to suit his companions.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING? NEVER!

"And in addition to all this we give you free a beautiful etc., etc." Down the midway you can hear the hawkers yelling and you smile.

Sometimes down town at luncheon time, up an alley or at a corner lot, the old mystery packages reappear: "Here in my hand is an article of rare value." Sometimes we weaken and give up our quarter of a dollar with the others.

But have you noticed that the mysteriously sealed bargain, the little that is sold so easily and leads to a mammoth free prize, has practically disappeared from the newspaper columns? These things were all very well once upon a time, but no woman who has the responsibility for a household in her hands today will buy food, clothing, fabrics, furniture or anything of that character or anything of that character in a wrapped package which does not disclose its value until the money has been paid.

The Daily Newspaper has become a general market place of its city. Unfair products cannot endure in this atmosphere, for the advertiser must keep faith with his public and his promise; and nothing but sound products can stand the test of advertising.

DRAMATIC READER PLANNING RECITAL

Miss Viola Payton and Assisting Artist To Give Recital Tuesday Night.

Miss Viola Payton, dramatic reader, of this city will give a recital on Tuesday, May 14th, in Murray Street Baptist Church, under the auspices of the Women's Association.

The assisting artists will be Mrs. Dairy Murray Westington, of Toronto, formerly soprano soloist of George street United Church and Miss Elizabeth McKee Webber, pianist, who is a member of the teaching staff of the Conservatory of Music here.

Miss Payton has received much encouragement in her recital work. Rev. J. J. David, pastor of Queen Street United Church, Lindsay, Ont., in whose church Miss Payton gave a recital assisted by Mrs. Westington last December says "Miss Payton is an elocutionist whose versatility is most remarkable. In humor, pathos or tragedy, she has her audience in turn convulsed with laughter moved to the verge of tears, or spellbound and breathless. If applause means anything she was well rewarded."

The assisting vocalist, Mrs. Daisy Murray Westington, is well known throughout the district. Her voice is a beautiful high soprano of powerful, thrilling timbre, and her songs are given with a degree of dramatic interpretations which makes them exceptionally attractive.

SIXTEEN MEN OUT AT AUBURN

statement, about eight months ago, on a guarantee of $20 a week and the agreement has not been lived up to, they say. They also claim that they have not had a square deal, receiving only $15 a week.

Mr. Pickering gave The Examiner the following facts regarding the walk-out: "The looms ceased operations at two o'clock on Friday afternoon and have not been going since. The men are not beginners, but experienced men, including workers brought out especially for the work from England. There are sixteen men out and up to this morning not one has returned.

Question of Wages.

"It is not a question of hours, but of wages, and of fair play to those who have been brought out from England. We are going to stay out until we get what we want and that is a twelve per cent. increase," he declared. "In Oshawa they are paying twice the wage that we are getting here.

"The strike is of a peaceful nature, there is no picketing, no fuss or trouble or no union organization, but merely an organization for the occasion. Mr. Southern will not see us till we get back to work, and we will not go back to work until we have an interview with him, so things are at a deadlock. The whole thing is a question of sweated labor. They want men to work for nothing," he said.

The men who were dissatisfied called a meeting on Friday on the premises of the plant and in doing so they incurred the displeasure of the management and were asked to move, which they did peacefully without any fuss.

MOTORIST HAS CLOSE ESCAPE

H. Bradfield Meets With Accident On Corner of McDonnel and Aylmer Streets.

CAR DAMAGED.

H. Bradfield, of R.R. 10, Peterborough had his car badly damaged and an unpleasantly close escape from possible injury at the corner of McDonnel and Aylmer streets at 9:30 last night. Figuring in the smash-up was a taxi driven by Bert Cramer, for D. Dunford.

Bradfiled was driving south on Aylmer street when the taxi, after coming to a stop proceeded westward across the intersection, on McDonnel street. In the crash, the south-bound car sustained a damaged fender, running board and other scratches.

ization of the institution will make possible a new and greater Des Moines University and one more in keeping with the ideals and convictions of its constituency."

Consider Re-organization.

The re-organization, Miss Rebman explained, will be considered at the meeting of the trustees in Buffalo, which will be held in connection with the annual meeting of the Baptist Bible Union of North America.

The re-organzaton is expected to follow the plan outlined by Dr. Shields, who also is president of the Bible Union, at the time the Union took over the school two years ago. At Chicago yesterday, en route to Toronto and Buffalo, Dr. Shields said that when he and other members of the board took charge they dictated the religious policy of the school which, he said, "is Baptist and therefore funadamentalist."

Meanwhile members of the faculty, all of whom were discharged, said the students would continue to be instructed irrespective of the board's action. As the time nearer to-day for resumption of classes, however, students and faculty found the doors of the buildings barred and the campus under guard.

Storm Residence

Nearly a hundred students of Des Moines University early to-day stormed the residence of Carl Ganschow, Morris Rose, John F. Dampster and Frank Rose, all of Toronto, Canada, had been sheltered in the Parsonage since the recent outbreak of feeling on the University campus.

Members of the student body, intent on wrecking vengeance for what they term "the Canadian espionage system," supposed to have been instituted by Miss Edith M. Rebman, secretary of the boar dof trustees, surprised Rose and Dempster in front of the Ganschow home.

The Canadians fled, the police were called, and John Lund and James Dunbar, students, were arrested. Rose and Dempster identified them later at the police station as members of the group that threatened them.

Police released the two prisoners after the Canadians had refused to sign an information.

He Taught the Dumb to Speak

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell's fame, strange to say, does not rest altogether on his invention of the telephone. At a recent meeting of Telephone Pioneers that wonderful blind woman, Helen Keller, stone deaf and at one time dumb also, spoke of her memories of Alexander Graham Bell.

"You who see and hear may not realize that the teaching of speech to the deaf—even imperfect speech like mine—is one of the divinest miracles of the nineteenth century. No one did more to produce this miracle than Dr. Bell. It is typical of Dr. Bell's interest in the deaf that when he was awarded the Volta prize for the achievement of inventing the telephone he devoted the proceeds, a substantial amount of cash, entirely to a fund to promote teaching the deaf to understand the world about them.

"The world knows of his study of aeronautics and his belief in the practicability of air travel. On the occasion of the opening of the transcontinental telephone line he said to me, 'Some day aviation will bridge the gap from the Pacific to the Atlantic and make it possible for Mr. Watson (who was speaking from the Pacific) to "come here" by actually travelling the distance from San Francisco to New York in a non-stop flight!

"I have never known another man with Dr. Bell's many-sidedness and charm or anyone with such wide enthusiasm concerning the interests of other people." Helen Keller (seated) and her teacher are shown above; also Dr. Bell and his sister on their last visit to the Bell Homestead at Brantford.

MORE RESIDENTS OF THIS CITY REPORT BENEFITS FROM HUSKY TREATMENT

Local People Continue To Tell How Much Better Food Tastes, How They Sleep Better and Feel Stronger As They Use This Medicine — Indigestion, Constipation, Headaches, Catarrhal Troubles, Kidney Ailments, Weak, Aching Backs and Other Ills Relieved.

Crowd Calls at Bond's Drug Store Each Day To Talk With Husky Expert, Who Is Explaining How Best and Quickest Results are Obtained From the Use of This Marvellous Preparation.

Bond's Drug Store was crowded Saturday. People from all sections of Peterborough and the surrounding country were there to get "Husky," the medicine which has amazed the whole Dominion by its health giving powers and which is now helping so many people in this city.

Many of those at Bond's Drug Store Saturday were there to get a second bottle of "Husky," reporting that the first bottle had done more for them than any medicine they had ever used.

"I never found anything as good for neuralgia," said one lady. "My stomach is so much better that I ate a mince pie yesterday and it didn't hurt one bit,' said another. Indigestion, constipation, stomach trouble, headaches, catarrhal troubles, rehumatic pains and other ailments have been relieved for Peterborough people by this marvelous medicine, according to the reports made to the Husky Expert at Bond's Drug Store.

"At first," said the Husky Expert, while talking at Bond's Drug Store, "the reports of Husky relieving so many people seem incredible, but when you consider what Husky does for the human system it is all very simple. It is surprising how many of our ailments are the result of too much acid or a catarrhal condition in the system. This acidity or catarrh irritates the delicate stomach lining until it becomes inflamed and secretes mucus.

"This mucus surrounds the food we eat, causes gas, constipates you and prevents proper assimilation. Your food is a soured mass and sends impurities instead of rich, red corpuscles into your blood. You feel weak and tired, your head aches, rheumatic pains go through your back and limbs, you become nervous and can't sleep. Often pimples and other skin blotches appear. You lose weight and feel bad all over.

"Husky" is a wonderful combination of herbs and its ingredients cleanse the system of this mucus and soothe the irritated membranes. That's why it makes you feel better so quick and why a treatment of several bottles gives permanent relief.'

MISS HILDA EDWARDSON.

Interesting Case Cited.

Miss Helda Edwardson, of 2109 Jacques Hertel St., Montreal, writes as follows about how Husky quickly made her well:

"For more than two years I suffered from stomach trouble and when Husky helped my mother so much she persuaded me to try it.

"My stomach hurt me so I could not eat breakfast any morning, and I had to be careful about my diet as nearly everything I ate sent cutting pains through my stomach. I had heartburn, terribly bad headaches and such dizzy feelings. Often when I started to rise from my chair I could hardly keep from falling. I took many different kinds of medicines but never found relief.

"Mother said Husky was made from herbs and therefore couldn't upset me and she believed it would relieve me. I can tell the world now that it certally has relieved me. I just feel different all over for those cutting pains are gone and they were quick about leaving when I started Husky. I now go to bed and sleep all night instead of rolling and tossing and I eat everything I happen to want and never suffer from it."

Call on the Husky Expert at Bond's Drug Store to-day and let him explain to you how best and quickest results are obtained from the use of this medicine. "I want everyone in Peterborough to know that I am here for the sole purpose of giving free information about Husky and they incur no obligation by calling on me," said the Husky expert. Call on him to-day, your visit may lead you to new health and strength just as similar visits have done for hundreds in Peterborough.

My Husband says
"Try Kruschen Salts"

The best advice in the world! Her letter, published below, proves once again that "it's the little daily dose of Kruschen that does it."

"Kruschen Salts have done me a lot of good. I suffered from my kidneys, and about 3 months ago I was on holidays and I came home worse than before I went away, and my husband said, 'If I were you I should try Kruschen Salts.' I tried a jar and now I am a different woman. I was in torture from morning till night with my legs and kidneys, but, thanks to Kruschen, I feel well and can get on with my work without any trouble." Your food doesn't do you any good if you're tired

Tired, strained nerves interfere with digestion At the end of the day's work, it is a good rule to relieve nervous tension before eating—by the use of Wrigley's. Your doctor will tell you how the act of chewing relaxes and soothes the tired nerves—how the healthful cleansing action of Wrigley's refreshes and tones you up all round—so that you're ready to enjoy your food.

Wrigley's also helps digestion after meals, by stimulating the flow of natural juices. In addition, it cleanses the teeth, removes all traces of eating or smoking—and sweetens the breath.

EARLY RUSH OF IMMIGRANTS IS EXPECTED

Quebec Prepares for Large Flood of Newcomers to Canada.

BEST OF ACCOMODATIONS

New System of Medical Inspection Abroad Greatly Facilitates the Reception.

Quebec, Que., May 13 (By The Canadian Press).—Now that Canada's immigration season via the port of Quebec has been inaugurated with the largest inaugural movement in years recorded, the reception buildings maintained here by the Dominion government will be alive with teaming throngs of newcomers for many week-ends to come. Although five thousand British and foreign immigrants literally poured over the wharves when the season got under way over the week-end of April 27, Canada's well-established standard of efficiency in reception and distribution was fully maintained. To any who may have had misgiving concerning immigration inspection, the spotless walls and floors of the building, the uniform courtesy of officials of the Immigration Department and the clock-like precision with which all official machinery moved must have been agreeably surprising.

All passengers for inspection move direct from their ship through covered passages to waiting-rooms in the immigration building where they rest until their turn for inspection. Returning Canadians are dealt with first. These occasion little delay and soon pass through. Then follow British families. The new system of medical inspection abroad greatly facilitates the reception and distribution at the port of arrival.

Best of Comforts.

After being found all in order the newcomers pass along a broad corridor to the baggage room where they identify their baggage. Railway offices where tickets for any destination in Canada can be bought or presented for examination are located on the same floor. Here also funds may be exchanged for Canadian money at current rates. While the man of the family is attending to these details the mother may take younger children to the Red Cross Nursery on the same floor where trained nurses are at her command and children can be washed, fed and rested. In case of illness, doctors and nurses are immediately available. A dining-room furnishes substantial, well-cooked meals for 35 cents and at the canteen near by food for any length of journey can be bought at low prices fixed by the Canadian Government. Railway trains for all destinations in Canada draw up immediately alongside the mmigration building and after a brief rest the passengers are directed to their trains and the second stage of their journey begins.

Women travelling alone are met by women officers of the Canadian Government and continue their journey under charge of Government conductresses to the women's hostel nearest their destination. Official representatives of various religious denominations and welfare societies are also on hand to be of any service required.

So complete are all arrangements, and so well carried out that delay at port of arrival in Canada is not usually more than three or four hours. After the British migrants come those from Continental Europe and in an incredibly short time the halls are cleared and in readiness for the next ship load. In each case the process is the same. A busy throng, tired, sometimes, with travel, but usually in good health and good spirits, enters upon the great adventure of life and opportunity in a new land.

Charges Investigated.

Max Schimpf of New York, who presided at a 22-hour session of the trustees of Des Moines University, revealed last night that the board investigated charges against Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, board president, and Miss Edith M. Rebman, and found them without foundation.

"A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of Des Moines University was called," Dr. Schimpf said, "for the purpose of investigating all rumors regarding these individuals, and many other questions of administrative friction. They also examined carefully the evidence that came before them of apparent malicious propaganda by enemies of the group of Baptists who are in control of the University, and who are endeavoring to operate it on the principles announced in its published literature."

Mr. Schimpf said resolutions passed by the board "repudiated with the profoundest indignation the very suggestion that either of the said officers of the board would, in either word or deeds, condescend to any course incompatible with the highest standards of Christian integrity and honor."

The acting chairman asserted that friction in the school over the avowed fundamentalist character and between American and Canadian students had contributed to the board's investigation.

ACTION is the spirit of this continent and this epoch. Restless, unafraid, always unsatisfied, always reaching forward. Civilization finds in the Daily Newspaper the unfailing ally that fully meets and interprets its pursuit of progress.

.....The Daily Newspaper in its power to inspire quick action surpasses any vehicle that is within the power of an advertiser to purchase.

...A Newspaper's readers are not scattered broadcast over a continent. They are gathered in a single family. The Newspaper tells them daily where in their own neighbourhood the advertised article is on sale, and it prompts them to buy it at once.

LADIES' AID MEETS.

Routine Business Transacted By Members of Fraserville Church Society.

FRASERVILLE, May 13. — The Fraserville Ladies' Aid held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, in the Orange Hall. After the devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Robert Lewers, a business meeting followed.

Among the many items of business the ladies decided to hold their annual strawberry festival on June 27.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in quilting, after which a very dainty and appetizing supper was served.

The members of the Ladies' Aid were very pleased to have with them Mrs. Robert Waterman of Peterborough, expresident of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The many friends of Mr. James Lackie will be pleased to learn he is progressing very favorably after a long illness.

borhood is the greatest need in the international affairs of to-day, the establishing of goodwill and peace.

"Humanity is still beset with dangers and disasters; some are victims of circumstances as failures, others of violence, others are merely underprivileged, and all are subject to the benevolent deeds o fraternal societies and churches. They cannot be passed by without condemnation from our Lord and Master.

"We also have legalized robbery by those who have amassed large fortunes and laid the burden of oppression on the poor for their small gains to the minority. There are not so extensive in our land, but we have the outsider to contend with. This is also to be considered in the kind acts."

Mr. McDonald, in closing, again expressed his gratitude, and praising the organization in their growth and the carrying out the kind of service that the Good Samaritan rendered and that is rendered by the Lord Almighty from the cradle to the grave, making fit citizens.

Two very appreciable selections were rendered by the Oddfellows Quartette, composed of Messrs. E. Baldry, A. Lee, A. Turner, and Worrell.

FOUR MISSING FROM LAUNCH

Gasoline Boat Is Found At Moose Point in Georgian Bay.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13 (C.P.).—Grave fears are entertained for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Massier, of Penetang, Ont., and their two grand-children, who set out from Penetang for Point Au Baril in a gasoline launch on May 2, and of whom no word has been heard since. The trip to Point Au Baril is usually made in one day's travel.

A report that a gasoline launch similar to the one used by Massiers had been found at Moose Point 20 miles from Penetang, was received from Moose Point last night, but no confirmation could be obtained.

The launch was loaded with potatoes and it is believed became top heavy from the additional weight, and capsized in open water. It is not known whether or not the lake was rough.

COMMITS SUICIDE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13.— Disraeli Woodley, 44, Toronto, was found dead in his home here Saturday night when police battered in the door of his room. He had locked himself in and turned on the gas.

LACK of proper elimination is a universal evil. Doctors tell us so. If you are living each day—half-sick—half-well—lacking that punch, that energy which only comes from Health, beware of CONSTIPATION.

Many people can avoid this evil if they include sufficient roughage in the diet. Post's Bran Flakes, eaten regularly every day, helps to furnish needed roughage in a delicious form. You'll revel in the goodness of these brown, crisp-toasted flakes.

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference

Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer. Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal, with milk or cream. You will find it as delicious as it is effective.

Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel, and that you have been "regular" all the time. But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity. Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers, in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat.

Write for free trial package to Canadian Postum Co., Limited, Sterling Tower, Toronto 2, Ontario.

Cases of recurrent constipation associated with too little bulk in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

That Body of Yours

"PUNCH DRUNK"

While the sporting public were sorry to see Gene Tunney retire from the boxing ring, nevertheless Tunney's own explanation for retiring is worthy of our thought.

He stated that after one of his bouts he lost his memory for two days and he was therefore afraid that continued blows on the head would eventually unbalance his mentality.

It has been my privilege for a number of years to examine both amateur and professional boxers before and after the bouts, and that repeated blows to the head can cause loss of memory lasting for hours and even days, is is only too true.

In fact on more than one occasion it has been found necessary to have boxers stop boxing for a few months to avoid what is called "punch drunk".

Not withstanding that this condition has been known to boxing and football coaches for many years it is only within the past year that the medical profession has seriously considered the matter.

As students we were taught that a "concussion" was just a shaking up of the brain. That it was as if you took the skull in your hands and gave the contents a "shake". No injury followed it because the bony case, the skull, was not injured.

In "compression" however a bone or bones of the skull were so broken or pushed in, that they pressed on the brain substance itself and caused paralysis or other conditions.

Therefore we never gave concussion much thought because although there is a temporary loss of consciousness or a loss of memory it soon clears away, and there is no apparent damage done.

However Dr. H. S. Marchland, some months ago, told us that in some of these cases the brain substance can be "bruised" just like other parts of the body and this bruising results in the breaking of tiny blood vessels and discoloration just as in a bruise in the skin.

What is this knowledge going to mean to us?.

It certainly does not mean that boxing, football or other sports should be abandoned, but where an athlete or a player in any kind of sport gets a bump, a blow, or a kick, and finds that it results in a loss of memory, however short, he should keep away from that sport for a time, because it is the "repeated knocks", coming at frequent intervals, that may finally unbalance the mind.

After two or three such occurences he would be wise to follow some other line of sport, because the bones of his skull, not his brain, are too soft or "springy".

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

There are certain things that ought to be within easy reach of the cook as she stands before the kitchen stove, and most gas stoves are provided with a little shelf above the burners where these few essentials may be kept.

There should be a box of safety matches. It is dangerous to have an open match box. There should be a small tin or dish in which to put burned matches, which should of course be emptied daily. A salt dish with a cover should be within easy reach, since it is so often convenient to season soups, vegetables and meats while they are cooking. There should be a set of measuring spoons, because salt should be accurately measured and not simply shaken from a shaker. The heat from the stove keeps the salt from caking. Cans of white and red pepper, celery salt and other seasonings frequently used in cooking should also be within easy reach. There should be a hook near the stove on which to hang a stove cloth for use in handling hot dishes. Two thick padded cloths are best for handling large dishes.

By all means have a wall clock in the kitchen. There are attractive clocks with glazed pottery faces that are intended for kitchens that cost only a little more than the usual sort of alarm clock. A small, simply framed wall mirror is also desirable.

The Mirror of the Mode

Natural-colored straw hat and scarf of natural-colored pongee are given unity of design by means of rows of applied discs cut from colored velvet.

It is getting increasingly difficult to buy anything singly—that is, anything to wear. You go bravely forth with a definite sum of money in mind to buy a new necklace and you come home with a necklace and a pair of earrings You have spent a little more than you intended but you have acquired earrings as well as a necklace knowing that when you choose to wear both types of jewelry you can do so without looking like a Christmas tree loaded with hit-or-miss ornaments.

You plan to buy a pair of linen and kid shoes to go with your new summer sports ensemble, and you come home with a linen bag to match the shoes. Evening dresses as well as daytime dresses have wraps to match, there are scarfs for many of the new summer sports hats and sports sweaters sometimes have matching sports socks.

Such companionate accessories need not, of course, increase your dress expenses. Almost always they do make it easier for you to attain that appearance of unity and harmony in dress that is such an important ingredient of smartness nowadays.

If you make some of your own things you have doubtless often been able to make these little links in your ensemble at very small expense. from scraps left in cutting a dress of chiffon you may have had the wherewithal for an attractive handkerchief, from silk scraps you may have had enough to make the border of a scarf, or the band of a hat. The sketch shows how circles of material may be used to give an attractive finish to hat and scarf.

POPULAR YOUNG LADY.

TWO RIVERS, Wis., March 13.—A local girl, very popular with the flaming youth of the city, got her date book all scrambled with the result that seven young gentlemen called on her at the same time one recent evening. The natural outcome of the affair was a fight, which a police officer promptly broke up. The date was finally settled when four of the fellows went back for the girl and took her out together.

Among the many Canadians who are to be presented at the coming May courts at Buckingham Palace will be Mrs. J. J. Gibbons and her daughter, Miss Kathleen Gibbons, who appear above. Miss Gibbons, who will make her debut in Toronto next season, will return this summer with her parents from abroad, where she has been attending school.

PINEAPPLES seem to be 'the order of the day' as some people say, in the fruit markets just now, and such big beauties too—I have always been told to purchase the bigger ones as they are better buying

* * * * * *

A good way to tell whether the fruit is ripe is to pluck a leaf from the centre of the pineapple—if it comes out easily, it is ripe, if not, it is too green for eating.

* * * * * *

Once pineapples have arrived, and we begin eating them raw, the summer seems to be here, for the fruit follows right along.

* * * * * *

And the strawberries, too, I have just been hearing of two dates which are already taken up for strawberry socials—about the end of June—they must think the dates are going to be scarce!

* * * * * *

But to go back to the pineapple which is not only a delicious food of itself but may be used to make delicious many otherwise common foods. It may be fried with meats, may be baked on top of biscuits and coffee cake, may be diced into almost any salad; are splendid in a cold drink; make a pleasing addition to almost every pudding; gelatine combinations, sherbet or ice-cream can be made to look very attractive with this everyday fruit.

* * * * * *

Then, too, it may be used with vegetable scallops and are not even out of place in baked beans—just try adding a shredded pineapple to the next dish of beans to bake and see into what a viand they will transform that homely dish.

* * * * * *

Another delicious salad which is made with pineapple is called "Hawaiian Cheese and Pineapple Salad."

* * * * * *

The directions are: Lay on lettuce leaves slices of canned pineapple. On the pineapple put a slice of cream cheese that has been mixed with thick cream, slightly salted and seasoned with paprika, then packed in baking powder can and chilled until it can be cut.

* * * * * *

On top of the cheese put a spoonful of strawberry jam and put in the centre of this a marshmallow. Make a border around the pineapple of thick mayonnaise or boiled dressing put through a pastry tube, and scatter on it a little chopped sweet red pepper

* * * * * *

Experiments conducted in preserving fresh fruits in glass jars show that the action of light through the glass preserves the full flavor of the fruit according to a statement by the laboratory division of the Glass Association in New York City.

* * * * * *

Tests were made with partially ripened fruits, shipped in dark cars and stored in dark rooms for ripening, then stored after the artificial ripening process. Dead ripe fruits ready for packing in glass were then tasted after which flavor tests were made of the same fruit packed in glass when they were ripe.

* * * * * *

The results showed that the glass packed fruits were equal to the dead ripe fruits fresh picked in flavor and that they far exceeded the artificially ripened fruits in palatability.

* * * * * *

Shipments of dead ripe fruit is impossible in its unpreserved stage and for this reason much of the delicacy of flavor of such fruits is denied the average householder, according to the Glass Container chemists.

* * * * * *

In glass packed container, the fruit is packed in a "tree' 'or "vine" ripe condition, with its full flavor maintained. The action of light through the glass, according to the findings of laboratory men, maintain the full delicate flavor until the fruit is served on the table.

* * * * * *

Fresh fruit compotes and other fruit delicacies are now being packed in glass and reports from many sections of the country show a steadily increasing preference for fruits preserved in this manner over the artificially ripened, fresh shipped fruits.

This week's help is a pattern for one of the new sleeveless blouses that, when worn under suit-jacket or sweater is practically the same thing as a blousette.

* * * * * *

You may make it all of the same material to be worn without jacket or sweater, or if you want it merely to serve as a blousette you may make it with the front of some rather choice material and the back of thin muslin or china silk.

* * * * * *

If you would like this help, just enclose a two-cent stamp with the coupon and it will be sent immediately.

* * * * * *

I have noticed among the many wedding gifts which have already been given this spring that clocks seem to be given first place—and why shouldn't they? It certainly does make each room more cheerful to have a clock ticking the minutes away.

* * * * * *

Many of the clocks, all the world over, strike each quarter hour, with one, two, three and four phrases of an ancient tune of which the origin is unknown. At the hour, they play the whole tune—four phrases.

One hears it from church towers and from clocks everywhere—the same tune—and few know anything about its meaning.

* * * * * *

These chimes are Westminster chimes and play the tune played by the bells of Westminster Abbey. In ancient times the words of a quaint old prayer were attached to this tune. If you have a clock with Westminster chimes in your home or neighborhood memorize the words and say them to yourself, line by line—sometimes—as the clock strikes the hour.

* * * * * *

An expression like this, repeated at frequent intervals is certain to have an uplifting influence on life These are the words:

"Lord, through this hour
Be Thou my guide;
So by Thy power
No foot shall slide."

BANANA PUDDING.

(Contributed by "Mrs. Soft Voice.")

1 small cup white sugar, 1 egg. ½ cup shortening, good pinch salt. 1½ cups milk., 2½ cups flour. 3 level teaspoons baking powder. Beat sugar, eggs, add shortening and salt and beat again, then add milk, flour, baking powder, 2 large bananas or 3 small ones cut up in pieces. Mix good and pour in a greased pudding pan. Bake in a moderate oven 20 minutes. Serve with custard sauce or milk.

GOODWILL MESSAGE TO BE BROADCAST

Children of Wales Will Call For Greater Peace Efforts in All Partsof World.

A stirring message will be sent out on May 18th by the children of Wales calling for greater efforts for peace in all parts of the world. May 18th commemorates the date of the opening of the first Peace Conference at the Hague in 1899. It is now known in a number of countries as Goodwill Day.

This will be the eighth successive year the children's message has been sent out through the efforts of the Welsh National Council of the League of Nations Union.

Lt.-Col. C. P. Meredith, General Secretary of the League of Nations Society of Canada, is arranging for the broadcast of the message over the radio on May 18th to all parts of the Dominion.

The children's message which will be heard in every part of the world on May 18th is as follows:

"We, boys and girls of Wales, from our mountains and valleys, our villages and towns, greet with a cheer the boys and girls of every country under the sun. Our hearts are thrilled by the wonderful response to our yearly message and we cherish the many new links of friendship which we have formed. Will you, millions of you, join with us to-day in thinking with gratitude of those men and women of every race and people who are working so hard to build a finer, better world? Next year, in 1930, the League of Nations will celebrate its tenth birthday. Let us determine, here and now, to help it, with all our power, to go forward with its great task of peace on earth and goodwill among men."

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

BECAUSE

(Contributed by "Leatherhead")

Because you come to me with nought save love,
And take my hand and lift my eyes above,
A wider hope of joy and love I see
Because you come to me.

Because you speak to me in accents sweet,
I find the roses climbing at my feet,
And I am led through tears and smiles to thee
Because you speak to me.

Because God made thee mine,
I cherish thee through light and darkness through all time to be,
And pray His love may make our love divine
Because God made thee mine.

THE LITTLE ROSEWOOD CASKET.

(Contributed by "Diana.")

There's a little rosewood casket,
Sitting on a marble stand,
And a package of love letters
Written by my true love's hand.

Go and bring them to me, brother,
Set them here upon my bed,
Lay your head upon my pillow,
While my aching heart goes dead.

Read them gently to me, brother,
Read them till I fall asleep,
Fall asleep to wake in heaven,
Oh, dear brother, do not weep.

Last Sunday I saw him walking
With a lady by his side;
And I thought I heard him tell her
She could never be his bride.

When I'm dead, and in my coffin,
And my friends are gathered round,
And my narrow grave is ready
In some lonely church yard ground;

There's a little rosewood casket,
Sitting on a marble stand,
And a package of love letters,
Written by my true love's hand.

"TO-MORROW"

(Contributed by Lucinda)

A bright little boy with laughing face,
Whose every motion was full of grace,
Who knew no trouble and feared no care,
Was the light of our household—the only one there.

He was too young—this little elf—
With troublesome questions to vex himself,
But for many days a thought would rise,
And bring a shade to his dancing eyes.

He went to whom he thought more
Than any other beneath the skies;
"Mother"—O word that makes the home!—
Tell me, when will to-morrow come?"

"It is almost night," the mother said,
"And time for my boy to be in bed.
When you wake up and it's day again,
It will be to-morrow, my darling then."

The little boy slept through all the night,
But woke with the first red streak of light;
He pressed a kiss on his mother's brow,
And whispered, "Is it to-morrow now?"

"No, little Eddie, this is today;
To-morrow is always one night away."
He pondered awhile, but joy came fast,
And this vexing quickly passed.
But it came again with the shades of night,
"Will it be to-morrow when it is light?"
From years to come, he seemed care to borrow,
He tried so hard to catch to-morrow.

"You cannot catch it my little lad;
Enjoy to-day the mother said;
"Some wait for to-morrow through many a year—
It always is coming, but never is here.

Under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League, a very successful and well-attended Community card party was held on Saturday afternoon. Councillors of the society who acted as hostesses were Mrs. A. J. MacPherson, Mrs. W. H. Bell, Mrs. F. J. Overend, Mrs. Myles Henry, Mrs. W. J. Young, Mrs. T. J. Ryan, Mrs. A. J. Reynolds, Mrs. J. F. O'Brien, Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, Mrs. P. J. Scollard and Miss Emma Corkery. At the conclusion of the card games, tea was served at the residence of Mrs. A. J. Reynolds, Gilmour street. The spacious rooms were very attractive with cut flowers and lighted grate fires. The table was charming with a filet lace cloth centred by a silver flower holders with bowl of Venetian peacock green glass holding daffodils, tulips and snapdragon. Peacock green candles were in silver candlesticks. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. J. Ross Thornton and Mrs. J. D. Fitzpatrick. The guests were received by Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Myles Henry, president of the League, and Mrs. N. E. Phelan. Assistants in the reception room and tea room were Mrs. R. M. Glover, Mrs. G. White, Miss Bernardine MacPherson, Miss Josie Lynch, Miss Madeline Henry, Miss Helen Archambault, Miss Hilda Sullivan, Miss Margaret Hurley, Miss Mary Reynolds and Miss Aileen Reynolds. The winner of the first prize for bridge was Mrs. C. D. Hewett and the first prize for euchre went to Mrs. J. Quirk, with consolation awards to Mrs. R. W. Carson (bridge) and to Miss M. A. Nevin for euchre. Miss Marita Collins and Mrs. Carson were tied for the bridge consolation prize. Little Miss Rena LaPlante drew for the lucky number prize, which was won by Mrs. J. Corkery. At the different homes, nearly forty tables of bridge and euchre were played, while several ladies dropped in later at the tea hour. Those playing cards were: Mesdames G. White, P. J. Burke, B. McLeod, C. Wolff, F. Downs, B. Law, P. J. Scollard, F. J. Lynch, E. G. Hiland, B. McLean, H. T. Hickey, C. McDonald, T. J. Best, F. G. Young, F. A. Shannon, R. W. Carson, L. Duffy, E. Hurtubise, L. On Saturday afternoon a birthday party was given by Mrs. O. Wells, of 297 Rubidge Street, to celebrate the tenth birthday of her daughter, Eleanor. The tea-table was decorated beautifully. A vase full of daffodils and tulips lent lovely color as a centerpiece, and favors were placed at each cover. A birthday cake done with white icing and ten red candles looked most inviting. After the young people had enjoyed the delicious dainties provided for them, a jolly time was spent in music, games and contests. In a bean contest, Pentland Wellwood was the winner of the first prize, and Margaret Wyllie received the consolation. Many beautiful gifts were received by the young hostess. Amongst those present were: Loreen Wellwood, Jean Meeks, Mary Pirie, Margaret Wyllie, Marjory Sproat, Margaret Sproat, Viola Sexsmith, Fern Cruickshanks, Pentland Wellwood, Paul Meeks, Robert Pirie, Harold Wells, Lloyd Wells.

Graduates of Queen's University living in Peterborough and vicinity held a delightful social re-union at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Waddell, Monaghan Road, on Saturday evening. The gathering was planned in the nature of an informal reception for Rev. R. Bruce Taylor, D.D., L.L.D., who was the guest of the home over the week-end while officiating as anniversary preacher in St. Andrew's Church. The recently announced retirement of Dr. Taylor from the head of the University gave special significance to the event. College songs and the famous Gaelic yell enlivened the early part of the evening. In a racy and humorous talk upon things in general about Queen's, the principal entertained his hearers in his own fashion about things new as well as things old regarding the institution. His intimate personal touches delighted loyal Queen's folks, and deepened the sense of regret that he is soon to sever his oficial relations as principal of Queen's. Mr. R. F. Downey, president of the local Alumni Association, called upon some of the graduates present and reminiscences from the early nineties as well as commendations from the latest graduate in twenty-nine served to perpetuate a story of loyalty and to mark a spirit of devotion to the beloved Alma Mater that is the envy of those from other Universities who realize that the 'Spirit of Queen's' is a unique and intangible asset. Representatives of all faculties, Arts, Science, Medicine and Theology were present to unite in a common tribute of esteem to Dr. Bruce Taylor. Refreshments were served at the close of the informal program, Mrs. W. McDonald pouring the coffee, and Mrs. R. G. Lawlor of Norwood, serving the ices as assistants to the hostess. Hearty thanks were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Waddell for their kindness in opening their spacious home for this pleasant event. At the conclusion, on the unanimous vote of those present the executive officers of the Peterborough branch of the Alumni were re-elected to office for another year and thanks tendered them for past services. Graduates present included Mr. R. F. Downey, B.A.; Rev. Wm. McDonald, B.A., B.D.; Miss Marjorie McDonald, M. A.; Mr. E. Legon, B.A.; Mr. H. B. Hanna, B.Sc.; Miss A. A. Howson, B.A.; Dr. A. C. Howson; Mr. C. E. Jamieson, B.A.; Mr. F. E. Kerr, B.A.; Inspector R. Lees, B.A.; Dr. T. G. Louden; Mr. V. R. Henry, B.A.; Mr. R. G. Lawlor, B.A.; Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, B.A.; Mrs. A. Weir, B.A.; and Mrs. H. G. Charlton, B.A. of Norwood. Mr. H. H. Kenner, B.A., and Rev. Chas. V. McLean, M.A., B.D., were invited guests who also contributed to the happy felicitations of the evening's program.

SMOTHERED IN ONIONS.

CLEVELAND, May 13.—William J. Wolters, manager of a grocery store, didn't appreciate the joke played on him by a robber who took $100 and then smothered the victim in onionss. "He made me stretch out on the floor and then piled several sacks of onions on me," Wolters told police. "As if I wasn't ready to cry for the money without the aid of onions."

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks in all parts of the world every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say; if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your money will be refunded—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets—Economy Size—$1.00. Ask for them at McDermid & Jury, McDermid, Bond's, Lynch and Payne, or any drug store.

Fashion's Forecast

NEW SOFTNESS

THE STYLE No. 2779 will immediately appeal to the discriminating woman for its conservative lines, with new softness in all-around gathered skirt. It is unusual with deep French vest rolled in revers with collar, and fastened with single button. It combines printed silk crepe with linen in blending tone, quite the newest idea of Paris. Dull black silk crepe with vest of eggshell crepe silk is distinctly youthful and slenderizing.

THE PATTERN is illustrated in Picture Lessons. Every step in the making shown by Pictures. You'll find it so simple you'll want to make a second dress with same pattern of flowered chiffon with plain chiffon for formal afternoons. It is offered at cost price 15 cents as a service to readers who sew, and designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inchest bust.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Our Columns.

These columns are for the use of Examiner women readers wherever they may be.

MARION'S MAIL: A Column where women may express their opinions on anything under the sun, but particularly designed to be helpful and inspirational.

BIG SISTER COLUMN: Here Examiner neighbors give advice to their younger sisters. Inquiries are typed by Marion and sent to the neighbors in turn to answer. Only Marion knows the identity of the writer—and Marion doesn't tell.

MY FAVORITE RECIPE: Here neighbors tell the recipes they have tried and proved good; they are well worth clipping for the scrap book.

SOS COLUMN: If you have any problem in housework, or if you want a recipe or if you need help with your sewing, cooking, or cleaning, send in an SOS. Either Marion or the neighbors can probably help.

NEIGHBORLY HELP: The column in which answers to SOS calls are printed.

DAILY READING: A Column in which is given, every day, a short extract from some worthwhile author's work. Neighbors are invited to suggest suitable selections.

WHAT IS CORRECT: Answers to questions on etiquette submitted by readers will be given here.

All the above are conducted by Marion, to whom correspondence should be addressed, care of The Examiner Office, Peterborough. Peterborough. Every one of these columns belongs to the women readers, and may be freely used.

In addition, there is the daily WHATNOT column, conducted by Marion, the thrice-a-week "IN WOMAN'S REALM" written by Jeannette, the Saturday "WOMEN'S INSTITUTE COLUMN", with articles written by Examiner Correspondents and Institute officers; "ENTERTAINING", in which Laura tells how to conduct parties and entertain guests, and the SATURDAY MARKET BASKET column, with information on prices of foodstuffs.

"Dear Marion:

This is my second letter to you. I never miss reading your page since my first letter.

I notice a great many people are co-operating to make their lawns beautiful this year, and have notices placed on them. I wonder if I could make a suggestion? Now that Spring is advanced, people are moving their coal ashes, and quite a few empty them on the street to fill up ditches and car ruts. One prominent piece of property on George street has a large hole in it, and it has been filled with loads of coal ashes and it looks upsightly. This does not beautiful our main street very much; do you think so?

Marion, would you please send me this week's help, and also helps checked on coupon?

Wishing you best of luck, and success.

Sincerely,
Hazel Eyes."

I'm pleased to hear from you again, "Hazel Eyes." The ashes may look unsightly while the hole is being filled but won't the improvement be worth it? Not everyone can afford to hire men and teams to do such work, you know.

"Dear Marion:

Thanks a lot for the pattern and fashion book, which I received today. Both are awfully nice, I think. The very day I sent for the pattern one of my neighbors who has a little fellow the same size as Sonny Boy, asked me if I could loan her a pattern for a boy's shirt; so I told her I would as soon as I received it. Then my neighbor sent for one also, so you see, Marion, everyone is deriving some good from your page.

I have not much to tell this time, but I would like to give a way I have of fixing steak for luncheon or dinner that is awfully good. At least, Joe and I think so.

It is most probable that everyone knows about this way of serving it, but just in case there are some who do not, I will give it, anyway:—

One pound of round steak (have the butcher put in through the meat grinder) or you can yourself if you have the meat chopper. Four or six soda crackers. One good sized onion, pepper and salt and a piece of butter. One egg beaten. A little celery salt or sage added is nice with it.

Beat the egg and roll out soda wafers, add pepper, salt and onion and mix altogether with ground meat. Form in little meat patties and fry till brown. I always pat them flat so the meat will cook through well.

I'm not a lover of meat but I do like these steak patties.

To me, they taste like the filling in a Western sandwich one gets in the Cafe. Joe laughs at me because I like the Western sandwich. He says he thinks they are made up of scraps of the day, but I should worry. They are pretty good scraps, I'll tell the world. I intend to try some of that rhubarb jam some of the neighbors contributed. Sounds pretty good to me. Must close now and get to work.

I remain, Yours as B4,
Highflyer."

Well, for once we disagree, "Highflyer." I do NOT like the Western sandwich. Maybe your "Joe" and I like the same things.

Your steak patties seem awfully tempting. Thank you for the idea.

"Dear Marion:

I'm sorry I did not send you this poem sooner, which I am enclosing; but I was not aware that Mother's Day was so near at hand until I noticed it in The Examiner last evening. However, will you kindly oblige me by having it inserted in Saturday evening's paper if there is any available space in our page as it was composed and dedicated to Mother's Day by Thomas A. Hughes.

Sincerely yours,
Virgie."

WHAT MONEY CANNOT BUY
(Contributed by "Virgie")

Have you seen her by the fireside
With locks of silver hair;
Features worn and wrinkled,
The penalty of care?
Have you felt her soft caresses,
As a child upon her knee?
That's your own beloved Mother,
Your best friend is she.

Remember how she nursed you
In childhood and in youth,
Facing every danger.
'Tis nothing but the truth;
Don't ignore her presence
When your sweetheart is nigh,
For she's the only gift on earth
That money cannot buy.

A sweetheart may be perfect,
An angel most divine;
You proudly gaze upon her
And tell them: She is mine.
But a Mother's beauty lingers,
It ne'er can fade away;
The picture of affection
Although she's old and gray.

When in joy or sorrow,
You'll find her just the same,
For sympathy and kindness
She bears a noble name;
Loved by poor and proud,
What more can she desire.
The picture of contentment
As she sits there by the fire.

No soldier's done his duty
More faithfully than she,
There's no one like a Mother,
With me, you'll all agree.
To an angel from the heavens
I can only her compare;
Full of gentle patience
And a Mother's tender care.

Sorry I couldn't get it in on Saturday, "Virgie."

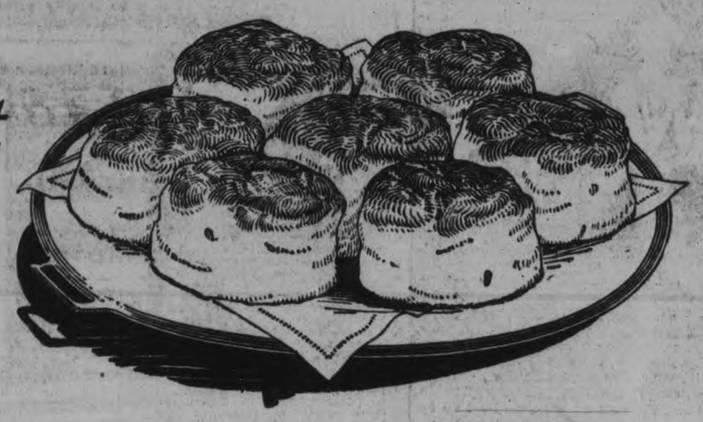
Not Just SHORTENING

but



PERFECT SHORTENING

TODAY, you can have a perfect shortening—a shortening that took years to perfect.

Domestic is a purely vegetable product made by a special process. It contains no animal fat. Is superior to lard as a shortening. Equals the best butter—yet costs much less and you use ¼ less.

This splendid all-purpose shortening is wonderful for pastry. Cakes made with Domestic are rich, smooth-textured. For frying use Domestic over and over again—never a taste—never an odour—never any smoke at the high temperatures needed for good frying.

Homogenization gives Domestic Shortening added smoothness and finer texture.

At butchers and grocers everywhere in 5 lb. and 3 lb. pails and 1 lb. cartons.

Try This Domestic Shortening Recipe

Baking Powder Biscuit

2 cups flour
4 level teaspoons Baking Powder
½ teaspoon Salt
3 level tablespoons Domestic Shortening
¾ cup milk

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together, two or three times. Cut in the shortening with two knives. Add the milk gradually and mix with a knife to a soft dough. Toss on a lightly floured board, pat and roll lightly to one-half inch in thickness. Shape with a biscuit cutter. Place on a greased baking sheet, brush over the top with melted Domestic Shortening. Bake in a hot oven (375°F) 12 to 15 minutes.

Woollens and Deloro in Tie for League Lead

WOOLLENS WIN FROM PACKERS BY 2-1 SCORE

Losers More Aggressive But Lose Many Opportunities To Tally.

MONTGOMERY BRILLIANT.

Team Changes Cause of Defeat —J. Montgomery and Gore Marksmen.

A surprise was created in local soccer circles on Saturday afternoon when the Dominion Woollens defeated the fast moving Canadian Packing by the score of two goals to one. The losers were all over the winners in every department but failed to make use of the openings presented to them. Westwood got the opportunity to even the count when he missed the penalty kick. Brilliant goal-keeping by Montgomery was the feature of the game in the closing minutes when the losers' whole team went up into the winners' area in their endeavor to even up the count.

Opening Fast

The ball was set a-rolling prompt to time. A breakaway by Dormer on the right wing terminated in Mitchell saving in the nick of time. Buchan sent the left winger away into that same territory in which Montgomery had a busy session saving shot after shot ranged at him from short distance. Within the first minutes, Foster had a great drive for in below the bar, the Woollens' custodian jumping up in time to divert the ball over the bar. From the flag kick, a scrimmage took place in front of goal, again Mitchell punting clear when everything was against his team.

Wilson Unfortunate.

The early stages continued in the C.P.C. favor; while Mayette made the C.P.C defence liven up to prevent a tally. Exchanges continued even for a while, until Wilson broke away on his own to test the qualities of Montgomery with a long drive. He let his forwards transfer the play to the other end, where Westwood held them in check. Then Wilson went back three times in succession to have a shot at goal, but his parting shots were not strong enough to beat the Woollens' custodian.

Too Much Soccer

The C.P.C. half-back line dominated the play and compelled the Woollens to be on the defensive all the time, but Buchan spoiled many of their efforts by too much football that was unproductive of any results. Time and again, he would endeavor to beat man after man, but his tactics were cut short when the Woollens' halves took away the ball from him on mid-field play. Although he brought success to his team when he sent the left winger away down into the Woollens' territory.

Beggs Opened the Scoring

Foster dribbled past the full backs and run close in to goal with the ball at his toe. Just a few yards from the goal-keeper, he let drive but the ball hit the post. Montgomery threw himself up in the air, taking no chances. As soon as the ball dropped in play, Beggs headed the sphere into the net for the opening counter.

From the centre kick, the Woollens visited Griffine's charge and never got inside the full backs. They received two fruitless flag-kicks that were headed clear. Bromley carried the sphere away along the line again. He met a stubborn defence that produced throw-ins in abundance, free-kicks, and foul kicks. Three minutes from the interval, Laidler initiated a movement that had the Woollens' custodian guessing what was going to take place. He drew the defence away from the goal and swerved around in the other direction to test Montgomery with a fast left-footer. The custodian fisted clear to the right wing, where N. Downer picked up the ball quickly on the run to put it right across the goal, all the players missed the opening until Foster met it at the other side of the field that finally landed out of play. On the whole the Packers deserved their lead at the interval.

Half Time—C.P.C. 1, Woollens 0.

Half Time

The exchanges were even in the second half, and the defences more than a match for the attack. C.P.C. left wing came into prominence when Foster tested Montgomery with a low grounder. Then Downer placed his team-mates in an excellent position to tally, but it was only productive of a drive from the foot of Laidler. Read cleared up-field, Taylor trapped the ball nicely from the air, and sent Gore away down the wing at a fast pace.

J. Montgomery Equalized

The Canadian Woollens now came into the picture by their aggressive tactics that bewildered the C.P.C. defence. Their left wing worked havoc in the dreaded area because Buchan was acting more on the offensive than on the defensive and threw extra work on the other halves. Dundas had an easy time as long as this lasted and he made good use of the weakness to let Gore rattle a lightning shot at Griffine. With unusual smartness the Packers' goal-keeper saved the citadel at first, but had to concede defeat when J. Montgomery sent in a low grounder that beat him all the way for the equalizer.

C.P.C. Lost Game Easily

Instead of leaving their team as it had been all the game, the losers' altered their line-up in many ways that upset their attack in every department. Without doubt, the C.P.C. were the pressing team, but they could not make any headway against the winner's method around the goals. In fact, Dame Fortune came along and presented them with a penalty kick when the Woollens' full back handled the ball inside the dreaded area. Westwood took the kick himself that went skyward amidst great enthusiam in the Woollens' camp.

Gore Got the Two Points

After this fright the winners took up the battle in real earnest and sprung a surprise on the opponents when Gore dribbled his way through the defence and, wasting no time, he let drive while on the run to send in a left footer that had plenty of sting on it to beat Griffine and give his team two very valuable points.

Montgomery Saved Brilliantly

Another shake-up in the loser's camp did not bring much success, when Westwood went up in the front rank in his endeavor to even up the score, but it only brought out the brilliant qualities of Montgomery in between the sticks; in fact, he handled everything ranged at him from all sides and in every scrimmage he beat the attack to a standstill and he held them at bay until full time was announced as: Canadian Woollens 2, Canadian Packers 1.

Goal scorers.—J. Montgomery and Gore for the Woollens. A Beggs for the Canadian Packing.

Dominion Woollens—Montgomery, goal; Wade and Read, full backs; Mayette, Taylor and Vinette, half backs; J. Montgomery, Pickering, J. Mitchell, Dundas and Gore, forwards.

Canadian Packing—Griffine, goal, Westwood and Downer, full backs; Carmichael, Buchan and Bromley, halves; N. Downer, Wilson, A. Beggs, Laidler and Foster, forwards.

Referee—J. C. Russell.

Central Ontario League Chatter

By F. D. C.

A glance over the certificates passed by the Central Ontario League executive Saturday indicates that Deloro has gained the greatest proportion of known strength. The Smelters team has added to its roster since last season Harold Buck of Kingston, a neat fielder, consistent hitter and fast base runner, who can take his turn on the rubber; Bob Elliott, the young second baseman of last year's Kingston Ponies, a smart second sacker and a good batter; A. E. Stuart, a Maritime Province player who was a star with Queen's football club, but whose baseball ability is yet to be shown, and Ibey, the pitcher who was with Hastings last season. The securing of Elliott gives Deloro the services of Art Quinn behind the bat and with most of last year's team available the team from President Elliott's town looks strong in all departments. They have Carl Wood, Buck, Leal and Ralph to do the mound work.

The problem with Belleville is their pitching staff. Manager Walter Gerow still has his veteran catcher, Peeney Mills, and his provincial champion infield is intact while Ross and Green of the outfield are out again. The Nationals have lost "Hoot" Gibson, while Stan Hagerman, outfielder and second string catcher has announced his retirement. To fill the vacancies Belleville have landed Frank Bennett and Murney Green of the Point Anne team. In fielding and batting, the Nationals will be formidable. It remains to be seen whether Utronki and Alex Weir can carry the pitching burden successfully.

Oshawa's strength is a little difficult to judge at this stage. Young material is to be given every chance and such likely youngsters as Doc Rowden and Carver are included in the line up. The Motorists have Matthews of last year's pitching staff and hope to persuade Duke Dainty to stay in the game while they have added Wills a T.A.B.A. graduate, Stan Crossett the former Port Hope hockey player, H. Osborn, the Bowmanville hockey star, and several other new comers.

The Kingston 21st Battalion Club who have a bye until the regular schedule is completed, have three veteran players in Del Cherry, Jimmy Arniel and Art Twigg, and are depending a lot on graduates from their junior teams, including Art Vince and Stan Gibson of the Victorias, Sport of the Wolfe Island team and others. In addition they have landed a smooth outfielder in Williams of last year's Oshawa team and a promising player in Chummy Lawlor, the Kingston hockey star.

The Petes' certificates were approved without question, although Jimmy Hall's transfer will have to be approved by the O.B.A.A. before he will be allowed to play.

Three out of the five Central Ontario League teams will have playing managers this year. "Ike" Sutton, Queen's football star and a clever second baseman, will pilot the Oshawa team; Third Baseman Bill Regan will me at the helm in Deloro, and Max Swanston, the Petes' catcher, will issue the orders here. Walter Gerow of Belleville and Ed. Hartrick of Kingston will do their managing from the bench.

The Petes have decided not to conflict with the Old Home Week schedule by playing a game here on July 1st. They will, however, be seen in two games during the week as part of the Old Home Week program, meeting Oshawa on the Wednesday and Deloro on the Saturday, both games of course to take place at the Exhibition grounds.

President Elliott heaved a sigh of relief on Saturday when Umpire Alex Kay announced that his services would be at the League's disposal again this season.

An old familiar name was heard when Al. W. Tyson's certificate was produced by the Oshawa Club at Saturday's meeting. The peppery backstop is under suspension for having played with the Oslers, and Oshawa's representative was advised that his case would have to be taken up with the Amateur Athletic Union.

Queen's is well represented in the C.O.B.L. Carl Wood, Art Quinn, Art Berry, A E. Stewart, Bob Elliott and Jim Hughes of the Deloro team are all Queen's men as are Manager "Ike" Sutton of Oshawa, Shortstop Harry Blakely of Belleville and Outfielder Williams of the Kingston team.

Brinton A. A. Open Grounds On Wednesday Evening

On Wednesday evening the Brinton A. A. new athletic ground will be opened for the season, when the President of the company will officially open the game between the Brinton soccer team and the Deloro eleven. It was in 1908 that the Brinton boys played in the old league on the ground that the present building is built upon, but the present ground is next to the present site. The kickoff is scheduled for six o'clock.

KEYS BLANK TORONTO 6-0

Reading Batsmen Drive Martin From the Mound in Sixth Inning.

BIRDS WIN OUT 7-2.

TORONTO, Ont., May 13.—(Canadian Press)—Nelson Greene, Reading southpaw flinger, puzzled the Leafs so thoroughly Saturday, that as hitters they were like the weather,—all wet.

Greene held the Leafs to five hits, while his team-mates drove Lefty Martin from the peak in the sixth inning and won the final game of the series 6 to 0. It was the second successive time that Martin has failed to complete the chore allotted him, but this time he was charged with the defeat, his first of the season.

BIRDS INCREASE LEAD

ROCHESTER, May 13—(Canadian Press).— Rochester won the fourth and final game of the Baltimore series here yesterday 7 to 2, taking the series, three to one.

The victory, behind the excellent hurling of Lefty Irvin, gave the Red Wings a two-game lead in the circuit with the Newark Bears to open a series of three games here to-day.

MONTREAL, Que., May 13. — (Canadian Press).—Montreal captured the final contest of the four-game series with Jersey City here yesterday afternoon by the score of 8-3 and thus took the series, three games to one.

Steady pitching by Chester Nichols who survived a wobbly second inning, and consistent hitting by the Royals at the expense of Verne Underhill and Harold Roberts, was too much for the Cats.

NEWS AROUND THE C.O.B.L. CIRCUIT

Clippings From C.O.B.L.

Deloro has added another Queen's man to their squad of senior ball players in the person of "Blurp" Stuart, who will be seen on the Deloro nine at the conclusion of his duties. He is reputed to be a heavy hitter and finished ball player—Oshawa Times.

A new umpire this year to be introduced to Central League fans from this city will be Allan Meagher. He is no newcomer to the Central League, however, as he played ball for Belleville for several years before retiring. While a ball player of repute, he gained the nickname of "Lucky" and he may be glad to call on his patron before the season is over. However time alone will tell.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The 21st Battalion Club, operating the Local C. O. B. L. team, are busy signing up players and a number have been asked to get in line with the team. They are endeavoring to arrange an exhibition game here about Monday, May 20th, and if this is arranged a great crowd should be on hand.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

The reserved seat sale for the ball games ere this summer opened today but it is reported that there was no rush for the ducats when the doors of Charlie Symons hosiery emporium opened this morning. It's little wonder. Fans haven't yet got warmed up to the baseball situation with the frigid weather of the past three weeks.

Do you know that two weeks from today the baseballers will be on deck? Unless Old Sol does his stuff in the next fortnight George Griffin, Major Pratt and the rest of the executive body will need to equip the boys with snowshoes and hockey sticks.

Home Runs Feature Giants-Cubs Tie

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 13. (C.P.) —The Giants and the Cubs played a spirited to 6 tie in 11 innings yesterday as the series ended. Rain and approaching darkness ended the combat played before a capacity crowd of 50,000.

Home runs played a major part in the battle, nine of the 12 runs being directly due to four base pokes. Kiki Cupier and Hack Wilson hit early homers for the Cubs while Mel Ott retaliated for the Giants, the bases being empty on each occasion.

CENTRAL ONTARIO BALL LOOP READY TO OPEN NEW CAMPAIGN EXECUTIVE PASSES CERTIFICATES

All Five Clubs Represented At Meeting Here Saturday to Prepare For Season.

SCHEDULE ADOPTED.

New Players On All League Teams To Add Interest To Race.

The Central Ontario Baseball League is all set for the opening of its 1929 campaign as the result of an enthusiastic meeting held in the Empress Hotel Saturday afternoon when certificates were passed and the schedule adopted.

There are several new faces in the league ranks this season and the outlook is bright for a colorful race.

President R. A. Elliott of Deloro was in the chair and others present were W. Mitchell of Oshawa, vice-president and incidentally an old Peterborough boy; Secretary-treasurer Newton Thompson of Belleville; Walter Gerow and W. Mills, Belleville; H. A. M. Nally, Deloro; J. G. Murray, Kingston, and Max Swanston, Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, Vic Hamilton, W. L. Ferguson and Al Heckman of the Peterborough club.

R. M. Glover, past president of the O.H.A.; Alex Kay, and Edgar LeBarr and William Kay of the Raybestos team, were guests at the meeting.

The affair was most harmonious. The only discussion over the certificates arose over the qualification of several Queen's students to play with Deloro, and was concerned with the broad question of the student rule rather than with any real objection to these players being allowed to play with Deloro. The clubs announced their representatives on the executive as follows:

Belleville, Walter Gerow; Deloro, H. A. McNally; Oshawa, Walter Fair; Kingston, J. G. Murray, and Peterborough, V. Hamilton.

The appointment of umpires will be in the hands of of President R. A. Elliott, who will allocate neutral umpires to the various games from the following list: Kingston, George Sullivan; Belleville, H. G. Woodley, A. G. Meagher; Peterborough, Alex. Kay, E. LeBarr, L. LeBarr Jr, J. G. McCarney; Cobourg, W. Skitch; Delero, W. Kerr.

On a vote, the Spalding ball was adopted as the special ball for the league. Oshawa and Deloro representatives favored allowing the teams to make a choice between the Spalding and Reach balls; but their amendment was lost.

The certificates passed were as follows:

Oshawa—James S. Ogden, J. R. Wills, Jimmy Quinn, Theo. Elliott, Walter Schultz, H. Matthews, H. C. Morrison, R. McCallum, R. J. Fair, Doc. Rowden, Stan. Crossett, H. Osborne, Alex Grey, S. Penu, G. Carver, Gordon Young, Ike Sutton.

Certificates of players Tonkin, Mitchell, and Lycett were held up for further information.

Belleville.—Walter Gerow, L. Utronki, W. Mills, H. Mills, V. Weir, Harry Blakeley, R. Scott, "Wicky" Rass, A. Weir, Sonny Green, M. Green, Frank Bennett.

Deloro.—Harold Buck, T. E. Ibey, Art Quinn, Carl Wood, Jim Hughes, Bob Elliott, A. E. Stuart, W. Regan, W. Scott, G. McInroy, H. Boudreau, Art Berry, W. Ralph, Frank Leal, Bert Brown, George Scott.

Peterborough.—Max Swanston, Fred Ash, Jeff Hardill, Doug. Hatton, Ernie Legon, Fred Hickey, Al Heckman, Jack Hall, Tom Holyman, H. Hollingsworth, V. Beavis, Hap Harrison, Shiner Johnston, Roy Smythe, Ray Rose, K. Mein, J. Marchen, L. Hollingsworth. The certificates of Jimmy Hall, transferred here from Guelph will be passed when approved by the O.B.A. certificate.

Kingston. — Art Twigg, Hewett Smith, Charles R. Williams, "Chummy" Lawlor, S. H. Gileson, A. J. Vance, R. Spore, J. Arniel, Del Cherry.

Browns Swamp Boston To Win 15-3 Decision

ST. LOUIS, May 13. (C.P.) — The St. Louis Browns went on a hitting rampage yesterday and lambasted three Boston hurlers for 18 blows to win the final game of the series, 15 to 3, in seven innings. The game was called before the seventh inning was over because of a downpour of rain.

Errors Prove Costly For the Boston Braves

BOSTON, May 13. — (Canadian Press).—Cincinnati rushed through to a 9 to 3 victory over the fumbling Braves before a 25,000 Sunday crowd yesterday afternoon. The home warriors made five errors and although they hit Rixey hard, were unable to hit them safely and in clusters.

CANSO, N.S., May 13—(Canadian Press).—Two fishermen from the motor schooner Charles L. were lost on Tuesday, May 17, on Emerald Bank, Captain Ben Cunningham reported this morning on the schooner's arrival here. The men were William Hudson of Digby County and Richard Cotrell, of Port Medway, both 65 years old and both unmarried. The men were dory fishing in a thick fog and failed to return to the ship.

QUAKERS LOSE 9-3 DECISION TO SMELTERS

Heavy Condition of the Grounds Hinders Visitors in Play.

HERE ON WEDNESDAY.

Meet Brintons in Opening Game On Latter's Recreation Grounds.

MARMORA, May 13.—Under lowering skies and on a ground rendered heavy by reason of recent rain, Peterborough Quakers lost a keenly contested game at Deloro on Saturday afternoon by the score of 9-3. Only two of the visiting players, Fowler and Watkins, had played upon the Deloro ground before and this fact partly accounted for the heavy defeat of the Peterborough eleven, for they were unaccustomed to the ball going dead. Stripped of its advantage, Deloro will not find victories of large margin so easy in the city and soccer fans should be privileged to witness a close struggle next Wednesday when the Smelters play the Brintons on the latter's ground. For Saturday's game, Deloro's new nets were in use for the first time and through the prolific scoring may be said to have been well chirstened. Deloro kicked off, facing the wind and soon a corner was conceded them, but without advantage. W. Brown receiving a pass from the wing then shot wide. With the homesters bunched up in front of the Peterborough citadel. Cross accidentally turned the ball in to count as Deloro's first goal. For a while there was little to choose between the teams. Each goal would be visited in turn through individual rushes, but the goalies found clearance easy. After Fowler had negotiated a hot shot from E. Brown, W. Brown shot wide Deloro then besieged the Quaker goal but could not get the wanted sting into their shots until Fowler cleverly kept out a stiff one from J. Hart. Then Gresham placed Deloro further ahead with two goals in quick succession. Taking a pass from Brooks he deftly headed the ball past Fowler, while his second goal crowned an individual rush. Quakers were no long denied a score. Murray incurred a penalty through handling the ball the ball in, in a manner such as and Craig, the visiting captain, sent gave Green no chance. The Black and Whites were now on their mettle and good chances twice went astray as Dyer fed the wing instead of the centre. An exciting time ensued in front of the Deloro goal when Green held on to the ball and Galloway tried to get it away. The situation was eased after the throw up. End to end rushes featured the next ten minutes. After Delero had taken a corner, Fowler who had been playing well, made a poor clearance and Cousins rushing up, headed the ball through. As half time came Deloro led by four goals to one. The second half opened in interesting fashion. Green being early called upon to save. Then the other goal was visited and Fowler made a nice save. Playing good combination Capt. Craig's boys became aggressive and Green was tested. Indulging in one of his fast rushes, W. Brown broke through and scored a lovely goal. Play was then taken into Deloro's territory and Green saved, but Watkins seizing a good opportunity found the net with a clinking shot. Both teams tried without success for further goals until Watkins again saw an opening and beat Green Fowler, at the other end, saved well from Gresham, and then play returned to the Deloro goal for Green to save, Galloway somersaulting over the gaolie as he held the ball. The remainder of the game saw Deloro break through successfully four times, Gresham, Brooks and the Browns getting a goal apiece. As the game ended, a heavy thunder storm broke over the field and the fifty odd spectators quickly sought refuge. At different periods of the game rooting such as is common at a baseball game was indulged in by some of the home fans. J. Clarke who handled the game very fairly and impartially, took the outbursts good naturedly, as did the players.

The teams lined up as follows:

Quakers —Goal, H. Fowler; backs J. Cross, F. Honour; half-backs, J. Budworth, T. Craig (capt.), J. Armstrong; forwards, A. Watkins, J. Dyer, F. Galloway, G. Dixon and T. Williams. Linesman, T. Stewart.

Deloro—Goal, D. Green; backs, R. D. Murray, C. T. Nicholson (capt.), half-backs, N. Hipson, J. Hart, W. Savage; forwards, T. Cousins, J. Brown, T. M. Gresham, W. Brown, G. Brooks. Linesman, S. J. Sanderson.

CRICKET CLUB AND GROVE IN DRAW BATTLE

Local Club Holds First Game of Season's Activities at Lakefield.

ATTRACTIVE SCHEDULE.

Hamilton and Thorpe Bat Well For the Visiting Team.

The Peterborough Cricket Club opened the local season up on Saturday afternoon, with a match with the Grove School, Lakefield at Lakefield. The school boys were strengthened by the assistance of a few masters and gave a very creditable showing. The Peterborough team were not at full strength, three of their regular team not turning out, their places being filled, however, by substitutes. Rain came just when the game was at an interesting stage and stumps were drawn.

For the Peterborough team Hamilton and Thorpe added 52 runs for the third wicket after the first two batsmen had been disposed of for 6 runs. Hamilton made some fine strokes, while his partner scored freely around the wicket. Dunkerly was brilliantly caught by Wishart, the fieldsman who fell in making the catch. Lavery also made fine catches in disposing of Hamilton and Monkman. Dawson bowled brilliantly, capturing 7 wickets for 16 runs. Peck also bowled well, taking 2 wickets for 13 runs. The fielding of the Lakefield team was excellent.

Marling, Dawson and Trebilcock for The Grove, batted well. Runs and wickets came and fell with regularity and when rain came on and spoilt the finish 7 wickets were down for 43 runs and the game was left a draw. For Peterborough Thorpe took 3 wickets for 23 runs, Dunkerley 2 for 7, and Jefferson 2 for 8. The Peterborough fielding was not up to its usual standard, three or four catches being missed.

A return game has been arranged for next Saturday afternoon at the Oval, providing the ground is fit to play on, otherwise it will be played at Lakefield.

Opposition League May Be Formed By Chicago Interests.

TORONTO, May 13.—Never in the history of hockey have so many notables gathered together as the National League meeting here last Saturday attracted. Major and minor magnates, managers and players made Toronto their home over the week-end, and, although mystery surrounded most of the conferences and deals, the annual meeting was voted one of the most successful and important of all time.

President Frank Calder of the National League was in charge, while others in attendance were as follows: Charles Adams and Art Ross of Boston; "Conny" Smythe and Pete Campbell, Toronto; James Strachan and Eddie Gerard, Montreal Maroons; Leo Dandurand, Canadiens; Major Frederick McLaughlin, Tom Shaughnessy and Bill Tobin, Chicago; Charles Hughes, Detroit; Dave Gill, Ottawa; W Callahan, Pittsburgh; Lester Patrick and Colonel Hammond, New York Rangers; and W. V. Dwyer, Marshall Hannon and Lionel Conacher, New York American.

No Second Chicago Franchise.

Frank Patrick, representing the Paddy Harmon Chicago interests, didn't get a chance to do any arguing, the plea for a franchise not even being considered when Major McLaughlin ruled that he was absolutely opposed to the invasion of Chicago teritory by major or minor leagues affiliated with the National League. Patrick, as usual, kept his own counsel, and made no threats of reprisal, but it is was reported that Harmon will operate an independent circuit in the Chicago Stadium, and that in all likelihood Frank Patrick will be brought east to guide the new league. If he accepts the responsibility the Black Hawk owners are in for the battle of their lives, because Patrick knows hockey and all about hockey wars.

But the possibility of war did not cause any dismay among the National League owners. They believe that they are sitting in the drivers' seats, and they are ready for all eventualities.

The Boson Bruins, word's champions, and holders of the Stanley Cup, drew three players in the draft, thus strengthening the suspicion that Charles Adams plans to operate a team in the Canadian-American League next season. Those drafted by Boston were as follows: Bob Taylor of the Boston Tigers, Martin Berry of New Haven, and Art Chapman of Providence.

Eddie Powers, manager of the Boston Tigers, champions of the Canadian-American League, stated that he was delighted that the Bruins had drafted Taylor and not Deacon White, his star centre man. Taylor is a United States product, and, while capable, is not rated as effective as Waite, one of the shiftiest mid-ice players in the minor loops.

New York Rangers drafted Quenneville, left-wing player of the Newark team, while others taken into higher company were: By New York Americans, Billy Boyd of Springfield; by Montreal, Tommy Cook of Tulsa; by Chicago, "Duke" Dutkowski of Kansas City and Bill Ingram of St. Paul; by Detroit, "Rusty" Hughes of Buffalo.

It will be seen that Hughes of Buffalo was the only player drafted from the Canadian League. He is a high-class performer, and will likely beat out Bill Brydge and "Rocky" Rockburn for a regular place in the Cougar line-up. Hughes, who is only a youngster, is a native of Haileybury. He has been in professional hockey for two years, and previous to that played for the Porcupine Intermediates.

UMPIRE BADLY HURT IN CLEVELAND RIOT

Emmett Ormsley, Struck By Bottle, Has Concussion of Brain.

CLEVELAND, May 13. — Umpire Emmett T. Ormsby, who was struck on the head by a pop bottle in a demonstration by fans during the Philadelphia-Cleveland game here Saturday, last night was found suffering from concussion of the brain and was placed under the constant care of a physican and nurse.

Ormsby was the innocent victim of a bottle barrage laid down by spectators incensed over a decision by Umpire Willam M. (Brick) Campbell, which cut off a promising Indian rally in the eighth inning of the game, which they lost to the Athletics.

It also was learned last night that Joe Boley, Philadelphia shortstop, and Kid Gleason, Philadelphia coach, were struck by the missiles. Boley suffered a cut on the back of his head, and Gleason was hit in the small of his back.

As a result of the demonstration, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland club, yesterday was suspended for five days by E. S. Barnard, President of the American League.

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

(By "TED" OUTRAM)

ON THE TAPIS FOR THE WEEK.

BASEBALL—Loyal Order of Moose Juvenile Team will hold a work out to-night on the west diamond of the Exhibition grounds at 6 o'clock; also to-morrow night at the same hour in King Edward Park.
Central League Team will practise in King Edward School Grounds to-night at 6 p.m. sharp.
Lockworks Junior Baseball will practice to-night in Exhibition Grounds at 6 p.m.
SOCCER — Peterborough and District Football Association meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at eight o'clock.
CRICKET—Cricket Club will hold practises on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights of this week. (At the Oval 6.15 sharp.)

WOOLLENS AND DELORO IN LEAGUE LEAD TIE

Before a big crowd the Dominion Woollens sprung a surprise on the Canadian Packers, taking them 2 to 1 in the soccer game on Saturday afternoon. Although the Packers played perfect football the Woollens came on with such spirited dashes that there was no stopping them.

In Deloro the home team swamped the Quakers 9 to 3. It is said that the rough, spongy nature of the field had a great deal to do with the Quakers defeat.

* * * * * *

WEATHERMAN AGAINST BALL PRACTISES.

The rain on Saturday again held up all the baseball practises that had been scheduled for that afternoon. The ball teams are away behind in their training because of the almost continuous cold and damp weather. With the Central League team due to hook up with the General Motors nine in Oshawa on May 24, and the City League tentatively planning to have their curtain raisers on the 25th, it looks as though the teams will have to crowd in a great deal of work within the next ten days.

* * * * * *

ROYALS WILL NOT ENTER CITY LEAGUE

Lack of players owing to their being attracted away to other teams, has caused the All Saints' Royals to definitely decide to remain out of baseball for this year. The Royals have always fielded a smart team, and they have been consistent in winning honors in the City League. It was hoped that they would be back again this season, but at a meeting of the club, after a thorough discussion, it was unwillingly decided that the difficulties were too great.

* * * * * *

CRICKET CLUB OPENS SEASON.

The Peterborough Cricket Club played their first game of the season in Lakefield on Saturday afternoon. They were not at full strength, but did well, rain probably robbing them of a victory. The club's score would have been rather low had it not been for a splendid third wicket partnership between Hamilton and Thorpe.

All members are requested to turn out to the practises, and new members will be welcomed since there are still openings on the team.

LACROSSE TEAM AT CAMPBELLFORD.

Lacrosse is booming again in Campbellford. Already the nucleus of an intermediate team has been in the field and withstood the rigors of two stiff practises. But the team will not be performing on their home grounds unless some other arrangements are made for an exhibition game in Campbellford. The team is being gathered together for one game only, which is to be played against Oshawa at the United Empire Loyalist Day, June 19, in Deseronto.

When the lacrosse games of former days are recalled, it is a safe bet that everyone who can possibly make the grade on June 19th, will be on hand in Deseronto to see the rivals battle out once more.

* * * * * *

C. G. E. NOT LIKELY TO FIELD TEAM.

The Toronto Star carried the news in its lacrosse column that the Peterborough C. G. E. would have an intermediate lacrosse team to play in a group to be formed of Havelock and Hastings team. Although it is hoped that Lacrosse will awaken again here it is more than doubtful if the C.G.E. will have a team.

The Old Boys in their game during the Old Home Week are going to show the present generation just what a great game lacrosse really is. The stands will be packed for the set-to.

Lacrosse is gaining ground in Toronto and this summer 36 teams are promised to be in action in the Queen City.

HARMON'S PROPOSAL TURNED DOWN.

Paddy Harmon's bomb of asking for the franchise of a second team in Chicago,failed to visibly ruffle the surface of the National Hockey League on Saturday. Although Harmon made the request, as expected, Major McLaughlin of the Black Hawks, refused to give permission for the invasion of the Windy City territory. The proposal was immediately thrown out.

Harmon and Frank Patrick, it is claimed, will now co-operate to bring the four-team league of the Pacific Coast to Chicago to operate as an independent league.

Several high-class players were drafted, three of them by the Boston Bruins, but it was noticeable that Pittsburg, who need help in the worst way, waived their rights to draft players from minor league teams.

All the meetings of the governors of the N.H.L. were held behind closed doors, and they reported very little as they came out.

IT MIGHT BE WORSE.

Queen's University officials who desire to pool Intercollegiate Union football receipts have certain merit to their claim. Kingston, a small city, cannot support senior football, and this despite the great loyalty shown to the tricolor by Limestone City enthusiasts since 1921. It may surprise many to learn that football brings no golden harvest at the eastern institution, but here is what the Queen's Review, of recent date, says, in part:

"Unlike the case in many United States colleges, football does not carry the cost of other games. At Queen's, Intercollegiate football alone normally does not pay for itself There has been a surplus only when there have been large gates in the Dominion playoffs, or a triple tie (as there was three years ago.)

But at that it might be worse—much worse. For instance, way back in 1911, in a game at the old Athletic Field, Queen's shocked the fans so thoroughly by gaining a 19-to-6 lead over McGill that, with four minutes to play most of the 300 spectators departed.. But McGill won that game 20 to 19. The scoring details are too painful to recall. Two years later Queen's "absorbed" 40-to-2 trouncing at Montreal, and so perfectly did they "absorb" it that on the occasion of the return game at Kingston interest in the game was so intense that the science students went to the country for an outing, and the arts scholars weren't even tempted to build another massacre. Medicine, however, was well represented, because those budding doctors expected to go into action. The smallest crowd in history was, however, absolutely astounded, and McGill and Frank Shaughnessy were knocked into a state bordering on insensibility when the Tricolor introduced the secondary defense system, and whipped the Red and White by 12 to 7. — Toronto Globe.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL

"CHINATOWN NIGHTS" WITH WALLACE BEERY AND FLORENCE VIDOR A THRILLING STORY FROM "TONG WAR" WILL BE THE FEATURE SCREEN PRESENTATION AT THE CAPITOL TO-NIGHT. THE VAUDEVILEE WILL BE SUPPLIED BY A TEAM OF OLD TIMERS, KEEFER AND ALBERTS. THE Y.M.C.A. BOYS WILL GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS IN PHYSICAL WORK AT THE EVENING PERFORMANCES.

Capitol patrons tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will be treated to an exhibition of physical work by the boys from the Y.M.C.A. in addition to the regular picture and vaudeville program. The latter will be a comedy skit entitled "Golfing" by a team of old timers, Keefer and Alberts.

One of the greatest character actors of the screen, Wallace Beery, has his greatest role in the swift-moving action mystery drama, "Chinatown Nights," which opens at the Capitol to-day. It is a role demanding an infinite amount of power and resource and Beery brings to it all the force and skill which has led him step by step up the ladder to screen success.

"Chinatown Nights" deals with the love of a scintillating woman of society for a course, brutal, cynical white man who rules a million Chinese through the national tong organization. This love drags the woman down to the gutter of Chinatown's underworld until, finally, her pitiable condition arouses a responsive cord in the white boss of Chinatown. Together they seek regeneration.

In this setting of intrigue, mystery and absorbing suspense, Florence Vidor performs one of her most dramatic parts. She is superb in the difficult role which turns her from a bright society butterfly into an abject creature, too depraved for pity or scorn. Opposite Beery, she has the opportunity for a great triumph and those who see "Chinatown Nights" at the Capitol theatre will long remember her surprising portrayal.

An excellent group of screen artists, including Warner Oland and Jack Oakie are in the cast and William A. Wellman, the man who made "Wings", directed the picture.

Keys Beat Pirates In Exhibition Game

READING, Pa., May 13.—(Canadian Press).—Reading Internationals pounded Lee Meadows for 16 hits here yesterday to defeat the Pittsburg Pirates of the National League in an exhibition game, 10 to 6. Joe Kelley, Reading outfielder, hit three home runs, and George Quellich, also Reading, hit for the circuit. Kelly drove in seven runs.

BALDWIN RUNS IN BEWDLEY

Premier Outlines Conservative Platform in Nomination Speech.

NO SPECTACULAR PROMISES

WORCESTER, England, May 13. — (Canadian Press).—Premier Stanley Baldwin was adopted Saturday as Conservative candidate for Bewdley, Worcestershire, a seat his family has represented for nearly half a century. Mr. Baldwin succeeded his father and recently celebrated his majority as member of the House of Commons for the division.

The adoption took place at a special general meeting of the local Unionist Association in the Guild Hall of Worcester. The historic building was crowded by the local people, including country folk and farmers, many of whom have known Mr. Baldwin since his boyhood. Invariably to greet him affectionately as "Stanley Lad." The Prime Minister, smoking his familiar pipe, chatted with many of these old yeomen.

Makes No Promises.

Premier Baldwin, in his election address, reiterated his refusal to make any spectacular promises, laid down a comprehensive program to stimulate trade and create permanent employment, and declared there would be no general tariff. All industries may seek the aid of the "safeguarding" system providing taxation of food is not involved, he added.

The Prime Minister stated he would continue to promote the Imperial Preference Principle, to which the other parts of the Empire, to-day Britain's best customers, had appreciatively responded.

After adoption by the Conservative Association of his constituency Bewdley, as candidate again, the Prime Minister announced his complete agreement with the demand of Rt. Hon. Ramsay Macdonald, Labor leader, for a clear-cut majority for one or the other of the parties in order to avoid a stalemate in the next Parliament.

Pin Wheel—Ch.c., three-year-old by First Sight-Sky Rocket, by Star Shoot, the handsome looking son of First Sight, is one of the leading contenders for the King's Plate. The Thorncliffe Stable's main hope, after being on the sick list this winter, is going soundly again and is doing all that is asked of him in a manner that satisfies his trainer, Fred Schenke. Whether or not he will be a starter is up to the stable management. This colt showed a very impressive record as a two-year-old. Facing the starter on eleven occasions, he finished first three times, was second five times and finished third twice. Pin Wheel is a good one and has proven he is game and should, if he is a fit horse on May 18, finish in the first three.

SEASONABLE HORTICULTURAL HINTS

Pilgrimages to country woods in search of wild flowers will soon be commencing, and there will be many attempts to establish roots of these delicate wild things in the garden at home. Provided that the natural patches of wild flowers along the roadsides and in the woods are not stripped completely, there is no objection to importing a few roots, but the task will be largely wasted unless some care is taken. When the flowers are in bloom is certainly not the best time to transplant; but then, if we wait until the bloom is over, the plant becomes more or less dormant, which is really the proper time for transplanting, many of us will not be able to identify the thing we want. The best plan is to note carefully the plant when in bloom, so that we can identify it from the leaves after the bloom is faded. In lifting, care must be exercised to get as many of the roots as follows, and note should be taken of the surroundings, as we must give this plant similar surroundings in its new location. Generally speaking, most wild flowers grow in a shady spot, and in very moist, loose soil, filled with humus, which is decayed vegetable matter. They should, therefore, be planted on the shady side of the house, in loose, open

WILD FLOWERS soil, well mixed with decayed leaves and grass clippings, and in planting, most of them should be placed in the soil and watered, not pressed in firmly, as domestic plants require. Given the same environment in regard to soil, moisture and shade conditions as they have when growing naturally, all of our wild flowers can be successfully transplanted, if the actual removal takes place when the buds first appear in the spring, or, better still, after the flowering period. Ferns are best moved very early in the spring, before they make any considerable growth. In picking wild flowers, as much of the foliage as possible should be left on the plants, or the whole thing is liable to perish. This is particularly true with the Jack-in-the-pulpits and similar flowers which have all bloom and foliage on a single stem, and the pulling of this means that the root will die because there is no foliage left to support it. Patches of flowers of this type should not be stripped, as they will not reproduce unless a fair proportion of the flowers is left.

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the source of the seed supply, either for the flower or vegetable garden, or for that matter for planting of any kind. While much of our vegetable and flower seed is not grown in this country, nevertheless there is a big difference in the kind sold by Canadian houses and that put up elsewhere. Naturally, with a reputation often based on half a century of continued business, Canadian houses take the greatest care to bring in only that seed which will do well under Canadian conditions. Flowers and vegetables which may give wonderful results in the Southern States, or in the more temperate climate of Great Britain for instance, are very liable to prove disappointing here where the climate demands something that matures quickly. After all, the cost of seed is a negligible factor in gardening and particularly in flower gardening, where on can place no money value on results. The soil may be in perfect shape, cultivation, everything that can be desired, and there may be plenty of fertilizer and good weather, but if the seed is not right, which means fresh and true to variety, failure

SEED is bound to result. Many amateurs make a practice of saving some of their own seed from year to year. If the garden is very large and one can well afford to experiment, this may prove an interesting hobby, but the fact that there is very little chance of getting something worth while makes it a most doubtful proposition in regard to the main supply of vegetables and flowers. One may have a remarkable sweet pea, for example, one that produces a desirable bloom, large and brilliantly colored, but there is no guarantee that the seed from this bloom will produce a flower of anything like the quality of the parent plant. Bees and other insects mix the pollen of all flowers indiscriminately and, as a result, the seed produced in the ordinary way is usually a mixture of all blooms and therefore a flower of weak coloring and small size. Flower seeds as handled by the big houses are grown by skilled men who have acres of ground at their disposal and who can screen each individual flower and mix the pollen by hand. Moreover, no attempt is made to produce a profusion of blooms, seed alone being desired.

To get stout, vigorous plants, one must move them around at least once, or better still, twice, before they are transferred to their permanent quarters outside. This rule applies to most flowers and vegetables started indoors, such as zinnias, marigolds, asters, petunias and cosmos, among the flowers, and tomatoes, cauliflower, cabbage, head lettuce, of the vegetables. It does not TRANSPLANT apply to those things like corn, melons and sweet peas, plants which which ordinarily are not grown inside, as these should be disturbed as little as possible. With the others, however, transplanting develops a sturdy root-growth prevents long, spindly, weak stems, and gives the young plants a better chance to develop than if left crowded in the original box. The transplanting should be done in a dull place, and the new beds well watered after moving is complete. Keep full sun away for a couple of days. Before moving outside, gradually harden off by having sheltering window raised for some days before moving. A pinch of nitrate of soda at this time will help the plants get quickly established.

Every year more and more rose bushes are shipped to Canada from the Old Country, and this year is no exception. These bushes come from growers who have been in the business for generations. In practically every garden to-day you will find some of the old favorites from across the sea. Apparently there is something in the soil and climate of BRITISH ROSES Great Britain which produces a firmness of the wood and other hardy characteristics so essential to plants which must face our Canadian winters. In buying roses, as other perennials and flowers, it is important to get good stock. This may cost more, as this has been selected as particularly adaptable to Canadian conditions. Only those bushes with fresh green wood and live buds should be used.

She Suffered Terribly with Backache

New Brunswick Lady Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

"Am sending you my experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills," writes Mrs. John Groat, Box 127, Chatham, N.B. "I was suffering with a very severe Backache all the time. I could hardly turn in bed. After taking three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I can assure you I have had great relief from pain. I am still taking them and think they are all that you claim them to be."

Backache is generally Kidney Ache. This pain usually indicates some disorder of the Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve Backache by toning up the Kidneys to do their work of straining all the impurities, all the poisons, out of the blood.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

A PACK OF TROUBLES

I have a pack of troubles,
I'm glad as I can be,
For troubles used to walk right past
And never look at me.
Of course, I had some old ones,
But they are through and done;
It wasn't long before I found
That wasn't any fun.

I see the placid ladies
Who never knit their brow,
Who get their three good meals a day
And never wonder how.
I see some gray old geezer
Without a babe or wife,
With not a thing to struggle for,
Who thinks that that is life.

My world is hills and valleys,
Not always nice and flat,
And I have things to worry about—
And, gosh, I'm glad of that!
For, if it isn't one thing,
It's something else, if not —
It makes me laugh to think of all
The troubles I have got!

THE man who has his Winter's coal is bought at the low Spring price—is justified in some self-congratulation.

He has saved money. In fact, he has made his coal investment pay better than bank-interest.

He is freed from the necessity of keeping one eye on the calendar and the other on the thermometer, as the cool autumn days approach.

His family is protected against the illnesses that may result from the combination of an early cold-wave and an unheated house.

Finally, he has given his dealer a fair chance to deliver his coal as the dealer wants to deliver it—promptly, carefully and free from snow and ice.

And if he has bought Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite he finds himself with a further reason for his satisfaction.

For this grand old fuel, with a hundred years of unfailing heat-service behind it, assures him of steady, easily controlled warmth, with a minimum of attention to his heater.

TRANSPLANTED TREES AIDED BY PARAFFINE WAX

Horticulturists Find It Difficult To Get Newly Planted Trees to Grow.

EXPERIMENT CONDUCTED.

Dr. C. M. Wright, of Garden Hill, Has Had Wonderful success With Wax Treated Trees.

Millbrook, May 13.—Amongst the varied problems that confron the horticulturist that of getting newly planted trees to grow is one of the most common. This is particularly true of the sweet cherry, roses, and nut trees, but also occurs with some other kinds. Nurserymen likewise experience difficulty in storing, and transporting, trees or shrubs in good condition over long distances. These difficulties are due to various factors, but the principal one is believe to be drying out of roots and trunks, which takes place between the time of digging, and re-planting. Root drying may be prevented in the nursery by protection of the roots while in storage, and by careful packing for shipment, and the planters can likewise do their part by carefully heeling in until ready to plant.

It is not so easy, however, to prevent drying out of tops in storage, or transit, without undue expense or trouble, and consequently there is usually some loss due to this factor when trees are shipped long distances.

Believing that some form of protection for the trunks and branches would be helpful in shipping trees to distant points, and in getting newly transplanted trees to grow, Professor Jas. A. Neilson, of the Horticultural Branch of the Department of Agriculture, conducted an experiment to determine the value of paraffine wax as one form of protection. The use of paraffine wax was suggested by the good results secured in sending scions to distant points, and in storing rare varieties of nut tree scions, for long periods of time.

Experiment Described.

Experiment which illustrate these points are described as follows: On October 16, 1925, a fine young grafted heartnut tree was blown down by a heavy wind, and in the ordinary course of events would have been lost, had not an attempt been made to save the tree by novel methods. The trunk and branches were cut into sections of one foot in length, and these were entirely coated with hot paraffine wax, then packed in moist sawdust, and stored in a cool place. During the winter the package containing the scions was inadvertently taken out and left in the open, where it was fully exposed to the action of wind and frost for nearly three weeks; when found, it was returned to the storehouse and left until spring. On May 14, 1926, the scions were unpacked and grafted or budded on to suitable stocks of seedling Japanese walnuts. Quite unexpectedly a fair percentage started and grew well, and thus this rare variety was saved from destruction.

Equally good results were obtained in shipping waxed walnut scions to England, and in transporting scionwood of fruit and nut trees from Poland to Canada, the latter being cut early in the year, and carefully waxed according to Professor Neilson's directions, before shipment. The scions arrived in Canada early in March and were held in storage until May 21, when they were grafted on to native sweet chestnut stocks.

Shipped to British Columbia.

Some of the chestnut scions were sent to Gellatly Brothers, in British Columbia, and there grafted onto native sweet stocks. Observations made recently in Ontario and British Columbia, show a high percentage of scions growing thus affording another proof of the value of parraffine wax for preserving plant material.

It may be said that scions keep well without wax for long periods of time in moist sawdust, but experience shows this not necessarily true, since the moisture content and temperature varies considerably; in some cases too much moisture is present; or high temperatures occur, and injury to the buds takes place, while in others the sawdust may become too dry and the scions suffer by dessication.

In the tree planting experiment a number of heartnut trees were dug and the roots packed in spagnum moss; the trunks were then coated with a thin film of hot paraffine wax, and the trees despatched for planting. After being on the way for several days, planting took place and according to observations and reports the trees all started to grow, and did well through the season.

Another interesting point showing the value of wax was seen on some of the waxed trees. On a few a section several inches long was purposely left unwaxed, and on these sections the buds were much slower in coming out than on the waxed areas. The unwaxed trees were likewise slower in starting into growth, and fewer buds developed into shoots than was the case with the waxed trees.

In further and more definite support of the theory that paraffine wax is useful as an aid in the growth of newly-planted trees, an interesting point was noticed in an apple orchard owned by E. V. Atkinson, of Whitby, Ont. In this orchard there were thirty-six apple trees, and two mulberry trees, planted on May 10, 1928, with not very satisfactory results, as the mulberry trees and at least ten apple trees had failed to grow when seen by Professor Neilson the latter part of June. They were carefully examined and found to be badly dried out, and sick looking. The owner was advised to try a coating of hot paraffine wax on the trunks and main branches, and acting on this advice, to the surprise of all concerned, the dormant trees started into growth and have since grown very well.

Splendid Success.

Coming nearer this immediate locality, Dr. C. M. Wright, of Garden Hill, has had wax-treated trees and shrubs shipped to him and not a single one failed to grow and do well; a number of citizens of Port Hope, also, have had trees so treated sent to their order, with a like result in every case.

While the wax was being applied to the trees in the Atkinson orchard at Whitby, by an oversight, two were missed, though this fact was not noticed until about July 21, when to one of these dried out trees a coating of wax was applied and the other left for comparison. The late-waxed tree, like the others previously waxed, came out into leaf and made fair growth, whilt the unwaxed one has very little growth and continued just existing.

An interesting example of the effect of parowax on roses was observed on the property of Dr. J. M. Baldwin, of Bowmanville; early in May, Dr. Baldwin planted a number of rose bushes, received in rather poor condition. From the observations made of the effect of paraffine wax in protecting scions, Dr. Baldwin decided to experiment with parowax on his rose bushes, hence two were waxed and one left for comparison. The waxed bushes came out into leaf nicely, and the unwaxed one, like the unwaxed apple trees, made very little growth. The number of rose bushes is comparatively small, but results were good and indicate what might be expected with a larger number of plants under similar conditions.

Observations on walnut and fruit trees have been limited to about 50 waxed trees, and 25 without wax for comparison. Inasmuch as the number of trees under test is rather small, it is perhaps too early to say positively that paraffine wax should be generally used for such purposes; yet results were so good on the trees under observation that further experiments along this line are justified and will be proceeded with.

Prohibitive Material.

In the preservation of walnut scions, and experiments in topworking and propagating fruit and nut trees, it has been found that paraffine wax is positively one of the most valuable protective materials used so far. The work done in grafting fruit and nut trees has been under way for several years, and includes hundreds of trees; results have been so uniformly successful where paraffine wax was used, and so disappointing without its use, that one is justified in the above statement.

In view of these favorable results, and of the good effects on newly-planted trees of the use of paraffine wax, it appears that this material is of decided value in preventing dessication. The suggestion is therefore made that nurserymen, at the time of digging, try the effect of a thin coating of warm paraffine to the trunks of trees and shrubs that are to be shipped long distances, or which are difficult to transplant, or carry over in storage. Fruit growers and others who plant deciduous trees, or shrubs, might also get better results by using paraffine wax on plants that have not been previously so treated. The hot wax is easily and quickly applied with a small paint brush after digging, or before planting, or the tree may be planted and the wax then applied. The coat is very small, less than one cent a tree for the wax, and in any case no injury is likely to occur, and good results are practically certain to follow such treatment.

Some means of quickly waxing trees in nurseries are likely to be under way shortly, a deep vat wherein the trunks and tops of small trees, or shrubs, may be dipped in the hot wax, and quickly withdrawn, being the suggestion that is to be followed. The optimum temperature of the wax has not as yet been definitely ascertained, but it is known that woody plant material stands, without injury, a temperature of 160 degrees F. It must be clearly understood that the trees should be immersed only for a moment—just dipped in the wax and then rapidly withdrawn.

Professor Neilson, who is the originator of the hot wax treatment for trees and shrubs, in Canada at least, has been invited by the Michigan State College to take charge of nut culture work as the result of a donation from W. K. Kellogg, of Battle Creek. Mr. Kellogg has given 500 acres of land, and a substantial grant besides, to be devoted to experimental work with all kinds of edible nuts suitable to the climate and soil of Michigan. Professor Neilson, for the past eight years, has been carrying on investigations along this line, successfully demonstrating that many of the nuts at present imported into Canada may be grown here, including English walnuts, hazels, heartnuts, chestnuts, and hickories.

Whether Professor Neilson will accept the offer from the Michigan College is as yet indefinite, but it would surely be a distinct loss to the work of horticulture in Canada should he decide to ally himself with the American seat of learning.

Evicted Chicken Farmer Takes Own Life

WARNS SHERIFF'S OFFICERS BEFORE DRASTIC ACT

A. A. Jory, middle-aged chicken farmer, living about half a mile east of Pine Orchard, near Newmarket, Ont., after warning sheriff's officers, who were evicting him from his house, that they would take his possessions out only over his dead body, shot himself in front of his home. (1) A. A. Jory's home near Pine Orchard, in front of which he shot himself. (2) "Jack" Jory's dog and only companion in the house. (3) the dead man's chicken coop. (4) revolver Jory used to end his life. Behind it is seen a package found in his pocket, containing letters and a sum of money, and (5) some of the dead man's furniture taken out of the house by the eviction party. It was only a few feet further along the fence Jory shot himself.

NEWSBOY IS KILLED BY CAR

Falls From Bicycle and is Struck By An Automobile.

YOUTH RUN DOWN.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 13.—(Canadian Press).—Two accidents, one fatal, occured here Saturday evening. Joseph, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Bouillon, fell from the handlebars of a bicycle ridden by Alex. Thompson, a 13-year-old newsboy, his head striking violently against the rear fender of an automobile driven by Howard Irwin, a nephew of Mayor Irwin, and again struck the pavement as he fell unconscious. He died immediately.

Half an hour later, Peter Cornacchio, 3 years of age, started across the street, and in watching an approaching automobile failed to see a horse and wagon, driven by Pepino Candelori, approaching. The child was knocked down and the wheels of the wagon passed over his body, breaking three ribs. He is in a serious condition at the General Hospital.

were chosen with a view of the past and the future, with that beautiful old favorite, "Shall we gather at the River" turning the singers' thoughts backward, in direct contrast to another, 'Breathe on me breath of God,' a song prayer for future guidance.

Three Views.

When he had announced his text, "So that I might finish my course with joy," Principal Taylor, at the outset of his discourse, declared himself against the sermon whose scope did not seem to include the older folk—a failing of many present-day addresses. Thus he justified his selection of the text, and went on to indicate three views of old age, as expressed in Tennyson's "Ulysses," in the works of Browning, and in those of Matthew Arnold. All three were different, Arnold's depressing view, the speaker declared to be most common; Tennyson's "try again" creed a more commendable one, and Browning's reflective thought suited to many other folk.

Accounting for the fact that to the majority of people, growing old is a depressing prospect, and that comparatively few finish their course with joy, the speaker stated that very often old folks are left completely alone at the deaths of friends of their own generation; old folks often must shed their interests because of physical discrepancies, and finally, they often see the ideals for which they have striven, apparently defeated. To avoid such depression in old age, Principal Taylor emphasized three very necessary elements—the element of thankfulness, a habit of life, the meeting of one's daily benefits to others and self, and finally, the bearing of charity in one's views toward others. These three traits, properly developed through the progress of life, could not but enable the possessor to finish his course with joy.

WE THANK YOU!
WE TAKE the opportunity to extend our thanks to our patrons for the appreciation shown our Cafe in the first three days of our re-opening.
In three days since re-opening, the attendance broke all former records. The total number of customers served was 1887. (This is shown by actual count of our checks).
All were delighted in the beautiful manner in which the Cafe has been decorated; especially the ladies, who, when expressing their opinion, say its appearance is improved 100%.
Our new chef is creating widespread comment on his ability to create careful and delicious meals. From his wide experience he will have many palatable surprises for you. He was formerly employed at the Book-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit.
All our foods are protected by our two modern Frigidaire systems—one is employed in the kitchen, the other at the soda fountain.

GRAF ZEPPELIN PREPARES FOR OCEAN VOYAGE

Big Airship is Scheduled To Start For America Early Wednesday Morning.

CARRY 59 PERSONS.

Fine Weather Is Reported—Passengers Are Ordered To Be Ready By Midnight.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 14 (Canadian Press). — Fine weather for the departure of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin on her second trip to America to-morrow morning was predicted by Doctor Hugo Eckener this afternoon. So confident is the big airship's commander that nothing will happen to delay the start that he has ordered the passengers to be aboard by midnight Eastern standard time), and expects to start at 12.30 a.m. (Eastern standard time).

All messages for the airship will be communicated by the Noredeich station for the first half of the voyage and by the Chatham, England, station for the second half.

Final preparations for the departure of the giant dirigible were under way here to-day, with less than a full day separating it from the projected take-off.

Putting On Final Touches.

The little south German town was a beehive of activity to-day, with its quarters crowded with passengers, newspapermen and sightseers. At the Zeppelin"s' hangar mechanics and handlers busied themselves putting the last minute touches to the dirigible's apparatus and fittings.

It was assumed here after taking off to-morrow morning Dr Eckener will shape his course to Lakehurst, N.J., as far south as the Azores, or even further south, since adverse weather conditions are expected to prevail along the northern route The extreme southern course measures 7,500 miles as compared with 4,000 minimum mileage along the northern course.

Fifty-nine persons and one "lady" gorilla, "Missie" by name, who is addressed to the Chicago Zoo, will make the trip aboard the ship, 40 of the persons being members of the crew, as well as 440 pounds of freight. Among the passengers is Captain Sir

President May Veto Bill

Hoover Is Said To Be Dissatisfied With Recommendation of Tariff Committee.

FEARS FOREIGN TRADE.

Head of White House Will Probably Attempt to Have Bill Moderated.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 14 (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). —President Hoover is not at all pleased with the new tariff bill as reported from the House Ways and Means Committee, according to reports current in administration and Congressional circles. In fact persons close to the President say he is likely to veto the bill unless it is materially changed.

The dissatisfaction of the President is understood to arise from the fact that he fears the bill provides for so many increases that it will adversely affect United States foreign trade. He is understood to be apprehensive of reactions both in Canada, Europe and South America, which will hurt export business and thus in the long run do this country more harm than good.

Debenture Provision.

In some quarters it is said that if the export debenture provision should be shifted from the farm bill to the tariff bill it would certainly meet with a Presidential veto of the tariff bill. This is undoubtedly true. However, there is no real expectation here that an export debenture provision will find its way into either the farm bill or the tariff bill in the final stages of either bill since the House will not allow it.

President Hoover is making or is having made an expert study of the foreign trade effects of the tariff measure. He is expected to seek to have the bill moderated to meet the results of this survey. Failing to get it moderated, he would be faced with a most embarrassing situation which might end in a veto. On the other hand, high tariff leaders in Congress insist the President will not take such a great responsibility.

CANADIAN STUDENTS FORCED TO LEAVE BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

Students at Des Moines Given Police Escort To Their Trains.

TO PRESENT CASE.

University President Ignores Attacks Made On Him By Dr. Shields.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 14. (C.P.)—A faculty member and trustee of Des Moines University have gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to present to the Baptist Bible Union convention the students' and faculty's side of the dissension that has shaken the school.

On the same train with these two—Dean Earl C. Callaway and the Rev. Minor Stevens—was Miss Edith M. Rebman, secretary of the University Board and also of the Bible Union.

Four others left the campus last nights for their homes. They were E. Knechtel, Morris Rose, J. F. Dempster and Frank Smith, Canadian students. They were given police protection to the station to prevent a recurrence of a Sunday night demonstration which was the culmination of resentment which one faction of the student body harbored because of a belief that an effort was being made to "Canadianize" the school. Rose and Dempster were set upon by a group of students Sunday night in front of a minister's home where they had been given refuge.

President Remains.

Of the major actors in the discordant affairs of the university only one, Dr. Harry C. Wayman, deposed president, remained. Although he is listed to speak before the Buffalo convention, he decided to stay here to keep the university in operation. To leave, he believed, might be in contempt of a court injunction obtained yesterday by students under which the school is ordered to continue its classes despite an edict by the Board of Trustees closing the institution indefinitely.

The four Canadian students who returned home last night expressed their support of the policies of Dr. T. T. Shields, chairman of the University board and president of the Bible Union, who left Des Moines under police guard following the student outbreak Saturday night. They said they might return to school "when the trustees officially re-open it."

Dean Callaway indicated that the principal point of attack he and Mr. Stevens would make to the Bible Union would be against continued control of school administration by Dr. Shields and Miss Rebman. He said the deans were willing to sign the trustees' resolution, adopted Saturday, clearing Dr. Shields and Miss Rebman of charges of indiscretions, but that they had been give no opportunity to do so.

Insist on Hearing

"The faculty was satisfied on that point," he said. "Now we are going to insist on a hearing of the other matters regarding Dr. Shields' and Miss Rebman's interference in faculty affairs."

Curtailment of student social privileges also would be gone into, Mr. Stevens said.

There was a minor demonstration again Miss Rebman when she entrained last night. A small group of undergraduates sang a song ending, "Rah, rah, George Washington,"—the song which was said to have prvoked feeling between Canadian and American students.

The students also hissed as the car in which Miss Rebman rode pulled past them.

Miss Rebman was knocked down by a taxicab as she left her hotel and slightly injured.

Loyal to American Flag

One of Miss Rebman's last public statements here was a denial that she was anti-American or that she had interfered with the raising on the campus of the American flag.

"There isn't a bit of truth in the report," she said. "I am a Canadian citizen, but in my five years of residence in the United States I defy any person to cite any instance wherein I have been disloyal to the Stars and Stripes."

Dean Callaway said before his departure that he would attempt to present to the Bible Union convention charges that Miss Rebman maintained an espionage system to check on professors' classroom actions. He said allegations of a pro-Canadian attitude on the part of Miss Rebman, a few faculty members and some students also would be advanced.

Dr. Wayman declined to comment or charges made yesterday in Toronto by Dr. Shields, that the outbreak at the school was "to divert attention from an investigation into Dr. Wayman's degrees."

"I will ignore any attacks made upon me by Dr. Shields," the university president said.

MINING TAX HAS CLOSE CALL IN COMMITTEE OF HOUSE

Government is Sustained Twice By Margins of Eight and Six.

DIVISION SQUABBLE.

Minister Stands To His Guns and Insists Tax is Fair One.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14.—(By the C. P.)—The resolution providing for taxing sales and transfer of shares of stock, after a tempestuous passage last night, was finally reported out of committee as amended and stands for second reading. The House in committee voted twice before the resolution was finally reported. The first vote was 52 for, and 44 against. This was on the amendment introduced by Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, which made certain reductions in the tax as originally proposed on the lower priced or "penny stocks." The second vote was on the motion to report the resolution, when the government had 47, and the opponents numbered 41.

The debate, which lasted throughout the evening, was featured by a slashing attack on the proposed tax by Malcolm Lang (Liberal, Temiskaming South). He not only emphatically condemned the tax as unjust to the mining interests, but voted on both occasions against the government. Otherwise all on the government side who were in the house when the division was called, voted for the resoltion and all on the opposition side, including the U. F. A., Labor and Progressive groups, voted against it.

Strong Opposition.

In the face of criticisms from Mr. Lang and the Conservatives, including Hon. R. B. Bennett, the leader, that the tax was inequitable in that it taxed low priced shares at a higher rate than the higher priced ones, and that the provinces should have exclusive rights of taxation in the mining industry, Hon. J. A. Robb stuck to his guns. He insisted the tax was a fair one to the mining industry, to the general public and to the treasury of the country. If it did not work out all right, there was another year coming, he added.

The first vote took place a few minutes before eleven o'clock. When the House is in committee, the voting is much simpler than when it is in full session. In committee, only those in the House at the time the division is called, vote, and there is no roll call. The members simply stand for or against and are counted. In this way the first vote was over before eleven o'clock. The second vote was called amid shouts from the Conservative side that it was eleven o'clock. The division was proceeded with, and after the bill had been reported to Mr. Speaker, he was asked to rule whether or not a vote could be taken after the fixed hour for closing. He ruled that a vote could not be started after that hour, but that in this case it was started three minutes to eleven o'clock.

The resolution as finally passed last night, with amendment inserted, provides for the following taxation on the sale of stocks based on their market value:

One-tenth of one cent a share on stock selling at 50 cents or less.

One-fourth of one cent on a stock selling at between fifty cents and one dollar.

One cent on stock selling between one dollar and three dollars.

Two cents on stock selling between three dollars and twenty dollars.

Three cents on stock selling between twenty dollars and one hundred dollars.

Four cents on stock selling at over one hundred dollars per share.

Blizzard Sweeps Western Provinces As Thermometer Falls To Freezing Point

WINNIPEG, Man., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Wintry winds whistle, snow-laden across the prairies to-day—it is Maytime in Western Canada. A blizzardy chill spell, bearing down from the frigid zone about the mouth of the Mackenzie River far up in the northwest, sent shivering homeward those who made so bold as to say "spring is here."

Six inches of snow and a temperature that dropped to only 30 degrees above zero made Calgary the most wintry community in the west to-day, though Qu'Appelle and Swift Current, Sask., were two degrees colder, snow came down in less generous quantities.

Moose Jaw and Regina, Sask., were treated to snowfall during the last 12 hours, and many intervening points from Edmonton in Alberta to Dauphin in Manitoba were cloaked in a snow precipitation. In a number of centres, where the temperature failed to hit low marks, rain continued last night into to-day.

Under a forecast of clear and cool for the western prairies, and borne by northerly and westerly winds, the belated invasion of the snow promised to reach Central and Southern Manitoba to-day.

FORMER ATTORNEY GENERALS FIGURE IN PARRY SOUND TRIAL

Cases Against C. N. R. Train Crew Are Being Heard Before Hon. Mr. Justice Raney.

NICKLE DEFENDS GORRIE.

Trial Judge Addresses Grand Jury At Opening of Hearing.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., May 14.—Two former Attorney-Generals of Ontario are figuring in prominent roles at the trial here of the surviving members of the crews of Canadian National Train No. 3 which collided with Train No. 4 at Drocourt, March 20, with a loss of seventeen or more lives. Hon. Mr. Justice Raney, Attorney-General in the Drury Government, is the trial judge, and Hon. W. F Nickel, K.C., of Kingston, Attorney-General in the first Ferguson adminstration, is acting as defence counsel for Charles Gorrie, rear end brakeman.

Mr. Justice Raney, in outlining the nature of the charges to the Grand July, explained that if by omitting to perform an act it was his duty to do, such as stopping his train at Drocourt, Engineer G. V. Alexander caused the death of the people killed in the wreck, he might be guilty of manslaughter. Alexander is indicted on two counts, manslaughter and criminal negligence or causing grievous bodily harm by omitting to do an act, it was his duty to do.

STAND TRIAL TO-DAY.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., May 14. — Three members of the crew of the Canadian National Railways train No 3 which figured in the crash between two of the company's crack fliers at Drocourt on March 21, and which resulted in thirteen persons being killed, will go on trial on manslaughter charges here to-day.

The accused are: L. V. Alexander, engineer; Charles Gorrie, brakeman, and E. Riley, fireman.

13 GUNBOATS DESERT.

CANTON, China, May 14.—Thirteen Canton gunboats in the Sikiang, near Samshui, have gone over to the invading Kwangsi armies and have inflicted heavy casualties on Canton troops in the neighborhood as revenge for Canton's rough treatment of revolting gunboats near the Shameen quarter.

MONEY BY-LAWS CARRIED

GANANOGUE, Ont., May 14. — Gananoque ratepayers carried yesterday two by-laws to spend $43,000 in local improvements. The one to spend $21,000 for a permanent roadway on Stone street north from the Linklater school to the town limits, and the other $22,000 for the purchase of a new fire pumper and improvement of the fire alarm system the vote was 255 to 56 for the first by-law and 236 to 72 for the second.

DAYLIGHT SAVING FOR BELLEVILLE.

BELLEVILLE, May 14. (C.P.) — After a lapse of six years during which it remained on regular time throughout the year, Belleville will revert this year to its former policy of making daylight saving effective during the summer months. The city council last night voted to make it effective on June 14th next.

PURCHASE RESERVE LAND.

SARNIA, Ont., May 14.—The Imperial Oil Company, Limited, has purchased, subject to the approval of the Department of Indian Affairs, 200 acres of land from the Sarnia Reserve Indians, it was learned here yesterday. The property is located at the north-east corner of the reserve, and is understood to have changed hands for approximately $50,000. Purchase of this land is taken here as indication of a considerable extension of the south plant of the company in the near future.

FAVORITES IN THIRD ROUND

Joyce Wethered and Glenna Collett Eliminate Opponents in Tourney.

RAIN HINDERS PLAY.

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, May 14 (C.P.).—Joyce Wethered, three times holder of the British Women's Golf title, and Glenna Collett, her outstanding United States rival for the prize, advanced to the third round of the championship series by defeating their opposing players to-day. Miss Wethered had an easy victory over Mrs. D. G. Madill by a score of eight and seven, while the United States star downed Miss Maud Bryant of the Ashford Manor club near London by a three and two score.

Rain swept the links to-day making condition very trying for the players. The United States contingent seemed especially to be disturbed in their game by the downpour.

The Canadian entry, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen of Toronto, won her match with Miss A. M. Hyde of Sandy Lodge by one up. Miss S. F. Dampney, who eliminated Marion Turple, of New Orleans, yesterday, was herself beaten to-day, 4 and 3, by the Irish player, Dr. Marion Alexander.

Crown Attorney at Parry Sound Reduces Charges Against Two Members.

BEFORE JUSTICE RANEY.

Final Chapter of Wreck At Drocourt Begins in Court Action.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., May 14. — (By Frank Flaherty Canadian Press Staff Writer)—The final chapter in the wreck of two crack Canadian National Railway trains at Drocourt, Ont., on March 20 will begin this afternoon when three men face charges of criminal responsibility arising out of the deaths of twelve or more persons in the head-on collision between trains No. 3 and No. 4.

L. V. Alexander, of Parry Sound, engineer of Westbound train No. 3 which, according to evidence at the inquest ran past the switch at Drocourt contrary to instructions, is charged with manslaughter. The fireman, Edward Riley of Winnipeg, and the rear brakeman, Charles Gorrie, of Toronto, face charges of criminal negligence. Riley and Gorrie were originally charged with manslaughter, but Crown Attorney W. L. Haight stated to-day he would ask for an indictment on the lesser charge.

In all probability the three men will be tried separately, Alexander first, and the fireman and brakeman later.

Justice Raney Presiding

Mr. Justice Raney is presiding at the local assizes. Two other important cases are on the list, including the charge of manslaughter against Anthony Tucker, 13-year-old boy of Trout Creek, who shot his father, who was attacking the boy's mother when Anthony went to her rescue. The other case is one involving an alleged fraudulent sale of stock.

A formidable array of counsel are on hand for the cases. Hon. W. F. Nickle, K.C., of Kingston, is representing Gorrie, assisted by J. R. Hett, of aPrry Sound. Arthur Roebuck, of Toronto, is appearing for Alexander, assisted by A. B. Meldrum, of Parry Sound. T. P. Phelan, K.C., of Toronto, is counsel for Riley, and N. T. Campbell of Winnipeg is representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

AGED RESIDENTS ARE RETURNING TO HOME LAND

British Veteran of Afghan and Egyptian Wars Recalls Early Experiences.

11 YEARS IN INDIA.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knott Intend Making Their Future Home in Ireland.

Stepping out with a light heart and a free foot, just as they did more than once before, when they crossed the ocean twice, Mr and Mrs John Knott, of 94 Cameron street, are embarking for Ireland on the 1th of this month.

Mrs. Knott is eighty-four years old, and her husband is eighty-one. But that has nothing to do with it. Age isn't a matter of years. It is really a thing of the spirit. Four score years and more means little to a man who saw service in the Afghan and Egyptian wars, way back in the sixties, and what does it concern a woman who is going to live in the place that gave her birth, back to Ireland where the fairies abide, the little green men, with their scarlet coats and feathered bonnets.

Mr. Knott was born in Manchester, England, and his wife is a native of Ballagawley, County Tyrone, Ireland. Following a daugther to Peterborough, Mrs. A. Anderton, of Orpington Road, they came here from the Old Country in 1911. They returned to Manchester in 1912, and came back again in 1916. Ever since, they have resided at 94 Cameron street, where Mr. Knott purchased some land, and erected his own small house.

With their trunks and suitcases already packed, and many of their household belongings disposed of, they are preparing for a return trip, this time to Ireland, back to Mrs. Knott's birthplace at Ballagawley. They leave on the night of the 16th of May, and their ship sails on the 17th from Montreal, on its way to Belfast.

One would be taking quite a liberty to suggest that such a journey wasn't quite ordinary for people of their age. Mrs. Knott does all her own work and washing and Mr. Knott has his own fine little garden around his house. The Psalmist's years have no terrors for them. The tall erect man with the fierce soldier eyes, and the little lady who hails from the Green Is' are quite well able to look after themselves.

When John Knott was nineteen years of age he enlisted with Her Majesty's forces at Manchester, England. For sixteen years he was a member of the British soldiery, first with the 107th Regiment and later as

PLEA OF GUILTY IS ENTERED BY WINDSOR TAXI-CAB DRIVER

Sandwich Police Magistrate Remands McLaughlin For One Week.

NOT ARMED.

Mother Collapses in Fainting Spell At Conclusion of Court's Session.

WINDSOR, May 14. — (C.P.) — Ralph McLaughlin, 23, Riverside taxi-cab driver, to-day in the Sandwich police court, admitted participation in Cottam and Leamington robberies a month ago, and through his counsel, John H. Rodd, K. C., acknowledged complicity in the ill-fated hold-up attempt of a Detroit police officer near London, two weeks ago. He was remanded one week for sentence by Magistrate William A. Smith.

The court's attention to the London affair was directed by counsel for defence who informed the magistrate and Crown Attorney James S. Allan that his client would plead guilty to participation in the Essex County hold-ups, but not to armed robbery charges in connection with those enterprises. McLaughlin did not carry a gun at the Cottam and Leamington stick-ups nor at the London attempted hold-up, John Rodd said, and the gun which it was claimed was used in the latter venture, was produced in court.

Weapon Identified.

McLaughlin identified the weapon as the one which he said had been carried by Robert Schacht on the three occasions. Schacht, who received fatal injuries when shot by Dilworth McClellan, the Detroit police officer, and intended victim at London, always brandished the only gun of the gang, the defence counsel claimed.

A week's adjournment was granted to-day so that character witnesses may be heard by Magistrate Smith.

Mother Collapses.

At the close of this mornin's session McLaughlin's mother, 65 years old, who had been sitting in the court

Three Hamilton Youths Try to Start Moth Airplane From Air Club Hangar.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 14 (C.P.). —Three youths were arrested here over the week-end and charged with the attempted theft of a Moth airplane from the Hamilton Air Club hangar last Wednesday. They had intended to fly to the United States or perhaps to Mexico if their attempt had been successful. The airplane, however, would not work, which put a crimp in their plans.

Roy O'Neil and Albert Snoor, both 17, of Hamilton, and a juvenile, 15 years of age, were arrested and charged with the attempted theft. O'Neill pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate Jelfs yesterday, while Snoor claimed he had just been picked up by the other two lads, pleaded not guilty. Both elected to be tried in higher court. The juvenile will appear in juvenile court on Saturday.

SINKING OF ILL-FATED SHIP IS DESCRIBED BY STOREKEEPER

Vivid Description of Terrible Scenes Given At London Inquiry in Vestris.

SHOVED AWAY FROM BOATS.

Two Score Women and Children Drowned After Boat Is Launched.

LONDON, May 14. — (Canadian Press).—A vivid description of the terrible scene when one of the lifeboats of the ill-fated Vestris containing more than two score women and children was sunk after its launching was told by George Amsdell, storekeeper of the vessel at to-day's session of the Board of Trade enquiry into the disaster.

Amdell also told how he and several others swimming in the wreckage were shoved away from two other boats with oars and were left to their fate.

The storekeeper said that boat No. 6 of which he was in charge jammed when being lowered. Somebody shouted "cut the falls."

Dropped In Water

He cut the aft fall and 'either a big wave hit the boat and released the forward fall or somebody cut it for she dropped clean into the water." This good fortune was not to continue, however, for, said Amsdell: "We were shoving her off when I looked up and saw a big white thing hit the ship's side and drop on top of the boat and the boat went down. I think what hit us was one of the patent davits."

Amsdell's arm was struck by some object and was broken as he went under the water. He banged his head on some wreckage when he came up and went down again.

"When I came up the second time I caught hold of some wreckage and then was washed high and dry on the ship's side. I thought she might sink at any minute so I ran aft and jumped into the sea and hung on to some wreckage with a

ROTARY CLUB HEARS REPORT

Delegates From Campbellford Club Tell of Experiences at Convention.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Yesterday, the local Rotary club had a hundred per cent attendance for the first time in several weeks. There was no special address or classification speech The time usually allotted to this was given over to reports from the delegates from the district convention at Erie, Pa., held the first three days of last week. There were five members attended from the local club: Chas. Nadoo, Howard Lapp, Alec. MacCall, H. B. Longmore, and E. C. Dolman. The last two were the ones who addressed the luncheon yesterday.

E. C. (Edge) Dolman is the secretary of the club, and his duties were to detail the journey to and from Erie with a brief sketch of the meeting, dinners, concerts and other items of the program. Dr. Longmore (President Bruce) added a few remarks to what had already been said. The other four delegates travelled in a party, with Howard Lapp acting as chauffeur. Leaving here at eleven o'clock Sunday night, they drove to Toronto, refuelled and continued on to Niagara Falls, where they breakfasted then pushed on to Erie, crossing the border at the Peace Bridge. They arrived in Erie in time to have some sleep and then be on deck for the opening ceremonies at four-thirty in the afternoon. From then, the time was very much occupied till the closing ceremony. "We scarcely had time to go from one place to another," Dolman claimed. Returning, the party stayed over in Toronto to see a ball game. Next year, the convention is to be held in Niagara Falls, Ont.

In supplementing Dolman's remarks, President Bruce dropped a bomb among the local rotarians when he announced that had two more members gone from this town, the club would have won the attendance trophy, which was a very beautiful thing and well worth bringing home. He did not explain exactly how the winner was decided upon, but said that a system involving the number of members present at the convention, the membership of the club, and the number of miles the members had come, figured in the calculations. Two more Rotarians from Campbellford, he said, would have won the trophy. Next week, Alec MacCall is to be the speaker and will deal with the details of the time in Erie.

Reeve Golding of Bothwell Denies Secret Conference

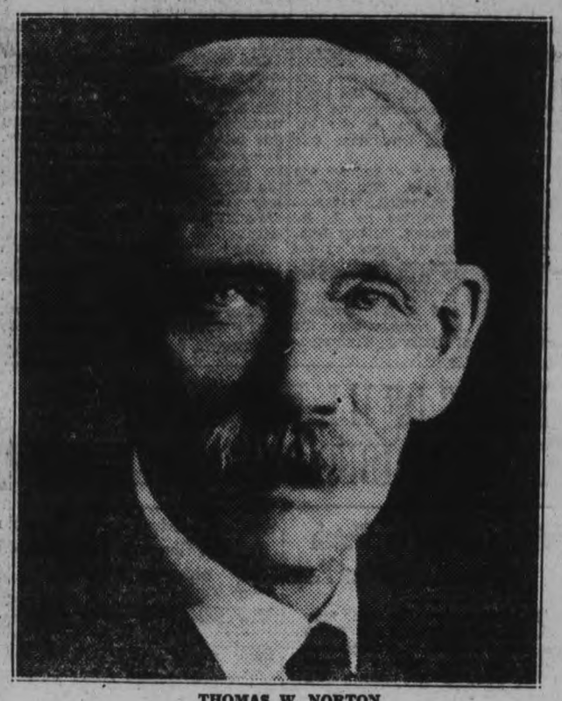
CHATHAM, Ont., May 14.—(Canadian Press)—The report of a secret conference on a lonely road in Skunk's Misery between Reeve Golding of Bothwell and Orval Shaw was denied last night by Golding.

Mr. Golding denied he had talked to Shaw since the latter broke jail at Chaham. He also stated he had heard nothing of Shaw's desire for a conference in the London jail.

"If Shaw had given himself up voluntarily I would have done what I could for him" said Mr. Golding, "he did not do so, however, so he does not deserve any sympathy."

WHAT IS THE SECRET OF HUSKY'S GREAT POWER?

How Does It Give Such Quick Relief From Gas on Stomach, Pains After Eating, Constipation, Headaches, Catarrhal Troubles, Rheumatism and Weak, Tired Feelings?



THOMAS W. NORTON

"How does this wonderful medicine, Husky, give such quick relief after other things have failed—what is the great power that Husky possesses?"

This question is being asked by Peterborough people who have found Husky a superior medicine for indigestion, gas on stomach, discomfort after eating, constipation, headaches, catarrhal troubles, rheumatic pains, nervousness, weak, tired feelings and other ailments.

Speaking at Bond's Drug Store today, the Husky expert, who has come from the great Husky Laboratories at Toronto to explain this medicine to Peterborough people, said:

"It is surprising how many of our ailments are the result of a catarrhal condition, of which we are frequently unaware. This catarrh irritates the stomach lining until it becomes inflamed and secretes mucus, which surrounds the food we eat, causes acidity and gas, constipates us and brings on those terrible pains after eating.

"Our food is a soured mass and instead of furnishing our blood and muscles with nourishment, it sends impurities into our system. You feel weak and tired, your head aches, rheumatic pains go through your back and limbs, you become nervous and can't sleep. You lose weight, feel bad all over and often pimples and other skin blotches appear.

"Husky does such wonderful work for sufferers because its ingredients cleanse the system of this mucus and soothe the irritated membranes. That's why food tastes better, pains are soon lessened, you sleep better and feel stronger after taking Husky a few days. And because Husky soothes the irritated membranes, it gives permanent relief when a treatment of several bottles is used."

Another Man Helped.

Thomas W. Norton, well-known Toronto brick manufacturer, of 144 Leigh Ave., that city, writes about his experience with Husky as follows:

"I suffered such severe pains in my limbs that I could hardly get about. The pains were worst in my knees and on damp days I was in such bad shape I was lame. My limbs were stiff and pained me when I walked. I had been suffering this way for more than a year and I thought my blood was out of order, causing this stiffness and pains.

"I knew a good deal about people taking Husky and I thought it would certainly be a wonderful medicine if it helped me. I'm taking it now and that is just what Husky is doing. It is taking that pain and stiffness right out of my limbs and I can bend my knees and walk so much better. I am keeping on with Husky as it is making me feel better and better. I want to recommend Husky to anyone suffering from pains or stiffness like this as it gives genuine relief."

Call at Bond's Drug Store.

Call on the Husky expert at Bond's Drug Store to-morrow and let him explain to you how best and quickest results are obtained from the use of this medicine. "I want everyone in Peterborough to know that I am here for the sole purpose of giving free information about Husky and that they incur no obligation by calling on me," says the Husky expert. Call on him, your visit may lead you to relief from your suffering just as similar visits have led hundreds in Peterborough to new health and strength.

Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways Reduce Wheat Rate From Georgian Bay Port to Atlantic Coast By Two Cents a Bushel Or 3.33 Cents Per 100 Pounds.

TO MEET COMPETITION OF UNITED STATES' LINES NEW RATE WILL BE 6.6 CENTS PER BUSHEL

Reduction At Present Does Not Affect Flour, As U. S. Lines Have Been Held Up in Putting Theirs Into Effect Claims A. T. Weldon, Vice-President of C.N.R.

MONTREAL, Que., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Effective yesterday, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways reduced their freight rate on export wheat from Georgian Bay ports to Montreal, Quebec, Saint John, West Saint John, Halifax, Boston, East Boston and Portland, Maine, by two cents a bushel, or 3.33 cents per hundred pounds.

The move by the Canadian railroads was made to meet the completion of United States lines ,which were empowered by the Interstate Commerce Commission to make a similar reduction in freight rate on export wheat between Buffalo and New York City, effective Sunday. The new rate on wheat from bay ports to Montreal is now 6.6 cents a bushel, compared with 8.6 cents heretofore, while the reduction from Buffalo to New York brought the rate down from 9.1 to 7.1 cents per bushel, which is still half a cent higher than the Canadian rate.

Steamship Owners May Follow

No announcement was available here last night as to whether the lake steamship owners would make a similar cut in their freight rates between Port Colborne and Montreal. Their present quotation is 5½ cents per bushel.

The new rates on wheat for export from bay ports are:

To Montreal and Quebec, 11.01 cents per 100 pounds; to Saint John, West Saint John, Halifax, Boston, East Boston and Portland, Maine, 11.84 cents per 100 pounds.

It was not anticipated locally that the cut in United States rates will have any effect on the route by which grain from the Central States and Canadian west reaches the seaboard. The new situation will have no great effect in Montreal at present as so many lake vessels ar tied up with grain in their holds awaiting an opportunity to discharge it into terminal elevators at Montreal.

Yesterday there were 72 lake steamers in Montreal with 6,233,000 bushels of grain in their holds, which with the 12,704,000 in the harbor elevators, brought the total to close on 19,000,000 bushels.

Only bulk wheat is affected by the two-cent per bushel cut ordered yesterday by the Dominion Railway Board.

A. T. Weldon, Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, explains that reductions have not been made on wheat flour yet, as United States lines have been held up, in putting reduction on flour into effect, on account of the necessity of revising transit regulations to permit retroactive application of the new rate.

Government Is Unable To Buy and Sell Gold

OTTAWA, Ont., May 14. — (Canadian Press)—A brief statement with respect to the powers of the Dominion Government to ameliorate exchange rates by the export of gold, was made by Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, in the House of Commons yesterday.

"The domi on has not parliamentary authority to deal in the buying and selling of gold for commercial purposes," said Mr. Robb. "If commercial business transacted by the people through the banks requires a shipment of gold, it becomes the duty of the banks to export or import gold to meet such requirements as their business transactions with the public demand.

HAPPENINGS AT DES MOINES OUTLINED BY DR. T. T. SHIELDS

Pastor of Jarvis Street Baptist Church Tells Experiences to Congregation.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED.

Toronto Baptist Seminary Held Graduation Exercises Last Evening.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14 (Canadian Press).—Another picture of the recent hectic happenings at Des Moines University, and the sensational experiences there of Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, and President of the Board of Trustees of the Des Moines Institution, was presented last evening to a gathering in Dr. Shields' church here.

One feature of this picture was an outline, given by Dr. Shields, showing the storm at Des Moines breaking, following attempts by Dr. Shields to have cleared up the question of the legitimacy of certain degrees held by Dr. Harry Wayman, head of the Des Moines University Faculty.

And another highlight in the presentation was a sketch, inserted into the picture by E. A. Brownlee of Toronto, in which Mr. Brownlee, believing, he said, that he was moved by some spiritual power, turned back the angry mob from their search for Dr. Shields.

Another view in retrospect showed Dr. Shields emerging from a bombardment of eggs unscathed and with his raiment unstained.

Graduation Exercises.

Last night's gathering at the Jarvis Street Church was officially the graduation proceedings in connection with the Toronto Baptist Seminary, which is connected with that church. Officials of the Seminary spoke. The work was reviewed. The members of this year's (the first) graduating class received their diplomas from Dr. Shields, who is head of the governing body of the Seminary.

And then, when this was concluded, the fundamentalist warrior, in keeping with his announcement to newspapermen on Sunday night, went on to tell of the situation at Des Moines.

Dr. Shields referred to the dispute over Dr. Wayman's degrees, which went back to Dr. Wayman's days at William Jewell College. He spoke of his first intimation of trouble at Des Moines, and, reiterating statements made to the press on his arrival here, described events at the University up to the time of the riot.

PROTESTS SHIELDS ACTION

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 14. (C.P.)—A court order yesterday re-opened Des Moines University, the Baptist Fundamentalist Institution, after it had been closed indefinitely Saturday night by the trustees.

The district court granted an injunction on application of six students against the action of the Board of Trustees, which resulted from a student bombardment with eggs and stones of the administration building as a protest against ousting by the board of the entire faculty, including President Harry C. Wayman.

Although classes proceeded in an orderly fashion yesterday the students' Ministerial Association, including several ordained Baptist ministers, adopted a resolution protesting the "domineering attitude" of Dr. R. T. Shields, president of the Board. "We advise all Baptist Union churches," the resolution said, "to withhold support from the present board until Dr. T. T. Shields and Miss Edith Rebman, secretary of the board, resign or are removed from office."

WOOLER COUPLE 50 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Whaley Are Surrounded By Four Generations at Happy Event.

SIXTY GUESTS PRESENT.

WOOLER, May 14 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Whaley celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, May 7. Fifty years ago they were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist Church, in Wooler.

The bride is now seventy-two years of age while the bridegroom is in his eighty-second years. During their entire life together they have resided on Lot 13, 3rd Concession of Murray, on the Wooler road.

The bridesmaid at this wedding, Miss Carrie Green, has since passed away, and the groomsman, J. B. Potts was unable to be present at the anniversary.

The house was attractively decorated with golden candles and daffodils. Sixty guests were present, including four generations.. Mr. and Mrs. Whaley are enjoying excellent health. Many beautiful gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Whaley, among them many gold coins.

TAKEN TO NIAGARA FALLS.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14.—Information has been received by the Provincial Police here that Louis Macburnie, or Louis Burnie, one of the men wanted to answer charges of holding up the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Beamsville recently, had been brought to Niagara Falls, N.Y., from Medford.

"Y" LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR SUM OF $8,000

E. D. Otter, General Secretary, Addresses Directors at Luncheon Last Evening.

TEAMS APPOINTED.

$5,800 Is For the Current Budget and $2,200 To Meet Accumulated Deficit.

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A.'s subscription campaign to raise the sum of $8,000, the association's current needs, was enthusiastically launched when those participating in the campaign sat down to luncheon in the "Y's" dining room last evening. The men were out nearly 100 per cent. strong, ready and eager to begin the job of raising the sum necessary to wipe away the Y.M.C.A.'s $2,200 accumulated deficit and $5,800 current budget needs.

"The one organization of its kind working for the welfare of our boys and men," was the term E. D. Otter, general secretary of the national council, used in referring briefly to the work of the Y.M.C.A. He stressed the fact that the Y.M.C.A. had the equipment, program and leadership necessary to do good work in developing the manhood of Peterborough boys.

He pointed out further that the association's debt was due to the fact that the boy members could not be expected to pay, and were not asked to pay, nearly the amount that their membership cost the "Y." "In many cases the membership pays less than a third of the full cost of the equipment and leadership that is placed at their disposal, and this deficit can only be made up in such campaigns as we are now launching," said Mr. Otter.

In outlining the program to be used in raising the sum, he stated that Peterborough citizens had rallied to the support of the institution in the past. Realizing the benefits that the "Y" is doing for the boys, the citizens, he felt sure, would again support the campaign to raise the amount necessary, that the work would not suffer.

A. W. Richardson, as chairman of the directors, welcomed those present and thanked them for their pledged support and efforts in raising the money.

Teams Appointed

The campaign will rightly begin today and will last until Friday night at luncheon. The teams have all been drawn up and all preparatory arrangements for the campaign have been completed.

Mr. Richardson pointed out that the association memberships have during the past few years been paying 70 per cent. of the expenses, and it was only because the memberships were placed at a low figure to bring them in the reach of the normal purse that the sum was needed.

J. F. H. Wallace, chairman of the campaign, referred to the spirited way in which the campaign is going to be carried on and he asked that each man put his shoulder to the wheel in doing his utmost in raising the amount.

J. R. Marshall and C. S. Cummer, generals of the two divisions into which the teams have been grouped, stated that no effort would be spared to show the men's support and admiration for the work being carried on by the association.

The utmost care was taken in drawing up the campaign organization and the following boosters of the Y.M.C.A. have pledged their time and supreme effort to raising the $8,000 to wipe off the debt:

Chairman—J. F. H. Wallace.

Vice-chairman—C. S. Cummer and J. R. Marshall.

Chairman of Publicity—J. E. Smith.

Special names committee—A. W. Richardson, captain; G. A. Macdonald, G. A. Gillespie, T. Barrie, J. J. Turner, J. F. H. Wallace, E. B. Fowler, G. S. Matthews.

GYPSY WOMEN ATTACK DRIVER

Breadman Is Held Up By Five Feminine Wayfarers.

POLICE START SEARCH.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 14 (C.P.). —When five gypsy women attacked him on Friday last Harry Belbeck, driver for a bakery firm, was forced to choke one into unconsciousness before they desisted in their attempts to carry off the contents of his truck. The attack was made known to the police yesterday, when they were asked to assist in the search for the wayfarers.

The women stopped Belbeck on the Hamilton-Simcoe Highway on Friday last and asked him the price of his goods. When he got down from his seat in the car the five women set upon him. The women succeeded in getting several cakes from the truck. They escaped in a car which was parked further down the road.

The Weather

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Ont., May 14 (Canadian Press). — Pressure is high over the Maritimes and off the Atlantic Coast and low to the westward of the Great Lakes. It is decidedly cool in the west and local falls of rain and snow have occurred in Saskatchewan and Alberta, and rain has fallen in southwestern Ontario, while elsewhere the weather has been fair.

Forecasts.

Lower Lake Region. — Moderate south-easterly winds; unsettled and showery. Wednesday — Moderate to fresh winds; partly fair, with scattered showers or local thunderstorms.

Georgian Bay — Easterly winds; unsettled, with showers before night Wednesday — Moderate to fresh winds; unsettled with showers or local thunderstorms.

Northern Ontario — Fair, becoming unsettled to-night, with local showers late to-night and on Wednesday.

Western Provinces — North-easterly winds; unsettled and cold, with local falls of rain or snow. Wednesday—Northerly winds; clearing and cool.

OBITUARY

MISS OLIVE HENDREN.

The death occurred yesterday of Miss Olive Margaret Hendren, aged 42 years, at her home in Warsaw. The late Miss Hendren was the daughter of the late John Hendren and Mrs. Hendren. She had been a resident of Warsaw all her life.

She is survived by her mother, one sister, Mrs. S. J. Charlton of Lakefield; six brothers: Fred of Rainy River, Victor and Albert of Dummer, Arthur and Elmo of Warsaw and Allan of Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence to Cottesloe Cemetery.

TOWN FOR SALE!

WEST EMINENCE, Pa, May 14.—Wants buy this town, lock, stock and barrel? Fifteen thousand acres of land, enough homes for a population of 2,000, a small logging railroad and buildings—all somewhat the worse for neglect, are offered for the small sum of $15,000. Collapse of the timber industry in the vicinity makes the bargain possible.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence)—Joyland Shows, the all-Canadian Carnival, which is the big attraction this week on the Market Square, opened Saturday afternoon and will continue throughout the present week. The management of the shows described Saturday's business as fair and gave rain as the reason for that circumstance. Early in the evening, a heavy downpour made it impoible to operate the midway. The carnival is being sponsored by the Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion. It is owned and managed by Ed. Hubble, a Campbellford man, and has come to be known as Campbellford's own midway. This year it is better than ever, with several added attractions under contract for the season. When the shows leave Campbellford at the end of the week, it is to start out for a complete season in the big-time carnival world. The next time it is scheduled to be seen locally is when it arrives back home in the fall to go into winter storage.

REFUSE HEARING

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 14. — The petition for re-argument of the case of Antonion Danelon and Mary Cook, Canadian born outside the dominion, and recently denied entrance to the United States under the immigration laws, was refused by the Supreme Court yesterday.

All the machinery is on top—

you never see it, never oil it, barely hear it

All the machinery is on top, leaving the entire cabinet free for food storage—do you realize the importance of this simple statement? This achievement is the result of fifteen years of painstaking research to determine the simplest, the most efficient, the most worry-proof design. It has made the General Electric Refrigerator an outstanding engineering accomplishment.

All the mechanism, together with a permanent supply of oil, is concealed in an hermetically sealed steel casing. Here it is safe from dust and difficulties. This distinctively electric refrigerator operates so quietly you can scarcely hear it. It can be placed wherever you wish in your home and its electric cord is plugged into any convenience outlet as simply as an electric iron—there is no plumbing, soldering or wiring to be done.

Automatically, economically, it keeps your food always at the scientifically correct temperature, well below the danger point of 50 degrees — perfect refrigeration that safeguards health. It makes plenty of ice cubes—it opens a whole new menu of frozen desserts.

Please plan on visiting our display rooms where you may examine our many models. Any model may be purchased upon deferred payments.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 14. (C.P.) — A feature of the domestic cash grain trade here yesterday was the easier feeling that developed for Canadian western oats and prices were reduced two cents per bushel. The trade was quiet. Wheat was unchanged, but barley was marked up two cents per bushel.

The trade in spring and winter wheat flour continued inactive but values were well maintained.

An easier feeling developed for standard grades of rolled oats and prices were reduced ten cents per bag.

Quotations: Oats, Canadian western, No. 2, 73c; do No. 3, 60c; do extra No. 1 feed, 58c; flour, Man., spring wheat patents, firsts, $.60; do, seconds, $6.20; do winter patents, choice, 5.90; rolled oats, bag, 90 lbs., $3.25; bran, $28.25; shorts, 28.25; middlings, $33.25; hay, No. 2, per ton, car lots, $1.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 14.—The easier feeling that developed in the wholesale egg market during the close of last week was carried further yesterday when prices were reduced approximately one cent a dozen on all grades.

Receipts were small as is usual on Monday and demand from the retail trade was quiet. Reports throughout Ontario indicate that production is at a high level and large shipments of fresh eggs are billed for the market this week.

Prices were unsettled yesterday, but large dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs delivered in Toronto, cases returned as follows: Fresh extras, 27c to 28c a dozen; fresh firsts, 25c to 26c, and seconds, 22c to 23c.

Butter Steady.

Trading was quiet on the wholesale butter market and the price of finest No. 1 New Zealand creamery was steady at 36 cents a pound, with No. 2 grade at 35 cents. Domestic production is ahead of the consumptive demand and dealers are concentrating on lowering their stocks of imported butter. Quotations to the retail trade were unchanged yesterday at 39 cts. for No. 1 creamery prints with No. 2 prints at 38 cents. Cheese prices were unchanged.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 14 (Canadian Press).—Strength at Liverpool was reflected here yesterday and values held at ½c advance over Saturday's close for the greater part of the session. Closing quotations were ½c to 5-8c higher for the day.

Liverpool cables indicated an improved demand for Canadian wheat.

Grades below No. 2 Northern were in good demand on the cash section at prices generally unchanged to ½c higher than the previous close. A moderate export trade was reported over the week-end.

Easier prices prevailed in oats and flax. Barley and rye held firm, May rye scoring an advance of 2½c at one period.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS PLAY

"You Never Can Tell" Presented By Young People of Downeyville.

TAKE PARTS WELL.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 14. (Examiner Correspondence). — On Friday evening, in the hall here, St. Luke's Dramatic Club presented "You Never Can Tell," George Bernard Shaw's revealing comedy of young 'moderns,' 'which made theatrical history in Toronto when played at the Royal Alexandra for a week in February. This performance was put on under the skilful management of Rev. Father Galvin. The following was the cast:

Fergus O'Connell and Della O'Neill as Philip and Dolly, the unforgettable twins; Veronica Lucas as Gloria, the superb "moderne"; Frank Costello, as Valentine, the ardent dentist lover; Delphina Piggott, as Mrs. Clandon, the mother with advanced ideas; Pat Harrington, as Finch McCamas, the family solicitor; Joseph Piggott, as Crampton, the much-abused father, with Earl Milloy giving a loving portrayal of the Old Waiter, William, more of a philosopher than his betters; Mary Dorgan, as dentist's attendant; and Gera'd. O'Neill, as Bohun, the domineering lawyer, who adjusts family differences. All the parts were well played. After the play dancing was indulged in for a few hours, with the music supplied by Dinner's Orchestra from Lindsay.

Canada's Pulp and Paper Industry

CANADA'S most important manufacturing industry, since 1803 always a growing one and always a stabilizer of our trade and our dollar.

The value of this huge business to Canada cannot be measured in terms of its own greatness—nor can it be weighed on ordinary scales.

Its influence permeates all other business, and to an appreciable extent the tremendous purchasing power of the Dominion is due to the exportation of its manufactured paper.

The phenomenal growth of this industry in Canada is explained by the stupendous water powers at hand for the development of electricity. The same waters that carry the logs from the forests in turn serve to pass them through the mills, yielding the basic power for every manufacturing operation. And improvements perfected in electrical devices have kept pace with and made possible this uninterrupted progress.

Thus, again, we see how intimate a part electricity plays in the development of our great enterprises, and the Northern Electric Company is pleased to be producing some of the necessary equipment for the proper application of this power.

REDUCED RATES.

The announced cut in lighting charges for Peterborough, authorized by the Ontario Hydro Commission after representations by the local Utilities Commission, will be welcome by householders and merchants to whom the reduction means a total saving of $25,000 a year.

Briefly, the slice means 12½ per cent. off the domestic light bills and 18 per cent. off the commercial bills.

The latter reduction will be particularly appreciated as the merchants have felt that the commercial rate has been unduly high, and the 18 per cent. decrease will come as decidedly welcome relief in reducing shop overhead.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

The long drawn out pursuit of Orval Shaw, the now famous hermit of Skunk's Misery, has reached its inevitable termination in the capture of the elusive fugitive.

There was no question of Shaw's being caught ultimately, and now that this has been finally brought about the artful dodger may well ask himself the question whether or not all the trouble he has given the authorities and all the hardships he himself has had to endure have been worth while.

True, he was able to gain a little cheap notoriety and to provide newspaper readers with an opportunity to indulge in some mild laughter at the expense of the Provincial Police, but if he thinks it all over probably the slippery Mr. Shaw will come to the conclusion that he would have been wiser in the long run to give himself up long ago as his well-wishers advised.

In so doing he would have been spared some of the misery he must have undergone during the pursuit, and at the same time would by now have served a considerable portion of the sentence his escapades are likely to give him.

The mills of the law, like those of the gods, grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small.

THE Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN.

Many prominent Peterborough men have given freely of their time and money to the work of the local Y.M.C.A., realizing that the institution is a community asset that deserves general support.

These citizens are now endorsing the Y.M.C.A. campaign, and in many cases are actively engaged in the drive for funds, believing that the cause for which they are working merits the sympathetic attention of the public.

The Y.M.C.A. here has been able, it should be noted, to make a much better financial showing than many such institutions throughout the country.

Seventy cents out of every dollar expended in the work here is raised inside the Y.M.C.A.—a record that indicates businesslike management and economical administration, and that should commend itself particularly to the business men of Peterborough, who willing as they are to assist all worthy objects, like to feel that their donations are not being used extravagantly.

The Y.M.C.A.'s showing in this respect is well above the average, and it is a condition that gives particular point to the present campaign for funds to balance the budget.

The sum asked for represents an investment in good citizenship that promises sure results.

THE FERGUSON PLAN.

Premier Ferguson, in connection with his proposed changes in Ontario's educational system, has asked the public and the schools boards of the Province to discuss the plan and express their views on the subject.

That is a request that should be acted upon.

In fact, the matter appears to The Examiner of sufficient importance to justify the holding of special school board meetings to discuss the outstanding features of what is involved in the Premier's proposal and to see as far as possible just how such a plan could be fitted into the school machinery.

The transferring of two years' high school work to the public schools and a year's university training to the high schools is a revolutionary proposal, and it should be thoroughly threshed out by every school board in order that its merits and defects can be reviewed and set forth before the next session of the Legislature when the plan is to come before the House.

Public opinion has nearly a year in which to express itself as to the desirability of adopting the Ferguson policy, and leadership in the matter should be furnished by the school boards, who are in charge of local education and under whose jurisdiction the new scheme will have to be worked out.

IN AND OUT.

There are so many charges to be filed by police of the United States cities against the quartet rounded up at the instance of the Canadian authorities, for alleged participation in the Beamsville bank robbery of a few weeks ago, it is probable many years will elapse before they can be put on trial for that spectacular bit of gun-play. Despatches tell of signed confessions, embracing many hold-ups in the United States, being in the possession of the police and the indications are that these misguided youngsters will go into institutional seclusion for quite a spell. If convicted and sentenced in the United States, it is unlikely the U. S. authorities would consent to their transfer to Canada to answer to the Beamsville charge. So far as this particular case is concerned, it doesn't much matter to Canadian officialdom, then, that two of the wanted men, implicated by a fellow-member of their gang, have been released on bail. But to us on this side of the border line, the announcement that bail has been granted such men seems incredible. There isn't a court in Canada that, under similar circumstances, would even consider the release of the prisoners on bail. The ease with which known criminals, when apprehended, secure their freedom, pending trial in the United States, constitutes one of the major weaknesses of our cousins' court system. It is known to be a fact that organized crime maintains fat defense funds, with a special bail branch functioning to make it easier for those who run afoul of the law to "beat the rap." It was at the instance of the Canadian authorities that the two men were arrested in Massachusetts and the offense for which they are wanted in Canada is an extraditable one. Attorney-General Price points out that it is unusual to grant bail while extradition proceedings are pending, but he will discover, we think, that the sending of an emissary to Massachusetts to protect Canada's interests was just so much wasted time and currency.—Hamilton Spectator.

AS U. S. DRY SEES US.

Dry leaders in the United States rarely lose the opportunity to take a crack at Canada, especially those Provinces where liquor control systems have been established. Many, if not all, know nothing personally of conditions in this country. They base their attack on hysteria that has filtered through to them from Canadian sources. There are, alas, many Canadians who do not hesitate to "foul their own nest" by painting terrifying pictures of conditions in this land. With them Canada is a besotted nation flowing with rum. But Canada is not as dark as she is being painted at home and abroad. However, it seems impossible to convince U. S. dry leaders of this fact.

A recent evidence of this is to be found in a statement issued by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism. Dr. Cherrington says the availability of liquor in Canada "does not attract the best class of visitors." This statement is as ungracious as it is untrue. It does a grave injustice to those millions of tourists who visit Canada each year. There are no doubt some undesirables in this influx, but Ontario people know that the great majority are respectable, decent, law-abiding citizens. To infer, as Dr. Cherrington does, that these are not among "the best class of visitors," is to bespatter hundreds of thousands of people just as good as he is himself.

Not content with slandering his own fellow-citizens, the doughty doctor slanders Canada when he says that its highways "are infested by chauffeurs who have been consuming too generously of Government-sold liquor." Anyone who is not blinded by prejudice will indignantly deny this statement. The best answer to this is found in the increasing number of American tourists. Many of these come back year after year with their families. They come, not to drink, but on sane pleasure-seeking. Is anyone so foolish as to think that these family invasions would continue if the highways were "infested" with intoxicated chauffeurs?

Ontarians who welcome their American cousins on their annual auto tours will be glad to know that the gross exaggerations of Dr. Cherrington and his kind will have no effect in keeping away even "the best class of visitors." The provincial highway authorities estimate that 12,000,000 tourists will visit Ontario this season, an increase of 33 per cent. over last year. Thousands of these have been here before and know from personal experience that they are just as safe on the highways of Ontario as they are on the highways across the line. These people are no doubt prepared to say to their friends and neighbors, regarding Dr. Cherrington's strictures, "don't you believe him."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

DISCIPLINE.

(An Editorial for Young People in the Hamilton Spectator.)

A little girl by the name of Annie Selkirk has got herself into the newspapers by addressing a "red" meeting in Glasgow and giving her views on the way schools should be conducted. Annie, it seems, is twelve years old and has strong objections to the discipline enforced by the teachers. If she had her way, there would be no more whipping, scolding or unpleasantness of any kind; pupils would do pretty much what they liked and teachers would have to make the best of the situation. One can sympathize with Annie's viewpoint, even though it is altogether ridiculous, as the slightest thought should convince her. One does not go to school to have a good time, but to learn—not only book-learning, but discipline. Discipline is irksome, no doubt, but it is one of the most important lessons of life, and the earlier it is learnt the better it is for us. Unruly pupils must be corrected, for their own good and for the good of others. "Spare the rod and spoil the child." There are hundreds of spoilt children to-day—failures, a source of disappointment and anxiety to their parents and all who are interested in them, simply because they have not received the necessary correction which their faults deserved. Twelve-year-old Annie will live to know better, it is to be hoped. Her ideas of freedom, of progress, of the fitness of things are the ideas of the inexperienced child who does not know what is really good for her.

There are lots of grown-up people like Annie—grown up, that is to say, in body, though in mind they are infants still. They want to do always only what they please; they shirk the hard things of life; neglect their duty and cry out against criticism and blame. They would do just as much work as they want to do, and no more; go where they please and when they please; think what they like and say what they like and, in short, be a law unto themselves. But the world is not run that way. Whether we like it or not, we have to take the bitter with the sweet; life is not all pleasure, no more than it is all pain; selfishness does not bring happiness and, if we only knew it, our trials and disappointments are good for us. It is in the school of life as it is in the day school—we must bow to discipline and welcome it. An institute without discipline is not worth attending; to go to school to do what we please is to waste our time. The thing to do is to so act that we shall not incur the necessity for discipline, which will be the best proof that we have learnt the important lesson of self-control, of obedience and of service. This old world of ours is conducted on principles of order and effort; achievement and progress are possible by no other means.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Old Home Week at Skunk's Misery was an unlucky occasion for Orval Shaw.

"Ontario once led the world. She cannot afford to fall behind," says the Globe in commenting upon Mr. Ferguson's new school plan.

That Dominion penitentiary guard who let a dangerous criminal loose because he had been ordered to leave his man on the doorsteps of the Fort Saskatchewan jail evidently believes that "orders is orders."

The real spirit of Mother's Day is not to be found in the increased prices of flowers for that occasion.

Traffic accidents over the week-end indicate that there must be no let up in the safety campaign.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

By Douglas Malloch

TOO FAST AND TOO FAR

Oh, the thing that I like when I'm out in a car
Isn't hurry-so-fast, isn't travel-so-far,
Isn't fifty an hour past a field or a flowr'
Not to step on the gas and to put on the pow'r,
But to just take a road that the world never takes,
One that clambers the hills, one that circles the lakes—
Just a little old pike, that's the thing that I like,
Where the pavement you leave and the country you strike

Oh, your pavement is good and your auto is fine,
And you smile at this little contraption of mine,
But there's many a tree that you never will see,
There is many a field that's familiar to me
I see you go by in a whirlwind of dust;
Well, it's all right to hurry if hurry you must,
And your engine may hiss, but I'll just tell you this,
More the miles that you make more the beauty you miss.

And I wonder sometimes if we're living the same—
If we're missing the friends, only finding the fame,
If we're living so high that we're running right by
The tree and the rose and the brook, you and I?
On the highway of life, when we come to the end,
We may hunger for home, we may long for a friend,
But we're speeding right past, and we find, at the last,
We have traveled too far, we have hurried too fast.

Why We Do What We Do.

Why Pain Is Sometimes Pleasurable

By Mehran K. Thompson, Ph. D.
Author of The Springs of Human Action

Pain is usually unpleasant. Sometimes it is pleasurable.

As an example of a pleasurable pain recall the experience of poking a sore thumb in order to get the pain sensation.

This and similar examples are merely exceptions which prove the rule that pain is unpleasant. If all pain were pleasant it would fail of its purpose which is to warn you of approaching danger.

Pleasant feelings usually accompany acts that are beneficial to the organism or at least are not injurious. Hence we seek to prolong these reactions. However, even a pleasant reaction may prove injurious if over done. Again nature comes to the rescue by arousing pain sensations when any pleasant act is carried to excess and in this way she protects the organism.

But the question is, "How can any painful experience be pleasurable when to be so defeats the object of pain as a warning?" Here is one explanation: The sensation of pain arouses great resistance in the nervous pathways which is caused by a strong nervous current will soon a poorly organized nervous arc. A strong nervous current will soon modify the nervous arc so as to diminish resistance.

Now, when this resistance is diminishing, or has been diminished, the feeling becomes distinctly pleasurable, even though the intensity may be so great that it would have been painful before the antecedent painful experience. In other words, the sensation is relatively lessened and hence gives the impression of being pleasant by way of contrast to the previous unpleasant feeling.

It follows then that the exceptions are not really dangerous because they come at a time when the individual has already been sufficiently warned by the previous intensely unpleasant feeling. In fact, intense pain beyond the point of warning is mere torture and serves no useful purpose.

Pain arises as a result of the activity of any organism when that activity becomes so great that it is injurious to the organism. Fatigue arises whenever a muscle has been used so hard and so long that further use would be injurious. Pain and fatigue make us quit using the muscle.

Why do you do what you do? Ask Dr. Thomson. Write him care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Life Steps In

By RUBY M. AYRES

And now it was July and ten months since Anthony went away. Ten months! Ten lifetimes, so Ana told herself as she sat looking over the sunlit sea.

Would she ever see him again?

Mollie was very frank about the whole matter

"Goodness knows what will happen. I don't believe Tony means to come back again as long as he lives, and so far he's not said a word about me going out to join him. Not that I want to go," she hastened to add. "No, thank you! I can't imagine how I stood that disgusting country for so long. Give me England every time."

What she meant was "Give me London," for more than half her time was spent there.

At first she had made excuses and offered apologies for leaving Ana so often, but now she took it for granted that Ana did not object.

"I'd get rid of the cottage if I knew what to do with the Genera'," Mollie grumbled sometimes. "But it's cheap, and Lyme suits him, and Anthony's getting frightfully mean—last month he hardly sent me any money at all."

Ana wanted to say that perhaps it was taking him all his time to repay Mahon, but she dared not.

Mollie never mentioned Mahon's name, but Ana knew that letters came from him, for she knew his writing well.

Then there was the young artist who had stayed in the cottage next door to them. The only time Mollie had really spent at Lyme had been while he was there, and Ana knew that she stil' met him in London.

"I must talk to someone," Mollie protested once when she read disapproval in Ana's eyes. "It's all right for you—you don't care for men. You're quite happy with the General. I'm not made that way." Ana had not liked Brian Mayne. She thought him effeminate and insincere, but Mollie declared he had a face like a Greek god.

"It's the most wonderful profile I've ever seen," she said.

Ana's lip curled as she thought of the strength in Anthony Hambledon's face, and contrasted it with the weakness of Brian Mayne's. What was the matter with Mollie? What was she thinking about, she asked herself helplessly, that she could not realize all she was throwing away?

Mollie was up in London now and had been for the past week.

She seldom wrote when she was away; she generally sent a telegram to announce her impending return, and arrived at the cottage worn out and irritable.

Ana never asked how she spent her time; she knew she would not be told.

Last week Mollie had asked Ana to write to Anthony for her.

"Just to tell him how we are. I hate writing letters, and he'll imagine all sorts of things if I miss a mail. Do write a line for me, Ana."

But Ana refused. "It wouldn't be the same thing as if you wrote yourself," she said, but her heartbeats quickened.

If only she dared to write to him! If only she dared say half the things she said to him in imagination when she ay awake during the long nights listening to the sound of the sea.

"Ten months! and the wound was still as deep, still as unhealed A loud wail came from the Genera'.

"My soldiers! The sea's washing them away."

Ana flew to the rescue of the Seventh Hussars, who cut sorry enough figures as they were whirled over helplessly by the gentle ripples of the summer sea.

"And the castle's all going too," the General said fiercely. "I hate the sea—it's wicked and cruel."

"You can always build another castle," Ana comforted him; but she felt that she too hated the sea which separated her from Anthony. She moved his pail and shovel and the sea-drenched Hussars farther back from the incoming tide.

"Build another castle here," she said. "Brave generals never admit defeat; they just try again."

And presently he was quite happy at his task and Ana went back to her reading.

She did not want to think about Anthony any more, and yet he was never really absent from her thoughts. It was as if he always stood at her side, never obtruding but gravely waiting, knowing full well that nothing could ever displace him from her life.

Ana sighed and turned the page of her magazine.

So many roads we tramped together, dear,
So many sunny roads in many a place.
Now though I trail the streets of all the world
I shall not see your face.

Before she realized it Ana had read the first verse of the poem that looked up at her from that page.

And yet I never pass through any throng,
Or reach a place where sunny cross-roads part,
Or turn the quiet corner of a street,
But hope is in my heart.

They might have been written of her, she thought, and suddenly her eyes misted over with tears.

Although she had hardly realized it, she knew now that all these ten months she had just been waiting and hoping for something to happen that would bring Anthony Hambledon back to her; for something to make their happiness possible.

She was like one of the General's soldiers, standing at patient attention till she heard some word of command, or till Fate stepped in and conquered her. She went on reading:

And so I shall go hoping without rest,
Seeking and hoping down the roads of space
Until I turn the corner of some star
And meet you face to face.

Ana hid her face in her hands with an overwhelming sense of desolation.

What was the use of hoping? What was the use of looking forward? The sunshine and the sea seemed a mockery; they were both as inexorable as life, and could not be defied or defeated.

The General dragged himself to her and touched her arm. "Does your head ache?"

Ana looked up guiltily. "No, no——"

"You're crying," he accused her gravely.

Ana forced a smile. "It's the sun in my eyes," she said.

"The sun doesn't make my eyes water," the General answered. He deserted his castle and sat down close beside her.

"When is my father coming back?" he asked uddenly. It almost seemed as if he could read Ana's thoughts.

"I don't know, darling."

It was the first time Ana had so far forgotten herself as to call the General by any term of endearment, but neither of them seemed to notice the slip.

"I wish he would come," the General said wistfully. "Or that we could go out to him. Why can't we go out to him?" he demanded.

"Because Mother doesn't want to go," Ana said. She furtively wiped the tears from her eyes.

"Well, we could go!" the General insisted.

Ana shook her head.

"He'll come and fetch you some day."

"And you too?"

"Oh—no!"

"I don't want to go then."

Ana determinedly changed the subject.

"It's teatime anyway. Aren't you hungry. There's strawberry jam."

The General had a weakness for strawberry jam, and without demur he allowed himself to be helped up to the little parade where his bathchair waited for him, for he could not really walk yet although he was much better.

"Why do we live at the top of a hill instead of at the bottom?" he asked when halfway up the steep main street Ana paused for breath.

"I don't know," Ana answered.

The General frowned above the eyes that were so like Anthony's.

"People don't know very much, do they?" he asked.

Ana had to laugh.

"You ask such funny questions," she objected.

When they reached the top of the hill they saw a car standing at the cottage gate.

"Someone come to tea," the General said in a disgruntled voice. He was not fond of visitors.

"Someone come to the wrong house, I expect," Ana comforted him; but when they reached the gate they saw Tom Drake at the front door.

Horoscope

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel

Wednesday, May 15, 1929.

Many planetary influences are strongly active today, according to astrology Benefic aspects dominate.

It is an auspicious rule for big business which will undertake marvelous feats of enterprise, the seers prophesy.

Globe circling projects are to multiply within this year and domestic manufacturers are to establish branches in many places.

For all who have attained positions in the Sun continued success is indicated. The sway is favorable to the President of the United States, governors of states and all who exercise authority.

The new order of things will be revealed from the humblest to the most exalted activities in America where old ideas are established traditions will be forgotten.

The trend will be to eliminate whatever is hampering to progress. Artificial standards in work or social matters are to be broken down, it is prophesied.

Astrologers who foretold that many long established careers would end and many old leaders would pass away as a preliminary to tremendous world progress now call attention to the fact that many changes are inevitable under the new regime.

This is read as a day for planning action rather than for any sort of great initiative.

Secrecy is enjoined for those who work out important plans since surprise must accompany success at this time.

The evening is subject to the best direction of the stars for entertaining distinguished men and women. Visitors of note from foreign lands will be many before the winter, it is prophesied.

Missions of far-reaching importance, conferences and conventions will mark the summer which will give impetus to gigantic achievements in business and finance.

This should be a happy wedding day, for it seems to presage a harmonious existence and continued prosperity.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect to enjoy benefits through friends. A few anxieties appear probable.

Children born on this day may be strongly individual and resentful where limitations are placed. Both boys and girls may be inclined toward unselfish service. They make many friends.

Florence Nightingale was born on this date 1820. Reuben Goldthwaites, 1853, famous antiquary, also claimed this as his birthday.

Uncle Wiggily

A Bed-Time Story by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DON'T FLOWERS

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Uncle Wiggily put the carrot sandwich in his mouth, caught up the basket of picnic lunch and, stopping only long enough to take one look, started to hop away as fast as he could. But this one look showed the old rabbit gentleman that, coming after him, was a big city dog.

"I certainly am going to have an adventure!" thought Uncle Wiggily as he bounded over the green grass in the Park. For, as I told you in the story yesterday, Uncle Wiggily had come to the city to visit his cousin Lettuce who was in a pet shop. Uncle Wiggily had brought a basket of lunch with him, hoping to have a picnic. But, no sooner had he set down in the Park to eat, than a voice shouted:

"Get off the grass!" And there was this dog chasing him.

"Well, being a country rabbit, I think I can run faster than this city dog," thought Uncle Wiggily as he bounded along, hurriedly eating the carrot sandwich he had in his mouth. "But if any one should ask me if I liked this kind of a picnic I would say I didn't. It isn't at all like the nice, quiet picnics we have in the country."

Uncle Wiggily ran and hopped very fast across the grass of the Park, dodging in and out among the trees and behind clumps of bushes and shrubbery. But the dog came on after him, very fast. By looking over his shoulder, Uncle Wiggily saw that the dog was getting closer and closer.

"I guess city dogs can run faster than I thought," said Mr. Longears to himself. "They must have lots of practise dodging in and out among the automobiles. And I'm getting very tired!"

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily stumbled over a roller skate that some boy or girl had left in the grass and down fell the poor old rabbit gentleman. Up rushed the dog and Uncle Wiggily was thinking perhaps if he offered the dog all the lunch in his basket, the barking creature would go away when, all of a quickness, the dog said:

"Oh, I beg your pardon! I didn't know you were Uncle Wiggily!"

"You know me then?" asked the rabbit getting up, while the dog, now smiling, helped gather the carrot and paranip sandwiches which had spilled out of the basket, with a piece of turnip shortcake that Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy had specially baked for Uncle Wiggily's city picnic.

"Of course I know you!" chuckled the dog. "I didn't at first, when I saw you sitting on our grass. But when I took a second look I did. I've never met you before, but I know you from seeing your picture in the city newspapers and from reading bedtime stories about you and hearing about you over the radio."

"Oh, I didn't think I was so well known," spoke Uncle Wiggily, wiping some grass stains off his pink, twinkling nose. "But I'm glad you didn't bite me."

"Thanks!" gently barked the dog.

"Oh, I wouldn't have bit you, even if you hadn't been Uncle Wiggily, as you are," barked the dog, sitting down beside the rabbit gentleman. "But you know we don't like folks on the grass in our Park, so I yelled at you to keep off."

"Do you own this Park?" asked the bunny.

"Well, sort of," spoke the dog. "I'm supposed to keep order here. But you're the first rabbit I ever saw roaming about. How did you get out of your cage?"

"Cage!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I don't live in a cage! I live in a hollow stump bungalow in Woodland. I only came here to the city to see Cousin Let who works in a pet shop."

"Then he lives in a cage, I'm sure," said the dog. "All city rabbits have to live in cages. But if you want to go to the pet shop take that path," and he pointed to one through the trees. "And try and keep off the grass," he added. "Otherwise I shall have to chase you again and I wouldn't want to do that."

"I'll try and remember," said Uncle Wiggily, thinking how, in the country, he could go anywhere he liked on the grass. "And here is a bit of turnip shortcake for you."

"Thanks!" gently barked the dog. "I'll be leaving you now."

Uncle Wiggily hopped along the path that led to the pet shop, thinking he would eat the rest of his lunch with Cousin Let, when he saw some flowers growing near a little goldfish pond.

"I'll pick some blossoms," thought Uncle Wiggily. "Cousin Let may be married and his wife may like posies." He reached over and broke off some blossoms when, all of a sudden he heard the dog's voice:

"Don't! Don't!" barked the dog.

"Don't what?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Don't pick those flowers: Don't!" howled the dog and poor Mr. Longears nearly sat down in the pond he was so surprised.

PRICE OF HOGS IS INCREASED; PORK IS SCARCE

Business Is Expected To Become Even More Profitable To Farmer.

DEMAND IS GROWING.

Home Market Has Not Been Able to Absorb All Canadian Bacon Products.

The existing scarcity of hogs, the cause of which scarcity can be directly traced over the last two years, has raised the price of hogs and there is every possibility that the hog business will become even more profitable to the farmer. This is the opinion of D. A. McKinnon, Dominion hog grader at the Canadian Packing Company's plant here, in an interview with The Examiner.

"The rise in price can be traced to many reasons," said Mr. McKinnon. "The public seems to be getting more fond of pork, and it is being used more on the dining tables in Canada. The farmer is benefiting from this increased consumption of pork."

"The man who used to look on the pig as the least of his products, can now embark upon the business with the feeling of surety that he will get splendid returns for the time spent in looking after his pigs. The price of hogs has been on a gradual upward trend during the past few months, and it promises to be even higher in the future."

Mr. McKinnon said that during the past two years the price of hogs has been so low that it was doubtful if the farmers were making any profits for his effort. "Unlike other years of hog depression," he said, "this period lasted a little too long for the general good of all concerned. Many farmers were forced out of the pig game, because of the continued low prices of their product and the high price of feed."

Increase In Number Raised.

Tracing the causes of the low prices Mr. McKinnon said: "After the late war prices for pork were generally good, with the result that Holland, Norway and Netherlands were enticed into raising pigs by the high price being paid for pork. Thus with Denmark exporting more hogs than ever before, and Ireland increasing her hog population and the export of the above mentioned countries, the inevitable result was that the British market became swamped. Prices paid for Wiltshire sides fell rapidly until it reached such a level that made it unprofitable for the Canadian packers to export."

"The home market and the United States could not absorb all the Canadian bacon products, so the price paid the Canadian farmers for his live product naturally suffered," said Mr. McKinnon.

"With low prices prevailing during the breeding seasons of last year, many farmers became discouraged with the hog game and shipped their breeding sows to market. The result is evident at the present time in the shortage of hogs on the farms now. There are 100,000 less hogs marketed in Canada in the first three months of this year than for the corresponding term in 1928, and from personal observation I have every reason to believe that this shortage will continue for some little time."

Trade Is Falling Off.

"With the shortage of hogs also existing in the United States, and the trade to Great Britain from European countries falling off, there is a keener demand for Canadian bacon on the British market. With Canadian Wiltshire side selling at roughly 114 to 118 shillings per hundred pounds, it now becomes profitable for Canadian packers to export our surplus.

"Another reason why I think pork prices will be good for some time, is the rapid increase of our domestic trade. The development in Northern Ontario with its large mining areas is raising a big pork market. Too, the consumption of pork per person in the United States has risen in five years from 58 pounds to 88 pounds, and this is true in Canada. However, the Canadian and American public are demanding leaner pork. Thus the Canadian farmer would do well to pay strict attention to his breeding stock.

"The export market is something which we have considered highly important in the past, and is none the less so to-day. But its uncertainty at this time makes it necessary that we should look for means, in as far as possible, to offset the loss of outside trade. The needs of the British market or the American market can well be met by catering to the tastes of our home trade."

GENERAL LIST WEAKER AFTER SHORT RALLY

Numerous Single Point Losses Registered On Toronto Stock Exchange.

SOME GAINS MADE.

International Nickel Suffers Light Loss in Turnover of 7,200 Shares.

TORONTO, May 14 (Canadian Press).— Despite a partial rally around the noon-hour which helped to pull prices from their previous low marks, the general list on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day bore a decidedly softer appearance. Single point losses were numerous and were spread well over the list, and declines ranging from 1½c to 3 points were not uncommon. The bulk of total sales were supplied by International Nickel, which, in a turnover of more than 7,200 shares, broke to a low of 49 1-8, with the noon-price showing a net loss of 7-8. Pure Gold, in light trading, slumped three points to 57, while Abitibi lost 1¼ to 42, Brazilian 1 1-8 to 50 1-8, Pressed Metals 1½ to 33, and Service Stations 2½ to 70½. Hiram Walkers remained at the morning's low of 64, off 2½, while Hamilton Bridge dipped 4½ points to 56½.

Gypsum and Alabastine and Cockshutt Plow were both exceptions, the former recovering 1½ points to 109, and the latter 1¼ to 4¼.

NEW YORK LIST IS IRREGULAR

Values Drop in Late Session Owing to Higher Money Rates.

LOWER LEVELS REACHED.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 14.—Erratic price movements characterized to-day's stock market which was still under the influence of rumors of adverse credit developments. The market opened irregular, turned heavy when several of the Copper, Motor and Steel shares broke through yesterday's low levels, rallied under the leadership of General Electric around mid-day and then turned heavy again in response to a stiffening in call money rates.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but only a moderate supply of funds was available and the rate was raised to 8 around the end of the third hour. This was attributed to the semi-weekly readjustment of reserves and the approach of the mid-month settlements. Federal reserve officials hold out little hope of any marked realization in money rates this summer, unless there is a marked reduction in quoted securities values.

While most of yesterday's mild rumors bearing on the credit situation proved groundless, fears were still entertained to-day that either the Boston or New York Federal Reserve Banks would increase the rediscount rate this week. The unusually heavy financing of the past fortnight is expected to be reflected in a substantial increase in brokers' loans on Thursday although this may be modified if the liquidation which has been under way since last Saturday is continued through to-morrow.

MINE MARKET HOLDS STEADY

Favorite Issues Hold Interest of Speculators in Morning Session.

MAYLAND OIL FEATURES.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14. (C.P.)—Activity in recent market favorites, with trading in other issues less active than the previous day characterled the morning session on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange here to-day. Mayland Oil was the feature stock of the morning opening at 15.75, but later sagged to 14.50, a gain of 1.25 since the previous close. Ajax was active but remained unchanged at 55.

Sherrit-Gordon was active at the opening but remained unchanged at the close at 8.00. Sudbury Basin also aroused considerable interest and at the close had declined 20 points to 8.85.

Alberts Pacific was up 15 at 5.00, with but few sales; Newbec with heavy sales hovered around 59 and 60 most of the morning but at the close sold off 2 points at 57 1-2.

International Nickel was off 100 at 49.25 as was Noranda at 55.00. Central Manitoba was fairly active, gaining a point at 47. Big Missouri was active at the opening but slowed up at the close off 4 at 136.

Wheat Prices Lower On Chicago Exchange

CHICAGO, Ills., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Snow and rain in Canada affording relief from shortage of moisture brought about early downturns to-day in wheat prices here. Auspicious domestic wheat crop reports and Liverpool quotations lower than due counted also as a bear influence. Opening at ¼c to ⅞c decline, Chicago wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn and oats displayed considerable strength, with corn starting unchanged to ½c higher, and subsequently scoring an all around advance. Provisions inclined downward.

C.N.R. Earnings

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending May 7th, 1929, were $5,032,768, as compared with $4,575,451 for the corresponding period of 1928, an increase of $457,317, or 10 per cent.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

HIGHER PROFITS SHOWN BY ONTARIO SILKNIT, LIMITED.

The estimated profits of Ontario Silknit, Limited, for the first four months of the current year are running at the rate of 50 per cent. of the total net income for the whole of the year 1928. This constructive fact was revealed at the annual meeting of the company held recently, when the secretary-treasurer, Elly Marks, in the absence of the president, reported estimated profits for the period referred to, after depreciation of $100,000 as compared with $187,000 for the year 1928.

At the present time the company's plant is working practically at capacity and for the first four months of the 1929 the value of shipments in Canada increased by 40 per cent. over the same period of last year. The dyeing plant, which was under construction and adjustment during the greatest part of last year and consequently showed only a very small profit, is now established. Profits for the first four months of the present year, quite apart from the dyeing of the company's own materials, were earned of more more than $22,000.

INCREASES IN PROFITS

Montreal.— Notwithstanding exceedingly keen competition, which forced the company to accept business regardless of price, Dominion Textile Company, Limited, shows increased sales and earnings as well as improved financial position in its report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1929.

Operating profits were $1,652,562 on sales of $21,262,400 as compared with $1,532,487 in the preceding year on sales of $19,797,901. In order to finance the acquisition of two tire fabric plants, 45,000 additional shares of common stock were issued during the year at $75 per share. The earnings on the average number of shares on which dividends were paid were equivalent to $6.47 per share of common stock, exactly the same as the earnings on the common stock in the preceding year.

Improvement in the Company's financial position was greater by well over a million dollars than the extent of the net liquid assets remaining as a result of additional stock. Proceeds of the financing amounted to $3,375,000. Out of this sum, the company employed $2,446,707 in connection with the purchase of the subsidiaries and used $60,000 for redemption of bonds, or a total of $2,506,707 leaving a balance of $868,293. Net working capital, however, was increased by $1,971,562, so that the improvement affected independent of financing was $1,103,269. The outstanding feature among the current assets is an increase in raw cotton from $1,666,951 to $3,772,381.

In addition to the operating profit of $1,652,562, income from investments amounted to $324,106, making total income of $1,976,668. Bond interest and premium on bonds redeemed absorbed $331,220, preferred dividends $1,135,842, and common dividends $1,180,850, leaving a surplus of $348,756. This was added to prior surplus, bringing the total up to $7,211,414. Dividends on the common in the preceding year were lower at $1,125,000 owing to the smaller number of shares outstanding.

FEATURE OF TWIN CITY COMPANY'S PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT EXPLAINED.

In the profit and loss account of Twin City Rapid Transit Company for 1928 an item appeared which has given rise to inquiries on the part of shareholders. Against net income of $833,589 for 1928 are "adjustments" of $687,161, leaving a balance of $146,428. In the previous year adjustments amounted to only $10,800.

In a letter to the Financial News Bureau, A. M. Robertson, vice-president, states that the net adjustments amounting to $687,161 were made up of a number of debits and credits for the period from 1924 to 1928, and include such items as additional income taxes, uncollected accounts, capital stock taxes adjusted for the years 1924 to 1926 inclusive, amortization of discount and expenses in connection with the issuance of the company's $18,000,000 par value of First Lien and Refunding 5½% Gold Bonds and the company's loss to December 31st 1928, through the ownership and operation of the Yellow Cab Corporation. Twin City Company disposed of its interest in the Yellow Cab Corporation at the close of the last fiscal year.

Officials of the Famous Players Corporation, in conversation with the Financial News Bureau, state that the latest acquisitions of the Corporation besides the Music Hall property in Halifax, which will be turned into an up-to-date Famous Players Theatre, the Auditorium in Quebec, which will shortly be classed as a 100% talking picture house, and a property in North Bay, where another theatre will be built, and a second property in Quebec in addition to the Auditorium, where another New Famous Players house will be erected.

At the present time, 20 theatres of the Corporation have been completely fitted with the equipment to present sound pictures. Contracts have been signed for the installation of 50 more by September or October of the present year.

Questioned regarding the effect of the talking film, it was stated that within possibly a year, many of the theatres will find it best to dispense with the orchestra almost entirely, owing to the complete musical program which accompanies the picture. What the future holds regarding the direct results of the sound film, on the earnings of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, is largely a matter of conjecture. It is thought that earnings for the current year may run between $4 and $6.

COMMENT ON THE MARKET

A Special Service to The Examiner.

CANADA WORLD'S MOST PROSPEROUS COUNTRY

For several years international experts have been in agreement that Canada is the world's most prosperous and the most progressive market in ratio to population. The dominion easily leads the world as the best customer for products made in the United States. The year 1928 broke many old records total trade exceeding two and a half billion dollars, an increase over 1927 of 270 million dollars which figure represented the total trade of the Dominion only thirty years ago. Canada has increased her export trade by 90% in 10 years, and now does more than one-fourth as much export trade as the United States, which has more than ten times its population. The Dominion is attracting much foreign capital and at the same time is investing more money in other countries than any nation of comparable population has ever done. Canada, it is predicted, is destined to become the commercial and manufacturing centre of the British Empire, with its population of 446,726,000 people or 15 million more than one-fourth of the inhabitants of the world.

THE BEST POLICY FOR PROFITS.

The Financial Times says this week:

Often times around local brokerage offices the discussion arises as to the best plan to follow in order to make steady profits out of the market. Members of the different firms are frequently approached with the object of trying to obtain greater enlightenment, by clients who are anxious to have the information in order to guide them in future operations.

One of the older members of the Exchange expressed the view that one of the ways he had found worked out to the best advantage with many of his clients was that when they bought a stock they sometimes put in a selling order at a fixed price. To this policy one of the clients pointed out that anybody who had done this with Nickel would not have made one-half the money as was made by those who picked it up at the low level and carried it right through until it was split up.

The experience of the broker, however, was that most people who kept on taking profits on a moderate scale usually had better judgment regarding the market as a whole and what they missed on a few occasions on the long swings, they more than made up by the number of good jumps they cashed in on.

Other brokers admitted frankly that they could not find any particular rule, as some of them seemed to work out under certain conditions and not under others. The history of the market, however, over the last five years would seem to indicate that it has been the traders who have stayed with their original holdings who made the real big money, as against the in and out trader. This is perhaps due to the sponsorship that has been behind certain stocks that were headed for splits, like Montreal Power, Dominion Bridge, Brazilian Traction and Nickel.

Toronto reports to Bradstreet's say that the cold backward weather continues to be the main obstacle to a really active trade here. Business generally is moving along at a fairly good pace but there is no doubt that business would be a lot better at the retail stores if only the weather were more seasonable. As it is, boots and shoes and clothing have been in fair request but the time is at hand when more warm weather apparel and furnishings should be selling.

MEN WILL NOT STRIKE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 14.—The cause for a lockout of 75,000 building trade workers voted to begin at five o'clock to-morrow afternoon was removed to-day.

The lockout was voted yesterday by the Building Trades Employers Association because of failure of the Building Trades Council to stop sympathetic strikes in support of a strike of an electrical union which refused to furnish workers to three electrical contractors.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 14 (Canadian Press). — Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (in cents), Great Britain, 4.84 11-16; Canadian dollars at 21:32 of one per cent. discount.

WATER HIGH AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 14.—Lake St. Clair and the Detroit river this afternoon are battering again at the shores of Riverside, Tecumseh and the other up-river municipalities, but the flooded situation of two weeks ago is not to be expected unless the winds shift to the north-east. The lake and river levels are as high as at any time this year but the water will not sweep on to the highway if the east wind continues.

CATTLE MEN TO APPEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 14. — Representatives from 16 cattle raising and feeding states selected a committee of seven to-day to appear before the house Ways and Means Committee to work out an adjustment of the proposed tariff on live cattle and to ask for a tariff on hides.

EXTRADITION WARRANT ISSUED

CHICAGO, Ills., May 14. (C.P.) — A warrant for the extradition of Harry D. Petrie, Canadian barrister, to Hamilton, Ont., has been issued by United States Commissioner James R. Glass, at the request of the British Consul, Godfrey Haggard, representing Canadian authorities.

POTATO MEN SEEK INCREASE

Canada Imported 5,000,000 Bushels To United States in 1927.

COMPETITION GROWING.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 14. — (Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Potato growers of Maine and various regions more or less close to the Canadian border are insisting that an increased rate be put on potatoes in the tariff bill. They have the backing of growers who feel the competition from the Bermudas.

The controveray over potato rates will be a feature of the tariff struggle and will be linked up with the general demand of agricultural interests for more protection.

Representative Nelson of Maine has taken the lead in the championship of the demands of the potato growers. In a speech in the House, he stressed the competition from Canada and said that in 1927 about 5,000,000 bushels were imported, chiefly from Canada. He said this was possible through cheaper labor and cheaper transportation rates.

If Mr. Nelson and other champions of the potato growers in the House do not get rates increased, Maine Senators are expected to make a fight for higher rates when the bill arrives in the Senate.

BUSINESS MAN FORGES PERMIT

147 Italians Are Defrauded By Actions of Toronto Resident.

PLEADS GUILTY.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14 (Canadian Press). — Frank A Wise, former Toronto business man, pleaded guilty in the Assize Court here to-day to a charge of uttering a forged immigration permit to allow an immigrant to enter Canada. Sentence was deferred at the request of the defence counsel, R. H. Greer, K.C.

F. W. Griffiths, K.C., representing the Department of Justice, characterized the offence as "a cold-blooded, calculated swindle among about four persons, against the immigration laws of Canada." Stating that the evidence had disclosed one of the cruelest frauds in Canada, Mr. Griffiths said that the permits had been sold at a price of from $500 to $350, and that some 147 Italians had sold out their belongings and had been turned back before reaching Canada.

400 PLASTERERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Toronto Employers Agree To Demand For Higher Wages.

TORONTO, Ont., May 14.—(Canadian Press).—Four hundred striking plasterers of this city who have been out for the last twelve days will return to work to-morrow. Officials of the Plasters' Union stated that their demands for higher wages had been agreed to by the employers and a three year contract which in addition to the wage increase agrees to a forty hour week.

About 600 men of the other building trades are still out on strike but union officials state that they have hopes of reaching an agreement within a few hours.

The amount of the increase was not specified but officials describe it as a fair one.

WOMEN ARE DISCHARGED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 14 (Canadian Press). — The two women physicians and three registered nurses arrested in a raid last month upon the Birth Control Research Clinical Bureau and charged with illegal dissemination of birth control information were discharged by Magistrate Abraham Rosenbluth in Harlem Court to-day.

ENQUIRY OPENS

CANBERRA, Australia, May 14.—A Federal enquiry into the flight of the airplane Southern Cross which made a forced landing in Northern Australia, and the subsequent deaths of two searchers opened here to-day. At the request of the interested parties it was immediately adjourned until Thursday.

SEVEN DROWNED IN FLOODS.

LIVINGSTON, Tex., May 14.—Seven dead and property and crop damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars was the reported toll taken in Polk county yesterday by a flood following two days of torrential rains that sent the Trinity river and several creeks out of their banks. Communication was disrupted and the exact number of lives lost could not be determined.

Rescue forces in row boats worked frantical throughout the night taking residents from housetops and trees in the flooded districts.

SELLS CHILD FOR $15.

REGINA, Sask., May 14. — Mrs. Mary Cawthra, Saskatoon, recently admitted to a local magistrate that she had sold her 14-year-old daughter to a neighbor for a consideration of $15. The court reserved sentence pending an investigation.

CANADIAN WOOL IN LESS DEMAND

Farmers Are Being Paid 22 Cents Per Pound This Year.

PRICE IS LOWER.

The lower wool prices being quoted at the London and American markets has had the effect of lowering the price of wool in Canada The Examiner was told by T. Brightman this morning. Up until recently wool buyers were paying farmers 22 cents and even higher for their wool. This price was higher than could profitably be paid, it was said, but came about because of the eager bidding among the buyers.

Ninety-five per cent. of the Canadian wool finds its way to the American market and the duty of sixteen cents per pound is having a bad effect on the prices in this country. The new tariff revisions have added another three cents on the duty, too, according to Mr. Brightman.

Loss Last Year

Last year wool prices were higher, ranging closely around thirty-five cents a pound to the farmers, but during the past year the price has gradually scaled down and many of the buyers were forced to take a loss, which has weakened the buying market.

In many parts of the district sheep shearing has already been finished, but the cold weather has retarded these operations generally.

The hide market is passing through one of the most difficult periods of its history, according to Mr. Brightman. During the last year and a half the price of hides has dropped from twenty cents per pound until now it is at six cents a pound. Many buyers have their warehouses piled high with hides which they can not unload even at a great sacrifice.

These conditions are forcing many old furs, hides and wool firms out of business, said Mr. Brightman.

Chown Attorney Allan had agreed to an amended charge so that McLaughlin could plead guilty to being an unarmed patriticipant in the robberies. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 14 years on each count.

McLaughlin admitted specifically that he had been an unarmed member of the party which held up Ernest J. Riley, proprietor of a Harrow pool hall, obtaining $16.15, and the robbery of Grant Thomas at Stodgel and the Symes garage at Leamington Both jobs were executed the same night.

The Leamington enterprise netted McLaughlin and his pals $65.

Bulletins

(By Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, May 14.— Canadian railways cut wheat rate two cents from Georgian Bay ports to Canadian seaboard in reply to United States' reduction. Reduction became effective yesterday and may help to relieve grain tie up at Montreal and Port Colborne. Flour is not affected, although cut is expected later. While U. S. rates cut expires September 20, Canadian reduction may be permanent.

LONDON, May 14.—Premier Baldwin sends messsage that he is confident of victory in coming elections.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—United States' Supreme Court refuses to review commuter case and abides by ruling against quota aliens entering country in search of work.

OTTAWA, May 14.—Dominion has not parliamentary authority to deal in buying and selling of gold for commercial purposes, Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, states. Exchange rates vary according to commercial exports by banks.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

GEORGE STREET UNITED CHURCH.

The services at George Street United Church on Sunday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Todd, were of an exceedingly fine character. The altar platform was beautified with two lovely baskets of roses, presented by members in honor of their mothers and a lovely vase of red tulips graced the table below. A baptismal service took place before the morning service. At eleven Mr. Todd's theme was "Our Mothers," the Bible lesson being taken from Deuteronomy, chapter 6. He welcomed the exceedingly large congregation, saying he knew many had come to pay tribute to their mothers. Speaking of the great importance of our home life in Canada, he referred to it as the health, the very heart of our country. It is a significant fact that all over the North American continent we keep Mother's Day as an acknowledgment of our love for our mothers. Home life is eulogized and Mother's Day on the church calendar is fraught with tremendous possibilities. Tell me the height of the home life of a country, and I will tell you the height of its national life. Therefore it is up to us to keep our home life pure and noble, for out of this are the issues of national life. The home life of a nation never rises any higher than that of the woman, the queen of the home. A mother's ideals are incorporated by her children and the memory surrounding them keep them from dangers untold. Mother love is unfathomable. In conclusion he prayed for more love of home life and greater adoration of God.

Mrs. G. F. Liddle sang "Mother o' Mine," and the choir sang a beautiful anthem.

At the Sunday School service in the afternoon the Mother's Day service was continued in open session of the school. G. L. Liddle and Frank Stevens gave a fine duet, Miss Gwen Parnell a recitation entitled "My Mother."

At the eevning service the sermon was to "The Daughters." Mr. Todd read the beautiful story of Queen Esther from the 6th chapter of Esther, telling the story of her helpfulness and unselfishness in saving her people. He admonished the daughters to take Queen Esther as an example and like her live a life of high standard. Mrs. McKee Bingham sang a beautiful solo, "Consider the Lilies."

L. Morcombe and Councillor H. Lamb It was decided to hold Court of Revision on June 3, at ten o'clock a.m. Ten loads of gravel are to be put on Division Street, north of King Street. The following accounts were ordered paid: License for fire truck, $2.00; street lights , $75.64; John White, account, $19.60; Thomas Newman, for coal, $7.34; H. McGinness, groceries, $10.23; R. Johnson, four loads gravel, $4.00; James Morton, 17 hours on culvert on Queen and Colborne Streets, $5.10; Fred Clemett, 5 hours on culvert on Colborne Street, $1.50; total, $125.61.

The Fire Brigade, composed of Messrs. C. L. Morcombe, P. C. Mills, Fred Parker, Noble Clemett, S. Fisher, William Irwin, and Stanley Tripp, who attended the fire on the railway near the elevator, each received the sum of two dollars

Hold Annual Meeting.

The Omemee branch of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. G. Overholt on Thursday evening. "Sing, Say, or Pay" was the way chosen by which the roll-call was to be answered, and in this way a varied program of singing, readings, recipes, etc., was given. Mrs. Kells, Sr., was listened to with pleasure when she addressed the gathering and told some of her experiences in Institute work. The secretary gave a report of the dental inspection recently conducted in the Public School by the local dentist. Fifty-eight children were examined, thirty-five of whom needed attention, and already fifteen have been attended to.

The committee appointed to look into the building of a swimming pool reported on their findings, and the matter discussed at length. A report of the flower committee for the year was given by Mrs. E. MacPherson. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. J. Widdiss; 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. T. E. MacPherson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. McGinness; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. R. Tate; district directors, Mrs A. Sloan and Mrs. W. Henderson; branch directors, Mrs. Overholt, Mrs. P. Parsons, alternative, Mrs Nichols; auditors, Mrs. Cornwall, Mrs. H. Jones; press representative, Miss Mildred Williamson; sewing committee, Mrs. Overholt, Mrs. S. Faulkner, and Violet McBain; program committee, Mrs W. McQuade, Mrs. H. Hall, and Miss Mild[illegible] Williamson; swimming pool committee, Mrs. J. Widdiss, Mrs. W. Henderson, Miss M. Faulkner.

A social hour was enjoyed, with Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. Widdiss, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, and Mrs. McGinness as hostesses. Mrs. R. Tate kindly invited the society for the June meeting, which will be chiefly given to sewing.

Make Official Visit.

Lorne Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 375, Omemee, was honored on Thursday evening by the official visit from the District Deputy of Victoria, No. 20, Rt. Wor. Bro. Callum, of Coboconk. Visiting brethren were present from Peterborough, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Coboconk, Lindsay, Millbrook, and Toronto. After the degree work was exemplified, lunch was served ,and an enjoyable hour spent. Addresses were heard from Mr. Callum, of Coboconk, Mr. Bottum of Bobcaygeon, Mr. Pratt of Toronto, Mr. W. W. Staples of Lindsay, Mr. John T. Hornsby of Peterborough, Mr. Hall of Lindsay, Mr. R. J. Patterson of Lindsay, Dr. N H. Sutton of Peterborough, Mr. Porter of Lindsay, and Mr. Begg of Lindsay.

NEVER wait to see if a headache will "wear off." Why suffer when there's always Aspirin? The millions of men and women who use it in increasing quantities every year prove that it does relieve such pain. The medical profession pronounces it without effect on the heart, so use it as often as it can spare you any pain. Every druggist always has genuine Aspirin tablets for the prompt relief of a headache, colds, neuralgia, lumbago, etc. Familiarize yourself with the proven directions in every package.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

GILMOUR MEMORIAL.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

Mother's Day was held in the Gilmour Memorial Church and Sunday school on Sundy. The Ontario Religious Educational Council's program was followed by the school session, the Misses Phyllis Moore and Hazel Telford contributing readings.

The minister, Rev. W. S. Edgar, took for his text, Prob. 31:29: "Many daughters have done virtuously but thou excellest them all." He said: "This was a beautiful tribute that Lemuel the wise king, paid to his mother, and in all ages we find that the noblest men have uttered the sweetest words of tongue and pen about her who is the dearest of all our loved ones.

When did most of us learn the greatest lessons of life? but from your mother; who taught you your child-like trust in God? who imparted those desires to be good and to do good, dedicating you from infancy to the service and love of your heavenly Father?—your mother.

Is there anything on earth more beautiful than mother love? How faithful, unchanging, undying it is. Why it's the next thing in the universe to the almighty, unmeasured, overwhelming love off God Himself.

Thank God for the wise, good, plain old fashioned mother—not the up-to-date modern woman, powdered, painted and enameled, with her society manners and gay dresses and white jewelled hands that never felt the clasp of baby fingers, and who is determined not to feel that clasp, but the dear, sweet, gentle, old-fashioned mother, with love light in her eyes, with silver tresses lying on her faded cheek, with hands worn thin with toil, and with the glory of heaven beaming in her countenance. Mother love is like the love of God, for sometimes it too passeth knowledge. It is an earthly image of the divine heavenly love which flows in the upper world like a great uncharted ocean. The true mother never forgets the wandering boy or the wandering girl—she hopes on and loves on, and her hope and love are often rewarded by the wanderer's return.

There are two aspects of motherhood that I want to emphasize.

(1) The mother as the homemaker. The mother is inseparably connected with the home; this is her true God-designed sphere and the throne in that home is occupied by the mother, and not necessarily the home that is housed in the grand mansion on the fine boulevard, but also that which dwells in the humble cottage on the common street. Woodrow Wilson never uttered finer words than these:

"The heart of the world is under very plain jackets;

"The heart of the world is at very simple firesides.

"The heart of the world is in very humble circumstances."

One of the most alarming features of life in the United States to-day is the almost universal break down of the home. Every year there are thousands of children left fatherless and motherless by reason of divorce. There is one divorce for every seven marriages in the States. How can there be any semblance of a true home life with a state of affairs like that? You cannot build a great nation on any other foundation than that of good homes, and you cannot have good homes without true godly mothers. A true mother can make home to be a little bit of heaven on earth.

We have to-day the modern woman who has claimed her liberty, and who has invaded many spheres in business, in professional life and in politics that were hitherto only open to men. And in many of them she has made good, but she must never forget that her throne is in the home and in the mother spirit. In these other spheres she is only a servant, but in the home she is a queen. She must look to her throne. Every family dwelling place is not a home. I have known families dwelling together in what could be more aptly described as a hell than a home. Neither the father nor mother had any control or authority. The various members of the family were quarrelsome, ill-tempered, ungodly, disobedient. The Bible was never opened; the voice of prayer was never heard.

I have gone into other family dwelling places and have felt the very atmosphere of heaven as soon as I crossed the threshold. There God was honored; His name revered; the members of that family were considerate and kind to each other; there love reigned supreme.

I almost invariably found that the difference in these dwelling places lay in the fact that there was a wise Godly mother in the latter and that she was missing from the former. There is no place on earth more like heaven than a home when it is fully and truly Christianized. This is the mother's place of supreme conquest; this is where she can win her greatest victories. Any triumph a woman may win in business, in professional life, in politics, is only tinsel compred with the golden triumphs she can win in the home and in the hearts and lives of her children.

When a woman turns her back on the home for any other kind of career she is selling her birthright for a mess of pottage. She is forsaking that field where she can do her greatest and most Godlike work and where she can score her highest influence.

And now abideth for woman, the business, the profession, the home, but the greatest of these is the home.

(2) The mother is the character-builder. In this the mother also excells all others. She has the child in the most impressionable period of life, when the heart is soft and plastic, and she can make impressions on the young life that will last until that life passes into eternity, and the wise mother realizes her great opportunity and made the most of it.

Read the autobiographies of really great men, men who have accomplished things worthwhile in life and you will be surprised at the number who attribute their success in life to the influence exerted on them in their tender years by their mother. She moulded their character; she gave the life its first great impulse in the right direction; she first awoke their slumbering ambition, started the fires of genius to burn ,and she it was who fanned the flames.

You are all familiar with the statement made by a certain Roman Catholic priest: "Give me a child until it is seven years of age and I don't care who gets it afterwards." What did he mean by that? He meant that during those first seven years he would so fashion and shape the character of that child that all subsequent efforts to change it would prove unavailing; he would plant in that young heart and mind during those seven formative years such religious thoughts and ideas as could not be uprooted by the most strenuous efforts afterwards.

Now the mother has the child during those first seven years closer to her than any priest can possibly have. This is her golden opportunity, and the true mother gladly avails herself of it.

In these two realms, that of the home and that of character, the mother is the supreme craftsman; she is the master-builder. Many dughters have done virtuously but thou excelleth them all.

Burns says in one of his poems "An honest man is the noblest work of God." Now I have always been inclined to question that. It seems to me that a loving mother is the noblest work of God.

A man once boasted that he was a self-made man. I regard a self-made man as a poorly made man. This man's brother was standing by and heard the foolish boast, and he said: "No, Jack; you are not a self-made man; mother made you and she made all the rest of the family."

Therefore let us honor our mothers, living and dead; let us lay at their feet our tribute of praise and thanksgiving for all that they have done for us. She is worthy of all honor—

"That little mother of mine."

The young men's choir sang a suitable mother's song. A baptismal service was held at the close. Miss Mabel Paul presided at the organ.

200 ATTEND CONVENTION

Quinte Conference Branch of W.M.S. of United Church Has 11,649 Members.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The fourth annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada was held in Sydenham Street Church, Kingston, recently, and was attended by upwards of two hundred delegates and visitors from the seven Presbyterals comprising this branch: Belleville, Cobourg, Kingston, Lindsay, Oshawa, Peterborough and Renfrew.

The reports of the secretaries of the different departments were most encouraging showing progress and development along every line, with every hope of continued success.

There are 308 auxiliaries with a membership of 11,649, the total givings amounting to $94,449.89.

The address by the retiring president, Mrs. J. T. Daley, of Port Hope, was full of inspiration and hope, giving a review of the work being carried on by the W.M.S. in the varous home and foreign fields.

Mrs. A. W. Banefield, who has spent 23 years in the work in West Africa, gave a most vivid and sympathetic description of the peoples of that continent, contrasting their condition before the spread of the Gospel among them, with their condition now, after thirty years of transforming influence of Christianity.

Miss Winnifred Thomas, of Toronto, candidate secretary, told of the great need for new candidates who will volunteer for mission work, and urging the co-operation of the women of the W.M.S. who must keep this work continually before the young people of the church.

Thursday evening was devoted to work of the Young People and after the address by Miss Thomas, a missionary pageant, "The Spirit of Easter," was very cleverly presented by fifteen young girls.

The newly-elected officers were installed by Mrs. H. A. Lavell, B.A., past-president of the Dominion board.

The report from the new department of temperance education was presented by Mrs. W. H. Ashton, of Campbellford, and a resolution passed memorializing the Dominion board that they devise a system by which a canvass of the voters may be taken, asking each to pledge herself to vote against any giving of intoxicating liquor to the people, and also to sign a petition to be sent to the parliaments demanding prohibition.

A basket of roses was presented to the retiring president, Mrs. J. T. Daley, as a token of appreciation of her faithfulness and loyalty to duty during the three years she has held office. The next annual meeting will be held in Bowmanville.

Officers for 1929.—Past President, Mrs. J. T. Daley, Port Hope; President, Mrs. W. L. Smyth, B.A., Pembroke; 1st Vice-Jresident, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, Capbellford; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. R. Barbour, Gore's Landing; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. R. O. Jolliffe, Kingston; 4th Vice-President, Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, B.A., Norwood; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. C. Denike, Havelock; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. C. Sills, Foxboro; Treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Campbell, B.A., Kingston; Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. H. Thompson, Whitby; Young Women's Work, Mrs. H. Riches, Lindsay; Affiliated C.G.I.T. Groups, Mrs. M. C. Mackinnon, Perth; Mission Bands and Baby Bands, Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Stirling; Associate Helpers, Mrs. E. B. Cooke, Tweed; Supply Secretary, Mrs. E. J. Corkill, Napanee; Stranger's Secretary, Mrs. P. L. Jull, Brooklin; Literature Secretary, Mrs. John Turner, Almonte; "Missionary Monthly," Mrs. George Hardy, Oakwood; Temperance Education, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, Campbellford; Press, Mrs. S. E. Reavelle, M.A., Kingston.

Committees

Finance—Mrs. H. Thompson, Whitby; Mrs. W. M. Campbell, Kingston; Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, Peterborough; Mrs. F. Brandon, Cannington; and Finance Secretary of Renfrew Presbyterial.

Nominating—Mrs. R. B. Lawlor, Norwood; Mrs. E. B. Cooke, Tweed.

Advisory—Mrs. W. L. Smyth, B.A., Pembroke; Mrs. R. O. Jolliffe, Kingston; Mrs. M. C. MacKinnon, Perth.

Custodian of Records—Mrs. J. T. Daley, Port Hope.

Delegates to Dominion Board.—Mrs. S. C. Gay, Foxboro; Mrs. R. O. Jolliffe, Kingston.

A SONG OF GLADNESS

Oh! Spring is a time of gladness
The earth is with life athrill
And has dressed in a robe of emerald,
Every field and dale and hill.
Aloft in their leafy bowers,
The birds sing a carol gay,
While from nooks and sunny hollows
Peep the early flowers of May.

So, Life has its springtime gladness
When the world is a castle of dreams,
And we follow a path of magic
Where the light of the future gleams.
A future all bathed in brightness,
Our hopes are without a fear,
For we have a promise of summer
In the springtime of the year.

Oh! Summer's a time of gladness,
With the promise of Spring fulfilled;
To its mate on a nest in the maple,
The robin his song has trilled;
The flowers lift faces skyward,
While the honey-bees roam between.
And the hills that were clothed with verdure
Have taken a richer sheen.

So, the summer of life means gladness,
When it's filled with kindly deeds;
And the magic carpet of springtime
To a door of service leads;
And how do we find the doorway?
God's light on our pathway beams
And the key that unlocks the portal
We find in our castle of dreams.

Oh! Autumn's a time of gladness
With its harvest of golden grain;
The hills they are dressed n yellow
And green, with a crimson stain.
Away to the south are winging
The birds, in their homeward flight;
And the flowers their heads are bending
With the weight of their beauty bright.

So, the Autumn of Life has gladness
With a joy that for aye abides,
When we live in a fuller service
While the light on our path still guides.
For a knowledge of tasks well rendered
A thrill to the heart will bring,
When we stand in the glow of Autumn
Our eyes on the hills of Spring.

Oh! Spring in the land immortal
Where faith is exchanged for sight;
God's promise our way illumines
Till we come to the gates of light.
Then when time with its seasons is ended
All our journey has grown long,
'Tis Jesus unlocks the portal
To a summer land of song.

THE PICTURES ON THE PANE
(A Fantasy)

When the cold of Winter grips us,
And the Frost King rides the air,
Then we find upon our windows
Many pictures passing fair.

Here a castle—there a turret,
Then a forest lone and still,
And at last I can see the outline
Of a village 'neath a hill.

'Tis the village of my childhood,
And though roaming far and near,
I have never found another
That to me is half so dear.

There's the church we used to gather
With its steeple high in air,
And our hearts were lifted skyward,
When the parson breathed a prayer.

Here we heard of gates of jasper
And a home beyond the sky;
And I held my breath to listen
When they sang "Sweet Bye and Bye."

Over here once stood the old home,
I can hardly see for tears;
And I cannot find the garden
It has vanished with the years.

There were Zinnias and Verbenas
With the fragrant Mignonette,
And although they long have faded
I can often smell them yet.

I am hunting for the school house
With its walls so straight and square;
To our minds in all the country
Not another could compare.

When we heard the old bell tolling,
We would hurry to our place,
Past the drill shed, round the corner
We would madly run a race.

As I look a little closer,
There's the mill pond—Oh, the joys
Of the days when we went skating
With the other girls and boys.

And when nights were dark and chilly
We would light an old pine stump;
Yet some skater, in the darkness
Often got a heavy bump.

Not far distant stands a hilltop
With its trees so stark and bare,
To our minds it was a mountain
In those days so free from care.

In the fall when leaves turned yellow
How that mount was all aflame;
'Twas a feature of the landscape
And it bore a name of fame.

This low bank down in a corner,
Trees and bushes all about,
In its lines somehow reminds me
Of a spot we called "The Spout."

There the sunshine with the shadows
Played a game of hide and seek;
And from all the mossy hollows
Purple violets used to peek.

Now I see a grove of cedars,
And it brings the old days back,
When the young folks used to gather
Up, beyond the railway track.

Oft we played the "Dusty Miller"
And "We're Gathering Nuts in May";
Say! I'd give a sight of money
For the joy I felt that day.

Last of all a line of silver
Winds its way across the pane
And it brings to mind a river
That I long to see again.

On its breast at shade of evening
We would idly float along,
Picking lilies, white and yellow,
While we filled the air with song.

You may give me books of travel,
Views of Italy and Spain;
But not one of them can thrill me
Like the Pictures on the Pane.

These verses were composed by Florence Maude Baldwin, of Uxbridge, daughter of Mr. Albert Byers and the late Mrs. Byers, of Toronto, who were all former residents of Omemee.

6.—Moonlight on the Saguenay is an adventure in romance.

8.—Golf on the Manoir Richelieu links at Murray Bay has scenic value and sporting hazards.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence-Saguenay waterways hold a peculiar interest for all portions of Canada. This interest dates back for many generations and is centred about the activities of the early explorers in New France. Such men as Cartier, Champlain, La Verendrye and La Salle were the first to investigate these waterways and blaze a trail through what we now call the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario for those who later extended their colonizing efforts into the Maritimes and penetrated beyond the headwaters of Lake Superior into the Canadian Northwest. It is little wonder, then, that the holiday interest of the whole continent is inexhaustibly woven about this route, for it is a mine of historical association, while the beautiful and often quaint aspect of the surrounding country, particularly throughout Quebec, never fails to appeal.

Starting at Duluth where the famous coureur de bois, who first gave it his name, built a tiny fort as protection against hostile Indians, the modern voyageur begins a cruise on the Northern Navigation Company's steamers, of over a thousand miles through inland waters. In turn he passes through the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence and thence to the Saguenay and is in very truth following the path of Cartier, Champlain and the other explorers to the sea.

The Upper Lakes region is rich in history and filled with the atmosphere of romance and tradition. Around it centre the adventures of the coureur des bois and the voyageurs; together with the exploits of La Salle, Pere Marquette, Cadillac and many another "knight of the sword and cross, who sought to conquer this Indian land for king and church."

Of all the Lakes, the regions of Superior are the most enchanting. This is the land of the Algonquins, one of the great Indian confederacies. It is also the country of the Ojibways, the tribe to which Hiawatha belonged. Longfellow has immortalized this Indian character in his famous poem and as a link with "the land of the Here-after," to which Hiawatha's soul departed, "in the glory of the sunset, in the purple mists of evening", is the "Sleeping Giant" lying dreaming in the harbour of Port Arthur. Legend tells us that this is Hiawatha's massive body turned to stone and so bewildering is the lure of this "Land of the Sky Blue Water", that we find ourselves accepting all its fantasies.

We recollect that at Sault Ste. Marie, the first Jesuit mission to the mid-west was established by Pere Marquette in 1668, and so, we go on to the Lower Lakes and Niagara's mighty cataract. At Queenstown Heights, we catch a glimpse of the later international story for here was fought one of the deciding conflicts in the war of 1812. At Kingston, the story of navigation on the Great Lakes was begun when in 1678 La Salle and Father Hennepin launched the first sailing vessel known to these regions. This dreamy old city has even earlier recollections, however, for its massive stone fort bears the date 1673 and was built in that year by the indomitable Frontenac when he began his aggressive policy of expansion and acquisition of territory on behalf of the Government of France.

From there on this cruise down "the Rivers of Romance" takes us into the great St. Lawrence, through the scenic beauty of the Thousand Islands, the thrilling interest of the Lachine Rapids, and, finally, to Montreal. In 1642 Maisonneuve built a little palisaded fort close to the river where now is situated one of the greatest seaports in the world, sending out its argosies of treasure to all lands. Montreal is one of the most truly cosmopolitan cities in the Americas and the bi-lingual flavour of its French and English character, give it an Old World charm tinged with a New World aspect that is most arresting.

In 1776 Benjamin Franklin came to Montreal on a mission from the American Congress, endeavoring to induce the people of Canada to join the revolting colonies. His efforts were without success but as a relic of his endeavor, we find his old printing press tucked away in the Chateau de Ramezay. This building was the Governor's residence in the early days of Montreal and is now a national history museum of entrancing interest.

On down the river to Quebec the red, white and black funnels of the Canada Steamship Lines carry the modern voyageur while the historic background and scenic beauty of the route contend in bewitching interest. The Plains of Abraham the Citadel, then the spires and towers of old Quebec pass by in bewildering succession and present an arresting panorama. The steamer anchors below the Heights where the Chateau St. Louis stood in the time of Champlain and Frontenac, and a pageant of history unfolds with thrilling clarity. When one recalls that from 1608 to 1777 this scene was the centre and seat of government of all New France, as most of this vast continent was then known—then one realizes what a part Quebec has played in the drama unfolded in the New World.

A few miles below Quebec, is the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, where religious mysticism and devotion prove impressive to even the most sceptical. Then on, in the path of Cartier and Champlain to Murray Bay, where the magnificent new Manoir Richelieu will open on June 15th.

This completely modern and fireproof hotel will present a picturization of the history of early 18th century and that period just prior to the capitulation in 1759, which culminated in the establishment of British rule and the settlement of the Saguenay country by the first English seigneurs of Murray Bay. Colorful and stately it rises in its setting of blue Laurentian hills and dark pines. The mighty St. Lawrence sweeps below it, presenting a vista of scenic splendour hard to equal, let alone surpass. All the gaiety of the summer colony is centred here, with riding, swimming, golf and any number of healthful outdoor amusements to make the days fly by in all too swift succession.

Reluctantly our voyageur will leave the Manoir, only to find as he continues his cruise that Tadoussac at the mouth of the Sagnenay presents new charms. Being the first parish and oldest settlement in New France this quaint spot is redolent with historic interest. Another of the Canada Steamship Lines' modern hotels — The Tadoussac—is located here and has all the advantages of a fine sandy beach for children, beautiful surroundings and an unrivalled climate. Plenty of sporting facilities, including fishing and golf, give it all the joys of an ideal summer resort with none of their noisy disadvantages.

From Tadoussac the Saguenay cruise is begun. This is a dark and mysterious river, or rather, a mighty rift in the Laurentians, the result of glacial action which the waters have filled to stupendous depths. A scenic climax of awe-inspiring solemnity is reached at the Saguenay canyon, situated half way up the river. This craggy bay is flanked by Capes Trinity and Eternity, which rise in imposing grandeur and a sheer of 1,800 feet.

Sunset and moonlight on the Saguenay verge on the sublime and defy description, but leave one with the conviction that "Rivers of Romance" is indeed, the only adequate term to express the scenic potentialities of this great Canadian water highway.

The summer schedules for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence-Saguenay cruisers are now in effect and the opening festivities for the new Manoir Richelieu will be announced shortly.

BERT JOHNSTON HAS WON FAME AS A MAGICIAN

Son of One of the Greatest Athletes Canada Has Ever Had.

BORN IN BARRIE.

During Great War He Served With the Cobourg Heavy Battery.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14 (Staff Correspondence).—If one is a little timid when approaching such a person as Bert Johnston, Canada's greatest magician, that feeling may be excused. Any average mortal would be almost certain to approach such a man with due caution. The ease with which the magic rolls off his finger tips when he is on the stage is generally conceded to be just cause and reason for all due precaution against trickery off the stage. But any timidity is soon forgotten once the great man holds out his magic hand and says he is glad to meet you. To just chance on him when he is enjoying his afternoon "pot of tea" is an occasion in every sense of the word. Bert always has his pot of tea in the afternoon. It is then that he enjoys some one person to talk to and try a few tricks on. There is no more pleasant entertainment than an hour with the great Canadian magician who is scheduled to put on the headline numbers at the world's conference of magicians in June of this year. He is a correct interpretation of what the young set to-day term regular. As you listen to his talk, you take him for what, in his heart, he really is, just a great big boy chuck full of mischief and good wholesome deviltry. Furthermore, he can take a joke as well as give one.

Father Was World's Champion.

Bert Johnston is built with all the ear marks of an athlete. He was an athlete and still keeps his muscles in pretty good condition. But it was his father who won the athletic laurels for the Johnston name. The proof of that is in the files of scores of newspapers and in clippings pasted in a scrap book which Bert guards carefully. The sporting editors like nothing better than to get their hands on it and they used to be allowed the privilege. But one editor in Chicago became over zealous and removed some of the clippings. That ended it for all the others. Bert will produce the scrap book of which he is justly proud. But he does not allow it to be taken from his presence. It contains some two-hundred pages and ten times that many clippings. Practically all of them are references to his father the late E. W. Johnston, who at one time held as many as twelve worlds records and in 1876 established seven new ones. Tom Eck, one time trainer of the University of Chicago, claimed that E. W. Johnston was the greatest athlete of all time, and recalled that he was the first man on record to jump higher than six feet. Johnston cleared six feet one inch in either 1876 or 1877. Eck could not be certain at the moment.

Not only was Bert's father an athlete himself, but he trained some of the younger men. One of his pupils was Walter R. Knox of Orillia one time all round champion of Canada and the United States. Knox was to go to Scotland to compete in athletics there and his trainer was to go with him. But fate intervened and E. W. Johnston died before the time came to sail. Knox made the trip and won the championship of the land of cakes and heather Johnston also held the Centennial medal and in 1875 and 1876 was the winner of the Lord Dufferin Belt. One of the clippings in the scrap book is an account of the late E. W. Johnston's appearance at the Grand Theatre, Toronto, Feb. 7, 1882, in a program of gymnastics, athletics and acrobatics.

Born in Barrie.

Bert Johnston himself was born in Barrie. He had a strong desire in his early boyhood days to follow in his father's footsteps. At one time he had made quite a name for himself as an athlete and showman, but his father was against having his son in the athletic field as a life work. The father claimed that at forty an athlete began to slow up and then he was out of it for keeps. It so happened that his father introduced him one day to the Great Herman, the super-magician of the time. Bert became enthusiastic but Herman advised him against entering the field of magic as a life work. The advice may have been well meant but it fell on barren soil because Bert did take up the work and has been at it ever since. Hours of practice got a few tricks in pretty good shape. Then came the opportunity of attaching himself to a medicine show. His next step was to sign up with the Carl Cook Stock Company. Then he went with Leon Breton's circus. It was good experience and he enjoyed it. There were rough spots to be sure, but on the whole he made good money and was still young.

Married in Tottenham.

Bert was twenty-two years old and ambitious. On the twenty-fifth day of November, 1899, he was married to Catherine Callon and together they started out with their own company. That was thirty years ago, and a considerable quantity of water has flowed under the bridge since then. It was during the first years when he and Mrs. Johnston were on the road together that he brought his magic from its comparatively amateur stage to that of a professional. He loved his work and practised it for hours on end. The public received him with applause. The world was at his feet, and he saw it through rose-colored glasses. For three years he was on tour with the Great Houdini, the Escape King, and the experience he gained there has been of infinite value to him since.

Overseas Service.

Shortly after the war broke out, Bert deserted the footlights for the veery lights. He transferred his disappearing acts from Canada and the States to France and Flanders. The medium which he employed was the Royal Cobourg Heavy Battery, the second oldest unit of artillery in Canada and the "Only heavy battery west of Montreal." Bert claims that while he had considerable to do with the shells from his gun disappearing, he had nothing whatever to do with the sudden appearance of like objects from the opposite direction. And he is human enough to admit that he did not crave the excitement which their sudden appearance caused. Then came a time when he was able to do a little of his old magic. Capt. Plunkett put him on the Dumbell's bill in the Village D'Albert on the Somme in 1916. At that time the captain was in charge of the Y.M.C.A. Canteen there. Thus Bert got back to his old profession and right under the guns in the line of battle. But all his performances were not staged close to the line. He appeared in Old London, Aldershot, Shroncliffe and several other places in the British Isles. Now he has risen to the pinnacle of success in his profession.

Reminiscences.

Just to hear Johnston tell a story is a treat. He recalls with an amused grin, some of the dodges he had to work alone and with others, to get leave when he wanted it. He also has a perfectly good story of how a student in a college town put a fast one over on him. It was a card and egg trick and the student switched the "magic" egg for a hard boiled one. Johnston was not staggered. He went to the youth, shook hands and admitted that he had caught the trick. While he was still talking at the tea table, he reached into his overcoat pocket for a deck of cards and asked if his friend had ever seen the Flying Ace Trick. No! Then he proceeded to do it. Impossible, you say, and challenge him to do it with another deck of cards. He agrees and when a new deck is brought in does the trick just the same. Then he laughs and did it slowly. Watch carefully and the trick is yours. As for his athletic career, he has held a few championships. In 1894 he held the amateur championship of Manitoba for boxing. He was with the P. T. Barnum shows for some time as a tumbler. In 1893 the papers carried a challenge to all the world for all round athletics over his name. But those days are in the past.

Asked what he was going to do during the summer months he replied that he would fish for speckled trout and bass at Christie's Lake. He is billed as the headline attraction for the International Conference of Magicians, a world-wide gathering, to be held in Lima, Ohio, in June, and he expects to spend some time at his home in Oshawa. He has lived there for the past five years and before that was a resident of the town of Cobourg.

Not a little of Bert Johnston's success is due to Mrs. Johnston, and he is not slow to give credit where credit is due. During their thirty years of married life, she has been his assistant and also appears as principal in several of their acts. They have three children, two sons and one daughter. The daughter, Mrs. Branch, is living in Oshawa. One son, Albert, is in Toronto. Cyril is studying his father's art and forms part of the company. He is an apt pupil and a master in several lines. To those he knows, he forbids the use of Cyril in address and demands to be called Slim. They are a great family, and well worth knowing. On the stage they are magicians in every sense of the word. Of the stage they are "just folks" and "mighty glad to know you."

PEACE IS PURCHASED BUT AT HEAVY PRICE

City of Canton and District Must Pay $285,000 Monthly to Kwangsities.

CANTON, China, May 14.—(C.P.)— Canton and the surrounding province of Kwangtung have purchased peace from invading Kwangstites, but at a heavy price.

These terms were, it was understood, monthly payments of $570,000 Mexican ($285,000) for an indefinite period to Kwangsi; furnishing of additional military supplies and a large body of troops subject to Kwangsi orders; and restoration of the alleged Kwangsi opium trade down the Sikiang.

It was also reported the Kwangsi demand for removal of the civil governor of Kwangtung and the chiefs of the Cantonese army and navy had been met.

REPORTS READ AT ANNUAL MEETING OF W ARSAW SOCIETY

President of Women's Institute Tells of Successful Work Done During Year.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Mrs. George Crowe Hostess To Members of Zion W. W. A. Society.

WARSAW, May 14 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual meeting of the Warsaw Women's Institute was held in the Institute room on Thursday afternoon.

After the opening exercises the roll-call of the fifty-eight paid members was read. The president gave her report, expressing pleasure that so much had been done and regret that more could not have been done. She spoke of the need of a home of its own for the Institute; obtaining it would mean work, but surely when the good of the whole community is at stake, the work can be done. One beauty of it is, it all comes back one way if not another. Necessity of women visiting the schools was mentioned, also amusement for and guardianship of young girls. She thanked the officers for their whole-hearted assistance during the year, also all the members for their kindness and for the way they had taken hold of the work. The Institute work brings all close together and gives the women a broader outlook on life.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $80.70. The secretary gave a full report, with a short synopsis of each meeting of the year, and of the work done and lectures and talks given during the year.

The auditors' report showed the books were well kept and absolutely correct in every way.

Officers Elected

Mrs. T. H. Crowe presided at the election of officers for the year 1929-1930.

The election was drawn out, as for almost every office nominees refused to act.

Finally the elections resulted in: President, Mrs. David Miller; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. T. H. Crowe; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. W. S. Anderson; Secretary, Miss Valetta Drain; Treasurer, Miss Mary Rose; Organist, Mrs. George Taylor; Librarian, Mrs. William Dunford; Directors, Mesdames T. Cooper, Albert McQuaig, William Dunford, and J. A. Crowe; Auditors, Mesdames George Weller and Theodore Douglas; Relief Work, Mesdames A. F. Choate, Allan Payne, and George Taylor; Delegates to the District Annual, the President, who is also the District Director, Mesdames T. Cooper, George Taylor, T. H. Crowe.

Any Institute member may attend the District Annual, but only the representatives, appointed delegates, may vote. The meeting is likely to be held in Lakefield and the exact date will be announced later.

It was decided to leave the subject of Miss Guest's address at the open summer series meeting, to be held on Thursday, July 6, to her discretion.

Mrs. H. Clements reported on behalf of the property committee, that the school board had decided not to sell the school until the new one is about ready for occupancy, and then put it up for tender. The same property committee was retained to see what could be done.

Mrs. George Weller, for the sign-board committee, reported that Mr. Jackson had said he could see to the making, painting, and erecting of the three sign-boards for $15. The committee had been authorized to proceed with the signs, if they could be gotten ready for erection for $15. It was also decided to leave the wording in the hands of the committee. The sign-boards are to be ready by Victoria Day.

The care of the monument plot and filling the flower-pots was discussed.

Society Meets

The Zion Willing Workers' Aid Society of the United Church, met at the home of Mrs. George Crowe, on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was in honor of Mother's Day. Mrs. Henry Moore was the oldest mother present, and was presented with a crochetted wool sweater. Mrs. Moore was very much surprised, but much pleased and thanked the ladies for their gift. Each mother had been asked to contribute toward the program, and Mrs. Moore had volunteered a recitation.

Refreshments were served, after the program. Mrs. Crowe had prepared a special birthday cake, and Mrs. Hilliard Matthews, the youngest mother present, had the honor of cutting it.

LEGION HOLDS EUCHRE PARTY

Successful Affair Conducted Under Auspices of Campbellford Branch.

GOOD PROGRAM.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 14.—(Examiner Staff Correspondence).—If numbers can be taken as an indication of the euchre, dance and draw held in the High School Auditorium on Friday night under the auspices of the Campbellford branch of the Canadian Legion, the function was a decided success. There were more than five hundred people present during the evening both for cards and dancing. The lucky numbers were drawn at the close of the card playing. Mrs. N. Alex MacCall held the lucky number which won the walnut spinet desk and chair the first prize, valued at fifty dollars. George Logan with his Merrymakers, furnished the music for dancing that was the order of the evening after ten-thirty. This was not the first appearance of this orchestra in town, but their performance Friday night, did much to increase their popularity.

There were thirty-five tables of euchre played, the tables being arranged in the auditorium and in the main corridors. The prizes were won by Mrs. Russell Long, Mrs. H. W. Lapp, Mrs. Weary and Mr. Percy Bartlett.

Mayor Davidson and W. S. Wiggins were the men who picked the lucky numbers out of the churn loaned by P. C. Denyes, hardware merchant, for the occasion. There were twelve prizes in all, ranging in value from fifty dollars down to five dollars. The winners were Mrs. N. A. MacCall, Harry Waters, Miss Helen Coxswell, Miss Mary Kirkey, H. T. Scott, Miss Elsie Richardson, Miss Patricia Ironside, Lewis Hay, Mrs. F. G. Rutherford, Mrs. J. D. McEachern, Henry Romaine and Russel Long, respectively.

Lunch was served cafeteria style in the domestic science room, where Pat Morgan had arranged all the details for quick and efficient service for the record crowd that was in attendance. The proceeds of the evening are for relief where ex-service men and their dependents are concerned.

MARION'S MAIL

Address correspondence to Marion at The Examiner Office.

Dear Marion—

I am enclosing 25c for which please send me pattern, also please send me the new fashion book.

I just had 14 chickens hatch out of 14 eggs. Pretty good for old biddy.

No doubt you have handled old chickens and baby chicks, when you were raised on a farm. One gets a few pointers on a farm that doesn't hurt them one bit, eh?

Your Whatnot some time ago, on Following the Torch, particularly impressed me. It teaches one humility, and shows that when we have our own design (that God has given us) woven the thread is taken up by some one else.

There is quite a little gray matter in your head, my dear, perhaps you got a few drops from the farm.

God bless and guide you, dear Marion.

Silver Locks

Yes 'Silver Locks', one can get a good many pointers from living on a farm which cannot be found anywhere else. I am sure the country must be beautiful just now. Thank you for your letter and do come again!

• • •

Dear Marion—

I have often thought I'd drop a line to let you know an Ex-Toronto housewife appreciates you, as well as her Peterborough neighbors. I certainly do admire the way you run your page. It seems to me you could start enough columns to fill the whole paper, you never seem to turn an idea down.

One idea I especially liked was Just the Two of Us. It seemed to me that it ought to go well. There are so many small families these days. I will send in a recipe my husband and I like very much a "Sardine Loaf." 2 tins of sardines, 1 small onion, 1 egg, 1 cup grated dry bread crumbs. Remove bones and mash sardines, cut onion fine and mix well with beaten egg, roll in crumbs till it is firm and fry turning once or twice till you think the onions are cooked.

This is quite a change from the usual run of dishes and is nice for supper with a tomato sauce, catsup or chili sauce.

I have a little girl fifteen months old so I am interested in the letters about youngsters. I never have to be cross with my little one, she is good and seems to obey me and not have to be told twice. She is just at the age when she likes to reach for dishes and other articles. I don't allow her to have them and tell her she must put them back. I certainly don't believe in spoiling youngsters but I don't think a mother should be too strict especially when their children are very young and are sensitive. If any mothers of large families read this, they'll say I don't know what I'm talking about, I guess. Because one child certainly is easier to watch and train, don't you think. I marked the helps I'd like it seems a lot all at once but would like them all if possible.

I'll sign off now Marion (Yes I'm a radio fan) thanking you in advance for the helps.

Yours sincerly
Ex-Toronto Wife

I surely am glad to learn that an Ex-Toronto Wife appreciates our page too, our Neighbors are coming from all the country over now! thank you very much for your recipes for Sardine Loaf. I hope your little girl continues to be as good when she gets older. Don't forget to come again, please!

Dear Marion—

Am just resting after coming in from extracting lactic fluid from bovine udders. Seldom do I milk, and never am I even asked to. Sometimes I am lectured for doing it, but I notice the help is gratefully received; then too, often the time I can save helps us to have a little outing, generally desired by me. Eight is the most I have ever tackled. When housed up all day, I rather like it. I like the cows. They are generally gentle, kindly responsive things. Oh! I know some can kick, but we soon get rid of ones which we cannot tame. The barns house such wonderful things; horses that understand one, and can make their wants known, and then in their own polite way express thanks. All decently treated animals except pigs seem to be polite, and I delight to watch them. Little foals are such lovely long-legged things, and make such wonderful pets. Calves are easily petted, and each one has his own characteristics; we have one that will not drink while we are looking at it.

Pigs are useful, and little pigs would be pretty, but for their snouts. I have never petted them, but many is the weak little one I have fed and cared for and the things knew me.

But sheep and lambs are the most wonderful. We never have any trouble with ewes refusing to take their lambs, even when my husband has brought one in for me to care for a while. The good man says it is because they are never frightened. Then it is such fun to feed a bit extra to twin or triplet lambs, or wholly feed a motherless one. After shearing it is amusing to see the lambs look for their mothers. All the young things seem to have ways of their own, and it is so very interesting to watch them and come to know them.

Sincerly Yours,
Quid Est

So glad to hear from you again 'Quid Est' and I am sure the Neighbors will enjoy reading your interesting letter. One surely can make friends with almost every animal on the farm and it is most amusing to watch them.

Marion

Fashion's Forecast

CUTE FOR WEE TOTS

THE STYLE No. 2536 is too cute for words. One would never suspect that it is a one-piece dress with only two major parts to pattern—a front and back section, that is cut in from armhole edges to form yoke, the lower edge of which is gathered and stitched to upper edge. The skirt is treated in same manner cut in at either side of waistline. It can be made as simple or as elaborate as you choose. For play hours, cotton broadcloth with tiny dots in bright red, printed sateen, chambray in pastel shade, wool jersey, or gingham is practical. For "best", fine batiste in pastel tone, printed dimity with sprigged rosebuds of voile is dainty. For parties, omit the sleeves and make it of georgette crepe, taffeta or crepe de chine.

THE PATTERN has a Picture Chart which shows exactly how to make it, and is offered at cost price 15 cents as a service to readers who sew. It is designed in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years and is made with 1 5-8 yards of 40-inch material in the 4-year size. Emb. No. 730 (blue or yellow) 15 cents extra.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

That Body of Yours

(By Jas. W. Barton, M.D.)

Getting Ready for Hay Fever.

Perhaps you are a sufferer from hay fever and have about decided that there is no help for you.

Now though this is only May and at least 75 per cent of hay fever occurs in the latter part of August, nevertheless as mentioned last year, this is the time that sufferers should be consulting their physicians regarding prevention.

Unfortunately many patients wait until within a couple of weeks of the expected onset and try to get as many treatments as possible within this short time.

Perhaps in having the skin tests it was found that you reacted strongly to the ragweed polen, which as a matter of fact is thought to be the cause of more cases of hay fever than all the other causes combined.

Naturally you have taken the ragweed injections for some weeks before the regular August attack, and yet the results have been disappointing. If such is the case it might be worth your while to have further tests made, as physicians are now finding that some other protein substances which, while they do not cause as strong a skin reaction as does the ragweed, nevertheless are a real factor in causing hay fever. Therefore it is not unusual now for the physician to inject a combination of protein substances, and the results in many cases have been most satisfactory.

It is estimated that not less than half the cases which take these protein injections get complete relief, another ten or fifteen per cent get some relief, and the others can see no difference in their condition.

The injections are begun ten or twelve weeks before the expected onset and are given every four or five days until fifteen doses are taken. If you get any relief at all it is worth while to repeat the treatment for two or three years.

So it is possible then, that notwithstanding these injections you will not get much relief, and you wonder if there is anything else that can be done.

Being careful to watch your diet, and cut down on your meats, eggs, raw fruits, (except oranges), and fish, and take a little baking soda or other alkali, may help you over the distressing period.

A MODERN WONDER

MIDDLESEX BOROUGH, N. J., May 14.—Taxes mean nothing in the lives of some 2,000 citizens of this commonwealth. It's because they don't have to pay 'em. No direct tax has been levied for several years and the administration has decided that receipts from other sources, totaling $22,000, will more than cover operating expenses during the current year.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By BETSY CALLISTER

Edges and corners of your linoleum floor covering may be made to lie flat if they are fastened to the floor by means of glue. The glue when dried is thoroughly waterproof and keeps crumbs and moisture from working under the linoleum.

There are convenient metal holders for steel wool, so that you can scour aluminum and other cooking dishes without actually touching the steel wool, which by a simple device in the holder may be removed when a fresh supply is needed

Where do you put your stirring spoon when mixing cereal or stirring preserves over the stove? In old time kitchens there was sometimes a convenient nail or hook over the stove from which a large spoon with a perforated handle could be hung. Many cooks simply lay the spoon along the ledge at the side of the stove. Some cooks have a kitchen plate at the side of the stove in which to rest them. There is a new little metal contraption to fasten to the side of a kettle in which the spoon may be kept conveniently.

Some housewives copy recipes from the cook book on cards to be used in the kitchen and this is a good plan since the cards may easily be replaced when they become spotted. If you work directly from the recipe in the book then it is best to cover the book with table oil cloth which can be wiped off conveniently.

PLUMBER AGAIN

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

Mary Hacklin

(Contributed by "Diana")

It was down by a cool, shady harbour
Where the roses were blooming one day,
It was there I espied this pretty fair one.
She exceeded the fair queen of May.

Her old father, he knew that she loved me
And in a close ambush he lay
A listening to me and my darling,
To hear the fonds words we might say.

A gold ring she slipped on my finger,
Saying Jimmie keep me in your mind,
And if ever your roam from this island
Oh! Jimmie don't leave me behind.

He kissed and shook hands and we parted,
Intending to meet the next moon,
But cruel hearted was her old father
And he locked my love up in her room.

He called the police, they got ready
And he swore to the ring on my hand
And it's all for the love of dear Mary,
I'm afraid a hard trial I now stand.

But Mary was true to her promise,
Straight away to my trial, she did come.
And all the grand jury did star.

She kindly saluted those nobler.
And this unto then she did say.
Supposing that you loved a fair one
Why should he be vanished away.

For seven long years we've been courting,
And I own that I gave him my heart.
It's nothing but death shall relieve me
If Jimmie and I must now part.

But it's now we are married and happy.
Likewise are the old folks content.
We dwell on the banks of a river
In loyal and sweet unity.
And its oftimes I look on this fair one.
This one who proved loyal to me.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.
